Rogers Speaks At N. Y. Conference.

New York.—C. B. Rogers, president of the Alabama State Prison board told the national committee on prisons and prison labor in session here, that there are 2,300 prisoners in Alabama prisons, two-thirds of which are negroes. The women, he said, are employed in cotton mills and sewing shops, and the men in cotton and saw mills, and at farming, gardening, stock and poultry raising. The leasing system, he said, had become so odious that the governor advocated its abolition.

To Build New School.

Huntsville.—A program calling for the expenditure of $225,000 for the erection of new school buildings and repair f the grammar school building, which was recently condemned as unsafe for further use, has been presented to the city council by the city board of education, which declares that one new grammar school must be erected for white children and a new building must be built for the negro children. The grammar school cannot be used again until it is thoroughly done over.

PLOWING IN STATE IS BELOW AVERAGE

63 PER CENT OF PREPARATION FOR CROP IS ACCOMPLISHED, SAYS ESTIMATE.

EXCESSIVE RAINS IS CAUSE

Shortage of Labor a Big Factor—Only 36 Per Cent of Requirements Remain on Farm.

Montgomery.—For the past ten years the percentage of plowing accomplished on Alabama farms by the first of May has averaged 81 per cent of the total, and the amount of planting completed by the first of May has averaged 72 per cent. According to a report issued by the Alabama Co-operative Crop Reporting Service on the first of the present month only 63 per cent of the plowing in preparation of the current crop had been accomplished, and only 5 per cent of the planting had been completed to the same date.

This condition of affairs on the farms of the state is the natural result of the exceedingly unfavorable weather so far this Spring, due to excesive rains, and to the shortage of labor on the farms, which a month ago was estimated at 36 per cent of the requirements.

In the northern third of the State only 44 per cent of the plowing and 29 per cent of the planting had been completed; in the central third 69 and 58 per cent, respectfully had been completed. Perhaps not in any recent year has so small a portion of the preparatory work and planting been done as is shown by these figures. Whether it can be overcome by good weather from now on, with the known labor shortage, is very problematic. Doubtless the only chance will be to plant without plowing, which will leave the crop in a poor condition for the right kind of cultivation.

Bonded Warehouse Desired.

Florence.—Judge C. P. Almon and County Solicitor J. C. Roberts have returned from Rogersville, Ala., where they discussed with the cotton growers of that section of Lauderdale County the need for establishment of a government bonded warehouse. It was the opinion of all present that the warehouse should be established. A movement is also being made to place a government bonded warehouse for Florence.

General Bullard Speaks At Auburn.

Auburn.—Plans are being laid for making "Bullard Day," Monday, May 31, a most delightful occasion to the visitors at Auburn commencement this year. Announcement was made some time since that Gen. Robert E. Bullard had been selected as orator for alumni day.

Cyclone Strikes Wedworth.

Tuscaloosa.—A cyclone struck in the vicinity of Lock 7, at Wedworth, doing considerable damage on the government reservations. Thirteen trees were blown down, a large coal house was destroyed and chimneys from the lock houses were blown down.

Judge Resigns.

Montgomery.—Charles P. Anderson, appointed by Gov. Kilby some time ago as probate judge of Montgomery, pending the election of a successor to Judge Charles B. Teasley, resigned, in a letter to the governor tenders his resignation.

School Fund Raised.

Anniston.—Oxford has raised the $30,000 it sought with which to build a new public school building. Work on the new structure will be started this Spring and it is expected to have the building ready for use when the Fall term opens.

Bond Issue Passes.

Troy.—The City bond issue election, to determine whether Troy shall issue $65,000 worth of bonds to pay off the floating indebtedness, was held here. There was a good majority voted for the passage of the bond issue, it is said.

Court Is Postponed.

Talladega.—Circuit Court, which was to convene in this county May 10, has been indefinitely postponed by Judge H. D. Merrill, of Anniston.

Sanitary System Inspected.

Talladega.—Dr. L. L. Lumsden, surgeon, the federal health service, inspected the sanitary system of this county. Dr. Lumsden expressed himself as well pleased over the developments in public sanitation throughout the county.

Agents In Bridgeport.

Bridgeport.—Agents of the government have arrived in Bridgeport and have begun actual operations in connection with the building of the lock and dam at Widow's Bar near here.

Export Figures Given.

Mobile. — During the month of March the exports from Mobile were valued at $6,152,110, according to figures received by the local customs office from the department of commerce at Washington.

Pig Iron Queries Flooding Plants.

Birmingham. — Southern furnace companies are to be called upon for a large quantity of pig iron for delivery during the last half of the year, judging from inquiries being received and a casual investigation of possibilities of the balance of the year. With this in view steps are being taken to furnish a large amount of iron, furnace repairing being done with the idea of permanency and for an increased output.

To Ask Why Cost.

Mobile.—The Board of Revenue and Road Commissioners at their meeting decided to ask the Washington officials why there should be a charge of $500 for repaired trucks and $250 for those not repaired, as asked by the State Highway Department, when the county put in a request for the use of five trucks. The county some time ago received three of these trucks, and the only cost was the frieght.

Spoke Mill Installed.

Selma.—A spoke mill with a capacity of three cars of automobile spokes per week is now being constructed in Selma by S. J. Caldwell, formerly of Union Springs. A location has been obtained on the Southern Railway near the compress and the machinery and material has commenced to arrive. The plant will employ about 20 men besides those who cut and haul the timber.

Stage Many Fairs.

Anniston.—Community fairs are to be held in a number of Calhoun communities this Summer. At Hollingsworth plans are under way for a community fair that will be the first to be held this year in the county. Jacksonville, Ohatchee and Wellington, where fairs were held last year, all will hold them again this year and other communities are planning to join the movement.

District Women's Clubs Meet.

Birmingham.—The sixth annual meeting of the third district of the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs was held here in the private dining room of the Tutwiler with Mrs. J. E. Frazier in the president's chair. Invocation by Mrs. James W. Byron followed by the greeting by Mrs. Kenneth Charlton and response by Miss Evalina Wilkerson were features of the session.

100 Boys Enrolled.

Talladega.—About 100 boys are enrolled in the six boys' pig and corn clubs organized thus far this season in this county. More than 75 have entered the pig growing contest, while the number of entrants in the corn raising contest is somewhat uncertain at this time, owing to the unfavorable weather conditions and delayed plantings.

Funds Raised By Society Women.

Anniston.—Through the effort of Anniston society women and girls, more than $2,000 of the $5,000 Salvation Army quota here has been raised. The women and girls donned the Army poke bonnets and carried tambourines which were filled with money a number of times.

Concrete Work Begun.

Florence.—Announcement is made that the first concrete has been poured on the first section of Wilson dam. The test of the great concrete mixers proved most satisfactory and the concrete work of the dam will proceed with great speed during the low water period.

Tumlin Farm Is Sold.

Gadsden.—The farm of the late Senator Thomas Tumlin, in Cherokee County, has been sold for division and the price paid was $30,500. This is one of the old before-the-war plantations and the owner was noted for his hospitality.

Tonnage Reports Good.

Tuscaloosa.—Business going through the locks on the Warrior these days is showing a gratifying increase. The total tonnage passing through Lock 10, where the record is kept, shows a total tonnage of 18,450 for the month of April.

3,700 Dog Licenses Paid.

Huntsville.—Thirty-seven hundred persons in Madison County have paid licenses on dogs for this year and the state's part, which has been remitted, is $5,000.

$1,00 Fine Is Fixed.

Clanton.—Lander Minus, charged with making liquor, plead guilty in circuit court here and was fined $1,000.

Power Contract Signed.

Gadsden.—It was announced that the Alabama Power Company had signed a contract with the Georgia Power Company for an exchange of power, an arrangement that will make Gadsden the largest power distributing center in the South.

Tracks To Be Repaired.

Bridgeport.—Civil Engineer Parker of the N. C. & St. L. Railroad was in Bridgeport and completed plans concerning improvements to be made on the company's tracks here.

Smelley Placed Under Bond.

Talladega. — Chadron Smelley is said to have cut severely Harry Simmons in the Stockdale community east of here where both men reside. The affray grew out of a dispute concerning a harrow, it is said.

Foreign—

Decision by the British government to make an early appeal to the country by a general election in an efofrt to fix up a definite Irish policy has been reached according to rumors current in London. In well-informed circles, these rumors are ridiculed, however, and as yet there has been nothing to confirm them.

It is said the British government feels itself confronted with two atlernatives—acceptance of the implied challenge of civil war in Ireland or acquiescence in the establishment of an Irish republic—as a result of widespread disorders in the island, culminating in attacks on baracks at fifty places in Ireland.

Forty-six Germans, ranking from an army corps commander to a simple private, figure o nthe allies' first specified list of war criminals to be arraigned in the Leipsic supreme court.

The Poles, helped by the Ukrainians, are reported to be driving the Bolsheviki out of the Kiev district, and are pushing forward. No great loss of life is reported.

The British-Japanese alliance probably will be continued for another year without change. This is the opinion of experts in the far eastern bureau of the foreign office of the British empire.

The French cabinet has "gone after" the French labor federation with the intention of forcing dissolution of that body. The premier says it is either a case of the federation running the government and the government running the affairs of the country.

Premier Nitti of Italy has at last lost his portfolio. He demanded a vote of confidence and lost by 193 to 112.

Two constables of the Timoleague (Cork county, Ireland), police staation were shot dead on patrol duty by a party of men in ambush. At Bandon, Seargeant Flynn was shot dead while another constable was wounded. Police Sergeant McDonnel, belonging to the Cavan force, was shot dead near his hut at Clonakilty, where on the night of March 31 he led his small garrison in a stubborn resistance against a Sin Fein attack.

Germany's military air service has been disbanded under the terms of the Versailles treaty. The commission will leave standing one hangar and one airplane factory which will be used for international air service.

Bolshevik troops fighting in the defense of the city of Kiev, Russia, have strengthened their resistance considerably. The battle for the possession of the city still is raging. The fighting is said to be particularly severe to the northwest of the city.

The report that President Carranza, fleeing from the capital of Mexico, was captured at Apisaco, is officially confirmed. General Obregon is heading the revolutionary troops and has entered Mexico City.

Washington—

White house officials say that President Wilson's war-time address to the Atlantic fleet and messages to Admiral Sims were laid before the naval investigating committee by Secretary Daniels will the full consent and approval of the president.

Reports from Mexico persist that Carranza and his party of five thousand troops have either been captured or slain.

President Wilson's bold and audacious war policy for the navy was laid before the senate naval investigating committee by Secretary Daniels in continuing his answer to charges by Admiral Sims against the navy department's conduct of the war. Mr. Daniels coupled with the presentation of a counter charge that Sims himself had opposed and held back execution of the greatest "bold and vigorous" naval project against enemy submarine, the laying of the North sea mine barrage.

Financial aid for exporters was withdrawn by the government. At the request of Secretary Houston, the war finance corporation suspended further advances to aid in shipments abroad except such as already have been authorized. Mr. Houston said if more loanrs were made by the war finance corporation the government would again have to enter the borrowing field. This, he said, did not seem advisable under existing circumstances.

Matamoro has been added to the list of towns controlled by the Mexican rebels.

Congestion of freight in the principal railroad terminals, probably the worst since the hard winter of 1917, is beginning to be felt in business and commerce all over the country.

Senator Reed declared the President's call to the Democratic party to carry the treaty ratification into the campaign would mean for the Democrats the loss of every state north of the Mason and Dixon line and the breaking of the "solid" South.

Those three and four service stripe ex-doughboys and gobs who have been figuring up gleefully the amounts of their cash bonuses are going to be in for an awful jolt if a decision taken tentatively by the Republicans of the house ways and means committee becomes permanent. Under their plan they will receive no more than $500 or more than $625 worth of aid under the alternative schemes of settlement, such as vocational training, land settlement and paid up insurance.

President Wilson's veto of the legislative appropriation bill as containing an infringement on executive authority was sustained in the house against the effort of the Republican majority to override it. Though aided by a handful of 28 Democrats, the Republicans failed to obtain the necessary two-thirds majority to repass the bill over the presidents' disapproval.

The plan of reclamation of land so as to provide farms was changed in the substitute bill to eliminate the $1,000 loan and also to reduce the authorization for carrying out the scheme from $300,000,000 to $250,000,000.

President Wilson's call from Washington to the Democratic party to carry the treaty ratification issue into the campaign drew expressions from members of his own party, and also from Senator Johnson of California, leader of the Republican irreconcibale group in the senate treaty battle, and other Republicans.

Republican members of the house ways and means committee agreed to bring in a substitute for the soldier bonus bill with the proposal for a 1 per cent tax on sales eliminated as a means of raising the necessary funds. Other tax provisions of the bill would be extended over three years under the agreement.

Governor de la Huerta of Sonora, civil chief of the Mexican revolution, plans to go to Mexico City shortly, according to advices received at the state department. He is expected to assume the authority of chief executive and to retain it until governors of states select a successor, or a president is named in the July elections.

A study of profiteering in American industry, made under the auspices of the railway brotherhoods, has been presented to the railroad labor board in support of the railway workers' demands for higher pay and to refute the charge that increased labor costs are responsible for the high cost of living. Calling attention to the many war-made millionaires, the study contends that a three-fold relationship exists between high prices, profiteering and the addition to the quota of millionaires.

Domestic—

Hundreds of cases of malt, several barrels of hops and thousands of prescriptions said to give instructions on how to make home brew with a high alcoholic percentage, were confiscated by raiding prohibition enforcement officers in New Orleans, and according to the officers the raid involves more than ten thousand persons in New Orleans and the Gulf Coast. Books of the Tropical Food Products company in which are recorded the names of thousands of persons who have purchased home-brew outfits were taken.

Twenty-four tenants in an apartment house at Chicago formed a company and bought an apartment of their own, preferring to pay $20 a month rent rather than $100. The movement is reported to be spreading.

The suden clang of a motorman's gong cost David Gerstein, an auctioneer, $12,500 in cash. He had just withdrawn the money to invest in a stock for auction. A motorman's clang of his bell frightened Gerstein into doing a hasty step to safety and in doing so he lost the package out of his overcoat pocket containing the money. He fainted and was rushed to a New York hospital, where he told of his misfortune.

Edgar Watkins, sometime defeated candidate for congress from the Fifth Georgia district, general counsel of the Southern Wholesale Grocers' Association, advised the the association, in session at St. Louis Mo., to disregard the Lever food and fuel act in the sale of sugar.

The confessed bigamis-murderer sentenced at Los Angeles, Calif., to life imprisonment under the name of James P. Watson, according to District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine, told that official of the murder of a ninth woman victim and stated his true name was Dan Holden and that he was a native of Arkansas. The ninth victim was that of Eleanor Frazier, who, Holden admitted he had drowned in the Spokane river near the city of Spokane.

Easily Passed Examination Although Previously Told Condition Was Hopeless

"I was so bad off with kidney trouble I had to give up my work as engineer," says J. B. Ragless, 210 West 60th Street, Chicago, Ill. "My back gave out completely. It was as weak as if it were broken. Often I tossed and turned the whole night long. I became dizzy and would have to grab the nearest object to keep from falling. At times the kidney secretions hardly passed at all, while again they would be profuse and oblige me to arise time and time again. The urine burned cruelly.

lost twenty-five pounds in weight; and I had taken so many things without relief I became discouraged; in fact, I was told there was no help for me.

"At last I began with Doan's Kidney Pills, and they made a new man of me. It wasn't any time before I was back to normal weight and had passed a life insurance examination, without any trouble. Over twelve years have since gone by and my cure is still permanent."

AN UNSOCIABLE CREATURE.

"Are the Jibbletons the kind of people you like to have about you?"

"No," replied Mr. Grumpson, "they're not. The Jibbletons are always nagging me about being unsociable. They seem to think that just because a man builds a big, broad veranda around his house he ought to keep it cluttered up with neighbors. I built that veranda to sit on all by myself and I don't mind telling you there are times when I wish it was a mile wide."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

HOW TO LIVE

Common Sense Comments on Health, Happiness and Longevity

By GEORGE F. BUTLER, A. M., M. D.

Copyright, 1920, by International Press Bureau

OLD AGE.

We should welcome the advancing years as did Fleming in Longfellow's "Hyperion" when he says: "For my part I am happier as I grow older. When I compare my sensations and enjoyments now with what they were ten years ago, the comparison is vastly in favor of the present. Much of the fever and fretfulness of life is over. The world and I look each other more calmly in the face. My mind is more self-possessed. It has done me good somewhat parched by the heat and dreariness by the rain of life."

"Take heed unto thyself," may be addressed to the old man with scarcely less force of application than to the young man. An old man should avoid all sudden and extreme changes in occupation or modes of life. Regularity and moderation must be observed. Discipline is very important. Spasmodic industry prevents that development of a self-regulating automatic generation of energy which saves the brain so much. He needs to know the importance of proper exercise, and of sleep, rest and recreation. He should live simply, being temperate in eating and drinking. Too much attention cannot be paid to the matter of feeding, as to the quantity, kind and quality of the food taken. Eat moderately, not too heartily.

Nothing is more desirable than to keep the brain active. Don't be a "has been." Keep in the game and live in this living age, drawing fresh mental vigor from your daily intercourse with the young thought of the acting world.

As we grow old, we need to know that we will remain young if we keep the heart young, and this we can do by mingling with the young. Nothing will contribute more toward protracting the period of old age and rendering it healthy than the possession of a contented, cheerful and hopeful state of mind. Cultivate the habit of looking for the best side of things and keeping your attention fixed on it. It is astonishing how much good there is in the world if you look for it resolutely. Your own mind will keep sweet and serene and your friends will welcome you with a smile. The man who has sought the good all his days has stored up enough virtue to help him out of his hole. Such a man does not stop to bewail his failure—he does not know the world. Optimism is the foundation and crown of all success. As you grow old, cultivate a sympathy for the world at large, for its weakness, for the young, and the return in health and happiness will come to you a hundredfold.

Old age and decline may be as gentle and sweet and grateful as the sequence of blossom and fruit and harvest. Old age is the harvest of life of which youth and early manhood are the spring and seedtime, the fruitage of other years; the storehouse in which is gathered up the product and result of our past labors, experience and trials.

It is possible for a man with winter on his head to have eternal spring in his heart; to have no hate, no grouch, no prejudice; to have a breath sweet as a baby's, muscles that do the bidding of the brain, and nerves that never go on a strike; to become old in years yet have the freshness of perpetual prime; to so live that when he drops the debris of the past he will breathe the ether of immortality and his cheek mantle with eternal bloom. LEARN HOW TO LIVE.

VACATIONS.

Take a vacation! When I think of all the good times there are in this world which you and I might be in if we only had the good sense to avail ourselves of our opportunities, I am inclined to think we are not to be commiserated so much after all if we fail to have our good time oftener. Don't think you haven't time to take a short vacation. You have. Don't wait for the opportunity to present itself, take the opportunity. If one sat on shore and waited for some trig little boat from off the sea to sail up to the strand, draw one into it by some method of affinity unknown to science and carry one off to Spain, don't you think one would grow gray-headed and wan before the voyage commenced? It is just as silly and just as hopeless to wait for some full-rigged opportunity to draw near and force you on board. Without some effort on your part you will never set sail. You will never go anywhere if you do not arise and go. Leave your work for a while; leave things undone if need be. Bother the duties! Shoo the obligations! Just you get up and go!

What one needs to be well and happy is out-of-door exercise—to get in touch with nature and forget oneself. The open air is not only a cure for the body, but for the mind as well. Nature is not only a fairy godmother, not only a revelation of beauty, but a guide and a teacher. We are told that Buddha went into the forest to look for truth. He left mankind and went to nature for help. And you will be helped spiritually and physically by going into God's sanatorium of out-of-doors.

All nature teems with joy and peace on summer days, seeming to laugh and chatter and whisper to us of health and happiness. There is motion in the ground. Each rill and trunk of tree and stem of flower and blade of grass feels the thrill of life. Health and energy are abroad in the land. And yet some of us are discontented and feel ourselves misused because we happen to be a little short of money now and then, and it is hard to find the plums in our pudding; or we are sick, or think we are, and are despondent and hopeless. These thoughts are only the transient reign of winter in the heart, and are due largely to the need of change—a vacation. Get out of doors! Rejoice with the trees, the flowers and the birds. It is an exhilarating, healthful and sublime uplift that they will give you if you will but go to them.

What has not quitting the crowded city for a change of air effected! How many has it not snatched from the jaws of death! How many has it not saved from sickness! How many consumptives, melancholy hypochondriacs and waning and harassed dyspeptics has it not restored to former healthfulness and joy. Go to Nature! It will strengthen your bodies, uplift your souls and help you to forget how tired and troubled you are. And the slips of health and contentment you will gather you should plant in the neglected garden of your soul. "Remember, it is not always youth time any more than it is always May; and grafts and shoots that grow readily in spring will take no root in bleak November. Cultivate your smiles and your simple services of love now and old age shall be but an afternoon trellis, hung deep with perfumed roses, as beautiful in the sunset glow as in the dawn." LEARN HOW TO LIVE.

Health Notes

It should be your aim to make of your life a journey toward the ideal; to live with gratitude, with devoutness, with gentleness and courage. Then add to it the humility which kneels, and the charity which gives, and you have the whole wisdom of the children of God.

Anyone who is anxious to live long and preserve his youth should spend as much time as possible in the open air. After the day's work is finished we should always get out into the air, in the park or in the woods, if possible.

Fruit stimulates and improves appetite and digestion, relieves thirst, and introduces water into the system; acts as a laxative or astringent, stimulates the kidneys and supplies the organic salts necessary to proper nutriment.

Many people are so accustomed to loading the stomach beyond its normal capacity that they are never content to leave the table until the stomach is stretched by a large quantity of food and drink.

It is our duty to so order our habits with reference to the maintenance of a high degree of effectiveness, to so utilize all means, material and spiritual, which make for soundness, that we shall be up to the mark in physical health.

Some of us perhaps at the present day do not sufficiently appreciate the importance of leisure and securing opportunities for meditation. We make life too much of a rush and bustle; even our games we turn into a business.

The way of health lies through obedience to law, and the discernment of laws determining health lies in man's recognition of the fact that he is a complex being, a conscious spark of divinity embodied in matter and that no part of his nature can be neglected or ignored without making the whole man sick.

We are walking along the paths of a very beautiful world. It is a perpetual panorama, passing by us every day; and we shall add greatly to the happiness of life, and to the elevation and purification of all our faculties, if we acquire the habit of working for its beauties.

Fruits and vegetables should not, as a rule, be eaten together, that is, at the same meal; if they are so eaten persons with feeble digestive organs will usually suffer.

Plenty of sunlight is one of the important factors in the preservation of bodily renewal. Enjoy the influence of the sun to the greatest possible extent.

The way to grow old gracefully is the way of self-control, the way of sympathy, the way of unselfishness. The grand essentials of happiness in every stage of life, but particularly in the last, are having something to do, something to love and something to hope for.

To absorb as much of the active rays of the sun as possible it is best to wear light or light blue or light gray clothing, which allows the sun's rays to pass, whereas dark cloth does not.

PUBLIC ROADS

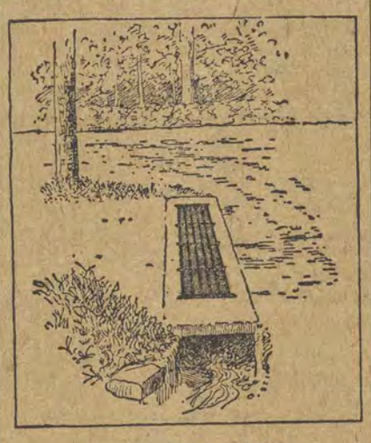
FUEL SAVED BY GOOD ROADS

Wear and Tear on Trucks and Amount of Gasoline Consumed Shown in Recent Ohio Test.

A test conducted in Ohio recently to determine the saving in gasoline from running over a good road as compared with gas consumption over bad and medium-grade roads, disclosed a surprising difference. Five new army standard "A" trucks with seven different types of road service, showed a gain of six miles per gallon of fuel between the best and worst types of roads. All the trucks were empty during the test.

The trucks loaded showed that the poor road took seven times as much gasoline per mile as the good one.

The test results showed an average of 5.78 miles per gallon over a dirt road in good condition, 7.19 over fair gravel, 9.39 over good gravel, about the same over fair bituminous macadam and good brick roads, 11.44 over extra smooth brick and 11.78 over good concrete.



The saving to the motoring public in gasoline alone would amount to millions of dollars annually. Perhaps equal to this would be the saving in tires, which is considered as important an item of car upkeep as is gasoline. Calculating the saving in wear and tear on the mechanism of cars and trucks and also the item of time lost by poor roads, adequate highways are undoubtedly a sane investment.

CULVERT IS EASILY CLEANED

Much Trouble Obviated by Invention of Grate or Iron Bars, Resting in Notches.

Often culverts under roads and paths become clogged with debris and frequently give trouble because they cannot be readily cleaned. The device illustrated obviates all this difficulty. It consists of a grate of iron bars supported by crosspieces which rest in notches or upon the surface of stonework or concrete, says American Agriculturist. The bars and the crosspieces should be of heavy enough material to support any load that will be driven across the grating.

The one from which this drawing was made is in a footpath, so the bars were only 1½ inches wide and a quarter of an inch thick. The crosspieces are of the same material, bent at the ends and riveted to the bars. All that is necessary to clean such a culvert is to lift the grating and do the work with a spade or a hoe.

HIGHWAYS IN SOUTH DAKOTA

State Has 6,000 Miles of Improved Roads—Only Ten Other States Exceed in Mileage.

South Dakota has 6,000 miles of main highways, out of a total of 203,523 in the United States. Definite road systems have been established in 44 states, either through legislative action or through state and local officials. North Dakota has 4,000 miles and Minnesota 12,700. Only ten states exceed South Dakota in mileage, while several of them have less than 1,000 miles of main highway.

BIG HIGHWAY APPROPRIATION

State of Wyoming Has Let Contracts for Improvements to Cost $3,000,000 in 1920.

The total estimated cost of highway improvements for which the Wyoming state highway department has let contracts, and which will be completed during the present year, exceeds $3,000,000. This total represents $18 for each inhabitant of the state.

Moroccan Road Traffic.

Traffic on the (French) Moroccan highways is very large. In addition to the transport of passengers by private or public automobiles, the roads permit an important movement of merchandise by motortrucks.

Cities Could Not Survive.

Without roads, cities could not survive, and country-folk would be without many of the present necessities, comforts, and luxuries of life, which they are now able to enjoy.

CALOMEL HORROR TOLD BY DODSON

You Don't Need to Sicken, Gripe or Salivate Yourself to Start Liver.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated. You feel headachy, your stomach may be sour, your breath bad, your skin sallow and you believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start liver and bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling splendid. It is perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate.—Adv.

ACUTE INDIGESTION SOON RELIEVED

Arkansas Lady Says She Was In a Serious Condition, But Promptly Recovered After Taking Thedford's Black-Draught.

Peach Orchard, Ark.—Mrs. Etta Cox, of this place, says: "Some time ago I had a spell of acute indigestion, and was in a bad fix. I knew I must have a laxative, and tried Black-Draught. It relieved me, and I soon was all right.

"I can't say enough for Thedford's Black-Draught, and the great good it did for me.

"It is fine for stomach and liver trouble, and I keep it for this. A few doses soon make me feel as good as new. I am glad to tell others the good it did."

Acute indigestion is a serious matter and needs prompt treatment or dangerous results may ensue. A physician's help may be needed, but a good dose of Thedford's Black-Draught will be of benefit by relieving the system from the undigested food which is the cause of the trouble.

Thedford's Black Draught is purely vegetable, not disagreeable to take and acts in a prompt and natural way.

So many thousands of persons have been benefited by the use of Thedford's Black-Draught, you should have no hesitancy in trying this valuable, old well-established remedy, for most liver and stomach disorders.

Sold by all reliable druggists.—Adv.

SWAMP-ROOT FOR KIDNEY AILMENTS

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

VOLUME IX. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALABAMA, MAY 27, 1920. NUMBER 9.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

An energetic campaign is now in progress to raise the sum of $35,000 with which to build our new church, which we hope to commence about the first week in August. A very enthusiastic and harmonious meeting of the deacons and the Building Committee was held on Monday night and the plans well laid for the campaign. The following brethren and sisters were asked to serve as members of the Central Committee to visit the membership of the church in the interests of the building fund: Rev. P. G. Carter, Mr. J. J. Pickens, Dr. Napoleon Johnson, Mr. M. D. Foshee, Mr. E. E. Upchurch, Mrs. Blanch Mullins, Mrs. E. E. Upchurch and Mrs. J. P. Hayes. Brethren F. R. Woodyard and J. B. Downs were appointed as a committee with power to add to visit all those who are not members of the church.

We propose to build on a five-year plan, with so much cash and a balance payable in four yearly payments. Much encouragement is felt over the prospects of the campaign, and the only thing now remaining for its ultimate success is the hearty and liberal response of the membership of the church and citizenship of the town and community by their subscriptions and donations to this very needy and worthy enterprise.

There is nothing that would add more to the beauty and progress of the city than a good church on the splendid site purchased by the church. Apart from its religious significance it will be a valuable real estate asset to the city of Clanton and of Chilton County.

Some kind of a chart will be on exhibition at the two drug stores during the days of the campaign to register its progress.

Services will be held next Sunday morning and evening. Morning at 11, a.m.; Sunbeams at 2:30, p.m.; Senior B. Y. P. U. at 7, p.m.; Special Musical Service at 8, p.m.

Everybody cordially invited to these services.

P. G. CARTER, Pastor.

THE SALEM SINGING

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give us space for the program of the singing at Sallem on Coosa River, last Sunday.

House was called to order at 9:30 by chairman T. L. Robinson by singing song No. 22, and prayer was led by Rev. M. J. Parrish. The chairman appointed a program committee, as follows: D.S. Robinson, A.A. Beaird, R. T. Grant. The committee arranged for the following directors for the day: G. C. Powell, A. L. Robinson, W. M. DeVaughn, Jesse Jones, L. T. Grant; recess for 15 minutes. After recess, A. A. Beard, Mr. Hull, J. W. Cagle, R. T. Grant; recess for one hour and thirty minutes for dinner. A bountiful dinner was served.

Directors for the afternoon were Lee Robinson; a quartett was rendered by W. M. DeVaughn, L. T. Grant, J.W. Cagle, J.M. Robinson and Mr. McCord; S. M. Yates, then recess for 15 minutes; then Alford James directed fifteen minutes, which closed the day. The choir sung for closing song No. 162.

Organists for the day were Messrs Lee Robinson, Lee Grant, Mr. Hull, C. H. Robinson and Misses Claudie Hughes, Alice Wyatt, Mrs. Belle Cagle.

Everybody seemed to enjoy the singing fine.

Dismission in prayer by Rev. W. W. Robinson.

J. W. CLECKLER, Secy.

SHOULTS

Rev. J. D. Martn preached his regular fourth Sunday sermon at Pleasant Grove Sunday. A great crowd was there. The sermon was one that will long be remembered by those that were present. The topic he used was "How to deal with unruly church members." He brought out many truths about unruly church members. We wish everybody in the community could have been there.

Everybody is enjoying good health.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Garner are the proud parents of twin baby boys. The stork visited their home one day last week.

Miss Pearl Johnson from Lawley visited her cousin, Miss Drucilla Lawrence last Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. Alice Collins dined with her brother, Mr. John Mitchell last Sunday.

Mr. Edwin Lovelady and family and Mr. Oscar Lovelady and wife, from Lawley attended preaching service at Pleasant Grove last Sunday.

Mr. William Williams and family from Maplesville dined with Mrs. Calhoun Garner Sunday.

Sunday after preaching service, Mr. Howard Oden and family spent the remainder of the day with Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Walker.

Mrs. Sam Shoults and Mrs. John Mitchell spent Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Cleve Latham.

Miss Myrtle Ingram dined with Miss Fannie Lawrence Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Doss Williams from Maplesville attended preaching service at Pleasant Grove Sunday.

Mr. Clint McGee, wife and baby, spent the night Saturday night with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Jim McGee.

Mr. Ernest Hamrick has returned to his work in Montgomery.

Mr. Andrew Ellis has been home on a short visit.

Mr. Alfred Lawrence and family spent last Saturday night with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGee and baby from Randolph spent last Saturday night and Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McGee.

Mr. Freeman Sewell and wife are visiting his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. John Sewell.

Mr. Artemus Maness has purchased himself a motor truck, and will buy vegetables, chickens and eggs, and will carry truck loads to Selma.

Pleasant Grove church is some time soon going to ordain Mr. Paul Oden for the ministry. He is the blind son of Mr. W. M. Oden, and a very bright and noble boy. We feel that he will be a great light in the pastoral work.

He bears his affliction with patience and loves God and his works with all his heart. It is his great delight to talk about Jesus and the Bible. May God pour many blessings upon him.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County, Probate Court.

In the matter of the estate of M. V. Northcutt, deceased.

Letters of Administration on the estate of M. V. Northcutt, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 24th day of May, 1920, by the Hon. L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate of said county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims againsts said estate are hereby required to present the same within the time allowed by law, or the same will be barred.

MAHALIE NORTHCUTT,
5-27-3t, pd. Administrator.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

We, the undersigned were elected by the Republican Convention at Clanton on Friday, May 14th, 1920, with other delegates to attend the District and State Conventions. And at said county convention we were instructed to vote for Mr. J. Tom Rockett, as a delegate to the National Republican Convention to be held in Chicago June 8th, 1920. We were also instructed to vote as a unit on all questions and that a majority of the delegates present should cast the vote for the entire delegation from this county.

We went to the District Convention in Anniston and were very much surprised to find Mr. W. H. Gillespie and Mr. J. B. Atkinson there working and lobbying for the election of Mr. Atkinson as a delegate to the National Convention. Mr. Atkinson was not elected a delegate but was there helping Mr. Gillespie to do the very thing that the Republican voters, through the convention, said that they did not want. The county convention was unanimous for Mr. Rockett and instructed Mr. Gillespie as well as the rest of the delegation to vote for Mr. Rockett. Mr. Oliver D. Street was at the convention and when Mr. Atkinson and Mr. Rockett were placed in nomination, made a speech on the floor of the house and said that a trade was made several months ago whereby he agreed to help Mr. Atkinson be elected as a delegate to the National Convention and that Mr. Atkinson agreed to help him. Mr. J. B. Atkinson moved from Talladega County, and in the vote on him and Mr. Rockett Mr. Atkinson received one-half of one vote in Talladega County and Mr. Rockett three and one-half votes. In Chilton County, Mr. Atkinson's home county, he did not receive any, and Mr. Rockett received fourteen votes. The other three counties where Mr. Atkinson had never lived voted for Mr. Atkinson. And he was elected delegate to the National Republican Convention. The trade was made by three or four men representing this county and followed up at the convention, and by their trade and trickery the wishes of the Republicans of this county were completely ignored.

At the State Conventon in Birmingham there arose a question which ten out of thirteen delegates present agreed to vote one way, which under the instructions from the county convention, put the other three delegates honor bound to vote as the other ten voted. And, notwithstanding the instructions Mr. W. H. Gillespie and J. B. Atkinson and Ralph Calloway, Mr. Atkinson holding a proxy, challenged the Chilton County vote and voted contrary to the other ten delegates.

Also at said State Convention Mr. J. B. Atkinson, who is now a member of the State Executive Committee, had Mr. F. B. Collier nominated for Circuit Judge from this, the Nineteenth Judicial Circuit, without conculting a member of the county delegation.

The Chilton County delegation got busy when they heard that Mr. Collier had been nominated without their knowledge or consent, and the State Executive Committee was called back together and Mr. Collier's nomination rescinded.

We, the undersigned, voted for Mr. Rockett and did all that was in our power to carry out the instructions of the county convention and do as the people of this county wanted us to do. However, under the trade made several months ago, as Mr. O. D. Street told about, and which said trade, according to our information, was participated in by Mr. W. H. Gillespie and J. B. Atkinson and one or two others, traded off this county and therefore we were unable to secure the election of Mr. Rockett, notwithstanding we voted for and worked for him.

CENTRE HILL SINGING

Sunday was a great day at Centre Hill,—the old-time singing was in session there.

The people came out in great numbers. Rev. Davis, a former pastor preached at 11 o'clock. The remainder of the day was spent in singing. Messrs. Cobb, Martin, Smith, Armstrong, Littleton, Gothard, Conway, Scott, Hodgens and Castleberry were among the Directors for the day.

The dinner was a feast of good things to eat.

Lovely flowers graced the pulpit.

Center Hill is situated in a beautiful sequestered spot just out from Jemison with a nice new church just erected. The community leaders seem to be the well konwn J. E. and B. L. Cobb, and their father, Messrs Scott, McGraw, Castleberry and others.

The music Sunday was sweetly rendered,—charming to listen to the melodies of the long ago.

It is really commendable in the younger ladies and gentlemen, who assist the older people in rendering the music of our fathers, thus cheering those on the sunny side of life's pilgrimage.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM AND FLAG RAISING AT THORSBY INSTITUTE

An interesting program was held in Bate's Hall on Wednesday afternoon, May 12th, the occasion being the presentation of a new flag to the school by the girls of Miss Jenkins' Sunday School Class of the Congregational Church. The date chosen for the program and presentation was the one-hundredth anniversary of the birthday of Florence Nightingale.

The exercises were opened by the singing of "America," following which a flag drill called "The Allied Flags" was given by twenty-five students. Each carried a flag representing one of the allied nations, and stated a reason why that country entered the war. After singing "The Battle Hym of the Republic," all marched from the platform led by Miss Marie Flummer bearing the Christian Flag.

One of the main features of the program was the lowering of the service flag by the girls of the school who had brothers in the war. Thorsby Institute has reason to be proud of the record that her boys made in the struggle. The names of all the boys represented by the 50 blue and 3 gold stars on the service flag, were read and a glowing tribute was paid by E. W. Butler to the three boys who paid the supreme sacrifice, — Uriel Williamson, Einar Anderson and Oders Martin. After the lowering of the service flag the boys who had brothers in the service lowered the American flag which had flown during the war and was torn and tatterd It seemed fitting that these flags be folded away together.

Following this a sketch of the life of Florence Nightingale was given by Odie Lee Arthur, who pointed out some of the virtues and deeds of this illustrious woman who initiated the welfare work for the soldiers on the battle field.

The main event of the afternoon was the raising of the new flag. This was unfolded and borne from the building to the campus by the Sunday School class that presented it. They were preceded by two girls carrying the Christian emblem and followed by an escort of students sarrying the flags of the allies.

After the march a circle was formed about the pole, and the two Senior boys stepped forward and raised the flag. As soon as the standard floated to the breeze, the flag salute was given by all present and Rev. Davenport offered prayer. Mr. Thomas Giles recited effectively one of Edgar Gust's poetical pictures "The Call of the Flag" and the program was closed by the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

DEATH OF OSCAR MARTIN

On May 14th the grim reaper, death, stretched forth his icy hand and claimed for his victim the life of Oscar, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Martin.

His body was laid to rest in the old Rocky Mount Cemetery with a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and sympathising friends attending.

May the God of all grace heal the wounded hearts of his father, brothers and sisters.

JONESTOWN NEWS

The people are getting along very well with their crops, although it rains so much that they can't work very much.

Last Sunday was quite a dull day on account of not having singing at New Harmony, but they will make up next Sunday, when they will have an all day singing.

Mr. W. L. Sanders, Miss Era and Essie Sanders, Miss Jessie Jackson, all went to the singing convention at Zion's Rest in Autauga county.

Mr. and Mrs. David Mooney visited Mr. and Mrs. Fonza Jones Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. J. D. Smith and family spent Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. T. E. Williamson near Lock 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Smiths pent a while with Mr. T. J. McCord Sunday afternoon.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give me a small space in your paper to thank the voters of the county for what they did for me on the morning of May 11th.

It was my desire that the voters go to the polls and vote for the man of their choice if they did not they should have done so. May I say that if I am elected Commissioner for the third district I shall at all times and places work and contend for what I think is just and right.

Now, Mr. Editor, please accept my thanks for what you have done for me.

Yours truly,
C. T. WALKER.

THANKS FROM MR. LITTLEJOHN

To the Republican Voters:

I wish to heartily thank the Republican voters of Chilton County for the support they gave me in the primary recently, in my race for County Commissioner from this District. I assure you that I appreciate the confidence placed in my nomination and I shall do my best to be elected in November.

Sincerely,
J. WILEY LITTLEJOHN.

WHERE WAS FULFILLMENT

Washington, May 25.—A challenge to the Democrats to itemize their boasted fulfillment of promises, was issued today by the Republican Publicity Association, in a statement given out by the presdent of that organization, Hon. Jonathan Borne, Jr. The statement quotes a Democratic Chairman's assertion that "Then Wilson came and party promises became fruitful." Commenting upon this very boast, the Republican challenge says:

Fruitful indeed, but fruitful of what? Certainly not fruitful of fulfillment of promises, for that same Democratic chairman cannot take the promises of the 1912 platform on which President Wilson came into power and point out wherein they have been fulfilled.

Here are the chief promises, in the order they appear in the platform, and the manner of their fulfillment:

1. Revision of the tariff without injury to any legitimate industry. Result, increase of imports, closing of mills and 4,000,000 men out of work in 1913-14.

2. Reduction of the high cost of living. Result, steadily increasing the cost from the day the Wilson administraton began.

3. Enforcement of the criminal laws against private monoply. Result, no administration action against alleged trusts has been of the slightest benefit to the people of the country.

4. Reservation of states' rights. Result, the Federal Government has made greater progress in securing power over the people of the states during the Wilson administration than in all the previous history of the nation since the adoption of the Constitution.

5. Presidential primaries. Result, no action in that direction by the Wilson administration such legislation having been adopted by states if at all.

6. Single presidential term. Result, second term secured for Wilson by false slogan, and a third term not yet renounced.

7. Efficiency and economy in administration. Result, the most inefficent and wasteful admnistraton in history.

8. Bankng legislation "for the accommodation of the public and not for the control of business." Result, a Federal Reserve System which is dominated by politics and which stimulates or depresses business at the will of its managers.

9. A merchant marine without imposing additional burdens upon the people. Result, the most expensive shipping programme in history.

10. Exemption of coastwise shipping from tolls through the Panama Canal. Result, repeal of the free tolls law.

11. Merit system in civil service. Result, more politics than ever before in appointments.

12. Rule of the people. Result, the establishment of an autocracy in the White House with both Houses of Congress subservient as long as a Democratic majority was in control of the legislative branch of the government.

PLEASANT HILL

There will be an all-day singing at Pleasant Hill Church (Blow Grave Yard) the third Sunday in June. Everybody is invited to come and bring new books and dinner.

Hon. J. O. Middleton of Mobile attended the State Republican Convention in Birmingham last week. On his return he stopped over in Clanton for a day or so with his friends.

CENTER HILL

Dear Editor, please allow me space to say a few words.

Singing here Sunday was fine and an excellent sermon was preached by Bro. Davis. He read the 6th chapter of St. John and took his text from the 60th verse, "Will ye go away also." He sure did preach a grand sermon.

Mr. J. E. Cobb was elected chairman of the singing. Before preaching Mr. Joe Littleton and Mr. J. N. Scott directed. After preaching dinner was served and everybody had plenty.

Directors for the afternoon were Davis Hugens, Z. J. Jones, Henry Armstrong and Prof. J. H. Martin. Everybody seemed to enjoy the day.

Mr. Vernon Webb and Miss Eular Barnett took a flying trip to Birmingham aSturday.

WOMEN ARE DISCRIMINATING MOTOR CAR BUYERS.

"The majority of women are proving themselves as discriminating automobile buyers as men," says the Downs Hardware Company, local dealer in Chevrolet passenger and commercial cars.

"It used to be thought that most women were influenced in the selection of a car by appearance alone. If the car body was pleasing to the eye it was thought she could be sold immediately without serious investigation of mechanical ability.

"But today women apprecate the importance of mechanical excellence. When it comes to selecting a car for her own use the average woman is firmly holding up her reputation for securing the utmost value for every dollar she spends.

"The woman has had experience in driving cars herself. She knows not only what equipment is essential but also what mechanical qualities are necessary to her comfort.

"She has learned that a sturdy medium weight automobile is the most convenient and easy for her to drive. It conserves her strength, affords every advantage any car will offer and above all keeps her transportation costs as a minimum.

"The up-to-date woman knows that she can get the most satisfactory mechanical service from such a car. She knows also that the purchase price will include every item of equipment that will make for riding and drivng comfort. She sees to it that it does.

"And because these efficient economical cars are purposely designed along sound conservative lines that are alwasy in style, her pride in the appearance of her car is entirely satisfied."

"Didn't Rest Well"

Prominent Georgia Lady Suffered From Faint Spells and Sleeplessness—Relieved by Ziron.

PEOPLE who get to feeling weak every now and then, and who do not seem to get the proper refreshment from rest, sleep and recreation, need a tonic to help their blood revitalize and build up their system.

For this, you will find Ziron Iron Tonic very valuable, as the testimony of thousands already has proved. Mrs. J. W. Dysart, lady of a prominent Georgia family residing near Cartersville, says:

"I didn't feel like myself.

"I didn't rest well some nights. I would be just as tired when I got up in the morning as when I went to bed. I would get weak, and have kind of fainty spells—at times hardly able to do my housework.

"I heard of Ziron, and felt maybe a tonic would help me. I thought it would at least strengthen me.

"I believe Ziron has done me good. I feel better. I am glad to recommend it as a good tonic."

METHOD IN THAT MADNESS

Why Dad Could Not Bring Himself to Make Serious Objections to Gerald's Smoking.

"Henry!"

Mrs. Brown's voice was stern. Mr. Brown recognized the signs of a coming storm, so he prepared to listen.

"I saw Gerald—our boy—smoking a pipe today—actually, a dirty, smelly pipe!" the poor woman ended with a sob.

"Well, what can we do?" exclaimed her husband. "The boy's seventeen, and has two dollars a week pocket money. I don't see—"

"You mean to say that you will allow him to smoke? Why, it's sheer madness!"

Henry nodded. Then, after witnessing the unique spectacle of his wife speechless for once, he strolled off into the garden, where he came across Gerald in a corner with the pipe going full blast.

"Hello, my boy!" he cried. "This is something new, isn't it? Er—by the way, I've left my pouch in the house. Can you give me a fill?"

Then he, as he walked away puffing happily, murmured:

"It may be madness, but there's method in it. I can see Gerald's pouch being quite a money saver to poor old dad."—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

GOT CHARACTERS MIXED UP

According to English Actor, History Is Not a Strong Point With Theatergoers.

The late H. B. Irving once told in Philadelphia a story about his father's performance of Sardou's "Robespierre." He said:

"Two dear old ladies sat in their stalls at the Lyceum, waiting for 'Robespierre' to begin.

"'By the way, who was Robespierre?' said the first old lady.

"'Why, don't you know?' said the second old lady. 'He's the man who was murdered in his bath by Marie Corelli.'

"'Oh, no, my dear!' said the first old lady. 'That can't be right, for Marie Corelli is still alive. I remember who it was, now. It was Charlotte Bronte.'"

Then, at the end of the story Mr. Irving added:

"I once told this anecdote to a duchess. When I finished the duchess gave a kind of puzzled laugh and said:

"'Poor Shakespeare!'"

DECORATIVE FROCKS FOR BRIDESMAIDS

WHEN the talk is of bridesmaids frocks there is no telling the wide ranges it will travel, for here is where the bride may give range to her fancy, especially if she is to have a bevy of maids. She may choose to lead them back a few centuries in choosing styles or she is more than likely to pick out some period not so remote and revive its charm of quaint dress or she may decide to be very modern and frankly frivolous. But if she hopes to please everybody let her decide that her maids shall look demure and beautiful. They can do this in clothes with either an ancient or a modern flavor.

Taffeta, georgette and fine net, all make lovely frocks for bridesmaids and each of them amounts to an insurance of success; yet they are as different as can be. All are beautiful in light colors, and net, in white, used to veil a color, makes a practical frock that will give a great deal of service after it has played its part at a wedding. Georgette is astonishingly durable in spite of its fragile looks, and everyone knows the virtues of taffeta.

A net gown that ought to please the bride who has decided to draw upon 1920 to supply the style her maids shall wear, is pictured here. Tucks and frills, all at their pretty best in net, are used for trimming. An underskirt of net has two groups of narrow tucks about the bottom and over it a long and full tunic, wired about the hips. A frill over the wired line proclaims its allegiance to the old hoop skirt effect, which is the inspiration of this frock. Below the frill two groups of narrow tucks give an embroidered band of net the proper setting. The short sleeves are very frilly, with three narrow flounces as a finish, headed with a group of tucks.

The bodice is slightly low, giving a line across the bust and shoulders that is in keeping with the hooped skirt. A frill at the neck opening has tucks and embroidered band below and at each side plain net gathered in and extending to the waist, gives an added fullness. The sash of narrow satin ribbon with hanging loops and long ends set on at each side is a charming accessory, the loops falling from clusters of little chiffon roses.

Formal Afternoon Frocks

GEORGETTE holds its own as the superlative in elegant fabrics for afternoon gowns, and will until some genius comes along who is able to excel it. It seems improbable that any thing more beautiful can be made and the refinement of georgette has made it so great a favorite with designers that they use it for many things and for all ages. But where the advantages show at their best is in those lovely gowns for afternoon—beautiful and restrained in style—in which women put their very best efforts at gowning and which are the delight of costumers.

One of the two gowns shown in the group above, reveals what has been done with georgette in an afternoon frock for this summer. Imagine this in pale tan or in twine color with white beads used in its embellishment, and little medallions of filet lace set in and edged with embroidery silk, like the gown in color. The skirt has a wide front panel of the georgette, gathered at the waist and decorated with lines and crossbars of beads. Accordion plaiting and georgette were made for each other, and at the sides of the skirt there are three tiers of plaiting, followed by a gathered panel at the back like that in front. The bodice, with elbow sleeves is decorated to correspond with the front panel and has a perfectly plain vestee of the crepe. A very wide sash of satin-striped crepe is especially interesting in this dress and it is finished at the ends with tiny silk balls.

Another dress of satin and georgette, is a model that stout women may pin their faith to. Its long straight lines are accented with small tassels on the skirt and the bodice is a brief affair with short sleeves that aids the skirt in its striving for graceful lines. These are formal afternoon frocks in which one may face great occasions with assurance.

For more than Forty Years Cotton Growers have known that

POTASH PAYS

More than 11,651,200 Tons of Potash Salts had been imported and used in the United States in the 20 years previous to January, 1915, when shipments ceased. Of this 6,460,700 Tons consisted of which the cotton grower knew was both a plant food and a preventive of blight and rust,—with it came also 1,312,400 Tons of which has the same effects on Cotton, but which was used mainly in mixed fertilizers.

Shipments of both Kainit and Manure Salt have been resumed but the shortage of coal and cars and high freight rates make it more desirable to ship Manure Salt, which contains 20 per cent of actual Potash, instead of Kainit, which contains less than 13 per cent actual Potash.

MANURE SALT can be used as a side dressing on Cotton in just the same way as Kainit and will give the same results. Where you used 100 pounds of Kainit, you need to use but 62 pounds of Manure Salt, or 100 pounds of Manure Salt go as far as 161 pounds of Kainit.

MANURE SALT has been coming forward in considerable amounts and cotton growers, who cannot secure Kainit, should make an effort to get Manure Salt for side dressing to aid in making a big Cotton Crop.

Muriate of Potash

50 per cent actual Potash, has been coming forward also,—100 pounds of Muriate are equivalent to 400 pounds of Kainit or 250 pounds of Manure Salt.

These are the three

that were always used in making cotton fertilizers and have been used for all these years with great profit and without any damage to the crop.

The supply is not at present as large as in former years, but there is enough to greatly increase the Cotton Crop if you insist on your dealer making the necessary effort to get it for you.

COULD NOT HOLD OUT LONGER

Virginia Lady Realized She Couldn't Stay Nervous, Weak, Pale, and Hold Out Much Longer.—Cardui Helped Her.

Dublin, Va.—Mrs. Sallie Hughett, of Route 2, this place, recently related her interesting experience in recovering her health, saying: "When . . . came on I was in a very bad condition and nothing the doctor gave me did me any good. Some say you have to let this take its course . . . but I knew there ought to be something to give relief. I was nervous, weak and pale. I couldn't eat or sleep to do any good, and felt I couldn't stand this very long.

"I heard and read of Cardui, and how it had benefited other women in the same condition, so decided to use it myself. After my first bottle I felt better, so, of course, kept it up, and it did the work.

"It helped me as nothing else did. I began to pick up right away. I ate and slept and could rest. I knew I was getting better. I kept it up and it did wonders for me."

Thousands of women, suffering as this Virginia lady did, have used Cardui with equally happy results, and voluntarily relate their experiences, so that others, troubled with disorders common among women, may learn to take Cardui.

Enemies

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

PEOPLE are known and judged quite as much by the kind of Enemies they make as by the kind of Friends they have.

Choose your Enemies.

Many a man or woman has been handicapped by having some one else choose their Enemies for them. For Enemies must needs come to every forceful Character, sooner or later. And if you do the choosing of your Enemies, you know the kind you have to deal with.

Choose your enemies.

Another strong point about choosing your own Enemies, is that you can study them to better advantage than if some one else chose them for you and acted as a Coach to them. For many a man, by close application to the study of his Enemies, can finally make them his Friends!

Choose your Enemies.

Enemies have the most to do with and cluster most around those who are Positive and Definite as Doers. To have big plans and important work to perform and to go ahead with it without fear or favor, is to create Enemies from Somewhere. But enemies never come around unless you become Effective and Monumental in your efforts. Then the Enemies get busy.

Choose your Enemies.

But never for a single moment allow the work of your Enemies to deter you from your forward fight. Accept them as a matter of course, never allowing yourself to get down to their level. For then they may swoop down upon you and bewilder and defeat you.

Choose your Enemies.

And remember that by always remaining bigger than your Enemies, you pave a path over which they may finally walk as your Friends.

Rann-dom Reels

By HOWARD L. RANN

THE PILL

THE pill is a small, round object which is fed with the utmost abandon to patients who would rather eat something else.

One of the best things that was ever done for the medical profession was when somebody invented the harmless white pill which could be sold at a 900 per cent margin. After a young doctor who is just out of school has fed a few tons of these pills to the people of his community, he can quit work and lie around a summer resort in white flannel pants and a look of sweet content.

Pills Will Not Revive Energy in a Man Who Never Had Any to Start With.

Some people are very much opposed to the use of pills, and try to get along by use of the highly perfumed onion poultice, while others can never eat a full meal without immediately attempting to conciliate it with a handful of pink pellets. Then there are people who can never see anything go to waste and who devour all of the pills left on the front porch in the way of samples, in this manner becoming as fragrant as a drug store clerk.

Both schools of medicine, allopath and homeopath, prescribe pills whenever all else has failed. It is considered better practice to prescribe an operation at the expense of the abutting property owner, but once in a while a stray pill will strike the right spot when the doctor is not looking and effect a cure. This is one of the sorest trials the doctor has to bear.

There is a strong suspicion abroad that if people would eat fewer pills and take more exercise, mixed with a semioccasional bath, they would live longer and have more money to spend on tires and inner tubes. Pills will not revive energy in a man who never had any to start with.

Mother's Cook Book

To keep a household running smoothly, provisioned, cleaned, made sweet and cheerful always, and to do it incidentally as it were, with a hundred other activities filling her thoughts, is an accomplishment not sufficiently appreciated in this world.—David Grayson.

Today's Food.

For a meal which is a meal in itself be sure to try

Spaghetti Par Excellence.

Take one package of spaghetti, break into small pieces and cover with boiling salted water; stir lightly until all is boiling. When tender pour off the water, drain in a colander, pour over cold water to make the spaghetti firm. Take one can of tomatoes, strained to remove the seeds, add a can of tomato soup, two large onions cut in bits, one fourth of a teaspoonful of cayenne pepper and a teaspoonful of chili powder, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, three teaspoonfuls of salt, six slices of bacon diced and fried. Mix all together and add the bacon fat. Put in layers in a baking dish with the spaghetti. Bake two hours.

Cranberry Salad.

Soak one package of gelatine in a pint of cold water until well softened, then pour over this two quarts of boiling cranberry juice, add the juice of one lemon and sugar to taste. When cool add one cupful of shredded blanched almonds and one cupful of celery. When cold slice and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

Head Lettuce With Sherry's Dressing

Prepare the lettuce, draining well and dry carefully to remove all water Take one cupful of olive oil—corn oil will answer—two tablespoonfuls each of minced green and red peppers, one small Spanish onion chopped, one tablespoonful each of minced parsley and powdered sugar, and one-fourth of a cupful of vinegar. Shake in a mason jar for five minutes. Place on ice for an hour and do not serve on the lettuce until the last minute as it wilts the lettuce.

Salmon Rarebit.

Heat one-fourth of a cup of butter or butter substitute; when bubbling hot add two tablespoonfuls of flour, rub and mix until perfectly smoth, ther add a pint of milk and when thickened a can of salmon, with all bones and skin removed; one egg beaten with a pinch of salt and a dash of cayenne Serve on toasted crackers or thir slices of toasted bread.

SCHOOL DAYS

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

A NATURE SPREE.

It's getting on to spring again,
My thoughts are on the wing again
To joys that are to be;
And in a few short weeks again
The hills and woods and creeks again
Will whisper things to me.
And every bird and bee again
Will sing their tunes to me again
And tell me it is May,
And like a spendthrift wild again,
Or as a little child again
I'll throw a day away.

I'll quit the ceaseless grind again
And leave all care behind again
Nor think about the cost;
I'll spend an idle day again,
Nor count, the while I play again,
The gold that may be lost.
I'll chum with brook and sky again
And let the mad hours fly again,
As sailors home from sea.
And for a little while again
I'll be myself and smile again
A toiler on a spree.

LAST NIGHT'S DREAMS

—WHAT THEY MEAN

DID YOU DREAM OF FISH?

ROBERT STRUMPELL, Hildebrandt and Weed Hallam state that the dream distinctly prefers impressions recently made upon the waking consciousness. Freud, as a result of his personal experience and of the analysis of the great number of dreams which he has considered in the course of his practice lays it down as a law that "some reference to the experiences of the day which has most recently passed is to be found in every dream," that is, anything read, seen, heard, done or thought about. It would seem as if the dream consciousness having taken over from the preceding day some trivial experience as a starter then had unlocked to it vast stores of material; the impressions of our earlier years, later experiences and impressions, some so slight as to have been forgotten long ago or even totally ignored at the time they came into existence, our secret wishes, suppressed desires and psychic characteristics of the possession of which we were, perhaps, unaware in our waking state.

Bridges seem to be thrown out to such of these as the dream consciousness selects to enable them to mingle with the dream from this standpoint, but in order to do so successfully it must be done at once on awakening, for though some dreams are so vivid that they can be remembered for years, as a rule the dream-edifice dissolves rapidly and we can only recover a fragment here and there. The experience of the day which has most recently passed which is brought over into the realm of shadows is frequently disguised or distorted, but can be discovered upon a close analysis. Thus a lady dreamed one night that she had found a fine baby sewed up in a live codfish. The day preceding she had admired one of her neighbor's children and had stop ed at the market to buy a fish on her way home. The mystics would go further in interpreting this dream. They say that to see a fish in a dream means good fortune, especially if they are white or red. To see fish swimming about, unless the water is muddy, is an omen that rich and powerful people will do you favors, and to dream of catching fish means you will be successful in love and business. But to dream of dead fish is unfavorable, and if a live fish slip out of your hand you will marry a person of a roaming disposition. Also, with a slippery fish, beware of slippery friends. To go fishing and catch nothing means disappointment in Dreamland, just as it does in the actual world.

CALOMEL DANGER TOLD BY DODSON

Says You Cannot Gripe, Sicken, or Salivate Yourself if You Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone, which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.—Adv.

OUR WIVES AND DAUGHTERS

Write for the booklet "Our Wives and Daughters." Full of information every women should have; including voluntary testimony and advice from women in all walks of life who know by experience what Stella Vitae will do for women.

Stella Vitae is the famous prescription of an old family physician, successfully used in a long, life-time practice, Sold under agreement that if the first bottle fails to benefit money will be refunded. Ask your druggist.

Mrs. D. S. Hamilton, of Milner, Ga., Route 1, writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the benefit which both my daughter and myself have derived from the use of STELLA VITAE. For some time the doctors of our neighborhood had treated my daughter without success. One bottle of STELLA VITAE in three weeks' time completely cured her. My own health has been restored by STELLA VITAE; and no doctor has been called upon to treat any member of my family since I began using Dr. Thacher's Remedies."

BUILT MANY CENTURIES AGO

Florida's Shell Mounds Believed to Date Back to Before Beginning of Christian Era.

Florida's shell mounds, which are found in different portions of the state, are unquestionably of human construction, and were probably built by some race of people who inhabited the country about the beginning of the Christian era. These mounds were found overgrown with herbage and forest as long ago as when the first red man set foot in Florida, and the fact that the deposit of earth above them was sufficient to give place to the root of trees proved their great age.

There have been found in all these mounds pieces of pottery imbedded in the shell conglomerate, as well as articles made of shell and bone, rude stone implements and many bones of fish and animals, such as deer, terrapin, rabbits, alligators and others. There are in the entire state about forty mounds, the most important of which are those of King Phillip's town, near the outlet of Lake Harney, which are 450 feet long, from 100 to 150 feet broad, and with an average height of eight feet.

A small man can cut a great swath if he can resist being patronized by the big men.

SUBSIST MAINLY ON DATES

Fruit Is the Mainstay of Life to the People of Egypt, Arabia, and Persia.

East is west so far as the palm is concerned, Hawaii, California, Florida, Cuba, Egypt, Palestine, they all know their palms. Of all varieties none is so dear to the heart as the date palm. We all know its delicious fruit, but few can conceive the desert dweller's love for it, for he only can appreciate its grateful shade in the sweltering desert heat.

The date palm is always a sure sign of water, for to thrive it must have this. Rising often to a height of 100 feet, it is a haven of refuge to the parched traveler, who knows that to dig near it is to find water. Then there is the delicious fruit to be considered, too. Many of us know the date as a luxury—sometimes stuffed or otherwise, but a considerable part of the inhabitants of Egypt, of Arabia and Persia, subsist almost entirely on its fruit. They boast also of its medicinal virtues. Then the camels feed upon the date stone.

Scant Comfort.

One possible service performed by visiting wife's relatives is eating so much that there aren't so many leftovers for next day.—Ohio State Journal.

It is gratifying that we are able to see this week a concerted and determined effort on the part of the Baptists of Clanton to raise the money necessary for the erection of a thirty-five thousand dollar church building on the new lot recently acquired by the church for that purpose. This business of building a new Baptist church in Clanton has ceased to be a joke, and is fast becoming a reality as the dollars are piled up by the thousands by our liberal church constituency who see the shame of such a church building as we have had in the past and the need of a modern church and Sunday School home.

The pastor, Rev. Carter, has succeeded in getting a tentative consideration of something like $6,000 from the Baptist Home Mission Board to apply on the building fund, and that amount added to upwards of thirty thousand which will be given by members of the church will make a building for Clanton which will be the pride of our town.

The Clanton Boy Scouts Band is now making a wonderful progress under the instructions of the famous bandmaster, Prof. Memoli, of Birmingham. The citizens of the town are staying with the boys in the matter of finances, and we are certain that within a few months Clanton will have as good a bond as can be shown by any town of our size in the country.

MT. NEBO SINGING SOCIETY

The Mt. Nebo Singing Society met with Mt. Nebo Church Sunday afternoon, at 3 p.m., May 23.

Singing was opened with song and prayer by S. A. Henley, chairman. The following leaders were appointed: William Cox, Sam Henley, Mrs. Zella Scott and Mr. S. A. Henley.

Organists for the afternoon were: Mrs. Zellla Scott and Mrs. Eula Culp. The audience was not large, on account of all day singings, but the singing was good and ably conducted.

This society meets every second and fourth Sundays, and all lovers of music are cordially invited to meet with us. ANNIE MAE CULP, Secretary.

NOTICE TO OWNERS OF DOGS

The law requires all dogs to be registered and tagged, and when running at large not being confined must be muzzled. Any person who keeps or harbors a dog which has not been registered and tagged according to law is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fned not less than the tax and costs not to exceed one hundred dollars, may be imprisoned to hard labor for the county not less than six mnths.

The Attorney General of Alabama has recently ruled that the sheriff has no right to go on private property and kill a dog, but a citation must be served on all parties keeping or harboring a dog for which no tax has been paid or not wearing a tag.

I am now looking after all the dogs and serving citations on those who have dogs that have not been registered and tagged. After citation being served, if the person served does not come in and register the dog according to law, he will be subject to a fine of one hundred dollars.

After June 1st all dogs running at large and not on private property will be killed if they are not wearing a muzzle.

I want to give the people of the county a fair chance to comply with the law and avoid trouble. However if there are any who will not comply with the law, then it becomes my duty to execute the law.

J. L. GORE, Sheriff.

LETTER FROM MR. MIMS.

Dear Editor:—Please give me space to thank the people at large for the kindness shown me during the campaign before the primary and especially those who saw fit to cast their votes for me in the primary. I feel very grateful to you and am very sorry that you did not get the man of your choice. But since the people have spoken and Mr. Rockett got more votes than I did, it behooves us as citizens and Republicans to willingly concede to our defeat and present a solid front in the November election and elect our ticket with the largest majority ever polled in the county.

Again thanking you for your vote and support, I am,

Yours very truly,
J. Z. MIMS,
Clanton, Ala., May 25, 1920.

Mr. W. K. Mullins and Miss Peggy spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Mulliins.

Mrs. Robert Powe and attractive daughters arrived Sunday and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. VanDerveer.

Miss Roberta Curry returned last Thursday fromb Jackson, Ala., where she has been teaching during the past year.

Mrs. R. E. Luckie and children will be the guests of Mrs. E. S. Parrish in Birmringham for a few days.

Mrs. William Holmes was the guest of relatives here Friday.

Misses Mae, Lola and Elna Roberts left Saturday for Denver.

Miss Willie Belle Sartor had as her guests for the week, Mrs. Carr Buchannan and Mrs. Robert Douglass of Montgomery.

Mrs. J. W. Stanfield and Miss Alice accompanied by Miss Lessie Reynolds motored to Montgomery Tuesday.

After an extended trp to Birmingham, Mrs. R. C. Copeland and children have returned home to Clanton.

Mrs. V. J. Elmore is in Elba visiting for a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Macey Jones has returned to her home after an extended trip to Montgomery.

A fishing party consisting of H. M. Smpson, Macey Jones, John Robinson, Will Wilson and Uncle Dick Jones spent the first of the week on Coosa River.

The Good News Spreads Fast

One person after the other hept telling about what good Dreco was doing' so finally this lady bought a bottle.

forming; eased her kidney trouble and strengthened the vital organs.

"It seemed like the good news of what Dreco was doing spread fast' for I kept hearing people talk about what it was doing until I decided to get a bottle also", said Mrs. Sallie C. Bragg of Newmarket near Huntsville, Ala.

"I've sufferd agonies from gastritis.

My food sonred in my stomach, filled me with gas, and caused griping pains and a choking feeling in my throat. My bowels were constipated so that I had to take medicine almost every night. I had been under treatment for kidncy trouble for months—seems like I had taken everything but the right thing. I was losing hope of ever being real well again.

"When I started taking Dreci I was truly in a bad condition, for I could eat but very little solid food. Dreco acted in a soothing manner on my stomach, and stopped the gas almost at once. My food began to nourish me and my nerves got steady. My bowels acted in a normal way each day; the headaches stopped and my sleep became restful and I'd rise in the morning feeling refreshed. Dreco has proven a wonderful tonic to my vital organs, and made a new woman out of me."

Dreco is made from the pure liquid extracts of many herbal plants, which act on the stomach, kidneys, liver, bowels and enrich the blood.

All good druggists now sell Dreco and it is being especially introduced n Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co.

The World's Largest Tire Factory
Building 30x3, 30x3½ and 31x4-inch Tires

Owners of the smaller cars can enjoy the same high relative value in Goodyear Tires that gives utmost satisfaction to owners of big, costly motor carriages.

They can take advantage of that tremendous amount of equipment, skill and care employed by Goodyear to build tires of extraordinary worth in the 30 x 3-, 30 x 3½-, and 31 x 4-inch sizes.

They can secure these tires without waiting, despite the enormous demand, because, in addition to its larger sizes, Goodyear builds an average of 20,000 a day in the world's largest tire factory devoted to the three sizes mentioned.

If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or any other car using one of these sizes, go to the nearest Goodyear Service Station Dealer for Goodyear Tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

30x3½ Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread $23.50

30x3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are thick, strong tubes that reinforce casings properly. Why risk a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x3½ size in waterproof bag $4.50

Bank Vice-President

Tells How Ziron Iron Tonic Helped His Daughter After Operation for Appendicitis.

AFTER any serious illness, the first thing you notice when you begin to get around is your lack of strength and energy—a tired, weak feeling.

The sooner you get your strength back the better. The thing to do is to eat plenty of good, nourishing food, get all the fresh air you can, exercise conservatively, and take Ziron Iron Tonic three times a day.

Your doctor will tell you this is sound advice, and urge you to follow it.

Read this letter from Mr. J. B. Kelly, vice-president of the First National Bank, Graceville, Fla.: "My daughter had been in bad health since last April. She was operated on for appendicitis. She has been taking Ziron for two weeks. Her appetite is better than it has been. Her nerves are better, and she says she feels better . . . I know that Ziron is good for weak and feeble people."

Ziron is a scientific, reconstructive tonic, prepared from valuable strength-building ingredients, for weak people with thin blood. Druggists sell Ziron on a money-back guarantee. Try it.

The Centenial Half Dollar, by Mrs. J. Watts Moore.

YOUNG PEOPLES MONTH.

Next month, June, is the month set apart by the W. M. U. of Alabama as Young Peoples Month. In this connection the State Leader has arranged for an Associational Council for the young people of Chilton county to be held at Maplesville on June 2nd. The slogan will be "A meeting for young people, by young people and with the young people."

The first hour in the morning will be devoted to class work for leaders and others who are interested. Every boy, girl and young woman in the Association is urged to attend this meeting. The purpose of these meetings is to lead the young people into a more glorious service for Christ.

Miss Metcalf, the State Leader of the W. M. U. will be present to direct the exercises.

MISS CURRY HONORED

Among the numerous pre-nuptial affairs in honor of Miss Mary Curry was a pretty linen snower given by Mrs. J. P. VanDerveer on Monday evening. The home was decorated in quantities of pink Dorothy Perkins.

The guests were received by Mrs. Robert Powe and invited to the tea table presided over by Mrs. Alex Richards. A most intetresting rose contest was enjoyed, and after a cut a beautiful cut glass vase fell to Mrs. R. E. Luckie. A guessing contest was also exciting when Mrs. Eric Hart was the successful contestant. Later a beautifully decorated express wagon filled to overflowing and drawn by Miss Patsy Powe Richards and Josephine Powe was presented to the bride. Such an exquisite display of linens is rarely seen. The gft for the bride was a cut glass knife rest.

An interesting feature of the afternoon was several recitstions given by little Miss Evelyn Powe of Birmingham. At the concluson of the evening pleasure a delicious ice course was served.

Mr. Hugh Foshee spent several days in Albany fishing during the past week.

MRS. MARION GORE HONORS BRIDE-ELECT

"You're invited to attend a miscellaneous shower at Mrs. Marion Gore's, 4 o'clock is the hour, 21st instant, Friday afternoon, for Mary weds Clint on the 2nd day of June."

In response to the above unique invitations, more than half a hundred guests assembled in the hospitable home of Mrs. Marion Gore on last Friday afternoon.

Mary, the honoree of the occasion, is a daughter of Hon. and Mrs Thos. A. Curry of Clanton. Mr. Louis Clinton Jones of Asheville, N. C., is the fortunate young man to whom Miss Curry will soon be wedded.

The miscellaneous shower of last Friday afternoon was the first of a series of entertainments that have been planned for the bride-elect.

Mrs. Gore's home had been converted into a spacious apartment and had been decorated for the auspicious function in festoons of southern smilax and a magnificent array of woodland daisies. Daisies were also arranged in standards and were placed here and there to splendid advantage; in clusters they ornamented the shade lamps. They were scattered in graceful profusion over the handsome lace luncheon cloth and blended their gold with its undercover. Above the mirrored centerpiece was reared a pyramid of daisies from which tuille streamers were suspended and terminated on the table's edge in fluffy rosetts.

The color-motif prevailed in punch; also in the delightful three-course luncheon, served during the afternoon. The bride's dainty gown of hand embroidered lingerie, together with her blue picture hat, faced with gold braid, still further accentuated the color scheme of the afternoon's entertainment.

The contest of the afternoon proved enjoyable. The cutting of the Jack Horner Pie by little Wesley Danforth was pronouncedly clever. The "Plums" were received by the bride and were inspected by all the other guests.

The reception line was composed of the hostess, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Curry and Miss Mary Curry.

MRS. HEARD ENTERTAINS.

Mrs. Victor J. Heard was hostess to the Embroidery Club on last Thursday afternoon. After a social hour spent in fancy needle work a delicious ice course was served to Mesdames J. P. Hayes, Hugh Jones, W. P. Splawn, W. M. Wyatt, Grady Broadhead, L. F. Gerald. The visietors of the Club for the afternoon were Mrs. Martin Nix, Mrs. Grady Reynolds, and Mrs. McSwain.

Do you want a rich wholesome biscuit, such as your grandmother served your grandaddy? If so use "RED SEAL," best patent pure wheat flour guaranteed to be just what we say it is or your money back. J. W. Smith & Son, Clanton, Distributors. 5-27-4t

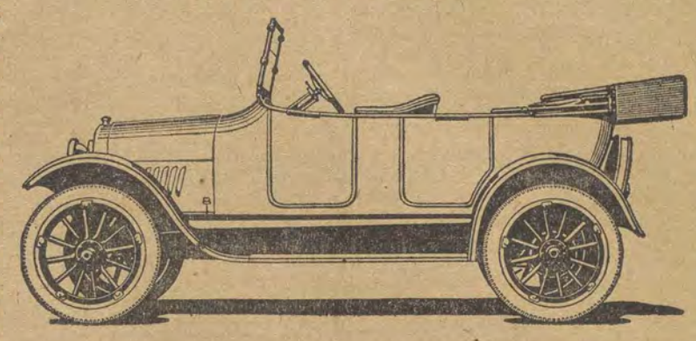
LETTER FROM MR. COLLINS

Dear Editor:—Please allow me a space in your poper to say that I do most heartily thank the voters of the county for the support they gave me in the recent primary. Although I was completely defeated, a great many know why. There was a report that went out against me just befor the day of the primary and I had no time or chance to correct it.

I want to say that I hold no ill feeling toward the voters, but thank them each and everyone for the courtesy shown me during my campaign. But I would feel much better if this rumor had not been circulated against me. But that is all right. The good book says "With what measure you mete it shall be measured to you again." I believe that when a man tries to injure another without cause he will reap what he sows.



So in conclusion I will say that I am the same old Alfred Collins I have always been. I have always voted with the laboring class of people and expect to as long as I live. Let us all be true to our party in November and go to the polls and roll up the biggest majority we have ever had for the Republican ticket in Chilton county.

GIRLS CLUBS ARE ACTIVE IN STATE

MANY JOINING CANNING AND POULTRY CLUBS; LIVELY INTEREST SHOWN.

CONFERS WITH S. S. LEADERS

Plans On Foot To Employ Field Secretaries In Counties Throughout State.

Auburn.—Interest in Girls' Club ork has met with a decided increase in Covington County this month, according to a report of Miss Myrtle Perry, acting home demonstration agent. In the three days spent in the Rauls community, visiting 24 girls, 16 joined the canning club, and one the poultry club. At the Straughn community, out of 25 girls visited, 16 of them joined the canning, and 4 the poultry club. In the Dixie community of 18 girls visited, 12 enrolled in the canning club and three in the poultry club. This makes a total of 64 members in one week in four communities of that country.

Confers With S. S. Leaders.

Montgomery.—General Superintendent Leon C. Palmer, of the Alabama Sunday School Association, spent a few days in Mobile in conference with the executive committee of the local Sunday School organization, looking toward an enlargement of the state and county Sunday School work.

"In the not distant future,' said Mr. Palmer, "every one of our larger counties will have an employed county field secretary, and in other cases we will group counties together for this purpose. The Alabama Sunday School Association is fostering and encouraging this movement."

Boll Weevils Are Numerous.

Dothan.—J. H. Tharp, of Ashford, is showing a bottle of boll weevils picked from a threeacre patch of cotton just chopped out. Mr. Tharp says this is a very early start for the weevils, but he intends to keep up with them by going over the cotton three times a week, a method by which he hopes to save his crop.

Repubs Enter Fight.

Anniston.—Congressman Fred L. Blackmon is to have Republican opposition in the November election, it became known here today. Republican leader s in the Ju lican leaders in the district, it is said, have settled upon Judge A. P. Longsshore, of Columbiana, to make the race for Congres.

Breeders To Meet.

Birmingham.—Members of the Alabama Jersey Breeders' Association will hold their annual convention in Birmingham on June 14 and 15, and with this great gathering they will combine a sale which promises to mark a record in the South. During this convention, the Southern Dairy Association will be organized.

1-Mill Tax Passes.

Moulton.—Lawrence County has again voted upon herself the task of removing illiteracy by improving her rural schools. The question as to whether or not a one-mill school tax should be levied on all properties taxable for the next eight years, was submitted to the voters; out of a total of 1,100 votes cast on the measure, in the May 11 primary, 803 were favorable and 397 opposed.

New Bank To Open.

Anniston.—Anniston's newest banking institution, the Commercial National, wil open for business on June 1, it is announced by Charles R. Bell, president.

Crops Are Later Than Ever.

Sullignent.—The farmers are more behind with their crops than in 20 years. Hundreds of acres of lowlands have never been touched. Cotton seed is rotting in the fields.

To Build Tire Factory.

Gadsden.—Parties who have patented a rubber tire and tube offered to build a $250,000 factory in Gadsden and local business men are considering the matter.

To Increase Bank Capital.

Montgomery.—Authorization for an increase in the capital stock of the Bank of Albertville, Ala., from $50,000 to $100,000 was granted by D. F. Green, superintendent of banks.

Montgomery.—Former members of Company G, One Hundred and Sixty-Seventh United States Infantry, have organized at Ozark, the Payton V. Deese Chapter, Rainbow Division Veterans.

Large Property Sale.

Huntsville.—Deeds filed for record in the probate court during the past week aggregate $200,000. Several big sals of farm property were reported.

Stock Yards Formed.

Selma.—The Selma stock yard company was formally organized at a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce, when a board of directors was elected and plans made for incorporation.

Cotton Injured By Cool Weather.

Mountain Creek.—The four or five diys of bright sunshine crop-growing weather has been followed by a cool crop-killing spell, which has lasted for four days, and which has been very disastrous to crops, especially cotton in Autauga, Chilton, Coosa and Elmore Counties. Conversations with cotton growing farmers is conclusive tionas to cotton prospects in this section. The cool weather has to a great extent, killed off a large percentage of the tender young cotton.

Defense Pleads "Insanity."

Selma.—A plea of not guilty by resonof insanity was entered by Andrew Mullen, prominent business man, for the indictment retprned against him by the Dallas County Grand Jury charging him with the murder of Carleton Ward in the county courthouse. The plea was made by W. R. Craig, counsel for defense. Mullen was arraigned before Judge B. M. Miller of the circuit court.

Labor Elects Officers.

Florence, Ala.,—The Alabama State Federation of Labor reelected President Harrison and Secretary Bowen. The executive council is composed of M. E. Barganier, of Montgomery; Sam C. Hunt, of Florence; A. P. Ezell, of Anniston; W. R. McClusky, of Albany, and E. W. Scherman, of Mobile.

Cotton Compress Built.

Albany.—Following the visit here of Richard F. Willingham, of Macon, Ga., president of the Shippers' Bonded Warehouse, it was announced that the contract for the erection of a new cotton compress here had been let with a clause requiring completion of the plant with 90 days.

Oat Crop Good In Butler.

Greenville.—While corn and cotton crop conditions in Butler County are very glomey at prosent, the farmers who were lucky in planting oats will reap a good harvest. There are thous-joining counties are reported planning to curtail cotton acreage and plant more food crops this Spring.

Hog Sales Held.

Greenville, Ala.,—The Butler County Swine Growers' Association held their last hog sales day of the season in Greenville. There were a large number of hogs sold that were brought into Greenville from all sections of the county, and what is considered a fair price was paid for them.

M'Dowell To Run.

Montgomery. — State Senator Charles S. McDowell of Eufaula told friends in Montgomery that he expected to be a candiate for governor in the campaign two years hense. He had been mentioned for several months.

Yeggs Still Missing.

Birmingham.—No trace has been found of the yeggmen who blew open the safe of the sub-station of the postoffice at Five Points Tuesday night and made away with all the cash and thrift stamps in the safe amounting to $600.

Club Meeting Closed.

Anniston.—After two days of business and social sessions, the second district convention of Federated Women's Clubs was brought to a close. The convention was attended by club women from 14 counties in North Alabama.

County May Be Re-Districted.

Mobile.—Because of the large number of voters in several of the city wards, the county board of revenue and road commisioners at its meeting took steps looking toward redistricting the county.

Storm Fund Still Increases.

Tuscaloosa.—Tuscaloosa's subscription to the storm sufferers has reached $1,809.34 and is still climbing. It looks now as if the amount will go over the $200,000. mark.

Legion Charter Granted.

Montgomery.—Charter was issued for an American Legion post at Clanton, Ala., where a number of prospective Legionaires have already been enrolled.

Hospital To Be Built.

Andalusia.—The organization of a company to build a $100,000 hospital, has been completed here.

Firms Incorporate.

Montgomery.—Four new Montgomery corporations filed official notices of formation with the secretary of state. Certification forms showed these four firms to have a combined authorized capital stock of $57,000.

Trip Made In Hydroplane.

Mobile.—Six Florida Shriners outdid oter wearers of the fez attending a ceremonial here by making the journey from Pensacola here by hydroplane.

Accountants Examined.

Montgomery. — Eleven applicants, two of them from other states, appeared before the state board of accountancy to be examined for certificates as certified public accountants.

Conference Meets.

Five Points.—The annual session of the Roanoke district conference of the Methodist Church, South, adjourned here after one of the most interesing meetings in the history of the district.

United States a Real Democracy Only When It Votes for President.

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART, American Writer.

This is one of the most critical periods in the country's history. The nation faces a vitally necessary industrial and economic adjustment, in which every man and woman must aid.

The basic economic factor is the home and it rests with the women to take the initiative in measures affecting the home.

Autocracy of mass is as bad as autocracy of class. The strongest emotion prevailing in the country today is fear of radicalism. The people must shake off their political lethargy and realize that they are the government. The only time the United States is a real democracy is when it votes.

Every four years the country puts all its eggs in one basket and must take its chance until the next general election. We have been particularly fortunate in selecting our presidents in the past, but we can't afford to make a mistake at this critical period of our national life.

There must be no "rubber stamp" delegates to the national conventions. They must reflect the wishes of the people they represent.

The greatest problem before the American people, I believe, is industrial and economic adjustment, so that we may take the lead in this. The men are doing their part now. They earn in their capacity, while the women now must achieve the impossible by maintaining the home at a decent standard in the face of continually increasing living costs.

Reactionary and Progressive and How America Will Be Made Secure.

By NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER, President Columbia University

The sure mark of the reactionary is unwillingness to make use of the teachings of past experience or to read the lessons of history and apply them to the problems of today.

The true progressive, on the other hand, is he who carefully reads history and carefully examines the experience of mankind in order to see what lessons have already been learned, what mistakes have already been repeated and what principles of organization and conduct have established themselves as sound and beneficent.

America will be saved, not by those who have only contempt and despite for her founders and her history, but by those who look with respect and reverence upon the great series of happenings extending from the voyage of the Mayflower to the achievements of the American armies on the soil of France, and upon that long succession of statesmen, orators, men of letters and men of affairs who have themselves been both the product and the highest promise of American life and American opportunity.

The declaration of independence rings as true today as it did in 1776. The constitution remains the surest and safest foundation for a free government that the wit of man has yet devised.

Faithful adherence to these strong and enduring foundations and a high purpose to apply the fundamental principles of American life with sympathy and openmindedness to each new problem that presents itself will give us a people increasingly prosperous, increasingly happy and increasingly secure.

"I Have Preached the Doctrine of the Red, White and Blue Forever."

By JOHN KJELLANDER, Superior Court Clerk, Chicago.

The initial fact in my case is that I, a native of Sweden, am proud of my American citizenship. There my glory begins and ends.

When I arrived at Castle Garden I had $10. I came to Chicago, the metropolis of the Golden West, and I partook again of an effervescent cup of optimism. Quoting Theodore Roosevelt, "the name of American is to bear the most honorable of titles and whoever does not so believe has no business to bear the name at all." Send all such back.

These United States have given me opportunity. I have been honored by the electorate. Class distinction would have barred me abroad. This country has afforded me the privilege of knowing, personally, men and women of all classes, from the lowly to the chief magistrate of the nation.

Respecting my fatherland, I have gained adoration for the land of my adoption. I wish the same were true of other foreigners who have come to our shores. To all such as have been classified as "Reds" I would say "get out!" To deport them is a pussyfoot method. Their place is before a firing squad. In my job as clerk of the Superior court of Cook county I have made many addresses in my office to applicants for citizenship and I have preached the doctrine of the red, white, and blue—forever.

"Some Large Questions on Which the Future of the Nation Depends."

By MRS. CARRIE CHAPMAN CATT, Woman Suffrage Leader.

Some large questions are coming up today. To cite a few of them.

How shall the peace of the world be maintained? How shall food enough be produced to bring the necessary variety within the possession of every human being? How shall industrial profiteers be brought to book? How shall the illiteracy, so glaringly revealed by war statistics, be removed, for ignorance in a republic is an ever-present menace?

As many women die every year from perfectly preventable causes at maternity as there were men from this country killed in the great war. Why should this go on?

These are a few of the questions calling for attention at this time. And the future of the nation, the happiness of posterity depends upon the manner in which men and women voters of today meet these questions.

To my mind, it is the duty of the women voters in the coming election to place their eyes upon the big things at issue and let those big things govern their choice of party and candidates.

FAINTING AND DIZZY SPELLS

The Cause of such Symptoms and Remedy Told in This Letter.

Syracuse, N. Y.—"When I commenced the Change of Life I was poorly, had no appetite and had fainting spells. I suffered for two or three years before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the Liver Pills which I saw advertised in the papers and in your little books. I took about twelve bottles of your Vegetable Compound and found it a wonderful remedy. I commenced to pick up at once and my suffering was relieved. I have told others about your medicine and know of some who have taken it. I am glad to help others all I can."—Mrs. R. E. DEMING, 437 W. Lafayette Ave., Syracuse, N. Y.

While Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, the annoying symptoms which accompany it may be controlled, and normal health restored by the timely use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Moreover this reliable remedy contains no narcotics or harmful drugs and owes its efficiency to the medicinal extractives of the native roots and herbs which it contains.

Not Forgotten.

It is rather hard to decide which is the more maddening in a certain New Jersey town not far from New York, the taxi service or the telephone. One day, having waited almost up to train time for the taxi he had ordered, a prominent townsman picked up the telephone in a great rage and asked for the number of the dilatory taxi man.

"Hello, this is Mr. Henry," he said loudly and sternly, when he got his connection. "Have you forgotten me?"

"No, I haven't forgotten you, Mr. Henry," said the mild feminine voice at the other end of the wire. "This is Mrs. Brown."

Ups and Downs.

"An orator has to come down to the level of his audience's intelligence," remarked the mild egoist.

"There used to be some such idea," replied Senator Sorghum. "But the orator nowadays has all he can do to rise to the occasion."

RABBIT RAISING IS GOOD SCHEME

American People Beginning to Realize That Meat Is Superior for Home Table.

LITTLE CAPITAL IS NEEDED

Back-Yard Enterprise Turns Waste Materials and Spare Time Into Food—Selection of Breed Is Matter of Taste.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Rabbits have always been an important source of meat in Europe, but in the United States until recently few of them were eaten except during the winter hunting season. Conditions resulting from the great war have awakened many Americans to the economic value of rabbits and more and more people each year are raising sufficient in their back yards to supply the family table. The flesh of the young domesticated rabbits is vastly superior in fiber and flavor to that of the wild rabbits. It closely resembles the white meat of chicken.

A prolific 10-pound doe can easily raise in a year 20 young, which at 5 months will produce not less than 50 pounds of delicious meat. By means of compound hutches all this can be done on an area 4 by 6 feet. Half an hour of time a day, and some hay, roadside weeds, and refuse from orchards, garden, and kitchen, supplemented by a small quantity of grain, cover the cost of production. Raising rabbit meat for home consumption is a proposition for turning to account time, space, and materials which are ordinarily wasted.

Cost of Rabbit Raising.

The cost of starting a rabbitry depends on its size and on the price of material. One can buy two good does and a buck of breeding age—enough to supply an average family with all the rabbit meat it would care to use—for anywhere from $1.50 to $10 each, or for a total of from $4.50 to $30.

Hutches may vary in cost from a few cents each, the price of an empty dry-goods box, to several dollars, if expended for dressed lumber to be put together by a carpenter. On a farm where odds and ends of lumber and poultry netting usually are available, and where hay, grain, and milk are produced in abundance, the money cost of starting and carrying on a small rabbitry is negligible. In any case the initial cost need not be great. The daily cost when all feed is purchased is not usually above 1 cent for a 10 or 12 pound rabbit, a recent bulletin on rabbit raising, published by the bureau of biological survey of the United States department of agriculture, states.

Selecting a breed is a matter of taste, although it may be influenced more or less by the market that is to be supplied. For example, the family table would demand smaller animals than would the trade of a restaurant or hotel. It is best to begin with only one breed and to concentrate on developing that into stock that may be a source of pride and profit.

One buck and two or three does are enough to start with. Young animals of breeding age are better than older ones, which will soon be past their usefulness. The buck should come from a different source from the does. It is always best to deal with reputable breeders and to examine stock before buying it.

Feeding the Rabbit.

American breeders follow no uniform system of feeding rabbits. Some feed no green stuff, while others use all that is available. It is usually wise to avoid both extremes, but green feed must be used with more caution than is necessary with dry, and only the best of any kind should be used. This means particularly that spoiled, moldy, or dirty feeds are to be avoided as injurious to rabbits.

Clean oats (whole or crushed), bright well-cured hay, and a small portion of some kind of greens daily is the steady diet used in most rabbitries. Crushed barley may be substituted for oats; clover or alfalfa may be used with green oats or timothy hay; and the greens may consist of carrots, rutabagas, prunings from apple and cherry tress, and plantain, dock, burdock, dandelion, cauliflower, lettuce, or lawn clippings. Lawn clippings or other green grass should be clean and not fed when moldy or fermented. Dandelion tops and roots not only have a food value, but are useful on occasion because of their medicinal properties. A variety of feed is essential.

ADVISABLE TO PRUNE AND STAKE TOMATOES

Question Is Asked Every Year By Many Gardeners.

Advantages Are That Larger Number of Plants Can Be Set on Given Area—Quality of Fruit Is Usually Much Better.

Does it pay to prune tomato vines to a single stem and tie them to stakes or to a trellis? This question is asked every year by thousands of home gardeners. It does pay, according to United States department of agriculture specialists, especially if the space for garden purposes is limited, and it is desired to make the best use of it. Tomato plants, if left to themselves, have a habit of spreading all over the garden and of producing their fruit right on the ground, where it becomes covered with dirt every time there is a rain.

Advantages of pruning and staking tomatoes are that a larger number of plants can be set on a given area than by the ordinary method; the fruit will ripen a little earlier on the plants that are pruned and staked; and the fruit is held off the ground, is clean, and easy to gather.

While the individual plants do not produce so large a quantity of fruit as when they are allowed to spread upon the ground, at least three times as many plants can be set on a given area, thereby actually increasing the quantity of tomatoes produced. The quality of the fruit is usually better on the plants that are pruned and tied to stakes.

Small round poles about four feet in length, sharpened at one end, make the most desirable tomato stakes for the home garden. The best proof that staking tomatoes pays is found in the fact that the best home gardeners follow the practice.

LIME REQUIREMENTS OF SOIL

As General Rule Application of Small Quantity Will Be Beneficial—Ashes Help Some.

There is no certain means by which the average gardener can determine the lime requirements of his soil. As a general rule, however, the application of a small quantity of lime will be beneficial. This should be at the rate of from one-half bushel to one bushel of air-slaked lime to a square rod of ground. The lime should be applied after the land has beeen plowed or spaded and while it is being raked and fitted for planting.

It should always be borne in mind that no lime should be put on the land that is to be planted to Irish potatoes nor should the lime be applied at the same time as commercial fertilizers or poultry manure, as it has the faculty of liberating the nitrogen contained in the fertilizer and causing it to be lost in the air.

Unleached wood ashes contain some lime and considerable potash, but should not be applied at the same time as the lime. Coal ashes are beneficial as a means of lightening heavy soils. However, they have very little fertilizer value, the United States department of agriculture says.

GOOD FARMSTEAD PLANTINGS

Trees Are Used for Windbreaks and Shade, While Shrubs Are Needed to Cover Unsightly Spots.

Suitable plantings are necessary to unite the parts of a farmstead into a pleasing, homelike whole, says the United States department of agriculture. Trees are used for windbreaks, as frames for the buildings or a background for them, and to give shade. Shrubs are needed in abundance to hide partially the foundation lines of buildings, support their corners, give reasons for turns in drives or walks, and to screen unsightly objects. Native trees and shrubs and those known by trial to thrive in the locality are the best to use.

IMPROVEMENT OF DAIRY HERD

Statement From Virginia Owner Reflects Sentiment for Upbuilding of Live Stock.

"I disposed of one scrub bull and replaced him with a registered Holstein to build the herd up." This statement from a Virginia dairyman reflects sentiment of improving live stock in the Old Dominion state, says the United States department of agriculture. The dairyman is enrolled in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" movement in which Virginia now leads all other states from the standpoint of number of persons agreeing to use purebred sires for all classes of stock kept.

ROUND ABOUT THE WORLD

A Condensed Record Of Happenings Of Interest From All Points Of The World

Foreign—

Lieut. Harmon C. Rorison of Wilmington, N. C., a pilot in the Kosciusko aerial squadron, has been missing for several days, when he began a flight undertaken to obtain a report concerning the Bolshevik lines on the southern frontin the Ukraine.

Troubles have broken out in northeastern provinces of Italy. In the Carnia, the unemployed set up a Soviet government, which lasted only one day, the troops re-establishing order. In Verona the general strike is aggravated by the solidarity of the railway men.

New luxury taxes imposed by the Dominion of Canada to take the place of the heavier war burdens which are gradually being reduced are expected to do one of two things—either they will produce revenue or they will cut the high cost of living.

Persia has appealed to the league of nations to protect her against Bolshevik aggression.

Arangements have been completed for the transportation of two thousand persons weekly from Poland to the United States b ythe Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society of America, which recently opened offices in Poland.

Greek and Turkish troops have clashed about twenty-five miles east of Smyrna, where the Turks are taking the offensive and are apparently massing reinforcements preparatory to further advances against the Greeks. Fighting has occurred between Magnion and Menumen.

The council of the league of nations has sent a message to President Wilson requesting him to convoke the league of nations next November at Brussels. It is pointed out that Geneva is not ready to receive the assembly. The council, as a result of the Swiss referendum, decided to select Geneva as the seat of the league assembly, instead of Brussels, which would have been chosen had Switzerland voted adversely.

Horatio Bottomley, the anti-American British member of parliament and publicist, takes another shot at America in his magazine, John Bull, by publishing a "demand" that Great Britain forbid the United States to build any more battleships without the allies' consent.

Horatio Bottomley, in his paper, "John Bull," published in London, says: "I want our debt to America to be paid, but whether she joins the league of nations or not, we must notify her that she must not build any more battleships without the consent of the allies. I personally scent danger ahead, for I see no sign that the United States will reciprocate our friendship. Instead, I see only braggart insolence, swaggering unchecked through the wastes of mendacity; all signal proof of the truth of my assertion hat basically American idealism is simply another name for Yankee bluffs."

Two thousand troops from England were landed at Bantry recently and immediately distributed throughout West Corn, where they will be stationed at points five miles apart. The troops to the number of 150 arrived at Skibberdeen also. They commandeered several buildings there, including the town hall, which was made their headquarters.

Washington—

Secretary Daniels testified before a naval board investigating methods employed in an attempt to suppress vice at the Newport training station that he obtained his first knowledge of alleged misconduct on the part of the navy personnel from Bishop Perry of Rhode Island.

Frankly confiding to his colleagues that the clothes on his back were threadbare and patched, Senator Thomas, Democrat of Colorado, joining in another senate broadside on profiteers, declared the people themselves and not legislation must break through the sweeping wave of high prices.

Repetition by Representative Madden, Republican, of Illinois, in the house of his assertion recently that Confederates were traitors threatened a clash between him and Southern members, who gave the "lie" to his epithet.

House Republicans, in party caucus, have come out squarely for enactment of soldier relief as advocated by the American Legion.

The Mexican capital is stupefied at the latest course Mexican politics have taken. Revolutionary leaders are worried to the point of distraction at what effect the murders will have upon their cause.

Cost of production and prices of bituminous coal were the subjects of a report by the federal trade commission and of a letter written by J. D. A. Morrow, vice president of the Nation Coal Association, to Senator Walsh of Masachusetts, both made public. Large profits will be denied on bituminous coal.

The dead and, reports say, mutilated bodies of his faithful followers assassinated with him, have cast a pall of worry and uncertainty over the capital of Mexico. Details of the assassination are still lacking. The indications are, however, that the first chief and his faithful followers were murdered while tsey slept, and following the killings, the bodies of the dead were slashed with machetes.

Both General Obregon and Gonzales express deep distress over the unhappy death of Carranza and his followers, and, whatever may be the opinion of the outside world, it may be stated that the Mexican capital is convinced that the generals are sincere in their renunciation of any part, either active or passive, in the murders. On the contrary there is every reason to believe that the revolutionists are constantly working to prevent any unnecessary shedding of blood.

Twenty-five hundred dollars reward forthe capture of Grover Cleveland Berdoll of Philadelphia, escaped draft dodger, was offered by Bergdoll's attorneys. Bergdoll told the authorities he had hidden $150,000 in gold and was permitted, under guard, to go to his mother, and then made his escape.

With the passage of the Knox peace resolution by the house after a stormy debate, the congress of the United States has put itself on record declaring this country to be at peace with both Germany and Austria-Hungary, repealing all wartime legislation, and reserving all rights accuring to the United States under the armistice and the treaty of Versailles. The president will undoubtedly veto the bill, and it will be impossible to secure the two-thirds necessary to pass over his disapproval.

Desire to "Prussianize" the navy department was ascribed by Secretary Daniels as one of Admiral Sims' underlying motives in criticising the department's conduct of the war. The secretary, testifying before the senate investigating committee, also charged that most of the testimony supporting admiral Sims' position was from officers who wished to remove civilian control of the navy department and make the secretary a "rubber stamp."

In its first attempts at freeing the maze of rail equipment, the interstate commerce commission probably will deal with local situations in the various cities through individual roads. This was expected to last, however, only until a general scheme can be worked out by which priorities and embargoes can be employed to restrain the on-rushing stream of commodities waiting at every station.

Cavalry from Fort Meyer was called out to disperse a mob of more than one thousand persons which surrounded the jail at Alexandria court house, twelve miles from the limits of the District of Columbia, attempting to obtain possession of William Turner, a negro. Turner confessed that he shot and killed T. Morgan Moore and attempted to attack Moore's fiancee, Miss Pearl Clark, secretary to Representative Fred Britten of Illinois, after holding them up on the road.

The record in "convention week" profiteering was announced in Chicago by L. W. Henley, secretary of the Republican arrangements committee, when he received a letter from a householder announcing a fourteen-room house for rent during the convention for $12.000. "We are not buying property," Henley replied.

"Tobacco does not excite or intoxicate, but it soothes and pacifies. It promotes sober deliberation and moral contentment. It does not lure men from the fireside, but cements family ties." Charles J. Eisenlohr, president of the Tobacco Merchants' association, made this statement, and said that tobacco would not be buried in the same grave with liquor.

Between two and three thousand have quit work in widely separated sections of the Alabama coal mining district. Mining has been suspended at a number of points. The collective bargaining principle is the issue.

United States Senator Walter S. Edge of New Jersey, speaking before the National Manufacturers' association in session in New York City, said modification of the immigration laws to permit an influx of desirable immigrants to meet the United States' labor short, was necessary. But, he said, they must be Americanized.

Poison gas automatically liberated inside the bank vault as a result of manipulations of burglars, possibly prevented the theft of several thousand dollars at the Newmarket bank at Jefefrson City, Tenn. Finger prints on he wall are believed to have been made by one of the burglars.

A wave of price cutting in retail clothing costs reaching from the Mississippi valley to the Pacific coast is reported. Dispatches received in Chicago frmo twenty-four cities in that territory told of promised reductions in these necessities ranging from 15 to minus profit.

Governor Smith has vetoed the bill propsed and backed by a certain element in the New York legislature which would bar the Socialist party from participating in elections in that state.

Influenced by the nation-wide price-cutting agitation that is steadily gaining ground, the principal commodity markets of the country continued to "mark down" quoted values. Cotton, sugar and corn options broke violently in New York and in Chicago, and cereals and provisions suffered sharp reactions.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

M. D. FOSHEE, MANAGER.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

TEACHERS SALARY SCHEDULE FOR 1920-'21 TERM CHILTON CO.

The Chlton County Board of Education at its regular meeting on the 28th of May, 1920, adopted the following salary schedule for the session of 1920-'21, provided the three mill tax election carries in July. If it should fail the funds will be apportioned to each district in the old way, that is according to the school population of that district and will be about $3 per child.

Teachers holding third-grade certificates.—Without experience working as assistants, per month, $50.00; with experience working as assistants or as teacher in one-teacher schools, per month, $60.00.

Teacher holding second-grade certificates.—Without experience working as assistants or as teacher in one-teacher school, per month, $60.00; with experience working as assistants, per month, $65.00; with experience working as teacher in one-teacher schools, per month, $70.00.

Teachers holding first-grade and life certificates.—Without experience working as assistants or as teacher in one-teacher schols, per month, $70.00; with experience, working as assistants, per month, $77.50; with experience working as teacher in one-teacher schools, per month, $85.00; those who have had normal or college training working as teacher in one-teacher schools, per month, $90.00.

The rating of all principals in schools employing two or more teachers will be six dollars ($6.00) per month above their regular rating in one-teacher schools for each assistant working under them.

The board instructed the county superintendent to make all contracts read for 'FIVE MONTHS OR MORE' for the next school term. We expect to run the schools six months but we cannot determine definitely the exact length until after the July census and know what state funds we will receive.

DR. SAMUEL E. JOHNSON NOW MARINE MEDICAL EXAMINER

Doctor Samuel E. Johnson, Lieut. U. S. N., well known in this section of Alabama, has been transferred from the Marine Barracks, Parris Island, S. C., to the Headquarters Station, Recruiting District of Memphis, Odd Fellows Bldg., Memphis, Tenn., where he will examine all applicants for enlistment in this well known branch of Uncle Sam's service.

When Dr. Johnson received his orders to report at Memphis, he and Mrs. Johnson got out their little "flivver" and proceeded over land to their new station. The doctor has already made a host of friends during the short period he has been at Memphis, and many of his friends and old patients will welcome the time when the doctor returns to this city to resume his practice.

"Doc," as he is called by all his friends here, has made an enviable record in the United States Navy, he was called into active service in June, 1917, and was sent to the Naval Hospital at New Orleans, La., and when the government opened a naval station at Gulfport, Miss., "Doc" was transferred there. His next move was in 1919 when he was assigned duty in the transport service on the U. S. S. Nansemond. He remained in this service for some time and was then ordered to report to the Naval Hospital at Charleston, S C. where he served on the surgical staff as a junior surgeon. While in the service Doctor Johnson has always had the respect of all the enlisted men who were placed under him.

POWER EXTENSION NOW UP TO PRESIDENT WILSON

Alabama Company to Start Development When President Signs Dam Bill.

Just as soon as the president signs the general dam bill recently passed in the House and Senate, the Alabama Power Company will begin on further development of the Coosa River, probably at Duncan's Riffle, 15 miles below Lock 12, where 90,000 horsepower is generated now.

If this development is not positively determined on then the Tallapoosa River, at Cherokee Bluffs, or Little River on Lookout Mountain, above Gadsden, may be utilized, it is said.

The object will be to double at least the capacities of the Alabama Power Company, its present supply of electricity having been disposed of to corporations, municipal and industrial, throughout the State.

FORD LITERATURE IN TEN LANGUAGES

Fifty-Eight Branch Plants; 43 Under Home Plants.

The Ford catalog and manual have already been printed in ten different languages: French, Spanish, Portuguese, Russian, Polish, Italian, German, Danish, Hungarian and English. Others, including Chinese, are now being considered.

At the present time there are three separate Ford factories, thirty-six in the United States. Assembling plants 10 Canadian branches and the following foreign branches and assembling plants: Bordeaux, France; Bue nos Aires, Argentine; Cadiz, Spain; Copenhagen, Denmark; Paris, France; Soa Paulo, Brazil; and Melbourne, Australia. Of a total of 59 branches and assembling plants, 43 are directly connected with the Highland Park Plant.

Those countries wherein Ford branches have not yet been established are represented by distributors.

WALDROP SCHOOLHOUSE

There will be a talk made at 11:00 o'clock, the first Sunday in June, 4, by S. N. Waldrup, at the Waldrop's Schoolhoue, 4 miles east of Randolph, on the Jemison road. The subject will be on the "Restitution of all Things," Acts 3:20-21.

We invite all to come out that would like to hear something said on this subject. Probably there will be a question meeting at the close of the service. Free to all.

ROCKY MOUNT

The public school here will begin June the 21st with Miss McNeill as principal.

There will be a public working at Rocky Mount Schoolhouse June 18th for the purpose of getting ready for the summer school. The working will be in charge of the school improvement association.

J. B. NORTHCUTT.

Texas Democrats in convention assembled "praised the administration of President Wilson" and at the same time declared "in favor of the ratification of the peace treaty with the League of Nations under the best terms possible." This is riding two horses going in different directions.

The problems of government will need Nationalists, not Internationalists for its solution.

It is ominous that the anti-Wilson Democratic campaign will be framed up at "Lick" Springs.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The campaign for the new Baptist Church building is now on with very encouraging results. On Thursday of last week the Baptists of Clanton with the assistance of a few friends achieved one of the finest accomplishments in the history of Clanton when in one day $20,685 was subscribed for the erection of a new building. Up to the time of going to press the campaign still continues, but with the success so far achieved the possibility of a $35,000 building is now assured. Further funds will be needed for numerous extra expenses that always occur in such an enterprise, so the opportunity is still open and the privilege still extended to any one who may desire to make a free will offering.

No longer can any kind of a reproach be laid upon the Baptists of Clanton since during the past five months upwards of $35,000 for the various interests of the church in addition to the local expenses has been subscribed, an achievement unequalled certainly not exceeded by any other church in the State for the size of its membership and community constituency.

New and vigorous life has come to the Baptists of Clanton. Better harmony now exists among its members than for many years past, and the desire to seize the present day opportunities for Christian service has wonderfully increased.

With untiring zeal during the days of the campaign the committees have workekd faithfully and well, and for the most part with a liberal spirit and a generous heart the people have given nobly to the work.

The details for the building have not yet been completed, but it is fully expected that in sixty and possibly thirty days the foundation will be laid for the new building which will be a valuable asset to the City of Clanton in every respect as well as to the Baptist Church and denomination. Certainly every citizen should count it a privilege from a community point of view to have some part however small it may be in so great and worthy an enterprise.

The Baptist people now living in Clanton not identified with this church are earnestly and cordially invited without further delay to unite with us and become a part of a live progressive church where their membership as residents of the city rightly belongs.

The church is now looking forward to a great meeting which will begin on Sunday, July 4th when the pastor will be ably assisted by L. C. Woolfe, one of the Home Mission Board Evangelists and Bro. Morris, a splendid gospel singer and chorus leader.

Services will be held next Sunday as usual: Sunday School at 10 a.m.; Preaching at 11 a.m.; Senior B.Y.P.U. at 7 p.m.; Preaching at 8 p.m.

The B. Y. P. U. Picnic will be held at Lovers Lane on Friday of this week when all the members will leave on the morning train for Jemison, and the Reds will be entertained by the Blues. A very enjoyable day is anticipated and all the members are urged to attend.

We would like to see more members of the church regularly attending the preaching services, and extend at all times a cordial welcome to all the visitors who desire to worship with us.

Short Items From All Parts of State

Greenville.—Work has been started on the Petrie Building. The contract calls for a plate glass and marble front, and complete renovation of the interior of the building. The work is expected to be completed by September 1.

Rains Retarding Crops.

Montgomery.—Wet weather has had a retarding effect on crop conditions and nearly all crops in every section of the state are in bad condition, according to the crop report for Alabama for the week, made public by the United States weather service. "Cotton made somewhat better progress during the week. Its condition varies from poor to fair. Planting and chopping continued in the northern portion. Chopping was completed in many sections of southern portion. Stands are only poor to fair on account of previous cold and wet weather. Much replanting has been necessary. Some cotton has been plowed up and corn planted in its stead. Boll weevils are becoming numerous in the southern portion. There is much complaint of grass. Progress of corn improved; much corn remains unplanted, especially in the bottom lands, where the soil continued too wet. Cultivation of corn progressed slowly. "Fruit is in poor to good condition. Peaches are dropping badly in some sections. Small fruit is doing well. Oats and white potatoes are generally doing well; oats harvest is in progress in the southern portion. The weather has been favorable for pastures, which are generally in good condition. Transplanting sweet potatoes progressed somewhat slowly. The condition of the crop varies from fair to excellent. Truck improved and is more plentiful. Planting of peanuts continues."

Montgomery.—Commenting upon the recent primary in Alabama and its results, W. D. Nesbitt, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, in a statement issued, says more interest was taken in the recent campaigns and elections the citizenship of Alabama as whole than has been evidenced 20 years. This he regards as a healthy condition, which will give added strength to the government. Mr. Nesbitt states since 1914, as in every evolution of American progress, the Democratic party has been the directing power of the people. "After each past accomplishment," he says, "the people seem to have grown careless and indifferent, with a consequent loss of control that permitted a reactionary government by and for the interest of special interests and classes. Surely, profiting by past experience, we will not repeat our former indifference and mistakes." He recalls that there is a great underproduction of staples, because "millions of us are talking more than we are working," and makes an appeal to everyone to stop paying fabulous prices for imaginary needs, proudly do without, and fully use all working hours for increased production.

Road is Surveyed.

Dadeville.—Engineers from the state highway department have finished going over the proposed new road from Jackson's Gap to Alexander City. This is to be the first good road to be built with federal aid in the county. The county now has a highway from Dadeville to Jackson's Gap, and the new road will complete almost a straight road from Dadeville to Alexander City, a distance of 17 miles.

Taxes Increase 25 Per Cent.

Gadsden.—With the filing of notices that the county tax books are open for inspection, it became known that the total assessments in Etowah would reach $20,000,000, or nearly 25 per cent increase for the year.

Warehouse Capacity Doubled.

Huntsville.—The stockholders of the Farmers' Warehouse Company has unanimously decided to double the capacity of the warehouse, and to issue $115,000 of new stock.

Convention Invited to Birmingham.

Birmingham.—Formal invitation to the American Federation of Labor to hold its 1921 convention in Birmingham was extended by the city commission. The Alabama delegation to the convention of the federation will leave prepared to wage a hot fight to bring the gathering to Birmingham. As an argument in favor of Birmingham for the next meeting place, the delegation will use the fact that Birmingham is the greatest industrial center in the Southern states.

Huffman is Cited.

Gadsden.—Charles E. Huffman, of Gadsden, has been awarded the distinguished service cross for extraordinary heroism displayed in action at Soissons, France, July 19 and 20. The citation relates that he organized an automatic rifle squad, attacked and captured an enemy machine gun nest. Following this he led a bombing expedition against another machine gun nest, capturing the crew and guns. He was twice wounded, and gassed once.

Must Get Designs In.

Montgomery.—It was announced at the governor's office that all original designs for the proposed Alabama centennial coin must be in the office of the department of archives and history immediately. As it is understood Congress will adjourn about June 5, it is necessary that the direction of a design be made and forwarded to Washington as early as posible.

Fire Marshal Finishes Inspection.

Montgomery.—Announcement was made by W. J. Williams, state fire marshal, that he and his assistants completed electrical equipment inspections in the Montgomery business district. Owners of property where defects in wiring or equipment was found, he states, will be notified of these defects and advised that they have 30 days in which to have them remedied.

Girls Aid In Farm Operations.

Auburn.—Work by members of the boys' and girls' clubs, the organization of which is fostered throughout the state by the Alabama extension service, will be of special value this year on account of general labor shortage. In Etowah County, for instance, the home demonstration agent reports the absence of some of her girls from the regular club meeting. It later developed that on account of her brother's illness one of the girls had taken his place at the plow, and that all of them, more or less, were helping their fathers on clear days in running light planters, harrows and other farm implements to get the crops planted in time.

Julian Elected President.

Montgomery.—At its next session, regular of extraordinary, the Alabama legislature will be asked to enact new libel laws which will afford protectiton to the newspaper against pernicious suits but at the same time will care for legitimate claims of persons who may have grievances. The Alabama Press Association voted unanimously to make this request, and created a committee composed of E. W. Barrett of The Birmingham Age-Herald; W. T. Sheehan of the Montgomery Advertiser and F. H. Miller of the Montgomery Journal to see that bills are drafted which will amend the present libel laws. Frank N. Julian of Sheffield, first vice-president, was elevated to the presidency at the closing business session in Montgomery. He succeeded Oscar M. Duggar of Andalusia, whose ...r as head of the organization was ... most successful in its history. ...e members attended the sessions ...nd greater interest was manifested than ever before. W. T. Sheehan of Montgomery, was made first vice-president; W. T. Hall of Dothan, second vice-president; F. W. Stephens of Oneonta, third vice-president; Fowler Duggar of Andalusia, assistant secretary; Walter F. Miller of Tuscumbia, orator; Miss Frances Golston of Wetumpka, poetress, and John Williams of Talladega, historian. James H. Hard of Birmingham was re-elected secretary treasurer.

Farmers Working Hard.

Ashville. — Notwithstanding heavy rians farmers of St. Clair County are working hard to make a crop, some of them even plowing where it is too wet, and skipping the real muddy places. It is predicted as much cotton as was planted last year has already been put in the ground in this county.

Boll Weevil Appears.

Montgomery.—The department of agriculture is advised that the boll weevil has already made its appearance in central and South Alabama. Whereever sufficient labor is available, farmers are having the weevils picked from the plans by hand, and it is hoped in this way the pest can be evaded.

Sunshine Helps Crops.

Mountain Creek.—The continued bright sunshine stimulates both the crops and the industrious farmer. It is now believed this section is "out of the woods" as to an average crop of corn, and probably at least a three-quarter cotton crop.

New Secretary To Arrive.

Florence.—H. H. Dunn, who recently resigned the secretaryship of the board of trade at Winston-Salem, N. C., and who has accepted a similar position with the Florence chamber of commerce will enter upon his duties here June 1.

Snap Bean Party Shoots Price Up.

Mobile.—Press dispatches sent out of Mobile carrying information of the dumping of several bushels of snap beans into Mobile River here, because of the low price offered for them, has brought scores of telegrams from firms in the East offering to purchase beans here, according to growers and truck farmers of this vicinity. The Eastern houses have offered $1.25 a bushel f. o. b. mill, it is stated, and as a result growers are now being paid $1 per bushel for their products.

Satisfied With Census.

Gadsden.—Announcement that Alabama City has a population of 5,432 was received here with satisfaction since the count shows a fine growth for the big mill town. The fact that the town has passed the 5,000 mark is going to work one hardship on the inhabitants. That is the requirement by state law that towns over that figure must pass a stock law. Never in the history of the town has anybody dared to oppose the policy of allowing cows and hogs to roam.

WASHINGTON SIDELIGHTS

To Establish Redwoods National Park

WASHINGTON.—The house has passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the secretary of the interior be, and is hereby, directed to investigate and report to the house of representatives as to the suitability, location, cost, if any, and advisability of securing a tract or tracts of land in the state of California containing a stand of typical redwood trees of the species 'Sequoia Sempervirens' with a view that such land be set apart and dedicated as a national park for the benefit and enjoyment of the people of the United States and for the purpose of preserving such trees from destruction and extinction, and also as to whether or not the whole or any part of such lands or the purchase price thereof would be donated to the United States, and the probable cost of maintaining such lands as a part of the national park system."

When the clerk read the resolution, which came up on the unanimous consent calendar, the following took place:

Mr. Walsh—Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I would like to ask the gentleman if the secretary of the interior has exclusive jurisdiction over forest reserves?

Mr. Lea of California—I think the department of agriculture has exclusive jurisdiction over the forest reserves and the secretary of the interior has jurisdiction over the parks.

Mr. Walsh—This would be treated differently from forest reserves if this tract was acquired?

Mr. Lea of California—Yes; so I understand.

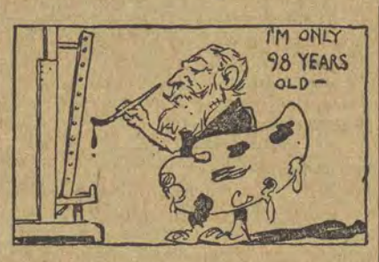
Mr. Walsh is from Massachusetts and New England is always active in national park legislation. But the expected opposition didn't develop.

Sequoia National park (to be enlarged and its name changed to Roosevelt) preserves the "Sequoia gigantia," or Big Trees. The redwood is its first cousin and is being extensively lumbered. The movement to save the redwood from extinction by establishing the Redwoods National park has resulted in the formation of a "Save the Redwoods League," with nation-wide membership.

U. S. Senators Human Beings After All

UNITED States senators—members of the "most august legislative body" in the world—as a rule take themselves mighty seriously. Yet they have been given nicknames, just like small boys, prize fighters and ball players. The Washington newspaper correspondents are responsible for most of these nicknames. It's easier, you see, to say "Quince" than to say "Josiah Quintus Bobb of Massylvania." Also, these correspondents in the senate press gallery have learned that senators are only human beings after all. Some of these nicknames are rather clever; others are decidedly forced. For example, the two leaders in the treaty fight, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, and Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, both have their nicknames. Senator Hitchcock is regularly alluded to as "Hitchy-Koo," while the "Cabot" in his opponent's name has resulted in "Cabbage."

The identity of some of the senators bearing picturesque sobriquets may not be revealed, for obvious reasons. For instance, it would be impossible to tell the name of the senator who is called "Polonius," because of his heavy style and podgy wit. Nor would it be wise to disclose the name of the senator who is termed "Sweetheart" on account of his dapper manner, mincing way of speaking and general cunningness. It would never do to divulge the individuality of "The Boy Orator," or of "The Migratory Bird."



It would not be quite sporting, either, to tell who is called "The Kentucky Gambler." It is disagreeable, but true that another senator is known as "Hog Eye."

Senator Owen of Oklahoma is referred to as "Oconostota,;" he is part Cherokee and this is his Indian name. Senator Simmons of North Carolina is known as "Fern," his given name being Furnifold. "Meddle" McCormick of Illinois. "Cyarter" Glass of Virginia—the way he pronounces it himself—"Doc" France of Maryland, who is a physician, and "Atlas" Pomerene of Ohio, whose actual name is Atlee, cannot object to these puns.

Hiram Johnson of California is termed "Hi-Ram." Vice President Marshall is "the V. P." Senator Reed Smoot of Utah is "Senator Smooth." Senator Asle I. Gronna of North Dakota has a first name easily altered to "Ace."

Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota, "Splendid Old Viking," is "King Canute."

The Old Capable of Useful Achievements

SENATOR Thomas of Colorado read into a Record the other day, during a discussion of pension matters, a letter from John W. Riley, eighty-two years, a veteran of the Civil war, in part, as follows:

"Nowadays mere years are no sign of either physical or mental diminution. There is living at the Dayton Military home a veteran who will be 100 years old next June—Comrade W. E. Bayne, of Barracks No. 7. He is as active in body and mind as any man half his age; is commander of Veteran Post, No. 5, of the Grand Army of the Republic. Look at 'Uncle Joe' Cannon, ex-speaker of the house, over eighty-three, hale and hearty.

"And lest we forget, Titian was ninety-eight when he painted his famous 'Battle of Lepanto,' the most famous single picture in the world. 'Last Judgment' was painted by Michael Angelo when eighty-nine. Joseph Jefferson portrayed Rip Van Winkle with added effectiveness at seventy-five. Whittier and Bryant issued new volumes at seventy-nine. Humboldt finished the best work of his life, his 'Kosmos,' at ninety. Galileo was making new discoveries at seventy-three.

"At seventy Commodore Vanderbilt owned but 120 miles of railroad, and at eighty-eight he owned 10,000 miles of railroad and had added to his fortune $100,000,000. Henry Watterson, who is one of the greatest among editorial writers of the nation, at eighty-three is still in the harness.

"This winter I attended a post meeting at Pleasant Hill, O.—Dan W. Williams Post, No. 369, Grand Army of the Republic—a live-wire post. There were 17 Grand Army men present, some of whom came four or five miles. The average age of the 17 was eighty-one years and nine months. This post meets once a month, and the average attendance is 11. 'Tell me no more that the old are not capable of high and useful achievements.'"

Dewey's House to Be Turned Into Store

PURCHASED with pennies of school children and the contributions of patriotic citizens as a tribute to a hero, the house at 1747 Rhode Island avenue, given to Admiral George Dewey in 1899, has been sold out of the family and is being converted into a store.

The permit for dismantling this gift of the people is issued to Mrs. Francis Pitney of New Jersey, wife of John Ballantyne Pitney, a relative of Supreme Court Justice Mahlon H. Pitney. Mrs. Pitney is a daughter of Mrs. John R. Williams of Washington. The property was transferred to her several weeks ago under deed by Mildred McLean Dewey, widow of the admiral, and George G. Dewey, his son.

This residence was possibly the largest factor in dimming the halo of one of the most popular figures ever before the American public.

The admiral was more than a year reaching America after his exploit of May day, 1898. The American people insisted upon doing some handsome and permanent service for him, and when it was found that he was to wed Mrs. Mildred McLean Hazen the thought crystallized in a public subscription to buy the home on Rhode Island avenue.

The deed to the house was delivered to Admiral Dewey October 25, 1899, about two weeks before his wedding Three weeks later there was a wave of protest when he transferred the house to Mrs. Dewey. It was afterward transferred to the admiral's son. George Dewey. Admiral Dewey died January 16, 1917.

THE NEWS OF THE SOUTH

What Is Taking Place In The Southland Will Be Found In Brief Paragraphs

Foreign—

Policemen of Athens, Greece, have an effective and unique method of curbing speeding autoists. Officers carry planks studed with long, sharp nails, and when they see a car approaching they drop the plank in front of the machine. If it is going too fast the tires are punctured in a thousand and one places; if at a moderate speed the driver has not trouble in stopping the car.

Ex-Kaiser Bill has gone to tailoring. It is stated on good authority that it is a pity he did not have an opportunity of developing the real vocation for which he is so well equipped.

President Wilson's request that congress sanction acceptance by the United States of the mandate for Armenia is attracting great interest in London. The story is given much prominence in the morning newspapers but the news was received too late for editorial comment.

The town of Borisov, on the Beresina river, at its junction with the Minsk-Smolensk railway line, has been captured by the Bolsheviki in their campaign against the Poles, according to a soviet official statement received by wireless in London from Moscow.

A farmer, while working with a tractor in a field at Villers Guislain, near Cambrai, France, struck a buried German shell. He was killed. Later a second explosion took place, killing nine other persons.

Formal investigation for the purpose of clarifying the part taken in the death of President Carranza, both by Col. Rodolfo Herrero and members of the Carranza party, is recommended by the commission of four named by Generals Obregon and Gonzales to inquire into the tragedy.

Developments of the past week in Mexico City indicate that one of the first military moves of the successful revolutionists will be launched against Villa. The campaign, if successful, would have a good effect upon feeling both in foreign countries and in Mexico as illustrating the strength of the revolutionary government.

General Francisco Villa, bidding defiance to the newest Mexican government, again has become an outlaw among his own people. The bandit with a small force of men had been reported at Parral or Jiminez, Chihuahua, the hunted quarry of the de facto troops, with a price of 100,000 pesos upon his head. He, however, has retired into the mountain fastnesses, which he considers safer.

The latest complications in the Irish turmoil are the refusal of transport workers to have anything to do with the moving of munitions of war or prisoners and the formation of a "farmers' freedom force" to combat Socialism and Bolshevism. A railway strike is believed to be imminent. The burning of government buildings has been renewed.

Washington—

With proper equipment the railroads of the country can be operated as successfully in the future under private management as they were before federal control, Charles H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railroad, declared in opening the case of the Southern railroads for higher freight rates before the interstate commerce commission.

Representative Johnson of the state of Washington has received a letter from one of his constituents asking, among other things, that the government give him all the way from a package of onion seed to a set of law books and a full complement of agricultural tools. What he desires and what he evidently believes congressmen should do for constituents would cost the government about five thousand dollars.

Official interest in the Mexican situation was intensified by the reports of a widespread reaction resulting from the killing of Carranza, the deposed president. These indications were accompanied by information that the de facto government might have to face almost immediately not only the problem of reducing Villa, but also a more important armed opposition.

Authority for the treasury to make final settlement under which back taxes estimated at $1,000,000,000 will be paid the government is provided in a bill passed by the house and sent to the senate.

Lawlessness, cruelty and persecution are charged against the departmentof justice in connection with its efforts to suppress radicalism by the National Popular Government league, in a "report on the illegal practices of the United States department of justice." Twelve attorneys signed the report, among them several Harvard law school professors.

A resolution "reviewing with grave concern" conditions in Ireland and "expressing sympathy with the aspirations of the Irish people for a government of their own choice" has been reported "out" in the house foreign affairs committee, the vote being 11 to 7. Republicans and Democrats voted on both sides of the question.

President Wilson in vetoing the Knox peace resolution has performed the final act needed to refer the entire peace issue to the voters of the country for their decision in the 1920 national elections, and outlined the principles he will endeavor to have the Democratic party indorse at its national convention in San Francisco.

By the action of the president in vetoing the Knox peace resolution it is evident that to him at least the issue is clean-cut: He sees in the rejection of the Versailles treaty and in the Knox resolution a surrender to Germany, a war waged without benefits, and world order little changed by conflict.

President Wilson, in vetoing the Knox peace resolution states that he declines to become a party "to an action which would place ineffacebale stain upon the gallantry and honor of the United States," and to indorse a resolution which he holds would not compel the German government to set right the infinite wrong it did to the peoples it attacked, whom we professed to assist when we entered the war.

The president's veto message on the Knox peace resolution is a brief document, couched in terse language. Some 600 word suffice for an explanation of why the president withheld his signature. Leaders of both parties had expected a much longer discussion and possibly references to what the president holds has been the failure of the Republican congress to function, but peace is the only subject argued.

Declaring that a "steam roller" was being used on him, Secretary Daniels told the senate naval investigating committee that he would appeal to the full committee if Chairman Hale insisted on putting into the record "an unfair and unfounded" statement as to conditions of American warships when the war began.

A prediction that the price of sugar would soar to 2 7or 28 cents a pound within 48 hours was made May 26 by Raymond M. Wilson, sugar broker, testifying before the Lusk committee investigating the alleged profiteering in sugar and other commodities, the sessions being held in New York City.

Domestic—

President Wilson will ask the Democratic national convention at San Francisco to indorse a program calling for "prompt ratification of the treaty," without reservations, which would impair its essential integrity." This was made clear in his indorsement of the Virginia platform, which approves the league of nations covenant and the treaty, justified the assertion of the president that the honor of the country is involved and condemned what they said was the political opposition of the Republicans.

The Southern Presbyterian church will continue to co-operate in the Interchurch World Movement. With Moderator Walter L. Lingle casting the deciding vote, the assembly at Charlotte, N. C., voted adoption of the majority report of the executive committee on bills and overtures, recommending full co-operation in the movement.

The general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church refused to allow Dr. James I. Vance of Nashville, Tenn., to make an address to the assembly held at Charlotte, N. C., for the Interchurch World Movement, but by a close vote accorded him the privilege of the floor to answer questions and to "give information only."

Dr. Vance, speaking before the Southern Presbyterian church assembly at Charlotte, N. C., ascribed the criticism under which he said the Interchurch World Movement had fallen to its "prodigality" and expressed the opinion that "when it comes to its senses and begins to handle the duties with rational judgment," it would recover from the disfavor under which he said it had fallen.

PAINS NEARLY DOUBLED ME UP

Nothing Helped Me Until I Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Wyandotte, Mich.—"For the last four years I have doctored off and on without help. I have had pains every month so bad that I would nearly double up. Sometimes I could not sweep a room without stopping to rest, and everything I ate upset my stomach. Three years ago I lost a child and suffered so badly that I was out of my head at times. My bowels did not move for days and I could not eat without suffering. The doctor could not help me and one day I told my husband that I could not stand the pain any longer and sent him to the drug-store to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and threw the doctor's medicine away. After taking three bottles of Vegetable Compound and using two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash I could do my own housework. If it had not been for your medicine I don't know where I would be today and I am never without a bottle of it in the house. You may publish this if you like that it may help some other woman."—Mrs. MARY STENDER, 120 Orange St., Wyandotte, Mich.

GET READY FOR "FLU"

Keep Your Liver Active, Your System Purified and Free From Colds by Taking Calotabs, the Nauseless Calomel Tablets, that are Delightful, Safe and Sure.

Physicians and Druggists are advising their friends to keep their systems purified and their organs in perfect working order as a protection against the return of influenza. They know that a clogged up system and a lazy liver favor colds, influenza and serious complications.

To cut short a cold overnight and to prevent serious complications take one Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, no griping, no sickening after effects. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified and refreshed and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Every druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not perfectly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

DEATH WAS NEAR

Florida Woman in Critical Condition From Dropsy, But Doan's Brought Recovery

"Dropsy brought me right down to the shadow of the grave," says Mrs. Ida B. Atwell, 904 William St., Key West, Fla. "For fifteen years I was a hopeless wreck, struggling between life and death. The pains were so severe in my back I screamed in agony. My head ached so severely I thought my skull was being crushed. Black specks floated before my eyes, and I had to grasp the bed to keep from falling.

Mrs. Atwell

"The kidney secretions burned and scalded and I could pass only a few drops at a time. My body bloated. The pressure of so much water on my chest almost smothered me. My feet also swelled and large sacs of water hung beneath my eyes. My skin had a shiny, white appearance and anywhere I pressed a dent would remain for hours. I became a nervous wreck.

"A friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and oh! I felt so happy when I found they were helping me. Continued use of Doan's completely cured me." Sworn to before me. ARTHUR GOMEZ, Notary Public.

33,000,000 Come in 144 Years

Immigration Figures Show Great Britain Has Given 8,400,000 to Our Population.

4,500,000 COME FROM IRELAND

New York City Is Huge Melting Pot for the Hordes That Come From Overseas—Austria One of the Largest Contributors.

New York—Thirty-three million immigrants have come to this country in the 144 years since it was proclaimed that all men are born free and equal, and yet it was estimated at the recent national convention on immigration held here that there was a shortage of 4,000,000 immigrant workers in this country, which was given as one of the chief reasons for the high cost of living.

"History records no similar movement of population which in rapidity or volume can equal this," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society. "Compared to it the hordes that invaded Europe from Asia, great and enormous as they were, were insignificant.

"Of the 33,000,000 who have come more than 14,000,000 still live among us, and their children and children's children are now in good truth bone of our bone and blood of our blood. Not long ago America crossed the 100,000,000 line in the number of its citizens, and it is interesting to note the composition of that population.

"To begin with, there are 11,000,000 colored people. Then there are 14,500,000 people of foreign birth among us. In addition to these there are 14,000,000 children of foreign born fathers and mothers and 6,500,000 children of foreign born fathers and native mothers, or vice versa. When all these have been deducted from the 100,000,000 only 54,000,000 remain of full white native ancestry.

Includes Illustrious Citizens.

"Yet the 35,000,000 American people who are of foreign stock—that is, foreign born or the children of foreign-born parents—includes some of the most illustrious citizens of our republic. Even the president of the United States has only one ancestor who was born in America, and the list is long and notable of statesmen, captains of industry, leaders of finance, investors, makers of literature and progress, who have strains of blood not more than one generation on this side of the sea.

"An examination of the statistics of American immigration shows that since the foundation of our government Great Britain has contributed 8,400,000 of her people and Germany more than 6,000,000. Ireland with more than 4,000,000 the rest of Great Britain with a little less than 4,000,000, and Scandinavia, with something less than 2,000,000, have, together with Germany contributed more than half of the total immigration to our shores since the beginning of the Revolutionary war.

"When we take the German immigration of the United States between 1776 and 1890 and compare it with that from other countries, a somewhat startling result, and one usually unsuspected, is disclosed. The total arrivals of aliens in those 114 years aggregated 15,698,000, of whom more than 6,000,000 were British and Irish, and 5,125,000 were Germans, which shows that one alien out of every three arriving in America during more than a century of our existence was a German. Only Great Britain shows a greater proportion.

"Since 1890 the trend has been very different. With more than 17,000,000 immigrant arrivals since that date, only 1,023,000 have been Germans. If from this number a proper deduction is made for those who returned to their homeland and those who have died since their arrival, it will be seen that there are fewer than a million former subjects of the kaiser in this country who have not been here more than 26 years. Of more than 8,000,000 people of German birth and immediate ancestry among us less than a million fail to have a background of birth or long residence in America behind them.

Ireland Sends Many.

"It is interesting to note the other foreign elements that have entered into the makeup of American population since 1776. What a wealth of blood that wonderful little island, Ireland, has given us. More Irish have crossed the seas to become part of us than have remained behind. It is remarkable that so small an island—smaller, indeed, than the state of Maine—could in a century and a half send us enough people to duplicate the present population of eleven of our states having an aggregate area as large as the United Kingdom, France, Germany and Austria-Hungary together.

"Austria stands next on the list of contributors. Italy has sent us enough of her people to duplicate the population of Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico, while England's and Scotland's contribution, 3,889,000 in all, together with Ireland's 4,500,000, gives a total of 8,389,000, or plenty to populate all the states lying west of Texas and the Dakotas. The Russians who have come to our shores number 3,419,000."

In considering the part that New York city has played in aiding to assimilate this vast influx, it is pointed out that three persons out of every four here were born under foreign flags or are the children of the foreign-born. Commenting on how the one-fourth of the city's population, that is, of native ancestry, has Americanized the three-fourths that is foreign in birth or parentage, the society says:

"He who studies at first hand the processes of Americanization and citizen building finds work being done which would stir the heart of the most unemotional observer. He realizes that all of what is called New York's politics, stories of graft and the like, are but the froth and foam which fleck the waves of the city's life, while beneath runs a deep current of progress and public spirit which takes form in carefully conceived and splendidly executed health laws, in a school system that has accomplished wonders, in a water system surpassing anythihng of its kind on earth.

Vocational Education.

Along with many other cities, New York learned that a vast majority of the children who attend public schools do not go to college afterward. From that suggestion developed the idea of vocational education which is now accomplishing wonders. Perhaps more than any other one agent it is helping to transform in heart and action the alien life of the metropolis into part and parcel of our body politic. The immigrants' children are being fitted for that economic independence which comes with skilled hands instead of being sent forth from school with untrained hands and poorly trained minds.

"When one reflects that seven out of every nine children of school age in New York are of immigrant parentage, a situation is disclosed that might be termed startling, especially when it is remembered that the school army is so large that if it marched ten abreast in close formation the front rank would be boarding a North river ferryboat when the rear guard were crossing the Schuylkill out of Philadelphia.

"It is a staggering task which confronts the city in Americanizing such huge numbers of youthful foreigners. Indeed, did it not happen that New York is so rich—with assessed values greater than those of the next seven cities in America combined—it might well call upon the national government for aid. But with such wealth it is bearing the burden alone and is doing it admirably.

"One might write at length about striking features of the New York public schools which stand among all the agencies for Americanizing immigrants' children. How these schools take seventy odd tongues and substitute good English; how they not only labor to fit boys and girls for intelligent and useful places in the country's great industrial system, but also to employment bureaus bring the trained pupil and the open job together; how they provide every year for the children of an added population equal to that of Memphis, Tenn.—are achievements and problems worthy of consideration of Americans everywhere."

Afraid to Take a Chance.

CALOMEL LOSING OUT IN SOUTH

Mr. Dodson, the "Liver Tone" Man, Responsible for Change for the Better.

Every druggist in town has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it." Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle doesn't cost very much, but if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, just ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day.—Adv.

For more than Forty Years Cotton Growers have known that

POTASH PAYS

More than 11,651,200 Tons of Potash Salts had been imported and used in the United States in the 20 years previous to January, 1915, when shipments ceased. Of this 6,460,700 Tons consisted of which the cotton grower knew was both a plant food and a preventive of blight and rust,—with it came also 1,312,400 Tons of which has the same effects on Cotton, but which was used mainly in mixed fertilizers.

KAINIT

Shipments of both Kainit and Manure Salt have been resumed but the shortage of coal and cars and high freight rates make it more desirable to ship Manure Salt, which contains 20 per cent of actual Potash, instead of Kainit, which contains less than 13 per cent actual Potash.

MANURE SALT can be used as a side dressing on Cotton in just the same way as Kainit and will give the same results. Where you used 100 pounds of Kainit, you need to use but 62 pounds of Manure Salt, or 100 pounds of Manure Salt go as far as 161 pounds of Kainit.

MANURE SALT has been coming forward in considerable amounts and cotton growers, who cannot secure Kainit, should make an effort to get Manure Salt for side dressing to aid in making a big Cotton Crop.

Muriate of Potash

50 per cent actual Potash, has been coming forward also,—100 pounds of Muriate are equivalent to 400 pounds of Kainit or 250 pounds of Manure Salt.

These are the three

that were always used in making cotton fertilizers and have been used for all these years with great profit and without any damage to the crop.

The supply is not at present as large as in former years, but there is enough to greatly increase the Cotton Crop if you insist on your dealer making the necessary effort to get it for you.

ALL DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES FOR LEAGUE

President Wilson's telegram to Democratic campaign managers in Oregon insisting upon the defeat of either Democrats or Republicans who supported the Lodge reservations, demonstrates two things: First, that the league covenant as it was written at Versailles contained exactly the provisions the president desired; Second, that even if the United States should go into the League with reservations the president would later, if within his power, secure a repeal of those reservations or ignore them in the practical operation of the league. So long as there is a possibility of President Wilson retaining power in the foreign affairs of the United States, it is dangerous for the United States to become a party to the League of Nations even with reservations.

There has never been any evidence that in the drafting of the league covenant President Wilson endeavored to secure the adoption of provisions which would safeguard the rights and interests of the United States. There has been nothing to indicate that he made any effort to secure for the United States as many votes in the League Assembly as would be enjoyed by Great Britain. There has been nothing to indicate that he endeavored by definite language to eliminate such domestic questions as immigration and the tarff from the control of the league. All indications are that he desired no definite declaration which would specifically reserve to the United States the right to maintain the Monroe Doctrine. All these subjects of such vital importance to the United States, are dealt with in the league covenant in such vague language as to leave room for controversy, at least and more likely for the definite conclusion that it was intended that these subjects should be surrendered to the League of Nations.

President Wilson's continued insistence upon the League covenant as written, even after Lord Grey had given his approval to the reservations, leaves room for no conclusion than that he desired this sacrifice of American interests and national rights. Having this desire, it is equally certain that if he should be elected to another term, or if there should be elected some other man who would take advice from him, this nation's policies during membership in the league would be such as to gradually relinquish the proposed reservations even if adopted. That this could be done was expressly asserted by Lord Grey when he said that quite likely if the American people entered the League with reservations they would ultimately take a larger part in the league's affairs.

Thus far, all Democratic aspirants for the presidency have indicated full sympathy with the League covenant as originally drawn, although some of them have expressed the opinion that the league with reservations should be ratified rather than defeated in entirety. It is clear, therefore, that if the people elect to the presidency any one of the Democrats now under consideration, the effort of the new administration will be to involve the United States in a league of nations in accordance with the terms of the covenant as originally drawn. The Wilson idea of a 'supreme sacrifice' on the part of the United States meets the approval of these Democratic leaders who may be willing to make some concessions in order to win a victory at the polls but who, after election, will co-operate with Wilson in his effort to surrender American independence to a super-government havng its center of activity in Europe, and organized not for the benefit of the United States but for the benefit of European nations.

Judge L. H. Reynolds went to Birmingham Tuesday to attend the Shriners meeting there.

Chairman Porter of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs says that President Wilson's proposal for a mandate over Armenia is equivalent

President Wilson's "self-determination," "mandate" and "safe for democracy" seem to be mixed. Only one man can indorse all three policies and get away with it.

" Instead of every man doing his bit, every man is doing his neighbor," remarked Senator George B. Mc Lean of Connecticut the other day, in referring to the high cost of living.

Carranza is dead and the new Mexican government has offered a reward of $50,000 for the capture of Villa dead or alive. With those two protegees of the Wilson administration eliminated from Mexican affairs there s hope that the republic may regain its former place in the family of nations.

The United States is saved from foreign entanglements once more.

In every great crisis the Republican party can be depended upon always.

Perhaps by this time the President of the United States realizes that the Senate is a factor to be recognized in the making of treaties.

President Wilson received his valentine on the night of March 19th, 1920, with the compliments of the Senate majority.

President Wilson's capacity for building up the fortunes of his party is illutrated by the fact that 21 Senate Democrats deserted hm on the peace treaty and league covenant and more threatened to do so.

If the President had fought as hard for his fourteen points as he fought to burden the United States with obligations under Article 10, to send troops and ships to Europe to protect boundaries, he would cut more of a figure in the perspective of history in the future.

MRS. W. T. CALLEN HOSTESS TO THE CIVIC CLUB

Mrs. Callen was hostess on Tuesday evening to the Civic Club when a very interesting and instructive program celebrating the 110th anniversary of Alabama was carried out.

Mrs. J. H. Jones, the president, delivered an address on the "Makers of Alabama History," following with the pledge.

The Alabama flag was most beautifully portrayed by a group of small girls who gave a true salute to Old Glory and also our Alabama flag. Mesdames Moore and Wyatt favored the club with interesting papers.

Miss Callen, in a short address gave some of the influences of Chickasaw and Cherokee Indians closing with an original poem on Alabama. Little Miss Evelyn Powe of Birmingham gave two delightful readings.

After conducting the regular business and receiving the two new members a delicious salad and ice course was served.

Meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Hosea Downs 1st Tuesday in July.

THE LOVE AFFAIR OF JOHNNY-JUMP-UP.

Down in the meadow one day I sat,
I had gathered leaves to make a hat;
I spied a daring buttercup
Right close to a bright-eyed Johnny-jump-up,
And you know, I forgot all about my hat,
I turned right in for an interesting chat.
Johnny-jump-up was such a dear thing
I was almost inclined to coax him to sing,
But knew he would reruse for he was so shamefaced;
But smiling little buttercup soon took his place.
I was quite interested, how sweetly she smiled,
Her dress was of yellow, such beautiful style.
She told me how careful she was of herself,
That made her all smiles, and then I just felt
That you, my dear bright-eyes, I know why you're glad,
For Johnny-jump-up is your bashful little lad.
But I could just see in both their eyes
And Johnny-jump-up, how sweetly he smiled.
My hat all forgotten, I knew I had found,
A little love-match growing in the ground. —Era Sanders.

LADY SUFFERED FOR TEN YEARS

Stomach Trouble never Let up on Her for one Single Day untill the Found Dreco, the new herbal remedy.

"For ten long years I have been a patient sufferer from stomach trouble, constipation and a few other things," declares Mrs. Anna O. Affleck, the well known and highly respected lady who resides at 809 1st Street, Cirard, Alal., in a signed statement for publication.

"I have spent many a dollar for medicine and doctor billsl, seekikng relief from sastritis, dyspepsia, indgestion and constpation. My stomach often became so swollen from the gas that it felt like a rope tier around my body. Na motter how careful I was about my food it would do the same; always that sourness, belching, choked up feeling. My nerves became alll unstrangled I never knew a good nights rest. Heavy dragging pains in my back, over my kidneys, became almost unbearable. My liver was sluggish, tongue coated, spots danced before my eyes; my limbs ached and my general health wes abot broken down.

"I am 67 years old and had gifen up hope of ever being strong again. But I am here today praising Dreco for the grand, wonderful benefits it has gipen me. I am not like the same sickly, puny woman I was before, but feel good all over. Bowels act regularly; my food digests well, with no more gas or sour belching. The pains are gone from my back and limbs, and my liver is active again. Say anything you want to in the papers about Dreco, for you will not be able to fully express my gratitude to this great remedy.

Dreco is now sold by all good druggists throughout the country and is highly recommended in Clanton by Upchurch Drig Co.

Ugly, Unsightly Pimples Are Signals of Bad Blood

Give Heed to the Warning.

Pimples on the face and other parts of the body are warnings from Nature that your blood is sluggish and impoverished. Sometimes they foretell eczema, boils, blisters, scaly eruptions and other skin disorders that burn like flames of fire.

They mean that your blood needs S. S. S. to cleanse it of these accumulations that cause unlimited trouble. This remedy is the greatest vegetable blood purifier known, and contains no minerals or chemicals to injure the most delicate skin.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today, and get rid of those unsightly and disfiguring pimples, and other skin irritations. If you wish special medical advice, you can obtain it without charge by writing to Medical Director, 105 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Gained Ten Pounds

Before Taking ZIRON, Alabama Man Was Weak, Nervous, Had No Appetite, But is Now Strong.

EVERY man and woman, who is in a run-down, weak condition, with bad complexion and poor appetite, due to lack of iron in their blood, should find Ziron helpful and strength-building.

It is a scientific, reconstructive tonic, composed of ingredients recommended by leading medical authorities.

Describing his experience with Ziron, Mr. George W. S. Lanier writes from Jones, Ala.: "Sometime back, I was in a terrible condition. I was weak and nervous, and had a tired feeling all the time. My skin was muddy. I had no appetite, and at morning I didn't feel like getting up. I was reading of Ziron and decided I would try it . . .

"Will say that Ziron is a good medicine. I have gained ten pounds in four months. Am strong and have a good appetite."

Ziron is a mild iron tonic, good for young and old. It helps to restore the system, when run-down by overwork, under-nourishment, caused by stomach or bowel disorders, or as a result of some weakening illness.

Get Ziron from your druggist. He sells it on a money-back guarantee.

SOCIETY AND PERSONALS

MRS. R. E. LUCKIE, Editor.

Miss Mary Curry, a popular Clanton young lady, who was married on Wedne day to Mr. Clint Jones of Asheville, N. C.

MISS MULLINS ENTERTAINS

Among the loveliest of the many pre-nuptial affairs given in honor of Miss Mary Curry was a reception by Miss Kathleen Mullins when she entertained the bridal party, after the rehearsal on Tuesday night.

Never before was the beautiful home of the hostess lovelier than on this, when wreathes of Dorothy Perkins and choice cut flowers were placed effectively throughout the capacious apartments.

Receiving with Miss Mullins was the bridal party. Miss Curry's costume was a beautiful creation of yellow satin and silver lace.

The charming hostess was becomingly attired in blue taffeta trimmed in hand-made roses.

Quite an enjoyable feature of the evening's pleasure was the cutting of the bride's cakes which were beautifully embossed in valley lillies.

A number of interesting musical selections were rendered by Miss Curry, who is a talented violinist.

Sheriff Gore caught nine negroes in a crap game down in the swamp near town last Sunday afternoon. They were carried to the jail.

Mrs. Steve McKinzie and little daughter, Virginia, and Miss Eunice Hays of Birmingham, Mrs. W. B. Watson of Pine Apple, Mrs. R. R. Broadnax and daughter, Nora, of Montgomery, Mrs. W. G. Curry of Livingston, Mr. Bob Keenan of Selma, and Rev. J. R. Curry of Wetumpka, are among the out of town guests to attend the Jones-Curry wedding, and are now the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Curry.

Miss Mabel Jones and mother of Birmingham are the guests for the week of Mrs. J. Q. Wade.

Mr. and Mrs. W A. Reynolds have returned from a trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas.

Mrs. Jim Middleton arrived Monday to take part in the Curry-Jones wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Reynolds motored to Birmingham Tuesday.

Mrs. Moses Simpson went to Montgomery to spend a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McDaniel.

KITCHEN SHOWER GIVEN FOR POPULAR BRIDE-ELECT

Elaborate in its every detail was the plan of entertainment in Mrs. L. F. Gerald's kitchen shower for Miss Mary Anne Curry, on last Friday afternoon, which was skillfully executed.

Invitations had been extended to more than three score guests. They were received at the portals of the Gerald Home by Mesdames Horn and Hayes. They were invited to an entrancingly beautiful bower of roses which formed on one end of the gallery. Within this setting of greenery with its coverings of roses in pink and white, refreshing rose-colored punch was served by Misses Kathleen Mullins and Maud Mullins. The interior of the beautiful bungalow had been lavishly decorated with white lillies, pink and white roses, ferns and profusion of southern smilax, as well as ribbons and other ornamentations in pink, white and green tones. Mrs. Gerald with Mrs. Curry and Mary Anne, the bride-to-be on June 2, received the guests in the drawing room.

The dining table was covered with an exquisite lace cover over pink satin. A mirrored tray with its bordering of roses and lillies and its streams of moss green tulle, above which was placed a wedding cake, embossed in lillies of the vallely and wild roses, made a greatly admired centerpiece.

Since the honoree af the afternoon function enjoys an enviable reputation as a pianist and violinist and is classed as an artist by critcs over entire state. "The Musical Romance" as a contest was quite appropriate. Mesdames Heard, Collier and Broadhead conducted the contest. The prizes were a serving tray and a cake pan, both aluminum. The booby prize was an egg beater bearing the written wish "Hope you will beat next time."

The kitchen ware was composed of a fabulous outlay of utensils designed for service and was made highly attractive by a number of pieces of aluminum. This was brought in on trays and presented to the bride by little Erin Danforth and Elizabeth Duncan, who impersonated Black Mammies.

Angel food cake embossed in lillies of the valley and delicate green sherbert mounted with wild roses was served.

Miss Curry's costume was in keeping with the color scheme of the afternoon and she wore a khaki-kool richly embroidered in wild roses.

Mrs. S. A. Goodwyn left Monday for her home in Montgomery after spending the week-end with Mrs. R. E. Luckie.

Mrs. V. J. Elmore returned from Elba Monday.

Mrs. Claud Reynolds was a visitor to Clanton Monday.

Mrs. Marion Foshee and children returned home after several days stay in Montgomery.

Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Maye spent last Thursday in Birmingham.

Miss Mabel Thomas was in Birmingham shopping Thursday.

Miss Alice Stanfield was a visitor to Montgomery Monday.

ALL WRONG WAS HER LIVER

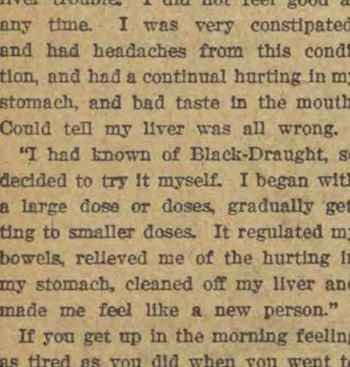
Before Taking Black-Draught, Missouri Lady Was Troubled With Constipation, Headache and Bad Taste in Mouth.

Grandin, Mo.—Mrs. Susa Brooks, of this place, writes: "Some time ago I was in a bad fix, with stomach and liver trouble. I did not feel good at any time. I was very constipated, and had headaches from this condition, and had a continual hurting in my stomach, and bad taste in the mouth. Could tell my liver was all wrong.

"I had known of Black-Draught, so decided to try it myself. I began with a large dose or doses, gradually getting to smaller doses. It regulated my bowels, relieved me of the hurting in my stomach, cleaned off my liver and made me feel like a new person."

If you get up in the morning feeling as tired as you did when you went to bed—achy, coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, sallow complexion—then your liver has not done its full duty, and your system has absorbed the poisons which your liver should have taken away.

An occasional dose of Thedford's Black-Draught will help this important organ to function properly.



Get a package of Thedford's Black-Draught liver medicine today.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

PUBLIC ROADS

TO JOIN WORLD'S CONGRESS

Secretary Meredith Favors Acceptance of Invitation of International Association.

That the United States should accept the invitation of foreign countries to join the Permanent International Association of Road Congresses is the recommendation of the executive committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials to the secretary of agriculture. The committee, which held a two-days' conference in Washington, D. C., considered at the suggestion of Secretary Meredith, the invitation to the United States which had been received through the state department from the American consul general at Paris. Secretary Meredith concurred in the action of the highway officials and told them he would recommend to the state department that congress be asked to authorize acceptance. The highway officials also recommended that the international association be invited to the United States for its next meeting.

In advising the secretary of the action of the state highway officials, Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads, who is also a member of the executive committee, said that the United States is the only civilized nation not now a member of the international association. He saw many advantages in the United States becoming a member, and he believed the other nations in the association would welcome an invitation to meet in this country next year. The roads congress, he said, constituted an international tribunal for bringing together the best experience and results in highway construction and administration. Although meetings have been held each year, none has been called since the European war began. Before the war the congress had met in Brussels, Paris and London.

Secretary Meredith notified the highway officials that he would enlarge the advisory committee of state highway officials, which consults with the department on federal policies in road building. This committee, consisting of six members, will now include the entire executive committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials, increasing its membership to 12. The secretary said this step was taken so that the committee would more completely represent all parts of the United States. The enlarged membership will enable the advisory committee to work out a classification of roads for the entire country, thereby providing a basis for a more orderly national program of road building.

The executive committee inspected a signal device destined to prevent grade crossing disasters and accidents on dangerous curves. It met with the director of sales of the war department with reference to obtaining equipment which is seriously needed in road building and which the states have been unable to secure.

POOR ROADS VERY EXPENSIVE

Added Cost of Foodstuffs Placed at Half-Billion Dollars Yearly on Transportation.

Country road haulage cost is a big part of the cost of transportation. Experts put it as high as a half-billion dollars a year on foods alone—due to bad roads. That is five dollars each for every man, woman and child in the United States.

SKIRTS ADOPT MODISH PLAITS

ACCORDION plaits and side-plaitings appear to be occupying the thoughts of many designers this season. They are shown in everything, from capes to negligees. In the soft, sheer materials, the thin, supple silks and satins, they are at their very best, and in the heavier fabrics, used for suits or skirts or capes, designers have managed them cleverly. In stripes and plaids, plaits change the lines and predominating colors so that manufacturers of separate skirts appear to be fascinated by them; they give so much opportunity for the exercise of ingenuity. It seems like painting the lily and adorning the rose to change or add anything to some of the beautiful plaids and stripes that appear in silk and wool materials—but it is done, and we have to concede that something of interest is added to the garment made in this way.

One of the skirts pictured here features stripes running horizontally and the material laid in moderately wide side plaits. Odd and fanciful pockets, without plaitings are set on at each side. They are something like saddle-bag pockets, with rounded flaps, and they hang as if separate from the skirt. Four balls covered with the material make an unusual finish across the bottom of them. The girdle is ingenious, too. Its ends are split at the front, forming two straps, the top straps fastening with a large button while the lower ones cross and are finished at the ends with balls. Accordion plaiting has been chosen by the designer of the plaid silk skirt and he has shown his independence of any other material in this model. It sets close to the figure and this, with its girdle of silk with flat hanging ends at the front, somehow suggests an Egyptian inspiration. The sash ends are folded over the belt and gathered into silk ornaments at the bottom.

New Departure in Smocks

ALL at once and with one accord, the creators of smocks and blouses seemed to have seized upon tricolette as a promising material for their purposes. Whoever started it uncovered an idea that has flourished from the beginning and has led into several by-paths in apparel. Besides smocks, close-fitting jackets, or bodices, often sleeveless and extended at the front into girdles or sash ends, have made their entry for summer wear, in gay and beautiful colors. Tricolette and other weaves in the same silk fiber, make many of these; they will be rivals of the silk sweater later on and belong among the glorified sports clothes that are intrenched for a long stay and crowding tailored modes for street wear.

Tricolette in one of the most popular smocks is shown here, with a finish of silk fringe at the bottom and embellishment embroidered of flower sprays about the neck and down the front opening. Gray is a favorite color for smocks of this kind and gay colors appear in the flowers, but the smocks are made in many colors. A plain girdle, made of the material, or a silk cord and tassel, matching the smock in color, furnish the best management of the waistline. The neck and short front opening are bound with plain satin and small round buttons, covered with it, add a last touch to a delightful piece of work.

A handsome georgette smock, with all-over pattern in silk embroidery, is used for the dressier model shown in the picture. It is one of many in which georgette, in a dark color, serves as a background for rich embroidered effects and these pretty garments are in high favor for formal afternoon and dinner dress. Two colors in georgette are sometimes combined in them, vivid shades of green proving particularly effective with the quieter colors. It appears in smocks for evening wear, along with turquoise and lighter colors, adorned with beads or with the richest and most colorful embroideries.

Glove Lore.

Nothing looks worse than shabby gloves, and as they are expensive articles in dress, they require a little management. A good glove will, with care, outlast three cheap ones. Do not wear your best gloves at night. The heat of the gas, etc., gives a moisture to the hands that spoils the gloves; do not wear them in very wet weather, as carrying umbrellas and drops of rain spoil them.

Trimming for Child's Frock.

Unique trimming for children's frocks is made from striped material. The stripes are connected or divided by a chain stitch of red worsted. A band of this trimming can be used round the sleeves and down each side of the frock, at back and front.

Unique Millinery Novelty.

An interesting and unique millinery novelty for recreation wear is a large poke bonnet, made entirely of wool crocheted and wired and trimmed with crocheted flowers of the same material.

Little Girl Helped

Benefit to Little Girl Taking Ziron Described by Father Who Says Skin Is Now Clear.

WHEN their little ones are poorly, anxious parents are often unable to find just what to do. If the child's health is run-down, and needs strengthening, due to poor blood, loss of appetite, or the weakness that follows a spell of sickness, you may benefit by the experience of this father, Mr. A. P. Davidson, who writes from Route 1, Primm, Tenn.:

"I have a little girl, 4 years old, and she had been in bad health for 18 months. Had no appetite. I tried different kinds of medicine.

"I got one bottle of Ziron, and it cleared her skin and gave her a good appetite. She is very playful now, and gaining weight every day since she took Ziron. . . .

"I think every one ought to take one or two bottles (of Ziron) every spring and fall. I am sure their health would be better for good blood makes good health."

The experience of those who have been helped by Ziron should warrant you in choosing this valuable remedy for similar conditions.

Miss Alcott's Elms.

Among the trees in historic Concord are the two old elms in front of the Louisa May Alcott house, and the little grove of pines and spruces just beyond it. Under the shade of the elms once lived the author of "Little Women" and among the whispering pines Hawthorne walked, thought and wrote, or conversed with his friend, Thoreau. The elm at the left of the door as the visitor approaches the old house is 13 feet in circumference, and the one at the right is 15. The trees have been nominated for a place in the Hall of Fame for Trees being compiled by the American Forestry association of Washington, D. C.

A Determined Speller.

"I understand you gave your youngest baby a mighty queer name."

"Yes," said the veteran printer. "I suppose a great many people will think it strange calling a girl 'Bible Jenkins.'"

"What made you do such a thing?"

"I don't like the way folks have gotten into of using small type indiscriminately. I made up my mind it would see to it that there will be at least a few occasions when Bible will have to be spelled with a capital B."

Demonstration.

"Here is this would-be critic talking about a water color in oil. Did you ever hear of a water color which could be in oil?"

"Sure. Sea blue."

Every time a modest girl sees a man look in her direction she imagines he is trying to flirt with her.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

Far From H. C. L.

According to William J. Linton of Ketchikan, Alaska, Ketchikan is one place where there is no need to worry about the high cost of living. He says: "You could come to Ketchikan and build your own shack in the country near by, catch fish as quickly as you could cast your line in the rippling streams, shoot deer and other game enough to last you for months, make your own maple sugar, render your own lard, trade some extra fish for bread or flour, trade a little meat for furniture or make it yourself, and be comfortably happy."

A Way Out.

Premier Clemenceau gave the red ribbon of the Legion of Honor to an old acquaintance of his who had done important work for France in the war. The recipient of the decoration was delighted and at the same time embarrassed because the large beard, which he had worn for years, hid the honor badge from view.

"Oh, that's easily remedied," Clemenceau said to him when told of the dilemma; "Just cut a window about shoulder high in your whiskers and the ribbon will show through it nicely."

Easily Explained.

Maid—That's where the last lady I lived with spilt the ink over it.

HAD CHRONIC BRONCHITIS FOR TWENTY-SIX YEARS NOW WELL AND HAPPY

THIS IS WORTH READING

The experience of Mr. E. J. Toupalik, 1438 Rose street, LaCrosse, Wisconsin, is chiefly remarkable on account of the length of time he was afflicted.

He writes: "I have been suffering with chronic bronchitis for twenty-six years and every winter I would catch cold and become so hoarse I could not speak for six or eight weeks. I could get only temporary relief.

"This winter I was taken with Grip and was in awful shape. A fellow workman advised me to take PE-RU-NA. By the time I had used three-fourths of a bottle, the hoarseness was gone, also that tired feeling. I am on my second bottle. Hereafter PE-RU-NA will be constantly in my house. It is the best medicine ever put up for the purpose."

For any disease due to catarrh or catarrhal conditions, PE-RU-NA is equally dependable. Coughs, colds, catarrh of the head, stomach trouble, constipation, rheumatism, pains in the back, side and loins, bloating, belching gas, indigestion, catarrh of the large and small intestines, are some of the troubles for which PE-RU-NA is especially recommended.

PE-RU-NA can be purchased anywhere in either tablet or liquid form.

PESTS THREATEN GARDEN SUCCESS

Specialists Advise Use of All Preventive Measures Possible as Best Plan.

HAVE SOIL DEEPLY PLOWED

Rotation of Crops Has Been Found by Many Farmers to Be Excellent Means of Controlling Disease and Harmful Insects.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

From the time the seeds are planted until the crop is harvested a series of insect enemies and diseases may appear that, unless they are controlled, will destroy much of the value of the garden. Garden and truck crop specialists of the United States department of agriculture have worked out a great many specific means for destroying insects or holding them in check. They point out the fact, however, that preventive measures are best.

It is important to have the soil deeply plowed or spaded and made loose and light with plenty of well-rotted manure or compost and to keep the ground cultivated so that the surface will not become hard or weedy. Use the best seed to be had and sow it liberally to get a good stand, but thin out the plants, as overcrowded plants are in much greater danger of becoming diseased than those that receive plenty of air and sunshine.

Rotate Crops If Possible.

Farmers have found that by rotating their crops they reduce the injury from plant diseases and insects and also increase the fertility of the soil. This principle applies to the home garden, where, if possible, it will be better to make a new plan each year, placing each vegetable where some other grew the year before—peas on the old tomato ground, beets and carrots after the corn, etc. The details of this rotation must vary in each case according to the climate, soil, and vegetables grown and the diseases and insects to be guarded against.

Avoid introducing insects and diseases on plants obtained for setting out. Practice clean cultivation. Employ fertilizers to stimulate plant growth. Work on the principle that a vigorous growing garden will produce a crop in spite of injurious insects and diseases.

Become familiar with the insects and diseases known to occur in your district on the crops you are growing. Equip yourself in advance with all necessary remedies and the means of applying them. Remember that the timely application of a remedy acts as an insurance against loss.

Watch constantly for the first appearance of a disease or insect. Inspect the garden at least every other day. Determine what is causing injury and apply the proper treatment promptly. Use combination treatments as often as necessary, keeping in mind the influence of weather conditions as well as the life history of the insect or fungus causing the disease.

Neighborhood Should Co-operate.

Use insecticides and fungicides in the proper dilution to accomplish the object without injuring the plants. Standard remedies are best. Test others experimentally before using them on a large scale.

Use the best sprayers. A thorough application is necessary for the best results. Adjust the sprayer so that all parts of the plant that are exposed to the air will be covered.

Work for co-operation in the neighborhood. One badly infected or infested garden may be the source of disease infection or insect infestation for several near-by gardens. Keep your own garden clean and it will be an object lesson for careless neighbors and will have a tendency to help clean up the neighborhood. This will make control easier and cheaper another year.

For garden insects there are several control methods that do not require the use of insecticides, but too much must not be expected from them. Of these hand picking is useful for large, comparatively inactive insects such as the potato bettle, cutworms and other caterpillars and the squash bug. Another method is jarring or beating insects from low plants into large pans of water on which a thin scum of kerosene is floating. The water prevents the insects from escaping, and the kerosene, being on the surface, kills the insects with which it comes in contact. Collecting nests are valuable for some pests; for example, the tarnished plant bug. Brushing by different means is used to a considerable extent and consists in beating or brushing insects from the plants with pine boughs or similar brush. This method has proved of great value in combating the pea aphis. Covering with cloth is of use as a preventive for the striped cucumber beetle when the cucumbers are quite small, and for root-maggots. Trapping by different methods with old boards is useful for squash bugs and cutworms. Poisoned baits may be placed under such traps. Plowing, disking, and harrowing all can be done by hand and are of considerable service.

Spraying Methods.

To be successful in the control of insects and diseases, spraying must be done promptly and thoroughly. Spraying with bordeaux mixture should be done before rains rather than after, provided the spray has time to dry on the leaves. Intervals between spraying should depend on the weather. If it is rainy or muggy, with fogs or heavy dews, spray frequently to keep the foliage protected at all times. If dry, a longer time may be allowed.

The ideal spray is a fine mist, and the best work is done when the plant is throughly and evenly covered with fine drops. Stop spraying before the foliage is drenched.

The higher the pressure, the better the spray.

Clean all sprayers each time after using.

For delicate foliage, spray after this gets under shade. Hot sunlight is dangerous with many sprays, such as kerosene emulsion.

It discusses the whole subject in detail—the various garden insects and diseases, poisons and how to prepare and use them, spraying machinery, and the like.

DEPTH OF CORN CULTIVATION

Shallow Method Is Favored as Result of Many Comparative Experiments by Specialists.

Many comparative experiments of deep and shallow cultivation have been made, and on the whole the results are in favor of shallow cultivation, say specialists of the United States department of agriculture. The occasions when deep cultivation is preferable are few. If excessive rains have packed the soil and kept it water soaked, deep cultivation will help to dry and aerate it. Breaking the roots of the plants must be avoided so far as possible. If roots are broken the plants will rapidly produce other roots, but it will be at the expense of vitality and the food supply. After the plants have reached a height of 2 or 3 feet, the soil even in the middle of the rows should not be cultivated deeper than 4 inches, and usually a shallower cultivation will prove better. A loose soil mulch 2 or 3 inches in thickness should be maintained. It retains soil moisture and facilitates the penetration of rainfall.

"BETTER SIRES" LOCAL COLOR

Farmers Recognize Value of Improved Stock Even Though Living in Remote Sections.

That the value of improved live stock is recognized by farmers even though they are still far from reaching that goal on their farms is shown by correspondence reaching the United States department of agriculture from regions where the live stock industry is undeveloped. "This township," one farmer writes in pencil on a scrap of paper, "is interested in a better grade of cattle. There is a sawmill and a carriage shop and a blacksmith shop right by us, and I think these would be good places for your colored poster about better sires. If you will send me some I will post them up.

"We have several cows in our barn," he continues, "and will improve our cows with a pure-bred Holstein bull, which will soon be ready to head the herd."

Are You Human?

A little baby. A little child. Don't they appeal to you? Doesn't your heart yearn to pick them up, to cuddle them close to you, to shield them from all harm? sure it does else you're not human. Being human you love them. Their very helplessness makes you reach out in all your strength to aid them. In health there's no flower so beautiful. In illness there's no night so black.

Save them then. Use every precaution. Take no chance.

When sickness comes, as sickness will, remember its just a baby, just a child and if the Physician isn't at hand don't try some remedy that you may have around the house for your own use.

Fletcher's Castoria was made especially for babies' ills and you can use it with perfect safety as any doctor will tell you. Keep it in the house.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Do the People Know?

Do you know why you are asked to call for Fletcher's Castoria when you want a child's remedy: why you must insist on Fletcher's?

For years we have been explaining how the popularity of Fletcher's Castoria has brought out innumerable imitations, substitutes and counterfeits.

To protect the babies: to shield the homes and in defense of generations to come we appeal to the better judgment of parents to insist on having Fletcher's Castoria when in need of a child's medicine. And remember above all things that a child's medicine is made for children—a medicine prepared for grown-ups is not interchangeable. A baby's food for a baby. And a baby's medicine is just as essential for the baby.

The Castoria Recipe (it's on every wrapper) has been prepared by the same hands in the same manner for so many years that the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and perfection in the product are synonymous.

Ernest Stone, charged with Sunday gaming, plead guilty and fined $10 and costs.

Glennie Harris, charged with Sunday gaming, plead guilty and fined $10 and costs.

Josh Wood, charged with Sunday gaming, plead guilty and fined $10 and costs.

Arthur Calhoun, charged with Sunday gaming, plead guilty and fined $10 and costs.

The cases against J. M. VanDerveer, charged with carrying concealed pistol and assault with intent to murder were continued till next Monday.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Taking the conditions into consideration there was a good attendance at both services last Sunday, with a fine Sunday School in the morning, but we would like to see a larger and more regular attendance of the membership of the church, especially at the night services. We appreciate the presence of all who came.

Services will be held next Sunday as usual: Sunday School at 10 a.m.; preaching at 11; Senior B.Y.P.U. at 7; preaching at 8.

Everybody cordially welcome to all these services. Baptists not members but residents of the city cordially invited to unite with us. If you need the servces of the pastor in any way, kindly let him know. He is ready and willing to serve in any capacity where needed.

The Rev. P. G. Carter left for Atlanta Monday and expects to return Friday.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

The Sunday School Convention for the Fourth District of Chilton County will be held at Walnut Creek Church on the Third Sunday in June.

All Superintendents in the Fourth District are urged to have their schools represented, and all other Sunday School workers are cordially invited to be present.

H. A. HARRIS, Pres.,
B. J. SESSIONS, Secy.

ICE CREAM SUPPER

The New Salem Social Club will give an ice cream supper on next Saturday night, June 12, at the home of Mr. Stuart M. Connatser, near the railroad crossing, one mile south of Thorsby.

The proceeds will go to repair the New Salem Church.

Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

LOUISE CONNATSER,
Secretary.

SHOULTS HAPPENINGS

Health at this time isn't as good as usual. Mrs. Ira Lovelady is not able to work any. He has consumption. We are indeed sorry to hear this.

Our Sunday School is still improving. We have some new members every Sunday. It seems that new life has come to Pleasant Grove Church. Everyone is willing to co-operate and work in unity, and we know this is what is needed. Better harmony now exists than for several years. Still there are a few members who do not attend church. The Lord is willing and ready to help if we only believe.

Miss Eva Hall planned to give her Sunday School class a picnic after Sunday School last Sunday, but could not be at home and she postponed it for another time.

Mr. John Ingram and wife spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. C. Hall Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Walker spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Ellis.

Miss Birdie Shoults from Montgomery is visiting her sister, Mrs. Cleve Latham. Her many friends are glad to see her again.

Mr. Hinton Lawrence from Selma spent last Sunday with mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. M. Lawrence.

We are sorry to say that Mr. Byrd Lawrence broke his arm last Saturday cranking his car. The son of Mr. J. J. Hicks broke his arm in two places Sunday.

Mr. N. W. Latham, wife and son, motored to Riderville to visit T. G. Latham, son of N. W. Latham, Sunday.

Mr. W. M. Oden spent Sunday with Mr. C. Hall.

Miss Allie Walker dined with Miss Eula Lawrence Sunday.

Miss Marie Shoults from Lawley spent Sunday with her cousin, Miss Fannie Lawrence.

Mr. Hort Walker gave an entertainment last Saturday night at his home. Everyone enjoyed it very much. The young people did some excellent singing. Then when all seemed to tire of singing many interesting games were played, an apple was hung up tied with a string and a prize given to the one that could walk by it and bite without any assistance of hands. Afer many trials Mr. Ivy Garner won the prize. Candy was then served to the guests by Mrs. W. P. Hicks. After that Miss Myrtle McAfee rendered some fine, lively music, which everyone enjoyed. Miss Myrtle is a very gifted pianist. After the music the the tired but happy crowd returned to their homes with memories of their few pleasant hours spent with Mr. Hort Walker.

Miss Drucilla Lawrence left last Wednesday to attend the Summer School in Birmingham. She will be with her brother, Rev. Buford Lawrence while there. We wish her great success, but regret to see her leave this community.

Miss Myrtle Ingram dined with Miss Myrtle McAfee Sunday.

Mrs. Cleve Latham spent last Wednesday with Mrs. W. P. Hicks.

Mr. John Mitchell and family visited relatives at Lawley last Friday. Miss Rosa Hall and sister, Ettie Mae spent Saturday night with Mss Lucy Walker.

Mr. C. T. Walker spent Friday night in Centreville attending to business.

Mrs. C. Hall is expecting her daughter, Miss Birdie, from Montgomery some time soon.

Mrs. John Mitchell spent last Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. W. P. Hicks.

Mrs. Cleve Latham spent last Friday with her mother, Mrs. Clark S. Shoults at Lawley.

THE THREE-MILL TAX ELECTION

Clanton, Ala., June 10, 1920.
Editor Union-Banner:

I would like to have a space in your paper to call the attention of the voters of Chilton County to the election which has been called for July 13th for the purpose of voting whether or not we retain the present three-mill tax in Chilton County for school purposes.

You are probably aware of the fact that five hundred and twenty qualified voters signed the petition requesting the Commisisoners Court to call this election which means so much to the present and future of our boys and girls in this county.

The three-mill tax has not proved as successful as it was expected to by some; even though with the passage of this tax three years ago the county has been unable to secure enough teachers and also teachers of ability and experience with the amount of money that has been at their disposal. The reasons for this are self-evident when we consider the fact that day laborers, carpenters, railroad men, wage earners on the farm, stenographers, clerks in stores and all other classes of labor receive more than double what some of our teachers receive and with few exceptions more than double what the large majority of them receive. Is it any wonder that more than 140,000 experienced teachers in the United States have quit the profession and gone into other lines of work within the past two years? ONE ALABAMA SCHOOL ROOM IN EVERY THREE HAD EITHER NO TEACHER OR A POOR TEACHER THIS YEAR! Next year threatens to be even worse ALABAMA'S CHILDREN ARE THE VICTIMS.

I call your attention to the fact that if this tax is levied it will not raise the annual tax rate from what it is at present, as the three-mill tax has been in vogue for the past three years. Remember that the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company pays one-fourth of this tax themselves; the Southern Railroad Company, M. & O. Railroads and stocks of merchandise will pay more than another fourth of it. From these facts when we consider the amount of property in the towns of the county you can readily see that the farming interests of the county pay not more than one-third of this tax. Then again, Mr. Voter, do not forget that in two years the Alabama Power Company will be taxable property in this county and this too will largely increase the amount of school taxes paid for school purposes in this county by corporations.

If anyone should be opposed to the levy of this tax for school purposes let him remember that very nearly all the large tax payers in the county whose taxes are assessed at more then $10,000 are in favor of this tax. The chief objections that will be heard to the passage of this tax will be given by those voters who pay a very small tax but whose children will be the beneficiaries of the same.

Last year we received from the State $22,599.60; poll tax $1,990.50; Dog Tax $487.50; three-mill tax and bonus, $20,316.22, making a total of $45,393.82. Now should we lose the three-mill tax you can see from the above we would have practically $25,000.00 or even less to run our schools. Do not forget that the dog tax no longer is used for school purposes; also for every mill each county levies for school purposes the State of Alabama gives a bonus of $1,000.00 from this you can see we would lose 3,000 for the State in case the tax is defeated. The 1918 census gave 7,635 children in the county between the ages of seven and twenty-one. The last legislature changed the school age so that a child can now enter school at six years of age instead of seven, so you may know that the school enumeration which will be taken in July this year will show not less than 8,350 children of school age in the county. Divide $25,000.00 which we will have for school purposes without the three mill tax, by 8,500 children and you will see that it would amount to about $3 per child. Suppose your district has 60 children in it; then 60 times $3 will give your distrct $180 to run your school with. How long can you run your school on $180?

This is a matter for you to decide. This is your business. It is vital to you and your chldren. WHAT will you say and do about it?

HOWARD L. FOSHEE,
County Superintendent of Ed.

LIBERTY HILL

The Liberty Hill Singing Society met Sunday afternoon, June 6th, with a large crowd and fine singing.

Singing was opened with song by the chairman, J. W. Lowery.

Directors for the afternoon were: J. W. Lowery, J. M. Smith, S. A. Henley, W. G. Culp, Glover Smith and Calvin Parrish; organists were W.G. Culp, Miss Zelma Lowery, Mrs. Zella Scott and Birdie Edwards.

There were several visitors whom we were glad to see. We would be glad to have them with us every time.

The society will meet again the third Sunday afternoon, June 20th. Arrangements have been made for the Mt. Nebo Society to meet with us then. We are expecting some good singing. We invite all the singers to come and take a part.

THORSBY INSTITUTE

Last Thursday night was a wet one, but the rain didn't keep the friends of Thorsby Institute and its graduating class away from Bates Hall. A very interesting program marked the close of one of the best year's of the school's life.

The graduating class consisted of six members—Waldemar Lefstead, James V. Sullivan, Misses Odie Lee Arthur, Ruth Gerald, Agnes Leary and Dagmar Larsen. The commencement address on the subject "What Thorsby Institute Stands for" was delivered by Rev. Frank R. Shipman, President of Atlanta Theological Seminary. A number of cash prizes amounting to over $50.00 contributed by friends of the eschool, were announced and distributed as follows: For excellence in Essay Writing—Senior prize divided between Waldemar Lefstead and Odie Lee Arthur. Same to classes below the Senior, to Alice Sharp. For excellence in Declamation—boys prize, Thomas Giles; girls prize, Lura Woods. Prize for most neatly kept room in girls dormitory, divided between the Hughes sisters and the Thomas sisters; same in dormitory annex, to Dagmar Larsen. For the best scholarship record for the year in high school classes, first Waldemar Lefstead; second Ruth Gerald. In seventh and eighth grades, Esther Johnson.

A prize of $1.00 was offered at the beginning of the school year for the best record in attendance and punctuality. When at the year's close it was found that fifteen of the pupils had made perfect records for the year, the donor increased the gift so that each prize winner in these points should have a one-dollar bill. And another friend, impressed by the value of such a record for a school, authorized the announcement that he would give a one-dollar bill to each member of the Thorsby Public School who through the year showed to be present every day and on time at every session. It was announced that Miss Ruth Gerald, a member of the graduating class, had gone through her four years in the Institute without receiving an absent or a tardy mark. The other fourteen who were neither absent nor tardy during the school year were, Myrtle Arthur, Dora Brackin, Pearl Carlson, Mary Gerald, Thomas Giles, Bessie Hughes, Essie Hughes, Dagmar Larsen, Waldemar Lefstead, Alice Sharp, Dollie Thomas, George Tuck, May Ward, Lura Wood. The interesting announcement was made that two-thirds of all the prize winners were the children of widows (four of the six graduates likewise) and the audience arose as a tribute of their respect for the mothers present and absent, who notwithstanding the handicap of their widowhood, had won through so nobly for their fatherless children. It was also announced that Mr. Jas. B. Tupper, one of the donors of the prize money distributed, had died recently, and it had been learned that by his will he had left $1,000 to Thorsby Institute.

Honor "T" prizes were awarded for excellence in athletics, to the following: Odie Lee Arthur, Myrtle Arthur, Bessie Hughes, Irene Boggan, Ruth Gerald, Mary Ella Gerald, Essie Hughes, Lura Woods, Dagmar Larsen, Agnes Leary.

Thorsby faces her fifteenth year with the reasonable hope for a larger attendance and a better year than any that is past.

MT. PLEASANT

You can see the sunshine reflecting in the farmers faces this week. Quite a difference from last week when it was raining so much.

Mrs. Glennie Mims and little son, O. L., of Birmingham are visiting Mrs. Katie Duncan.

John Rowell of Wylam spent Saturday night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Rowell.

Mrs. Eula Belle Culver spent Saturday night with home folks.

Lake Thompson of Selma spent last Saturday night with his mother, Mrs. Mary Thompson.

Mrs. W. G. Culp spent one day last week with her sister Mrs. J. A. Logan.

B. G. Burnett, who works in Birmingham spent Sunday here.

Miss Clara Thompson spent part of last week with her aunt, Mrs. Katie Duncan.

WEST CHILTON

Beautiful June with its blue skies, growing crops and singing birds, is here.

Heavy rans here last week; farming still backward.

Joseph Smith, Jr., went to Dogwood Sunday.

Some serious cases of throat trouble here last week.

Manly Atchison and Miss Jewel Hayes were quietly married on last week, Rev. Gentry officiating.

Several from here attended the singing at Lomax the 5th Sunday. They report a real nice time, a good singing, a fine dinner, lare crowd, and the privilege of hearing the Sanders sisters direct some fine songs, which was a rare treat.

Mr. Bearden, our weather man, laughingly remarked to a gentleman in Randolph that the agricultural people would produce just enough this year for their own use. The prediction seems to assume the form of fact as reports come in from all quarters. So it will not be unwise for Chilton people to add all they can to food crops, and not try to live too fast.

The poetic production in last Banner was nice and interesting. Such talent in our county is appreciated.

THORSBY NEWS ITEMS

Crops here are doing fine considering so much rain, but we hope the rain will cease for a few weeks.

We are sorry to se so many of our prominent young ladies of Thorsby leaving. Several have gone to the University for a few weeks. We will be glad to see them back in Thorsby once more.

Miss Clara Hays has returned to her home in Mobile County after a visit to relatives and friends in Thorsby. We enjoyed the visit of Miss Hays and hope she will come again soon.

Mrs. W. J. Billingsley and daughter, Miss Carrie, are visiting relatives in Mobile this week. We hope they return soon reportng a nice time.

We are sorry to see our high school boys and girls of Thorsby Institute leaving. But we will look forward to the time when they return.

LOST—Last Sunday a bill book containing $10 bill and three $1 bills, lost between Fonza Poole's Shop and Pleasant Grove Church. Finder return to J. R. Owen, R. 3, and get reward.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County Circuit Court in Equity.

Addie Crumpton, Complainant, vs. Thomas Crumpton, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Complainant, Addie Crumpton, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after a reasonable effort; and, further, that in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of 21 years:

It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him, the said Defendant, Thomas Crumpton, to plead, answer or demur to the bill of complaint in this case by the 1st day of July, 1920, or in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office in Clanton, Ala., this 4th day of June, 1920.

W. D. SPIGENER, Register.

Trained Teachers To be Recognized

WILL GET A BETTER TYPE OF CERTIFICATE.

Professional Licenses will Outrank Those which are Based on Examinations

Features of Alabama's new teacher certification system, made possible by the last legislature and now practically ready, are the introduction of professional certificates which outrank the old first grade and life examination certificates, provision for practically indefinite extension of certificates already in force on the basis of reading circle work and professional study at summer sessions, and elimination of the third grade examination after July 21, next. Third grade certificates in effect October 1, next may be extended, however, on the basis of reading circle work or other approved professional study.

Since professional certificates will be issued only on the basis of professional training, it is assumed that teachers holding this class of certificate will be in greater demand than teachers holdng the old type of certificate and will therefore, receive better salaries.

Followng are the types of professional certificates which will be issued:

Elementary, Class A—Ths certificate is based on standard normal school graduation and enables the holder to teach in the elementary or junior high schools. It is valid for six years provided the holder satisfactorily completes one of the following during the first three years: (a) a reading circle course for two years; (b) two 6-weeks or one 12-weeks course at a class A normal school or other recognized institution of higher learning; (c) a reading circle course for one year and a 6-weeks course at a Class A normal school or other recognized institution or higher learning.

Elementary, Class B—This certificate may be granted on recommendation of the normal school president to persons who successfully complete one year of normal school work based on graduation from an accredited high school, or to holders of life or first grade certificates who complete an approved course of study for one year at a Class A normal school or other recognized institution of higher learning. It entitles the holder to teach in elementary or junior high schools and is valid for six years, the last three of these years conditional on fulfilling during the first three, one of the requirements listed above, under Class A certificates.

Secondary Certificates.

Secondary, Class A—This certificate, which entitles the holder to teach in elementary, junior high or senior high schools, may be issued to graduates of a standard college who have satisfactorily pursued 18 semester hours of professional study, including 3 semester hours of observation and practice teaching. Its life is three years, subject to renewal for a like period on the basis of either: (a) two years of reading circle work, or (b) an approved 6-weeks course of study at a recognized institution of higher learning.

Secondary, Class B—This certificate, entitling the holder to teach in the same schools, having the same life and capable of being extended for the same period under the same conditions as a Class A certificate, may

Congress Passes a Most Surprising Bill

WASHINGTON.—Congress has passed a bill (H. R. 9944) which appears to have raised a commotion all along the line from the hard-boiled post office inspector who sized up the property to the vice president in the senate who said, "passed with thanks."

You see, the bill was to give something to the government, instead of to get something out of the treasury. So, naturally, everyone in both houses was suspicious of it—until it was read substantially as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to accept on behalf of the United States the donation by Sedgwick Post, No. 10, Grand Army of the Republic, of its memorial hall property in Bedford, Taylor County, Iowa, for Federal building purposes.

That the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to permit said post and the Sedgwick Post Women's Relief Corps, No. 82, to continue to occupy the second floor of said building until such time as said post dissolves; such occupancy to be without charge for rent, water, heat, or light, which are to be included in such free use.

And that a suitable bronze tablet commemorative of this gift shall be furnished and placed on the exterior of said building at the expense of the United States.

In the house an eloquent little tribute to the old soldiers by Mann of Illinois was received with applause, and the members decided to show that the vote was unanimous.

In the senate it was pronounced a wonderful bill—for the same reason that had impressed the house. It was passed by unanimous consent.

It appears that the post is well-to-do; that the property is valuable and that the present rental from the ground floor is considerable.

Once Sedgwick Post, No. 10, G. A. R., had about 500 members. Now its membership has dwindled to 25. Soon the post will have no more need for its hall. The last roll will be called—with none to answer "Here."

U. S. Army Field Kitchens That Paid Duty

EXCERPTS from the house debate on the bill (H. R. 6171) on the unanimous consent calendar of the house to authorize the refund of duties collected on field kitchens imported during during the year 1916:

Mr. Britten: The kitchens cost some $2,000 apiece. They were furnished to the National Guard and taken to the Mexican border at a time when the war department had not sufficient equipment to take care of the troops. A duty was charged when a rolling kitchen was brought over the line from Canada. This bill seeks to refund the duty. It is a small item.

Mr. Cannon: What is the difference between donations of dollars, donations of clothing, and the hundreds of millions—I was going to say billions—of dollars that were donated by the patriotic people? Now, here comes a bill to establish a precedent to pay back something to somebody who patriotically donated field kitchens, on which you say they paid a duty when the kitchens were imported. If you should carry out that same principle, you would have it on all imported articles. I do not know how much is involved in this—

Britten: Probably a few hundred dollars.

Mr. Cannon: A few hundred dollars! Many millions of dollars will be involved in it if you enter upon this policy.

Mr. Britten: To say that a refund of duties paid on rolling field kitchens, which contributed to the army, would be establishing a dangerous precedent, is beyond my comprehension. The failure of the house to pass this bill will mean direct taxation on public spirit, direct taxation on patriotism, direct taxation on humanity. It is a suggestion that the national treasury itself should benefit in real hard money, because the war department was not in a position to provide the simple necessities of an unimportant campaign.

Mr. Cannon: There was a duty on wool. God knows how the women knit. God knows how they bought and paid for the wool to knit. This establishes a precedent that we ought not to establish, and therefore I object to the consideration of the bill.

The Speaker: Objection is made. The clerk will report the next bill.

Congress Is to Give Us Pretty New Coins

IF THERE is anything that the director of the United States mint just naturally despises, it's new coins. Therefore he's pessimistic these days. For congress has told him to mint three special half-dollars commemorating the tercentenary of the Pilgrims and the centenary of the states of Alabama and Maine.

Moreover congress is considering ordering a 2-cent or 2½-cent coin bearing a medallion of Theodore Roosevelt, as urged by the Women's Roosevelt Memorial association. Then there's Senator Frelinghuysen's bill proposing the coinage of 7-cent and 8-cent pieces.

The United States has never been strong for new coins. In 1792 congress authorized the following coins for circulation: the eagle ($10), half eagle ($5), quarter eagle ($2.50), the dollar, the "disme" (old spelling for dime), half disme (5 cents), the cent and the half cent.

Double eagles came into being in 1849, the year of the gold rush to California. In 1851 a new coin, the 3-cent piece, three-quarter silver and one-quarter copper, was introduced, and two years later the three-dollar gold piece came into being. In 1857 the half cent was dropped, but another piece, the two-cent coin, was minted in 1864.

The nickel came into being in 1866. Congress in 1876 overhauled the entire coinage system and decided upon the following coins: all the gold coins as they now stand, dollar, half dollar, quarter and dime in silver and the minor coins, including the five, three and one-cent pieces. Since that time the three-cent piece has been discarded.

The 40 "Saddest Words of Tongue or Pen"

IT WASN'T because he was seventy-five years old that he was excluded, for Miss Madeline Gauff, a graduate nurse many years his junior, had come all the way from Taunton, Mass., to say that Frederic Stone would make her his wife if the immigration officials at Ellis Island would admit the gray-haired Englishman to this country.

It wasn't because he was liable to ever become a public charge, for Mr. Stone displayed a roll of $6,000, and said with an air of nonchalance, "There's more where this came from, that I jolly well know."

It was the literacy test that halted Mr. Stone at Uncle Sam's threshold and sent his bride-elect away bowed with disappointment. Mr. Stone cannot read the English language.

"Can you read forty words of any other language?" asked the inspector.

"Certainly not," replied Mr. Stone.

Miss Kauff, who had come to meet her betrothed, was sorely disappointed at his exclusion. She explained that she had been in this country only a few years and that she had been in love with Mr. Stone for several years prior to her coming.

When he retired as a farmer and wrote her that his loneliness was unendurable she consented to become his wife if he would come to America. She had not reckoned on the literacy test.

Miss Kauff took an appeal from the exclusion verdict of the board of special inquiry and anxiously awaits a final decision from the heads of the labor department at Washington.

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Womens' complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

WANTS $10,000; MAKES THREATS

Student Turns Blackhander in Effort to Get Easy Money.

TRIES IT ON BANKER

Young Man Is Trapped by Officers After Mysterious Calls on Phone Are Traced and Makes Full Confession.

Fort Collins, Colo.—C. H. Thompson, a student at the conservatory of music of the state agricultural college, confessed to District Attorney Russell W. Fleming and Professor Alexander Emslie, head of the conservatory of music, that he had attempted to extort by means of "black hand" letters $10,000 from Charles R. Evans, wealthy banker and live stock man of this city, according to the two men to whom the confession is said to have been presented.

Thompson declared that he had no accomplices and that the sole reason for his selection of the banker as his expected victim was his need for ready money.

Mr. Evans received the first letter in which "blackhand" tactics were suspected last week. It notified him that he had been elected to donate $10,000 to the American Equalization organization.

Family Threatened.

Directions for the hiding of the money for the "blackhanders" were to be phoned to Evans, the letter stated, threatening him and his entire family with death if he failed to comply.

Mr. Evans notified Sheriff Elmer I. Cooke and District Attorney Russell W. Fleming, who were unsuccessful in locating the sender of the missive.

On Saturday night came a telephone call, later traced to the stock judging pavilion at the agricultural college, threatening the banker and instructing him to place the money behind Unity church. The officers and Evans drove to the spot, but nothing happened.

On Monday night, Mr. Evans received another telephone call from a man who directed him to hide the money at a certain spot near the agricultural college grounds.

Blowing Up of Car Threatened.

The man also warned Mr. Evans not to have any officers around as he did on Saturday night or he would blow the auto and all to pieces. The officers went to the spot, but no sign of the mystery man could be found.

Early last evening Mr. Evans received another mysterious telephone call, during which the speaker gave him detailed instructions on how to take the $10,000 to an alley three blocks south of the college grounds.

Deputy Sheriff Byrd Halligan and City Policeman Fred Cave were in Mr. Evans' home when the call came in.

They slipped out of the house a moment or two after the speaker had hung up his phone. When Halligan and Cave reached the alleyway to which the voice directed Evans to come, a man stepped out of the darkness and jumped on the running board. The two officers grappled with him, but he wrestled himself free and fled as they fired shots after him without effect.

A moment later Thompson called precipitously at the home of Professor Emslie, the professor said later. He was out of breath and explained the fact by saying that he had fallen in the darkness and had been overcome by heart trouble, to which he was susceptible. Professor Emslie was suspicious and reported the call to the sheriff. Thompson was taken into custody, and later confessed.

Man Woos Like a Lion.

Willesden, Eng.—It was the plaint of an attractive young widow in court that she was being annoyed by a married man of between fifty and sixty. "I don't want him, because I have heard that he has a wife and several children," she said. "He lies in wait for me, and when I go home in the dark he springs out from doorways like a lion. I can never go home but what he pounces out of my doorway and protests his love for me."

Stomachs Converted Into Pepsin Factories

Plausible Treatment for Indigestion.

Just as long as pepsin, pancreatin and other digestive ferments are supplied to the stomach from outside sources, just that long will spells of indigestion continue.

To effect permanent relief, the stomach must be conditioned to produce its own ferments.

Nature has given us a mineral water known as Sul-Ferro-Sol. When this water is taken in teaspoonful doses it is a noticable fact that the depleted tissues of the stomach are quickly conditioned to perform their functional duties. And thus indigestion is permanently cured in many instances.

For Sul-Ferro-Sol causes the home-production of digestive ferments.

It is asked that you give this remedy a trial.

Alabama Farmer in Poor Condition Was Wonderfully Helped by Ziron Iron Tonic.

THIS Alabama farmer, Mr. C. R. Canfield, residing on Route 1, out from Pisgah, had been suffering from general delibity. He writes that he got so weak he "just trembled all the time."

"When I would stand," says Mr. Canfield, "I felt so weak my knees shook. I grew thin, my flesh flabby, my skin muddy. I dreaded to eat.

"I had taken and taken and taken remedies. Finally a neighbor said: 'I believe Ziron will help you.'

"I tried it—kept it up, and very soon there was a change. I grew stronger. Now I'm just wonderfully helped. My present health is better than it has been in two or three years."

The happy results obtained by those who have taken Ziron, suggest that you, too, may profit by following their example.

Ziron is a scientific combination of pure medicinal inorganic iron, phosphorus, the active principle of nux vomica and the hypophosphites, of lime and soda. It will help add more red corpuscles to your blood, putting more vitality in your system.

LEARNED LESSON OF THRIFT

Boys and Girls of New Jersey Town Have Made Record of Which They Are Proud.

If there has been less talk of the servant problem in Bridgeton, New Jersey, than elsewhere, it is quite explainable. Not to be outdone by their European sisters and brothers in matters of thrift and industry, 25 youngsters in that town have invested $1,000 in United States thrift stamps this year, thanks to their own hard work. Boys and girls alike have welcomed opportunities of doing remunerative dishwashing, sweeping, dusting, store clerking, baby-minding, errand-running, etc., with the goal of economy symbolized by government stamps ahead of them. The more ambitious have undertaken cutting weeds, carrying coal, sifting ashes, selling papers, raising chickens, cleaning pavements, and some have even won prizes to add to their savings. Having found that time can be converted into money it is doubtful whether these boys will again find the street corner a worthwhile place for spending idle hours, or the girls be content to waste periods in porch chatter.

WANTED IT AS A WARNING

Old Gentleman Had Particular Use for That Peculiarly Atrocious-Looking Beetle.

On the counter of the Christmas bazaar stood all the usual horrors which an unscrupulous world insists on giving the poor kiddies as "toys." There were animals, birds and insects which resembled nothing save the creatures of a particularly fierce nightmare.

The customer steadied himself by a chair and, after a careful selection, picked up one specially terrible beetle.

"I'll take that," he told the assistant. "How much is it?"

"Half a dollar!" replied the girl. "Is it for your little boy?"

"No; I want to take it to a dinner party I have to attend."

"Whatever for?" exclaimed the girl, surprised out of her carefully acquired calm.

"Well, I'm going to stand it in front of me on the table when the drinks are going round and when I see two beetles—well, it's time to go home!"

Price and Percentage.

Increase of price when measured in percentage is very often incorrectly given. When the price doubles the increase is 100 per cent, but many people describe it as an increase of 50 per cent.

A LETTER FOR WOMEN

From a Woman Whose Serious Illness Was Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Garnett, Kas.—"I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a complete nervous breakdown following the birth of my oldest child. I got up too soon which caused serious female trouble. I was so weak that I was not able to be on my feet but very little and could not do my housework at all. I had a bad pain in my left side and it would pain terribly if I stepped off a curb-stone. One day one of your booklets was thrown in the yard and I read every word in it. There were so many who had been helped by your medicine that I wanted to try it and my husband went to town and got me a bottle. It seemed as though I felt relief after the second dose, so I kept on until I had taken five bottles and by that time I was as well as I could wish. About a year later I gave birth to a ten pound boy, and have had two more children since and my health has been fine. If I ever have trouble of any kind I am going to take your medicine for I give it all the praise for my good health. I always recommend your medicine whenever I can."—Mrs. EVA E. SHAY, Garnett, Kansas.

HIGH-CLASS HORSES NEEDED

No Provision Made for Future by Many Farmers Who Are Using Up Their Work Stock.

The thing most needed in the production of work horses for American farms is greater care in the selection of the stallion and the brood mare, say animal husbandry experts of the United States department of agriculture, who have been studying the present situation with respect to horses. Not only was there a net decrease of approximately 373,000 in the number of horses on farms on January 1, compared with a year ago, but the experts are of the opinion that there has been an even more marked decrease in the number of mares bred during 1919. The extent of this decrease cannot be accurately determined until the colt crop of 1920 is estimated. However, if the decline in breeding is as great as conditions now indicate, the country will be confronted with a seriously depleted supply of good horses within the next few years.

General Gates, a Morgan Stallion in Use at the Morgan Farm, Middlebury, Vt.

Many farmers are using up their work stock without making any provision for the future. Such a policy is short-sighted and will have serious results, according to department of agriculture representatives. The present need is to increase the percentage of efficient horses by careful selection of parents. One of the principal factors from which the market is suffering is the breeding of too many low-grade work animals. There is a strong demand for high-class horses, at good prices, the department says.

TUBERCULOSIS RAVAGES BIG

Information Shows That 59,547 Carcasses of Cattle Were Condemned on Inspection.

Tuberculosis was responsible for the condemnation of more cattle, slaughtered under federal meat inspection last year, than all other diseases combined. Information from the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, shows that 59,547 carcasses of cattle were condemned on post-morten inspection and of that number 37,600 were the result of tuberculosis. In addition 53,652 parts of cattle carcasses were condemned for the same cause.

The bureau points out that tuberculosis in cattle and hog cholera in swine are the two most serious contagious diseases affecting meat animals, and there is evidence that a heavy loss occurs on farms in addition to condemnations at establishments where government inspection is maintained. The department of agriculture is prepared to give information on the best methods of reducing the losses.

MORE HOGS WERE IMMUNIZED

Chief Purpose of Inspection Is to Permit Reshipment to Farms and Feed Yards.

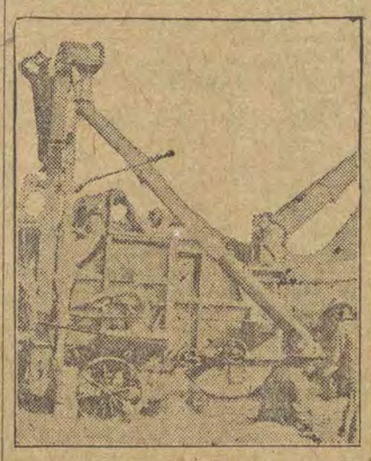
An outstanding feature of federal activities for the control of hog cholera during the last year was the great increase in the number of swine immunized so that they might be distributed from public stockyards for purposes other than slaughter. The last report of the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, gives the number of feed hogs immunized as 614,673. This is a large increase over the preceding year. The chief purpose of the inspection and inoculation is to permit reshipment to farms and feeding yards for further growth or fattening without danger to herds in which they are introduced.

SHEEP DOGS IN QUARANTINE

Examination Showed Many of Imported Animals Were Infested With Various Parasites.

Because of the danger to live stock, especially sheep, of the gid tapeworm, imported sheep dogs are subjected to federal quarantine. Sheep dogs have been found to harbor that parasite. During the last fiscal year representatives of the United States department of agriculture examined 131 imported sheep dogs for the presence of parasites transmitted to live stock, and 39 were found to be infested with parasites of various kinds. Twenty-two showed the presence of tapeworms, and one of the tapeworms expelled by treatment proved to be of the dangerous gid variety.

EXPLOSIONS AND FIRES THWARTED



Dust-Collecting Fan, Attached to Thrashing Machine, Has Proven Successful.

INSURANCE RISK LESSENED

Method Reduces Wind Dissemination of Smut Spores Which Otherwise Would Be Blown Out of Stacker to Infest the Field.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The frequency of dust explosions and fires in connection with thrashing operations in the wheat-producing section of the Pacific Northwest has led to the development of a dust-collecting fan, a device designed and perfected by engineers of the United States department of agriculture in co-operation with the manufacturers of thrashing machinery. This apparatus has proved so successful that many grain separators in the Pacific Northwest are now equipped with the device.

Thrashing Machine Equipped With Special Dust Collecting Fans.

Protects Thrasher.

This device, when used in conjunction with a wiring system to carry off charges of static electricity developed by the thrasher, and further aided by a fire extinguisher adapted to separators, gives the thrasher a protection nearly absolute. Eventually this protection will greatly lessen the insurance risk, which hitherto has been at the prohibitive rate of $80 to $100 for each $1,000 of property insured. And this rate is only for a 20-day run.

Produce Results.

Now it appears that the joint project of the bureau of chemistry, plant industry and markets is to produce special results in (1) protection from fire and explosion and a decrease in insurance rates; (2) the cleaning of grain, particularly smut; and (3) the checking of wheat smut through the collection of the smut spores by the fans at the time of thrashing. This method reduces the wind dissemination of spores which otherwise would be blown out of the wind stacker to infest the fields.

DESTROY WEEDS IN INFANCY

Easy Matter to Eliminate Noxious Plants From Various Fields at Very Beginning.

Weeds like other things, are most easily destroyed in infancy. This being true, they can best be eliminated from cornfields, gardens, potato patches and elsewhere by destroying them just as soon as they make their appearance. The harrow and the weeder are most usual implements in accomplishing this task before plants are large enough to cultivate.

It is surprising how much good and how little harm will be accomplished even after the corn, potatoes and other plants get well started, by going over the fields with the harrow with teeth slanting, or, preferably, the weeder.

REMEDY FOR CABBAGE WORMS

Government Expert Favors Arsenate of Lead and Paris Green for Killing Pests.

A government expert says the best remedies for the cabbage worm are aresenate of lead and paris green. The former being cheaper at the present time is recommended at the rate of two pounds in powder form or four pounds in paste form to 50 gallons of water. Adhesiveness is enhanced by the addition of the same amount by weight of crude resin soap or resin-fishoil soap.

The best form of spraying machinery should be used, with special attention to nozzles in order to secure a mistlike spray.

The arsenicals are harmless when properly applied as directed.

MANY VINES PREFER FENCES

Such Plants as Cucumber, Squash, Melon and Pumpkin Do Better on Some Kind of Trellis.

The cucumber, melon, squash and pumpkin vines, you will find, have high ideals, and would rather climb on the fence or trellis than run on the ground. It will be necessary to support by cords or rags the heavier varieties of melons and squash. Again, the squash bug expects to find his favorite food on the ground.

MOTOR EXPRESS WILL AID TRANSPORTATION

Facilities for Hauling Farm Produce Are Lacking.

Solution of Problem Seen in Establishment of Rural Auto Truck Feeder Lines—Specially Designed Vehicles Used.

It has been asserted that 50 per cent of the perishable produce now grown on farms throughout the United States is wasted because proper facilities for hauling it to market are lacking. The loss to farmers, together with the economic loss to the whole nation due to this condition, reaches a tremendous total. It is further claimed the solution of this problem would go a long way to satisfactorily reduce the high cost of living. In a word it would give the farmer more money for his capital and work, but at the same time make the tariff easier on the ultimate consumer.

What is really needed is a branch feeder line to each farm.

Obviously the railroads can not build them. The electric roads help, but do not entirely fill the bill. Tirere is, however, one method of transportation which, used in conjunction with either of the above mentioned utilities, happily solves the problem. It is the motor truck line.

Worth-while trucks on good roads form the important link in the farmers' transportation system which will bring about the state of affairs referred to.

Already progressive cities are installing freight terminals for truck lines. Motor express has proven to be a logical, economical and sure method of bringing the farm to market. These lines are run the same as any railroad and may either operate independently or in conjunction with a railroad.

An example of the latter class is found in the motor truck feeder lines of a Wisconsin-Illinois railway concern. About a year ago this company realized its express service was inadequate to care for its territory. They solved their problem by establishing rural motor express lines to take up the work where the interurban left off. Trucks specially designed for high-speed cross-country work were the vehicles selected for the work. They were equipped with bodies and trailers and put to work over certain routes. They easily proved their economical worth.

Motor Trucks Expected to Solve Transportation Problem.

If a farmer has enough material going in, a trailer can be left at his farm. He can then load it and it will be picked up on the next trip. The trucks run on time table schedule, make two trips over their routes each day, deliver and pick up all kinds of shipments no matter how small or large. Shipments received anywhere in the system up to 6 p. m. are at their destination, which may be any other place covered by the lines, before noon of the following day.

From the time the first trucks were installed the popularity of the feeder lines was never in doubt. More business than they could possibly handle was quickly offered to them and the fleet has been expanding ever since. They offer a really dependable service which means money to the farmers served. The service has been in operation a year and the trucks have functioned all the time. Even the severest days of last winter did not cause a tie-up of shipments.

CARING FOR AILING ANIMALS

Whenever Tuberculosis Is Discovered Cow Should Be Separated From Healthy Cattle.

A cow infected with tuberculosis should be separated from healthy cattle as soon as the disease is discovered as, otherwise, she is constantly a medium for the transmission of the ailment to her mates. It is imperative that no newly purchased animals be introduced into a healthy herd until they have successfully passed a thorough tuberculin test administered by an experienced veterinarian.

DODSON WARNS CALOMEL USERS

You Cannot Gripe, Sicken, or Salivate Yourself if You Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition, and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.—Adv.

Going the Limit.

The even party was over, and most of the guests had gone, so the story goes. As one young man took leave of the hostess the lady said:

"I'm sorry you found Miss Biggle a poor conversationalist."

"Poor conversationalist!" exclaimed the guest. "She's absolutely the limit! Why the only thing she said to me during the entire evening was 'No,' and I had to propose to her to get that out of her."

Publicity and Practice.

"How did you lay the foundation for your colossal fortune?" asked the young man.

"I worked all day and studied all night," replied Mr. Dustin Stax. "I attended church regularly and avoided all bad habits—"

"Is this the way you would advise me to proceed?"

"Why—er—I didn't know you wanted the information for your personal use. That's different, of course. I thought it was an interview for a magazine article."

All Suffer Alike.

It is an eternal truth in the political as well as the mystical body that "where one member suffers, all the members suffer with it."—Junius.

Musk may have gone out of fashion, but it has wormed its way into a lot of other perfumeries.

Safe as a Bank.

In examination in bankruptcy proceedings Mrs. Helen Hunt, widow, of Lee Bankroad, Birmingham, England, said she did not keep a banking account.

"Where did you keep your money?"

"In a safe place outside the house, with a faithful friend."

"Who was that?"

"The dog," said Mrs. Hunt. "I used to put the money in a cash-box under the kennel, and nobody dared go near the kennel."

"Nearly £3,000 ($15,000) under a dog's kennel?"

"Yes," said Mrs. Hunt. She did not think a bank was safer.

Still Useful.

Mrs. A. had just finished cutting her five-year-old daughter's hair and was preparing to throw away the clippings when the youngster asked, "Mother, what are you going to do with the hair you cut off my head?"

"Why, throw it away, of course," answered Mrs. A., a trifle impatiently. "Why, what made you ask?"

"Oh, I thought maybe you would save it to patch father's with," returned the youngster. "It needs it bad enough."

Quickest Way.

"How do you think this high cost of living can be suspended?" "The only way I know of is to hang the profiteers."

SODA TO COTTON

The tests at Auburn and in other parts of the State seem to indicate that the best time to apply nitrate of soda to cotton is either before or by the time the first squares appear.

When 140 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre was used the first cultivation after thinning (chopping), the average increase per acre in seed cotton was 80 pounds.

Where 100 pounds of nitrate of soda was used the largest increase obtained was 134 pounds of seed cotton per acre and the nitrate of soda was applied by the time the first squares appeared. Bulletin 209, Alabama Experiment Station.

E. W. HONEYCUTT DEAD

We learn this week of the death of Mr. E. W. Honeycutt, who died last Wednesday. He was buried at Rocky Mount Cemetery.

Mr. Honeycutt was 61 years old and was born and raised in Chilton County. He was a local Methodist preacher and a most beloved citizen of his home community.

His influence in the affairs of his neighborhood will be sadly missed by his friends.

Dr. V. J. Gragg was in the bunch of Clanton citizens who went before the public service commission in Montgomery this week asking that the L. & N. Railroad be required to stop passenger trains No. 1 and No. 4 at this station regularly. The doctor says the Commission was either very favorable toward Clanton's claim or else they handed that bunch a big sugar coated pill.

MT. PLEASANT.

The community was choked and very much surprised to hear of the death of Ocie Evans, who committed suicide Monday by taking carbolic acid. At the time of his death his home was near New Salem, but he lived in this community last year and had many friends here. He is a grandson of J. D. Blankenship, who lives near Mt. Pleasant.

Malcolm Manning of Verbena was a recent visitor at L. O. Vickers.

Quite a number enjoyed the ice cream supper at G. W. Robinson's Saturday night.

L. O. Vickers and wife attended the funeral of Ocie Evans at Salem Tuesday.

Miss Dovie and Gladys Melton spent Saturday night at G. D. Melton's near Cedar Grove.

CANE CREEK

The singing at this place last Sunday evening was enjoyed by all.

Next Sunday is preaching day here and everybody is urged to attend.

I think we should organize a Sunday School Class, for we sure do need one here. We would much better spend Sunday evenings in singing rather than going to the church and dancing. Let us go to the church house often, but we should go for some good.

Sunday School here begins at 9 o'clock. Let us all meet by 8:45 next Sunday and organize us a singing class.

PLEASANT GROVE

The Singing here was a great success Sunday afternoon. We sang in the "Highway to Glory." The leaders were Prof. James Franklin and George Spivey, president of our singing society. The organists were Miss Bevie Childress and Mrs. Clayton Kincaid.

We have just organized our singing society and hope for a great success and a revival in the musical field. We meet on the first and third Sunday afternoons.

We cordially invite all who can to meet with us in our services.

DULCIE CHAMPION, Secy.

The people of this county should remember that on July 13th there is to be an election to determine whether or not the county shall levy a three-mill tax for school purposes. Our county has had this tax for the past three years and it has proved of the greatest good to our rural schools. Now the time which the tax was originally voted has expired, and it must be voted again if we are to have the help of the public money for our schools next session.

A delegaton of Clanton citizens were in Montgomery Monday and Tuesday to meet the Alabama Public Service Commission on the plea of Clanton to the railroad company to stop trains No. 1 and 4 at this station. After returning from Montgomery Tuesday night Mr. C. Fenn Jones, one of the number, said: "I shall be greatly surprised if the commission does not give us what we ask for. Everything looked very favorable for Clanton, and I believe the commission is with us."

SCHOOL BONDS CARRY

The vote for the issuance of $7,000 of bonds by the Town of Clanton for the addition of another story to the Public Grammar School last Monday was 116. The vote against the proposition was 39. Our grammar school needs the additional space and equipment this will give it and it is hoped that no time will be lost in getting the work under way.

INTERNAL REVENUE

Birmingham, Ala., June 1, 1920.
Hon. J. L. Gore, Sheriff, Clanton, Ala.

No U. S. Internal Revenue License have been issued in your county this month.

I hereby certify that I have carefully examined the record of the Collector of Internal Revenue and the above is complete and correct.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this first day of June, 1920.

J. B. MOSLEY, N.P.

J. Tom Rockett of Coopers was a visitor to Clanton Tuesday. Tom says he is expecting to be elected Tax Collector in November, and we believe he will.

Uncle Dock Wells is visiting relatives in the capital city this week, but will return in time to fill his appontment at Jacksons Chapel and the Poor House next Sunday.

Senator Owen, a Democrat, had the courage to tell the Senate and the country the truth about President Wilson and his assassination of the Democratic party with a weapon made in Europe.

We say hurrah for the vote that Clanton gave the school bond issue on Monday. The town needs a better equipped grammar school, and it is commendable that our citizens are willing to take the necesary steps to provide the money for it.

The Alabama Power Company is now with us with their electric current, and we are fully enjoying the great advantages of that day we so long have sought when we might have as much juice as we wanted. Now if we can ever get forgiveness for all the cussing we have done about this rotten electric service of the past year we will be all right.

Get on the band wagon and help root for the Clanton Boy Scouts. They are a live bunch and are coming to the front by leaps and bounds. The next time you hear their band play you will be surprised at the improvement they have made. Get ready for the big event they are going to pull off here on Saturday, July 3rd. You will see more about the plans in the Banner each week from now till then.

Rev. P. G. Carter is in Atlanta this week in conference with the Baptist Board regarding the aid that is to be extended to the Clanton Church in the building of its new house of worship. We hope for a favorable report from him when he returns.

SOCIETY AND PERSONALS

MRS. R. E. LUCKIE, Editor.

JONES-CURRY WEDDING

A wedding around which centered the interest of friends all over the state, as the bride is a social favorite in Selma and Birmingham and other cities, took place at five o'clock last Wednesday evening when Miss Mary Anne Curry became the bride of Mr. Clinton Jones of Asheville, N. C. The Clanton Baptist Church at which the ceremony took place, had been transferred into a place of beauty by loving friends. The bridal tones of white and green were beautifully carried out with quantities of Southern smilax and white hydrangia and Easter lilies.

Exceptional musical talent was displayed before the arrival of the bridal party. Miss Gertiwyle McDonald presided at the piano and was accompanied by Mrs. James Middleton on the violin. Mr. Phillip Horn sang with much expression "At Dawning," while Miss Sibyl McDonald's voice was never sweeter than when she sang "For You Alone." White tapers cast their soft rays upon the party.

The ushers were Messrs. John VanDerveer, Alex Richards, Fenn Jones, and Grover Walker.

Promptly at the hour appointed the shepherdess entered to the strains of Lohengrin Wedding March, forming arches for the bridal party. These were Misses Birdie Teel, Anice Kemp, Mary Upchurch, Sallye Johnson, Marjorine Alred, Marzelle Mullins and Warrene Spigener, each carrying a shepherdess crook tied with tulle and sweet peas.

The bridesmaids and groomsmen came down opposite aisles crossing at the altar. Miss Kathleen Mullins with Mr. Guy Roberts, Miss Eunice Hayes of Birmingham with Mr. Lamar Waters, and Miss Madeline Orr and Mr. Will Wilson. The bride's sister, Miss Roberta Curry, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Alex Richards, matron of honor preceded the bride as she came with her father, Hon. Thos. A. Curry. Just in front of the bride walked two dainty little maidens Nora Broadnax and Virginia McKenzie of Birmingham, flower girls. At the altar, Mr. Robert Kenan, best man, with the groom, stood to await the coming of the fair bride. Following the bride came the attractive twins, Joe and Helen Moore, who were the ring bearers. The double ring ceremony was performed in an impressive manner by Rev. J. R. Curry, uncle of the bride. While the sacred vows were being pronounced the sweet notes "To A Wild Rose" were heard in soft tones throughout the sacred edifice.

The bridesmaids wore smart gowns of colored organdie with hats to match and carried baskets of sweet peas tied with tulle. Miss Roberta Curry's costume was flesh and nile green organdie. Mrs. Richards appeared in pink organdie fashioned after that of the bridesmaids, and carried a basket of pink sweet peas.

The bride, who is a beautiful girl of pronounced blonde type, was never lovelier than on this her wedding day, when she plighted her troth to the man of her choice. Her gown was of blue tricotine with a hand-made georgette blouse with which she wore a chic hat and other accessories to match. Her flowers were bride's roses, showered with valley lilies.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for Asheville, N. C. where the groom holds a responsible position.

On last Friday evening a most interesting meeting of the Study Club was held at the home of Mrs. N. S. Johnson. Vases of exquisite red dahlias were attractively arranged as decorations for the occasion.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Johnson in her usual charming manner. After the business session the following program was enjoyed:

Paper: What is Poetry? by Mrs. N. S. Johnson.

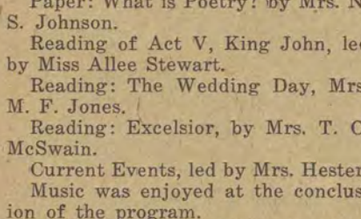
Reading of Act V, King John, led by Miss Allee Stewart.

Reading: The Wedding Day, Mrs. M. F. Jones.

Reading: Excelsior, by Mrs. T. C. McSwain.

Current Events, led by Mrs. Hester.

Music was enjoyed at the conclusion of the program.



Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Misses Kathleen Mullins, and Roberta Curry were the guests of the Club. A delicious ice course was served.

TAX ADJUSTER HEARING CASES

Major H. M. Simpson, Tax Adjuster of Chilton County, is now hearing the cases of those whose land values have been raised. Notices have been sent to those whose assessment was raised by the adjuster, and a day set for them to come in and present their reasons if any why the raise should not be made. Those who do not appear before Mr. Simpson on the day set are liable to get into trouble about it, according to a statement by Mr. Simpson himself in regard to the matter.

The hearing have been in progress all this week and will continue thru the month of June. Mr. Simpson says he is getting along well with everybody who comes in and is succeeding in reasoning the cases out without injury or friction with any persons.

Miss Willie Belle Sartor has as her guest, her cousin, Mrs. Butler of Montgomery.

Mr. Jim Rasberry spent Sunday in Birmingham.

Mr. Cary Speer was the guest of Mr. Baz Jones in Montgomery last Sunday.

OFFICIAL COUNT SHOWS MAY 11 PRIMARY CLOSEST IN HISTORY OF ALABAMA.

FILL LEGISLATIVE VACANCIES

Wallace Renominated For Commissioner of Conservation By Only 119 Votes.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ON RESULTS IN PRIMARY

An analysis of the official returns from the primary of May 11 shows some interesting results.

Underwood's majority over both his opponents was only 881.

Wallace's majority over Kimbrough was only 119.

The total Alabama first choice vote in the long-term senatorial race was 132,949.

The total first choice vote in the short-term race was 130,913.

The total vote in the public service commision race was 115,512.

The total vote in the commissioner of conservation race was 112,257.

Weakley received 9,776 first choice votes and 21,199 second choice.

In the long-term race there were 28,491 second choice votes cast and in the short-term race 34,768 second choice votes.

Montgomery.—Governor Kilby issued a proclamation declaring all vacancies in the Alabama legislature filled in the special election May 11. The tabulation made by the state election commission, from which the proclamation was issued, showed the election of the following:

J. O. Webb, senator from Ninth district, succeeding A. W. Briscoe, resigned; D. A. Baker, senator from Twenty-fifth district, succeeding himself; Charles B. Teasley, senator of Twenty-eighth district, succeeding W. A. Gunter, resigned; E. H. Downs, representative of Autauga, succeeding M. A. Graham, resigned; E. B. Fite, representative of Marion, succeeding Walker K. Hall, resigned; H. B. Fuller, representative of Montgomery, succeeding Walter B. Jones, resigned; William Varner, representative of Macon, succeeding Henry P. Merritt, resigned; C. F. Gilbreath, representative of Winston, succeeding J. M. Burnes, resigned; R. A. Burleson, representative of Morgan, succeeding Porter M. Brindley, deceased; W. H. Williamson, representative of Crenshaw, succeeding W. H. Stoddard, resigned.

Official tabulation of the vote cast in the democratic primary May 11, which was made by the subcommittee of the state committee shows that Senator Oscar W. Underwood received a clear majority of 881 votes over his two opponents, L. B. Musgrove and Samuel D. Weakley, and that John H. Wallace, Jr., was renominated for state commissioner of conservation over A. L. Kimbrough by a majority of 119.

State's Closest Contest.

Never in the history of Alabama has such a close contest been waged for the important state offices. Unofficial tabulations of the majority of Senator Underwood showed him leading his two opponents by about 1,600, while the race for conservation commissioner had remained in doubt until two weeks ago, when the best unofficial figures obtainable showed Mr. Wallace leading by 301.

No Changes Reported.

No changes were reported from the unofficial tabulation of the winners for delegates to the national convention. The delegates from the state at large are: M. C. Allgood, Sidney J. Bowie, Borden Burr and James J. Mayfield; D. M. Powell tendered his resignation as delegate from the Second district, and Thomas J. Hall, next highest man, was elected to succeed him. J. L. Andrews of Sheffield, J. Lee Long of Greenville, A. M. Tunstall of Greensboro and Leopold Strauss of Montgomery were elected alternate delegates from the state at large.

Complying with the authority conferred by the state committee, the sub-committee elected the following alternate delegates from the congressional districts:

First, A. P. McDaniel and W. T. McGowin; Second, Sold D. Block and W. T. Edmondson; Third, W. H. Merrill and A. C. Bowden; Fourth, H. M. Ayers and J. F. Avery; Fifth, C. W. Hare and J. M. Holley; Eighth, J. S. Benson and J. E. Pierce; Sixth, J. F. Fuller and Reuben Wright; Seventh, A. B. Fuller and C. W. Singleton; Ninth, George B. Ward and T. T. Huey; Tenth, John A. Cobb and C. L. Burton.

Votes of the various candidates for state offices follow:

Short Term Senator—J. Thomas Heflin, 49,554 first, 11,062 second, 60,616 total; Emmet O'Neal 33,174 first, 3,691 second, 36,865 total; Ray Rushton 13,232 first, 7,316 second, 20,548 total; Frank S. White 34,554 first, 12,699 second, 47,553 total.

National Committeeman—E. W. Barrett 43,238, W. T. Sanders 51,868.

Cotton Crop Under Average.

Montgomery.—The cotton condition figure for Alabama issued by the bureau of crop esctimates was the lowest for 13 years, if not longer, according to F. W. Gist, field agent of the bureau in Alabama, in commenting upon the official report. The condition of the crop in Alabama was found to be 58 per cent of normal on May 25. The next lowest condition at the beginning of the season in recent years was 61, in 1917. Too much rain reported from 50 counties and cold weather reported from 18, apparently explains the reference to bad stands coming from 32 counties, lateness from 18, and dying from nine. The appearance of weevils in rather larger numbers than usual was reported from 12 counties in South Alabama, and damaging hail was referred to in one report.

Feagin on Board of Control.

Montgomery.—William F. Feagin, former state superintendent of education, who recently resigned his position as superintendent of education of Montgomery county, was appointed associate member of the state board of control and economy and warden general of state convicts system, by Governor Kilby, succeeding Cleon Rogers, who was promoted to the office of chairman of the board as the successor of W. D. Nesbitt, who tendered his resignation and will return to his private business. Mr. Nesbitt will retire July 1, and the changes will become effective on that date.

Corporations Formed.

Montgomery.—The Brookman Packing Company, of Foley, Ala., which will conduct a general livestock, fish, and poultry business, filed notice of formation in the office of the secretary of state, at the capitol. Notice of incorporation was also field by the Arbuckle Lumber Company, of Mobile, which will engage in a general lumber and timber business.

To Amend Law.

Montgomery.—The Alabama chapter of the National Federation of Postal Employes, in convention here adopted a resolution petitioning Congress to enact into law such amendments as will limit the civil service commission to grade applicants for postmasters, on business qualifications to the applicants knowledge and experience attained in the postal service.

Tidwell Is Removed.

Albany.—A sensation has been created in the educational circles of Morgan County by the removal of Prof. J. C. Tidwell as county superintendent of education and the election of Prof. E. L. Hays, of Falkville, as his successor.

Library Report Made.

Talladega.—Above 30,000 volumes were issued the past year by the local library, while there are now 2,700 registered borrowers.

Workers Coming South.

Gadsden.—At the offices of the Gulf States Steel Company it was stated that the labor scarcity, which has curtailed production for some time, is being relieved by the constant arrival of a large number of men who have been thrown out of work in the North.

Talladega.—Analyses and daily tests made by the local health department show the city water to be wholesome and free from all infectious elements.

Warehouse Plant Is Sold.

Dothan.—The Dothan Bonded Warehouse Company sold its press and warehouse to the Shippers Compress Compapny, a corporation previously acquiring the two presses here of the Atlantic Compress Company.

New School Authorized.

Gadsden.—The county board of education has authorized the construction of a model school house at Curtiston on the condition that a suitable site is donated.

House Shortage Solved.

Anniston.—Anniston's house shortage is to be partly relieved by several of the manufacturing industries erecting homes for their employes.

Farmers Catching Up.

Bridgeport.—Improved weather conditions have enabled the farmers to make rapid progress the past week, this being the first week this season they have worked more than three days, the average number being less than two days a week.

At least six men were killed by an explosion in the coal shaft of the Ontario Gas Coal company near Cokesburg, Pa. The men were buried under tons of earth, and the foreman in charge of the work said he would not be able to tell the exact number of dead until the bodies had been recovered.

H. R. Crone, chief chemist at the Old Hickory Powder plant in Nashville, Tenn., has beer arrested on a warrant sworn out by United States Attorney Lee Douglass in connection with thefts of platinum from the plant which officials say may run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Crone refused to say anything in connection with the charges against him.

J. E. Taylor, 50, and his wife, 44, were found dead in their parlor at Roanoke, Va., immediately after several pistol shots were heard. The police say the cause was the high cost of living

GOOD ROADS

ROADS IN NATIONAL FORESTS

Thirty Thousand Miles Will Be Needed in Next Ten Years for Proper Development.

Thirty thousand miles of road, estimated to cost not less than $150,000,000, will be needed for the proper protection and development of the national forests, and the near-by communities during the next ten years, according to comprehensive road plans which have been prepared. The secretary of agriculture has already approved the construction of 5,152 miles, estimated to cost $26,463,000, contingent upon federal and co-operative funds becoming available. Government expenditures of $15,740,000 have been authorized for this purpose.

On the Floyd Hill Road, Near Denver, Colo.

The roads comprised in the comprehensive road plans form the basis of the ultimate national forest road system. They are used as main highways, either in connection with through routes or to serve important local needs. The construction of feeder roads is being largely postponed until the primary road system of the national forests is completed. It is expected that the present estimate cost will be largely exceeded when surveys are made of the projects now on the list, since in many cases the only available estimates are based upon incomplete data.

FARMER AND GOOD HIGHWAYS

Has Become Hard Working and Voting Enthusiast for Improved Roads Because of Many Benefits.

The biggest booster for good roads in the country today is the farmer. A few years ago he felt that the portion of his taxes used in the construction of permanent highways represented a benefit only to the motoring tourist and the city automobile owner, writes H. W. Slauson in Leslie's. The farmer argued that he was paying for their pleasures, and the result was a superstition against the good roads movement.

Now, however, when the farmer finds that his land has trebled in value: when the merchandise for which he has telephoned in the morning can be delivered by noon of the same day; when the market for his own produce is brought hours nearer; when the winter and its following spring thaw possess no terrors for him—all this because of the improved highway which makes his farm only a suburb, as it were, of the nearest city—he naturally becomes a hardworking and hard-voting enthusiast for good roads.

GRAVEL GOOD FOR HIGHWAYS

When Properly Handled It Can Be Traveled Over All Year—Dirt Road Is Different.

While gravel, as a rule, does not make the best type of road, that is not so much the fault of the gravel as of the way it is put on. It is usually not evenly spread or leveled down, nor are the holes kept filled. If properly handled a gravel road can at least be traveled on any time of the year, which cannot be said of a dirt road.

FARM ROADS MADE OF EARTH

No Good Reason Why They Should Not Be Graded Up and Maintained in Good Condition.

The vast majority of the farm roads must necessarily be of earth. However, there is no reason why they cannot be graded up somewhat after the fashion of a public highway and maintained in that condition.

FARM ROADS ARE ESSENTIAL

Just as Important as Public Thoroughfares in Hauling Various Kinds of Crops.

Many of us know the value of good public roads, but how many of us know the value of good roads on the farm? Experience has taught that good roads on the private farm are just as essential and important as good public roads.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Work is given man, not only, nor so much, perhaps, because the world needs it. Men can work, but work makes men. An office is not merely a place for making money; it is a place for making men. A workshop is not a place for making machinery only; it is a place for making souls, for filling in the working virtues of one's life; for turning out honest, modest and good-natured men.—Henry Drummond.

HELPFUL HINTS.

Soup making is an art. Too many seasonings destroy the charm and no one should predominate. Vegetables that contain a volatile oil, like onions, should not be overcooked as the fine flavor is driven off by the heat.

Soup, like all other food that is served hot, should be served in hot plates, bowls or cups.

A soup pot may take a spoonful of peas, a half cupful of tomato, a stalk of celery, an onion or a bit of beef gravy, added to the stock, making a tasty dish or two of soup and adding a real value to the meal.

Some cooks add two or three prunes or a dozen raisins to the soup pot an hour before serving. The flavor is especially pleasing.

A thin cream soup of any kind may be further enriched by the addition of egg yolk and cream. Beat the egg, add the cream and pour a little of the hot soup into the mixture before mixing the two.

A Norwegian Fried Cake.—Beat two eggs until light, add a tablespoonful of sugar and three tablespoonfuls of cream. Add one and three-fourths cupfuls of pastry flour to make a dough to roll. Roll out very thin and cut in diamond shapes with two slashes in the center of each. Fry in deep fat, drain and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Fish Pudding.—Cook one cupful of rice in boiling salted water until tender. Cook a two-pound pickerel, bass or other fresh water fish until tender in boiling salted water. Remove the skin and bones from the cooked fish and flake it. Combine the rice and cooked fish, add two eggs well beaten, one cupful of milk and one cupful of the fish stock. Season and arrange in layers in a buttered dish with bits of butter in between the layers. Bake one-half hour and serve hot with drawn butter sauce.

Lamb Cutlets or Chops With New Potatoes.—Trim the chops neatly and broil over a clear bright fire or under gas. Season well with pepper and salt and dish them in a circle on a chop plate with small even-sized new potatoes cooked as follows: Take a pound or two of the potatoes and cook them in their skins for 15 minutes, then peel them and cook another 15 minutes in a quarter of a cupful of well salted butter, toss them to cover with butter and just before serving sprinkle well with finely chopped parsley.

There are leaders in all stations,
In all trades and occupations;
Leaders great and leaders small,
But the farmer leads them all;
For the farmer leads the feeders:
Furthermore he feeds the leaders.

MORE GOOD THINGS.

Stewed figs, if allowed to soak several hours then cooked slowly in a double boiler, make a most delicious fruit to serve in various ways. Add a bit of lemon juice and sugar; boil down the juice and pour over the figs.

Chicken Loaf.—Take one chicken, one stale loaf of bread, two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, salt, pepper and chicken broth. Boil chicken in water to cover until tender. Remove from the broth and also remove the meat from the bones. In a buttered baking dish put a layer of buttered crumbs, the crumbs should be very coarse, the bread pulled in pieces with the fingers. Dot the crumbs with bits of butter and add a layer of chicken which should be in slices, not chopped. Add bread crumbs and chicken until all are used. Pour over the whole two cupfuls of broth, add salt and parsley. Bake until the crumbs are brown

Apple Corn Bread.—Mix together four cupfuls of cornmeal, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of salt, then add two cupfuls of chopped apples, one-fourth of a cupful of shortening, and one and one-fourth cupfuls of water. Bake forty minutes in a slow oven.

Corn Souffle.—Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper. Add one and one-half cupfuls of scalded milk and one-third of a cupful of soft bread crumbs. Cook until smooth, add two cupfuls of corn and the yolks of two eggs beaten well. Fold in the whites of the eggs beaten stiff and turn into a buttered baking dish and bake thirty minutes.

As the summer time and jelly season approach it is well to prepare for the delicious jellies which may be made of fruits which lack pectin. This may be supplied by the following: Peel all of the yellow rind from thick-skinned oranges or lemons. Remove the white peel and put it through a meat grinder. To each cupful of the chopped, pressed down peel add the juice of one lemon and let stand one hour. Add two cupfuls of water, and let boil five minutes. Let stand over night, add four cupfuls of water, heat to the boiling point and boil ten minutes. Strain through a jelly bag. Pour this extraction into sterile bottles and keep until needed.

Boiled Fish.—Clean, scrape and tie the fish in a cheesecloth. Drop into simmering water to which has been added a tablespoonful of vinegar to a quart of water. Cook until tender. Remove carefully from the cloth and serve with:

If you pick up a starving dog and make him prosperous he will not bite you. This is the principal difference between a dog and a man.—Mark Twain.

GOOD THINGS FOR SUMMER LUNCHEONS.

With berries becoming plentiful and many regions where wild berries are to be had, there are many delicious dishes to be made from them, both now and canned for future use, when the season is over.

Fruit Mush.—Pick over and mash any fruit in season; add one-half its bulk of boiling water and cook slowly until tender enough to be put through a sieve fine enough to retain the seeds when such fruits as blackberries are used. Use this fruit pulp instead of water in cooking any breakfast foods. Stir in a little sugar and mold in cups. Serve cold with cream for breakfast, or for dessert.

Fruit Tapioca.—Cook together equal measures of fruit and water until soft enough to put through a sieve. Measure, return to the fire and for each cupful add a scant tablespoonful of tapioca. Stir frequently until it swells, then cover and cook until transparent. Add sufficient sugar to sweeten; pour into a serving dish and set aside. Serve with ice-cold cream.

Strawberry Pudding.—Butter thin slices of moist bread and arrange a layer in a baking dish. Crush a pint of strawberries, adding a little water to make more juice and sufficient sugar to sweeten. Pour the fruit over the bread, arrange another layer and let stand covered in a cold place. Serve with cream and sugar. This is a dessert you need not fear to give the children.

Cherry Pudding.—Take one cupful of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt; sift and mix well and add one-half cupful of milk to make a drop batter. Butter small custard cups or molds and drop in a spoonful of the latter; add a tablespoonful or two of pitted cherries, juice and all; sweeten to taste. Set the cups into a shallow pan, pour around them boiling water to half fill the pan, and cover closely, cooking fifteen minutes. Unmold and serve with a cherry sauce or cream and sugar, or sweetened whipped cream.

July 4th statistics show that we lose more fools on this day than in all the other days of the year put together. This proves, by the number left in stock, that one Fourth of July per year is now inadequate, the country has grown so.—Mark Twain.

GOOD CAKES.

The days when a pound or even a cupful of butter was used in making cakes are now almost forgotten and with sugar scarce and high, cakes except of the simplest kinds are a luxury.

Golden Orange Cake.—Take one-half cupful of clarified drippings, one cupful of New Orleans molasses, one egg, one tablespoonful of sugar, the juice and rind of a small orange, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in one-half cupful of cold water, two cupfuls of pastry flour, a pinch of salt. Mix as usual; bake in a shallow pan. Butter while hot and cover with powdered sugar.

Cream Loaf.—Cream one-half cupful of shortening, add one cupful of sugar and the well-beaten yolks of two eggs. Add one-half cupful of milk or thin cream, one cupful of flour and one-half cupful of cornstarch sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Mix and beat well; then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Bake in a well greased loaf pan about forty-five minutes.

Club Cake.—Take one cupful of brown sugar, one-half cupful of shortening, one cupful of buttermilk, one teaspoonful of soda, allspice, cloves to taste, one cupful of raisins (nuts and citron may be added if liked) two cupfuls of flour and vanilla to flavor. Bake in layers and put together with chocolate filling.

Angel Food.—Take one cupful of egg whites, one cupful of sugar, one cupful of sifted flour, one teaspoonful of phosphate baking powder. Put half the baking powder into the egg white and half into the sifted flour. Bake 50 to 60 minutes in a slow oven.

Rolled Jelly Cake.—Take three eggs, one cupful of sugar, one cupful of flour, two tablespoonfuls of baking powder. Beat the eggs until light, add sugar, two tablespoonfuls of cold water, pinch of salt. Stir in the flour sifted with the baking powder, adding flour gradually. Bake in a dripping pan well greased. Turn out on a towel wrung out of cold water. Spread with jelly; roll up while warm.

FEELING BLUE ALL THE TIME

Before Taking Cardui, This Georgia Lady Suffered Until She Would Have to Sit Down to Do Housework.—Was Dizzy and Weak.

Dalton, Ga.—Mrs. V. A. Burnett, of Route 6, says: "I got down with my back and sides, not able to do my work. I suffered a great deal. I had a depressed, blue feeling all the time.

"I couldn't rest at night. I was nervous. I would be dizzy and just no-account at all.

"I would have to sit down while trying to do the housework. It seemed I couldn't get my breath. I was afraid I would get past going altogether.

"I heard of Cardui and began using it. I could see after a half bottle it was helping me, so I kept it up . . . and soon I was like a new person.

"I knew Cardui did the work, for no other medicine I took ever helped me as it did. I certainly can recommend . . . Cardui."

This well-known medicine, which Mrs. Burnett says helped her, is a mild, medicinal, purely vegetable tonic, for over 40 years used by thousands of women, with similar results to those which this Georgia lady obtained.

Cardui should help you, too. Try it. —Adv.

PERFECTION IN BATHING SUIT

WE ARE not apt to think of beach or bathing suits as becoming garments—in fact, they are considered the acid test for good looks. But they have been progressing for several years in the direction of becomingness. The suits intended only for beach wear, having graduated from the bizarre and showy types, have arrived at the place where they are really attractive. But "attractive" is too mild a term to apply to some of this year's beach or bathing suits—they deserve to be called beautiful and they possess that quality in style which women describe as stunning. After a world of experimenting, along comes a genius and shows just how superb and glorified a bathing suit may be. As a witness to its possibilities for beauty, there is an example shown in the illustration.

This suit appears to be made of taffeta, although satin might be used for it. Blue or gray piped with a contrasting color, or a brighter color piped with black, make combinations with sufficient life in them. It consists of a pair of full knickerbockers built out at the sides to simulate a short skirt and shaped into bands that fit closely over the knees and button at the sides, where the round buttons are shown, covered with satin like the pipings in color.

Ginghams for Little Girls

WHEN designers of children's clothes began making up little dresses of checked gingham, in cheerful colors, and using organdy for collars, cuffs and sashes, and in other decorative features, they hit upon the most successful idea of the present season. These little models have proved so universally pleasing and so pretty that new designs come out in the shops with each new display of children's clothes. The combination has been borrowed for older people, with the best results and now there is no age limit for organdy-trimmed checked gingham. It has a rival in plain chambray, or other plain dress cottons, in dainty colors, with which organdy is used in the same way. Both organdy and plain chambray help to make dresses of plaid gingham interesting.

An example of both the checked and plaid ginghams, made up with accessories of white organdy, appears in the illustration above. They are simple and easy to make and suited to little maids from six or seven to twelve or thirteen years. The checked gingham is cut in one piece and plaited in at the waistline. A frill of organdy, with narrow, hemstitched hem finishes the neck and three-quarter length sleeves and both are bound with a narrow, bias fold of the gingham. There are patch pockets of organdy with frill across the top and a binding of gingham. An organdy sash is placed under the panel of gingham at the front of the waist. The panel is cut on the bias of the material and pointed at the bottom and there are small, flat pearl buttons at each side of it.

In the plaid gingham dress a plaited skirt is joined to an underbodice. The waist has bias fronts extended below the waistline and bound with organdy, and it fastens with three large pearl buttons. Long sleeves are unusual in this year's dresses, but they appear in this little model, with organdy cuffs. The neck is finished with a collar that is plain like the cuffs.

Food Would Sour and Boil —Teeth Like Chalk

Mr. Herbert M. Gessner writes from his home in Berlin, N. H.:

I had stomach trouble over ten years; kept getting worse. I tried everything for relief but it came back worse than ever. Last fall I got awfully bad; could only eat light loaf bread and tea. In January I got so bad that what I would eat would sour and boil; my teeth would be like chalk. I suffered terribly. I prayed every day for something to cure me. One day I read about EATONIC and told my wife to get me a box at the drug store as I was going to work at 4 p. m. I took one-third of it and began to feel relief; when it was three-fourths gone, I felt fine and when it was used up I had no pains. Wife got me another box but I have felt the pain but twice. I used five tablets out of the new box and I have no more stomach trouble. Now I write to tell you how thankful I am that I heard of EATONIC. I feel like a new man; I eat what I like, drink plenty of water, and it never hurts me at all.

A TALK FOR YOUNG GIRLS

Edtor of Union-Banner:

Please allow me space for a few words.

A new day has dawned—bright and beautiful, and I feel so greatly impressed that I want to converse with all your readers, and especially the young people.

Boys and girls, listen! Do you stop and think? I know this old world in rolling on speedy wheels, and our minds are going just as fast, perhaps; but "Stop and think and listen" seems to be whispered into my ear. And I am under the impression that I should write, and then let you deliberate for yourselves.

My dear girlies, do we get offended when mother tries to advise us, and tell us what is right and what is wrong, and tell us about the company we keep? Do we say, "Ah, mother doesn't know—it was all right for her when she was a young girl; but if I don't be fast, I shan't be in "Style." Dears, don't get this idea into your heads. Take mother's advice. She loves you better than anyone else. She has cared for you in infancy; she has built air castles over what her boys and girls shall be.

"Shall he be great and noble?"

"Shall she be true and virtuous?"

These are mother's thoughts. Mother loves us and we should love her better than anyone else on earth.

Sometimes we think we are right, perhaps; but when we grow older we can say "how silly I was. I was only a little girl, and thought I had more sense than mother; but Mother knows more than anyone, even if she never learned her A B C's.

Mother is the best teacher in the world too, and girls, if you believe me, my mother is one of the best of mothers, and you don't know how I love her,—I would die for her. I am eighteen years of age, but I don't say "Well I guess I'm a lady of my own; mother will 'boss' me no longer." If I stay with her a lifetime I am going to try to obey her and make her air castles a reality.

Some will say "Well, your prince charming will ride up to your door some day, and you'll change your notions. But I am very difficult to convince, and sometimes I'm obstinate, but thanks to mother for talking to sisters and me, and that I haven't married yet, "cause" married lives are long enough even though they be happy.

Mr. Editor, I shall be very grateful if you will print this, and twice grateful if you will also print the poem of my own compostion, "Kindness."

Yours for greater uplift of humanity. ERA SANDERS.

"KINDNESS"

Be kind and gentle to everyone,—
No deed is better when nobly done;
For kindnes lends a noble mind
To all of us, if we are kind.

No matter what our ranks may be,
Whether rich or poor, resolve that
We will do a deed, noble and kind,
For it makes us rich in thoughts sublime.

Be kind to mother, old and gray.
Her days are few, then she'll stray
Afar into Eden,—leave us behind.
I say "to mother always be kind."

Be kind to father in declining years;
Sooth all his sorrows, doubts, fears;
When his eyes to this world are blind
We'll never regret that we were kind.

Be kind to sister, she loves you too,
She's always ready to help you do
The things that you may often find,
By helping others, and by being kind.

Be kind to brother, tall and trong.
By being kind he'll never wrong;
He'll love nobility more than wine,
If you'll always to him be kind.

To everybody again I repeat,
If it be a beggar you chance meet,
Though his clothes be torn, manner unrefined.
Yet it pays always to be kind.

First Cotton Bloom In State Discovered

Montgomery, Ala., June 15, 1920. A cotton bloom, the first of the 1920 season in the state, so far as could be learned, was brought into the Montgomery Journal Office Tuesday Morning by Mr. J. W. Young, of Chisholm. Mr. Young stated that this bloom was garnered by him Monday, and that several others had appeared on his farm.

Mr. Young claims the distinction of having grown the first cotton bloom last year. According to him, the 1920 first bloom put in its appearance two weeks later than did the first bloom in 1919.

Mr. Young also states that he had the first cotton to open last year, although his neighbor, John Carter beat him to bringing in the first bale in Montgomery county. They both use, said he, an early blooming series of the staple, which they have named "Carter's Variety."

CARE OF PECAN TREES.

Mr. J. N. Dennis hands us the following bit of advice concerning the care of pecan trees, which comes from the nurseries of the Bass people in Mississippi:

Often trees that are slow to bud out can be saved and made grow vigorously by cutting back about half the top. This will balance for roots that have likely died and enable what are left to easily nourish the rest of the tree. Work around your trees often this time of the year so that the ground will not bake and grass and weeds take moisture and food so badly needed by the struggling tree. A liberal application of any sort of manure dug in around the tree will give it a good start. A half bushel or bushel is not too much if you have it. In the absence of manure use 3 to 5 pounds of any sort of commercial fertilizer you can get. Naturally the higher grade the better. Dig this in with a hoe or shovel for three or four inches deep. Take care of pecan trees for they will repay you a hundred fold for every effort. One county last season sold over one million dollars worth of pecans. Thousands of trees cleared over $100 each.

PILGRIMS REST

The farmers are all busy here, as there has been a few days of sunshine.

Sunday School at this place is progressng nicely. We had some visitors last Sunday from the Alpine School.

There was a two-horse wagon load from around here went to Stanton to the Fifth Sunday meeting Sunday.

Miss Jessie and Sudie Keen spent Thursday night with Ethel Kendrick.

Messrs Frank and Lewis Chandler have gone to Choctaw to work. They will be missed by their many friends.

Misses Anettie Welch and Erma Judy went to Pleasant Grove the Fifth Sunday in May.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held in Chilton County, Alabama, on the 13th day of July, 1920, for the purpose of determining whether or not a special tax shall be levied and collected annually, at the rate of thirty cents on each one-hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said county, for the present tax year and continuing for a period of ten years, and said levy is proposed to be made for public school purposes in said county.

This, the 12th day of June, 1920.

J. L. GORE.
Sheriff of Chilton County, Ala.

SHOULTS HAPPENINGS

Sunday School was still better last Sunday. There were about thirteen members present in the adult class.

The members of Pleasant Grove Church met in conference after Sunday School Sunday and granted to Mr. Paul Oden license to preach. He will be ordained as soon as arrangements can be made.

We are indeed glad to see the people interested in a singing school at Pleasant Grove this summer. It is really needed. We all know that good singing is the life of any church. A committee was named last Sunday to look for a teacher and find out about teaching a school this summer. We hope every body will come or send someone to the school, and make it one of the best in the country. There is such a big crowd of young people around here; and the older ones can learn to sing too.

Miss Birdie Shoults returned to her work in Montgomery last Wednesday. Miss Birdie said she did enjoy being at home with her home-folks and friends, and nothing better to the opposite than good old country ham and fresh eggs, chicken, fresh vegetables, fresh butter and milk, and we do agree with her. But we cannot realize how good it is until we have lived in the crowded cities a while. There is going to be a rush back to the farm some of these days.

Mrs. Jeff Ellis and two children from Holt, Ala., are visiting their mother and grand-mother, Mrs. Mary Ingam, also visiting her mother-in-law, Mrs. John Ellis.

Mr. Walker McGee, who has a position in Burnsville is at home for a day of two, with mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McGee.

Mr. Wheeler Walker, who is now working in Columbus, Miss., with the M. & O. R. R. Co., was at home Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Birdie Hall from Montgomery is spending a short vacation at home with mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hall. Miss Birdie has many relatives and friends who are glad to see her again.

Miss Eva Hall entertained quite a number of friends last Saturday night at her home in honor of her sister, Miss Birdie, from Montgomery. It was quite an enjoyable entertainment. Mr. Grady McGee displayed an excellent musical talent with his violin. His brother, Leonard, who usually plays the guitar with him, could not be there, but it was fine music.

Mrs. Calhoun Garner ate with Mrs. C. T. Walker last Sunday.

Mr. A. Ellis, who is working at Lamison, is at home for a few days.

Miss Mattie Tay Lawrence spent last Saturday night with Miss Allie Walker.

Miss Lillie Bearden gave a singing last Sunday afternoon. It was enjoyed by all present.

JEMISON SUNDAY SCHOOL

The Baptist Sunday School Class of Jemison will render an entertainment at the Jemison School Building Saturday evning, June 19th, at 8:00 o'clock.

Everybody is cordially invited to come and bring someone with you.

You will be especially interested in the famous play, which will be rendered, and will produce no end of fun, known as "Jumbo Jum". There are several other interesting phases of the program that will appeal to you.

I assure you that you will never regret giving the 15c and 25c, which is our admission fee, to the church piano fund.

RETHA ROBINSON,
Class President.

OLD SOLDIERS TO CELEBRATE THIRD OF JULY AT HOME

Mt. Creek, Ala., June 10, 1920. The old veterans, at a meeting held on June 9th, decided to celebrate the Fourth of July on Saturday the Third, as the Fourth occurs on Sunday.

A barbecue dinner is to be prepared and a suitable program, including speaking is included.

The citizens of nearby towns and the country are invited to attend, and they are requested to bring baskets of lunches for their own use.

The grounds and auditorium will be open to all. Come and have a good time with us.

THREE-MILL TAX ELECTION

To the Voters of Chlton County:

On the 13th day of July, 1920, as you already know, there will be a three mill tax election held in this county for school purpose. This furnishes the voters of the county an opportunity for using their very best thinking facilities for the present generation of boys in Chilton County. Let us not forget for "As the twig is bent, the tree is inclined." So I feel sure when the fathers in this county who are qualified voters remember this fact they will cast their ballot in favor of the tax.

Let us not forget that the man who pays a large tax is not the man who is opposed to this tax, but it is the man who is prejudiced against tax levies. The man who opposes this fails to look at the small amount of tax he pays in comparison with what the large corporations and property owners will pay. Do not fail to come out on the 13th day of July and cast your ballot in the interest of the farmers boys and girls in Chilton County who will be our future citizens, lawmakers, officers, etc.

Respectfully,
A. W. POWELL.

PLEASANT HILL

There will be an all day singing at Pleasant Hill Church the Third Sunday in June. Everybody is invited to come and some good singers especially. We will sing in the new books. We will try to show you a hearty welcome and love in Jesus Christ. Come with a new song in your mind. N. P. VanWagoner.

COUNTY POOR HOUSE

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please allow me space to say a few words. Health of this community is good. Farming is moving on rapidly.

Uncle Dock Wells filled his appointment at the poor house the Second Sunday, with a good attendance. He preached a fine sermon, which was enjoyed by all present. The inmates are all highly pleased with Uncle Dock, and also their manager, Bro. Miller.

I have been knowing Uncle Dock for at least forty years, and never heard aught against him. To know him is to love him. He is getting old but is alwayss cheerful, and we hope for his last days to be his best.

We thank you, Mr. Editor, for the space in your paper.

A. L. COLLINS.

THE CORINTH SINGING

Singers for the afternoon: A. M. Jones, W. M. DeVaughn, R. M. Robinson, Lee Robinson, John Norris, T. L. Robinson, Columbus Taylor, C.H. Robinson, J. R. Robinson.

Organists for the day were: Mrs. Pearlie Hughes, Misses Lillie Grant, Claudie Hughes, Amy Grant, Messrs A. A. Beaird, Lee Robinson, C. H. Robinson.

A. L. ROBINSON, Chm.
S. M. YATES, Secy.

PINE DALE

Mr. W. F. Downing and wife spent Sunday at Mr. T. J. Mims'.

Miss Viola Thompson spent Sunday with Miss Katie Driver.

Misses Lula Ellis on and Jewel Littleton spent Sunday with Miss Martha Rhodes.

Mr. Robert Rhodes was in this community Sunday night.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day. Everybody come.

OLD TIME SINGING AT BAKER SCHOOLHOUSE

Mr. J. V. Best asks us to announce that there will be an old time singing at Baker Schoolhouse on next Sunday, June 20th. The Harp and Harmony books will be used. All singers and lovers of the old sacred songs are invited to be present. The Lomax Class will be there, and that is assurance that there will be some interesting music.

THE OAK HILL SINGING

Dear Editor:

Please allow me space in your paper to thank the singers who contributed to the great success of our singing at this place last Sunday.

We had a great day singing God's praise, for the air eemed to be full of the very essence of song from the very first song till the close of the service. It was said by many, among whom was old Brother R. T. Grant, to be one of the best singings ever attended. The ladies gave us some very fine alto which went a long way toward makiny it the success it was and God bless the ladies.

At nine-thirty the singing was opened by the Chairman singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name" after which prayer was offered to God for his blessings on the audience and his divine guidance through the day.

The directors for the forenoon were Messrs J. M. Smith, C. W. Scott, L. T. Grant, Ammie Boswell, R.T. Grant, all sang 15 minutes each. Then we were dismissed for dinner, which everyone seemed to enjoy. Then at one thirty the house was called to order by the chairman and singing started in full blast, and kept up till the close. Directors for the afternoon were Messrs Robert Smith, Ralph Grant, James Franklin, Lee Grant, G. W. Melton, R. F. Massey. Recess for 15 minutes. Then Garland Dooley sang two special selections, assisted by Lee Grant; Amie Boswell and A. H. Glasscock, then Mr. Max Boswell sang one piece almost captivating the audience and injecting new life into it, the the other directors were Vernon Northcutt and Akins Collins. The singing was then brought to a close by the chairman singing "God be With You till we Meet Again."

The organists for the day were Messrs Amie Boswell, Lee Grant, Ralph Grant and Misses Eva Atkinson, Madge Cooper, Gladis Murphy, Mrs. Sarah Crim and Mrs. Lee Vickers.

The writer has never seen better order anywhere and the audience gave us such splendid attention. We thank our great Creator for the comendable way all the people conducted themselves.

So, thanking you Mr. Editor for so much space, we will close,

A. H. GLASSCOCK, Chm.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Services will be held next Sunday as usual—morning at 11 a.m. and evening at 8 p.m. The morning service will be followed by the regular conference of the church. This will be an important meeting as the church will be asked to adopt plans to be accepted by the deacons and building committee for the new church building. Mr. J. E. Greene of Birmingham, a church specialist, has been engaged as architect, subject to the ratification of the church. We expect to have a large watercolor picture of the proposed building, and blue prints of the proposed plans for the interior of the building. If any member of the church has any ideas they wish embodied in the plans, now is the time to present them to the building committee. The estimated cost of the building is between $30,000 and $35,000. The disposal of the present property and other important matters will be considered at this meeting. It is urgently and earnestly requested that every member make an effort to attend next Sunday morning.

At the regular meeting next Sunday night the B. Y. P. U. will be reorganized, when the nominating committee will make their report. Some interesting officers have been nominated, and certain standards for an interesting contest agreed upon. Let us work for the A-1 standard.

Though the weather is warm, let us not neglect the church, but be prompt on time and by faithful attendance on the services help to make a real live good church. Remember the Revival Services begin on Sunday, July 4th, with Dr. L. C. Woolfe and a good singer to lead us. We need your presence and co-operation at all times. The public is cordially invited to all of our services.

P. G. CARTER, Pastor.

MT. NEBO

The Mt. Nebo Singing Society met Sunday afternoon, June 13th. There was a good many out of several visitors, which we were glad to see.

Singing was opened in regular order, with song and prayer by S. A. Henley, Chairman. Leaders for the afternoon were: Sam Culp, William Cox, Calvin Parrish, Sim Henley, F. I. Popwell, Jim Dunlap and Sam Henley. Organists were Mrs. Zella Scott, Mr. Henry Carter and Ivens Popwell.

We are expecting the Liberty Hill class on next Fourth Sunday afternoon, and we welcome them with pleasure, and all others interested in singing.

Annie Mae Culp.

FOR SALE—5 Duroc Jerser Pigs 2 months old, good pigs, will sell at bargain. A. B. Culp, Clanton, R.7.

THORSBY ITEMS

Herbert Peterson and family of Marbury visited relatives and friends here Sunday.

Arthur P. Villadsen of Walker county spent a few days with his mother here, Mrs. Anna S. Villadsen.

Mr. J. H. Goddard is very sick at his home.

Chas. A. Lucas and A. Parsons have formed a partnership and will do a general auto business, keeping all kinds of accessories, gas and oil. They will locate in the Pyron Bldg.

Albert Peterson and wife will leave this week for a visit to Mrs. Peterson's parents in New York.

While Hiram Johnson seemed to be the choice of most of the Republicans of Beat 9, they are very well satisfied with Harding and Coolidge, for our next President and Vice-President of the United States.

Ernest Eiland was a visitor to Birmingham Monday of this week.

Miss Anna Werness returned to Birmingham Monday night, after a short visit at her home here.

Thorsby has a quiet appearance these days, election being over, the schools being out, and last but not least, our cotton mill seems to have been tabled.

Mr. Sam English returned to Birmingham Sunday night after spending the week end with his family.

The young ladies of the Baptist Sunday School will give, for the benefit of the Thorsby Baptist Church, an ice cream and cake supper on the lawn of Mr. T. W. Robinson's next Saturday night, June 19th. There will be in addition to the eats plenty of good music. Everyone is cordially invited to come and enjoy themselves, as well as to help a good cause.

Bill Goodgame purchased him a new whistle for his planing mill and from the sound of said whistle we should judge from now on that the proper title for W. H. should be Steam Boat Bill.

Mrs. Ernest Jenkins of Birmingham is visiting relatives here.

Albert Peterson was a Prattville visitor Monday of this week.

CANE CREEK

The Cane Creek singers met last Sunday and organized a singing society. Mr. E. F. Taylor was elected President and Virgile Smith Vice-president and Secretary. We had a roll of twenty-five, and hope to have more in the future.

We will meet every second and third Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Everybody is urged to come and help.

Secretary.

Republican Leaders Confer on Program

Plans for Presidential Campaign is Discussed with Chairman Hays.

Chicago, Ill., June 15.—Chairman Will H. Hays of the National Republican Executive Committee, completed his conference with Western leaders of the Republican national committee today and departed for his home in Sullivan, Ind., from where he will go to Washington shortly to meet with Senator Harding and the committee headed by A. T. Hert, to make the formal notification of the Senator's nomination.

It was emphasized by Western leaders at the conference here that the territory west of the Mississippi will be the big battleground of the presidential election.

Clarence Miller, secretary of the national committee, advocated the establishment of the main Republican headquarters in Chicago instead of in New York. Chairman Hays expressed his desire to spend the greater part of his time here, giving special attention to the Western campaign.

FOR SCHOOL TAX

Verbena, Ala., June 15, 1920.
Editor Union-Banner

I want to endorse the campaign for the 3-Mill School Tax in Chilton County, and to add that if the proposition carries in the county we expect to hold an election in Verbena School District for a 3-mill Special School District Tax, and we expect it to carry by at least 10 to one.. When our petition was circulated it was presented to at least three-fourths of our voters (all we could conveniently see) which included every business man in the town and every large tax payer in the district, and only one man refused to sign it. This man has three children and does not pay a penny of property tax.

Nothing makes a comumnity more progresive than a good school and no real progressive man will locate where there is not a good school. Every man owes it to his county, state and country, and community, to contribute to the schools. The man who is unwilling is not a patriotic citizen. The man with children and limited means can't aford to, and the majority of men with means are too progressive to vote against it.

Don't forget that the corporation pays more than one-half of it, and in addition to this the state donates $1,000 for every mill of special tax we levy for school purposes. This will make a donation of $3,000 from the state treasury. Let's all work to carry it in every Beat in Chilton County.

W. A. GULLEDGE.

MEMBER OF FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

HOW WARREN G. HARDING WAS NOMINATED BY THE REPUBLICANS

Story of the National Convention at Chicago, the Struggle to Build a Platform and the Selection of a Ticket.

GOVERNOR COOLIDGE GIVEN SECOND PLACE

Wood, Lowden and Johnson, Leaders in the Early Balloting, Eliminated at the Behest of a Senatorial Coterie and a Dark Horse Wins the Race.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

For President—WARREN G. HARDING of Ohio.

For Vice President—CALVIN COOLIDGE of Massachusetts.

There is the ticket with which the Republicans hope and intend to regain possession of the national government next fall.

For president, a man from the home state of many presidents, a statesman of long experience and solid reputation, who has been a member of the United States senate since 1914, a member of the "old guard" who stands well with the Republicans who are in control of the senate.

For vice president, the governor of the Bay state, who was virtually unknown to the nation at large until the strike of Boston policemen and his vigorous course in its suppression gave him a vast amount of publicity and made him the favorite son of Massachusetts in the balloting for first place on the ticket.

These gentlemen now stand before the electors of the country on a platform that is so broad that it embraces nearly every topic and issue of the day, though there are those who assert that in some places the planks are perilously thin. Its builders, however, maintain that there is no danger of the candidates falling through the weak spots, and it may be that, with some judicious straddling and side-stepping, this will prove true.

Struggle Over the Platform.

Seldom, if ever, has the choice of a presidential candidate been so closely connected with the building of the platform—or it might be more exact to say the rejection of a candidate. For if Hiram Johnson and his supporters could have compelled the adoption of just the plank they demanded on the League of Nations issue, the California senator, and he alone, could with consistency have consented to go before the people standing on the platform. As it was, his threat to bolt the party caused a long deadlock in the deliberations of the committee on resolutions and at last forced the adoption of a plank based on the cabled suggestion of Elihu Root. That wise man had gone to Europe, but kept in close touch with the doings in Chicago and at the crucial moment his plan was presented to Johnson, Borah, McCormick and the other "irreconcilables" and accepted by them.

The resolution as finally incorporated in the platform, and swallowed by the convention, almost without a quiver, completely avoids any pledge to ratify the treaty of peace and the league covenant with or without reservations, strongly indorses the action of the Republican senators in that regard and promises that the party will work for some kind of international arrangement for the peaceful adjustment of disputes between nations without the sacrifice of American sovereignty. Thus, as will be seen, the way is left open for an administration elected on this platform to do almost anything it sees fit in this regard, except to ratify a treaty and league covenant such as President Wilson brought home from Paris.

Wilson's Policies Scored.

For the rest, the platform, in brief, scores President Wilson and the Democratic administration for their unpreparedness for war and for the equally unprepared condition of the nation for the reception of peace. Denouncing the autocratic assumption of authority by the president, the platform pledges the restoration of constitutional government. The Republican congress is praised for its efforts to cope with the problems caused by the president's course.

The farmers gained their requested support for extension of farm loans and the right to engage in co-operative marketing and buying.

The industrial plank was the subject of much discussion. Some of the committee members, presumably speaking for big business, favored a plank for the prevention of strikes by law. Governor Allen and others wanted the Kansas industrial court plan indorsed. And President Gompers traveled all the way to Chicago to tell the committee what kind of plank the American Federation of Labor demanded. None of these requests were satisfied, but the plank adopted recognizes the justice of collective bargaining and continues:

"The strike, or the lockout, as a means of settling industrial disputes, inflicts such loss and suffering on the community as to justify government initiative to reduce its frequency and limit its consequences.

"We deny the right to strike against the government; but the rights and interests of all government employees must be safeguarded by impartial laws and tribunals."

On Economy and H. C. of L.

The failure of the administration to retrench during the post-war period and the addition of thousands of swivel chair warmers are derided and the party pledges itself to a policy of economy and a carefully planned readjustment. The need of an executive budget and condemnation of the presidential veto that defeated this financial reform was coupled with caustic characterization of the manner in which the president, according to the Republicans, clings to his war-time powers. Revision of taxation also is demanded.

Coming to the great issue of the high cost of living, the committee drew up a declaration to the effect that the present conditions are the result of an inflation of the currency and of credit which the party pledges itself to correct by deflation, the prevention of unreasonable profits and the stimulation of private thrift by a change in the income tax law. The party reaffirmed its belief in the protective tariff, and pledged the encouragement of an American merchant marine by the application of the workman's compensation act and the exemption from canal tolls of the merchant marine.

Profiteering was condemned, government ownership of railways opposed, waterways encouraged and the regulation of industry and commerce promised in order to prevent monopolies. Resumption of trade relations with every nation with which America is at peace was pledged. No changes were promised in the existing immigration laws, but the bettering of naturalization laws was pledged, and the party went on record as favoring a policy by which American women who marry foreigners shall not lose their citizenship. The government's authority to deport and exclude undesirable aliens was upheld, but asurance was given that the rights of free speech, free press and free assembly will not be abridged.

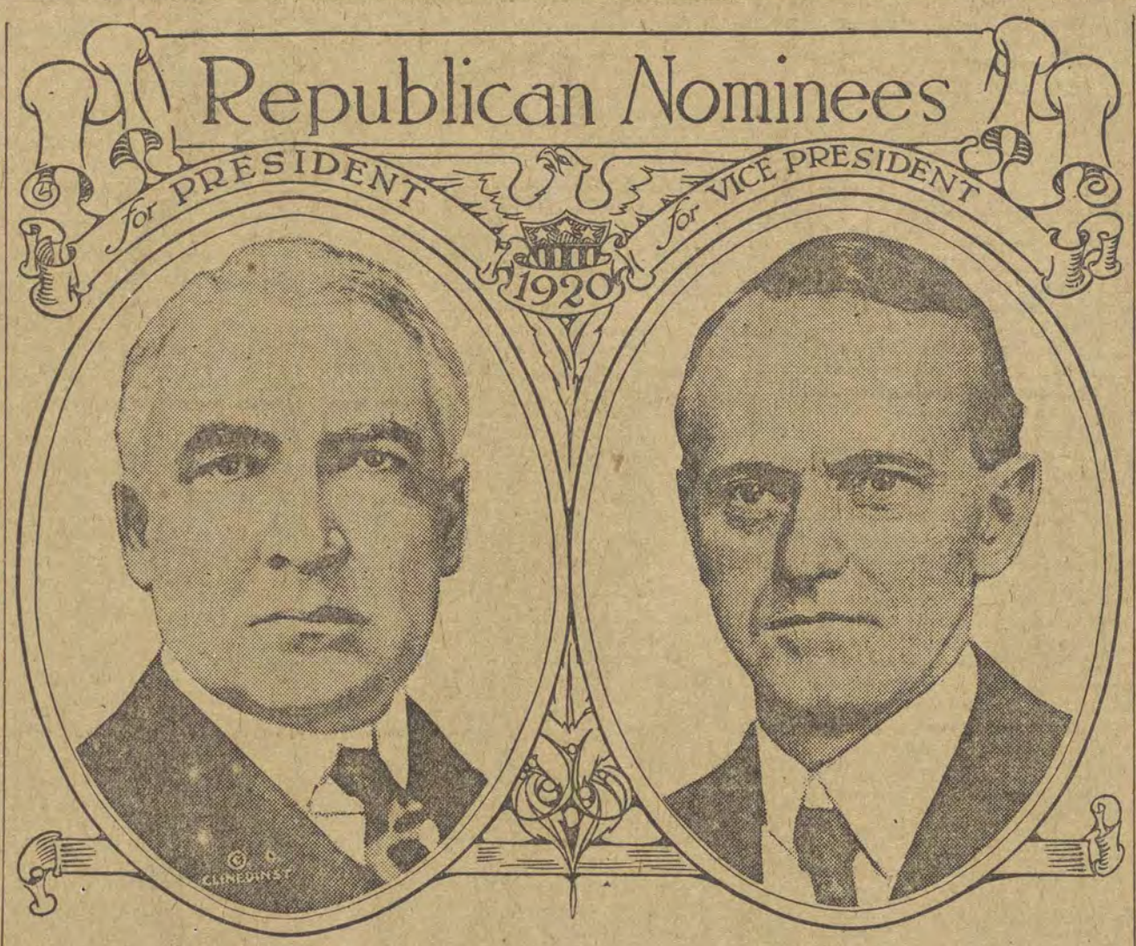
Mrs. Warren G. Harding.

What They Said of Mexico.

A large number of minor topics were handled in the platform, and then came the plank on Mexico. It dealt very severely with President Wilson's policy and pledged that the party will not recognize any Mexican government unles the lives and property of Americans there are protected. Armenia came next in the list of planks. Deep sympathy was expressed for the Armenians, but the president was condemned for asking for authority to accept an Armenian mandate and it was added that the Republican party was unalterably against the acceptance of a mandte for any country in Europe or Asia.

The men who fought in the great war were assured of the party's deep gratitude and were promised liberal legislation for the care of the disabled, infirm and dependents.

Though William Jennings Bryan was present throughout the entire life of the convention with the avowed purpose of persuading the Republicans to insert a "dry" plank in their platform, he failed—possibly because the timely decision of the Supreme court seemed to render unnecesary any explicit declaration. The convention merely declared that all laws should be enforced, and let it go at that.



Women and Irish Displeased.

Two other elements also were disappointed. These were the suffragists and the friends of the Irish "republic." The former, under the leadership of the heads of the woman's party, were in Chicago in strength and during the entire week maintained around the Coliseum a line of pickets bearing banners that warned the Republicans that the women demanded the franchise and would be satisfied with no less. A plank was inserted in the platform urging Republican legislatures that have not acted to ratify the suffrage amendment, but this did not appease the ladies. In the last few moments of the last session they dropped from a balcony a great yellow banner on which was the statement that they wanted votes, not planks. As for the Irish, they, too, made a big demonstration in Chicago and De Valera, the president of their "republic" was there to deliver a speech before a great gathering. But something went wrong with the plans; and the plank which was tentatively shaped for the platform suited them so little that it was omitted entirely and nothing put in its place. There was a story that this resolution had been drawn up by Justice Cohalan of New York in the hope that it would be unsuitable and that the Democrats in San Francisco would be enabled to take advantage of the circumstance. So, though considerable space has perforce been given to the platform of the Republican party, it is not because it must be considered as a great or a particularly strong pronouncement. Lots of men and women in the party are far from pleased with many parts of it, and it must be confessed that the writer failed to find anyone who was crazed with enthusiasm over it.

The story of this convention would be intensely interesting if one could tell all the truth about the secret influences that governed its actions. On the surface it was not a very exciting affair, and the enthusiastic outbursts that characterized some of its sessions appeared too often to be facetious. For five days the 14,000 delegates, alternates, seat-holders and possessors of tickets that allowed them to stand about the few open places and hamper everyone else gathered faithfully in the Coliseum, prepared to howl with glee over expected contests and triumphs. But most of the time all they could do was to cheer for their favorite on occasion and try to keep up with the strong-lunged cheer and song leader who had been brought up from Camp Devens.

Bossed by Senators.

From the first it was heralded as that most unusual thing, an unbossed convention. All the experts asserted that the delegates were going to do as they pleased and that the old-time leadership was impotent. For a day or two this seemed true, but then the senate coterie got into action, and from that time to the end what was done was generally what it wished done. To start with Senator Lodge was selected as temporary chairman, and was continued permanently in the place, the entire temporary organization being retained. On the all-important committee on resolutions there were numerous senators and ex-senators, and they pretty much dictated the makeup of the platform. In the selection of the ticket their influence was seen and felt in every move and every shift of votes, clear down to the moment when Senator Harding received the ballots that made him the convention's choice. All this time the greatest of the old-time party bosses still alive, Senator Boies Penrose, lay on a sick bed in his Philadelphia home. But a direct telephone wire was run into that room and there was scarcely an hour of the day or night when he was not in communication with his friend, John T. King. He knew all that was going on, and it is fair to assume that in most cases he knew beforehand that it was going to go on. What happened, happened because he willed that it should happen. This is not written exactly in criticism, for it may be that what Penrose decreed will suit the party and result in its victory in November. But the fact cannot be blinked that some eminent Democrats who attended the convention went away with grins of satisfaction decorating their faces.

WARREN G. HARDING CALVIN COOLIDGE

Lodge Was Too Scholarly.

To go back to the beginning again, something must be said of the keynote address by Chairman Lodge. It was one of the most scholarly efforts of its kind, and the great mass of the delegates, to say nothing of the audience, utterly failed to comprehend it. The senator did not once descend to the level of most of his hearers, and consequently he failed to arouse any great measure of enthusiasm.

It was noticeable that this address, as well as every other speech and the platform as well, devoted its denunciatory passages not to the Democratic party, as is usually the case, but to President Wilson. It was always his acts and his policies that were condemned—and the language used in dealing with him was scorching. Of course, the reason for this is that, from the viewpoint of the Republicans, Mr. Wilson has been the Democratic party for the last seven years.

The first day found three candidates in the forefront of the race for the nomination, and while the preliminaries were completed their workers were straining every nerve to have them make the best possible show on the first ballot. These men were Governor Lowden of Illinois, General Leonard Wood, and Senator Hiram Johnson of California. From their elaborate headquarters in the hotels swarms of men and women flocked to the Coliseum with banners and buttons and literature. Each of them was certain of victory—for public consumption—but each of them knew in his heart that he could not win if the senatorial bosses had their way. All the rest of the possible candidates really ranked as dark horses. They included Herbert Hoover, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university, Gov. Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, Senator Poindexter of Washington, Senator Howard Sutherland of West Virginia, Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania, Senator Philander Knox of Pennsylvania and Senator La Follette of Wisconsin. A long enough list in all conscience. From these dark horses, it was predicted, would emerge the winner, and the prophecy was fulfilled.

Routine Work, Then Oratory.

It required three days to get through wtih the preliminary work of the gathering and to have the platform built, read and adopted. The latter took place on Thursday. As has been said, the resolutions met with almost unanimous approval. A young man from Milwaukee was the only dissenting member of the committee and he presented a minority report that embodied many of the policies advocated by La Follette. The audience did not want to hear him and he took advantage of their impatience to try to place himself in the position of a martyr, but Chairman Lodge cleverly forestalled this, and the minortiy report was speedily dumped into the waste basket.

Friday was the day of oratory. Men who thought themselves eloquent and others who really were eloquent mounted the speaker's platform in procession throughout most of the day to place before the convention the names and qualifications of the candidates. In many cases women were among those who seconded the nominations, and usually they acquitted themselves much more to the satisfaction of their hearers than did the men, for they were brief, snappy and graceful of address.

On the roll call of states Arizona yielded to Kansas, and Governor Henry J. Allen stepped up to nominate General Wood. Though obviously nervous and not quite adequate of voice, he did his excellent subject full ustice, setting forth specially the fine record the general had made in Cuba and the Philippines, and his preparedness for war when the great conflict broke out.

"We heard from him no platitudes about a million men springing to arms over night," cried Allen, and everyone strained for a look at Mr. Bryan, who sat in the press stand close to the speaker.

The governor went on to describe Wood's skillful training of an army and his unselfish and uncomplaining devotion to duty when he was kept from going to Europe in command of the boys whom he had taught how to fight and conquer. He also recounted the general's success in quelling labor and race disturbances within the last year or so, and dwelt on his popularity with the very men whom he had been sent to quiet.

Wood's Feathery Ovation.

As the governor ceased speaking a storm of applause broke out, and another storm of red and green feathers fell from the rafters all over the house. The Wood delegates marched through the aisles, led by Beveridge of Indiana and Frank Hitchcock, and the tumult continued for half an hour. "If Wood drops feathers, I suppose Johnson will drop light wines and beers from the rafters," laughed Mr. Bryan, and someone said: "Get your cup ready then, William."

The demonstration was calmed at last—really it did not seem very spontaneous—and after Frank Knox of New Hampshire had made a seconding speech, the first of the convention's woman orators appeared. She was Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson of New York, sister of the late Colonel Roosevelt. With much of the colonel's fire and vim, she told why Leonard Wood should be the next president, and she told it so well that prolonged applause rewarded her efforts.

Governor Lowden's turn came next, and the honor of presenting his name was entrusted to Congressman Rodenberg of Illinois, a big man with a big voice who made an old-fashioned speech that hit the audience in the right way. He, too, had an excellent subject, whose cause was handicapped only by the revelations of excessive expenditures brought out by the senate committee at the instigation of Johnson and his friends.

Lowden's ovation outlasted that for Wood, but was no more enthusiastic. It was featured by a display of banners and portraits of the candidate and by a pretty girl in a cerise sweater who was carried on men's shoulders at the head of the paraders. Lowden, too, had a woman among his seconders, Mrs. Fletcher Dobyns of Chicago, a clever politician and good speaker. Then Governor Morrow of Kentucky told why the Republicans of his state loved Lowden and wanted him for president.

Johnson's Sponser a Failure,

Charles S. Wheeler of San Francisco had been deputed to place Senator Johnson in nomination, and much was expected of him, because a reputation for fiery eloquence had preceded him. But, though his address was smooth and his voice pleasing, he scored the worst failure of the entire convention. He evoked some cheering from the galleries by a denunciation of the League of Nations, but soon after made the gross mistake of twitting the reservationists on having been worsted by Johnson in the committee on resolutions. The delegates did not relish that, nor did most of the others in the hall. Then he made an unfortunate allusion to the campaign expenditure revelations, and as those had hit most of the candidates, their friends resented it with boos and hisses. Mr. Wheeler smilingly waited for the row to cease, and proceeded to finish an address that was fully twice as long as it should have been. His poor performance cast a wet blanket on the planned demonstration, and the California delegates, accompanied by a few others, marched rather sadly through the aisles, listlessly waving flags.

Far better than Wheeler's was the speech for Johnson by Thomas D. Schall, the blind congressman from Minneapolis, and better, also, were the brief talks by Richard Doherty of New Jersey, Charles P. O'Neil of Michigan and Mrs. Katherine Phillips Edson of California.

Now began the parade of dark horses. They were led forth as follows: Calvin Coolidge, by Speaker Gillette of the house of representatives and Mrs. Alexander Peiffer; Butler, by Ogden Mills of New York; Pritchard, by Marion Butler of North Carolina; Hoover by Judge Nathan L. Miller of New York; Harding, by Frank Willis of Ohio; Sproul, by William I. Schaffer; Poindexter, by George H. Walker, and Sutherland, by Joseph M. Sanders. When Wisconsin was reached on the roll call the clerk paused expectantly, but no one appeared to nominate La Follette, and the crowd seemed grateful.

Balloting Is Begun.

The powers that were decreed that several ballots should be taken that day before adjournment, and in an excited hush the call of the states was begun. The hush did not last, however, for every considerable vote for any one aspirant was greeted with the cheers of his friends.

As had been foretold, Wood led on the first ballot with 287½ votes, Lowden was second with 211½, and Johnson gathered in 133½. The others in general wereaccorded the votes of their home states and a few more. Of the Wisconsin delegation 24 voted for La Follette; and it may as well be recorded here that those 24 delegates kept voting for La Follette. to the bitter end. And every time the announcement was greeted with groans and hisses from the galleries.

In the following three ballots Wood climbed to 314½, which the wise ones said was about his maximum strength. Lowden also increased his vote, going up to 289, while Johnson reached 140½. The votes for the dark horses did not vary to any great extent though Butler lost steadily and Pritchard soon dropped out entirely. By this time everyone was ready for a rest and the convention adjourned to Saturday morning.

The Break to Harding.

The crowd filled the Coliseum to suffocation on what was destined to be the final day of the convention, for it was felt that the conferences of the preceding night would be fruitful. The senatorial coterie had been in session many hours and the word was passed around that they had picked on Harding as the nominee. In the early ballots of Saturday theOhioan did not gain rapidly, and all were waiting for the moment when the big delegations from New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts would find the time ripe for a break. The men from the Keystone state had been voting almost solidly for Sproul, for the bosses were not decided between him and Harding. And the New Yorkers really did not know to whom to throw their strength.

Johnson's vote dwindled gradually, and then the Lowden column suddenly began to go to pieces. He was really the victim of the shift, for the Wood delegations stood by the general almost to the last moment. On the ninth ballot it was seen that Harding could be "put across," so the uncertain ones climbed into the band wagon on the tenth and gave the Ohio senator a grand total of 674½, which was 181½ more than necessary to nominate.

The hubbub was deafening and after Pennsylvania put 60 votes in the Harding column the clerks could scarcely complete the roll call. At its finish the usual motion to make the choice unanimous was made, but those 24 La Follette men from Wisconsin voted in the negative and marred the love feast.

Coolidge Gets Second Place.

There still remained the task of selecting a vice presidential candidate. Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, Governor Allen of Kansas, Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts and Col. Harry Anderson of Virginia were placed in nomination and the roll of the states was called. Lenroot received a good vote, but Coolidge was the evident favorite and long before the roll was completed his nomination was assured. The 24 La Follette men voted for Senator Gronna.

With some difficulty Chairman Lodge, whose voice was gone, managed to hold the delegates together long enough to pass the usual resolutions of thanks to the officials of the convention and to the city of Chicago, and then the republican convention of 1920 came to an end.

Convention Well Handled.

The management of the convention hall really deserved thanks, for the seating, the policing and the other arrangements were the best ever seen in such gatherings. The Coliseum was handsomely decorated and well lighted and the comfort of the delegates and guests was as well looked after as could be expected. Of course the usual swarm of sergeants at arms was present, clogging up the aisles and getting in the way of the workers, but that is inevitable, for the distribution of those badges is a perquisite of the local Republicans. It was no worse this time than usual. The doors were in charge of a force of ex-service men under the command of General Ryan, and their work was done with military efficiency.

Everyone had good things to say about the music supplied by Johnny Hand's band, which was stationed in a lofty little gallery. On occasion it was led by John Hand third, a sturdy chap in brilliant uniform who used the baton presented to his father, Armin Hand, by Theodore Roosevelt at the Progressive convention. It was made of wood from trees on the "River of Doubt," which the colonel discovered.

The KITCHEN CABINET

What beauty sense women have they acquire as men do—by inheritance, education and practice—not otherwise.—Campbell.

SOME GOOD CAKES.

A simple and easy way to make angel food which takes a moderate number of eggs is the following: Take one cupful each of sugar, egg whites and flour, one-half teaspoonful of cream of tartar and a little salt with one teaspoonful of vanilla. Sift one-half of the cream of tartar with the flour and put the other half into the egg whites when half beaten. Beat the eggs until stiff; add the sugar, folding it in, then fold in the flour very lightly. Bake in a moderate oven 50 minutes.

Gold Cake.—Take four eggs well beaten; do not separate. Add one cupful of water to the eggs. Cream half a cupful of butter, add one and one-fourth cupfuls of sugar and two and one-half cupfuls of flour with three tablespoonfuls of baking powder. Flavor with lemon. Bake in loaf or layers.

Date Torte.—Take one cupful each of chopped nuts, sugar and dates, one tablespoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, two well beaten eggs. Bake in a sheet and serve with whipped cream.

Election Cake.—Take one-half cupful of shortening, one cupful of bread sponge, one egg, one cupful of brown sugar, one cupful of sour milk, two-thirds of a cupful of raisins, eight chopped figs, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of cloves, the same of nutmeg, mace, one and one-fourth cupfuls of flour and one-half teaspoonful of soda.

Golden Orange Cake.—Take one-half cupful of clarified fat, one cupful of New Orleans molasses, one tablespoonful of sugar, one egg, the juice and rind of an orange, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in one-half cupful of cold water, two cupfuls of pastry flour, salt to taste. Bake in a shallow pan and cover while hot with butter and powdered sugar.

"A little love, a little trust,
A soft impulse, a sudden dream,
And life as dry as desert dust
Is fresher than a mountain stream."

HURRY-UP DISHES.

Dishes which may be prepared and are ready to serve in a short time are in constant demand. A good plan for the housewife who is subject to a sudden short-order call is to have a list of good dishes in a convenient place where a glance will tell what can be made available for the meal. With the canned soups to be opened and heated in five minutes the soup course is one easy to arrange. With a jar of good mayonnaise always on hand for salads, a salad is not difficult to prepare. A few stewed prunes on leaf lettuce with a good dressing makes a most acceptable combination. Another salad easy of preparation is crushed peanuts. Roll them until like coarse crumbs, sprinkle with finely minced green onion and serve with either French or mayonnaise dressing on lettuce.

Luncheon Dish.—Cut squares of bread from three slices of bread, making one-inch squares. Prepare two cupfuls of white sauce well seasoned with salt and pepper, adding one teaspoonful of curry powder. Cook five eggs in the shell until hard, cut in slices after removing the shells and add the bread and white sauce. Serve hot.

Salmon With Peas.—Heat a fillet of salmon in the can, turn carefully onto a hot chop plate and surround with cooked peas either in a white sauce or simply buttered. Tuna fish, scalloped with hard-cooked eggs cut in slices, baked until well heated through is another good hurry-up dish.

Creamed Meat.—Take cooked meat, roast of beef, ham, pork or chicken, put through the meat grinder and add to a rich white sauce. Serve with toast or on it.

Chocolate Cake.—Cream one-half cupful of butter with one cupful of sugar, add three beaten eggs, the rind and juice of half a lemon, two squares of grated chocolate, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and three-fourths of a cupful of sweet milk. Mix and bake in layers or loaf.

Savory Eggs.—Beat two eggs with salt and pepper and a tablespoonful of cream. Melt an ounce of butter in a saucepan, then pour in the eggs, stirring constantly; as they thicken add some pieces of the tender breast of chicken. Serve piping hot on buttered toast.

Celery Toast.—Slice tender stalks of celery into thin slices and cook until tender in just enough water to keep them from burning. Make a rich white sauce, season well, add the celery and pour over rounds of buttered toast.

Pepper Steak.—Take a round of veal two inches thick. Salt and pierce it with a coarse-tined fork. Pour one can of tomatoes over the meat, then dice a large onion and a large green pepper; put over the tomatoes. Place in the oven and bake one and one-half hours. Remove the lid and baste until all the juice goes into the meat.

Asparagus on Toast.—Cook the tender tops of asparagus in boiling water just long enough to make tender. Add cream, butter, salt and pepper to season. Do not drain off the water and serve on nicely toasted slices of bread.

From two to four the child consumes more than a quarter of the supply of food required by the workingman. From four to ten there is a steady increase, while from twelve to fifteen a child requires as much food in actual weight as does a person in the prime of life, a trifle less than the hardest-working laborer. Any deficiency in quality is much more serious at this age than at any other.

GOOD AND SIMPLE FOODS.

A plain cake which is not at all expensive but is tender and delicious may be made of sour cream. Beat one egg and one white of egg until light then add one cupful of sugar and a cupful of sour cream, a tablespoonful of lard, a little salt, one and three-fourths cupfuls of flour, one tablespoonful of cornstarch, one-half teaspoonful of soda and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, vanilla. Beat well and bake in layer cake pans. Use any filling desired.

Ham on Toast.—Put ham through the meat grinder. To one cupful add one-half cupful of milk, a tablespoonful of butter, salt, pepper and one-half tablespoonful of flour. Cook a few minutes, spread on toast, break an egg on top and set in the oven until the egg sets.

Sweet Potato and Almond Croquettes.—Bake four medium-sized sweet potatoes and remove from the skins. There should be two cupfuls. Add three tablespoonfuls of blanched and finely chopped almonds, one teaspoonful of salt, a few gratings of nutmeg, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and one egg well beaten. Add enough milk to make of the right consistency to shape. Roll in crumbs and fry in deep fat.

French Pancakes.—Beat the yolks and whites separately of four eggs. To the yolks add two cupfuls each of milk and flour, a teaspoonful of grated lemon rind and one-half tablespoonful of melted butter. Fold in the whites beaten stiff and bake on a hot greased griddle. Make the cakes large and spread with butter and put together with grated maple sugar. Cut to serve like pie.

Baked Codfish.—Soak salt fish in water until soft. Flake one cupful, slice four cold boiled potatoes and arrange alternately in a buttered dish with the codfish. Sprinkle each layer with chopped stuffed olives, using one-half cupful. Make a sauce, using one and one-half cupfuls of tomatoes, a tablespoonful each of butter and flour, one small onion, chopped, salt and pepper to taste. Cover with coarse bread-crumbs stirred in melted butter and bake until the crumbs are brown.

A clam is a simpler organization than we are; but because our teeth ache we do not wish to be a clam. High organization is complex, not simple; but it may work with perfect ease and smoothness none the less.

SOME MEXICAN DISHES.

For those who enjoy the spicy, peppery dishes of the South, these dishes will appeal:

Scrambled Eggs With Chili.—Break six eggs, add a tablespoonful of water and a dash of chili powder for each egg; also salt and pepper to taste. Beat lightly until the eggs are well mixed. Pour into a heated pan greased with bacon fat or sweet drippings. Stir until thick and creamy. Serve on hot buttered toast.

Combination Salad.—Use one cucumber, two young onions, three small radishes, four stalks of celery, two firm ripe tomatoes, all cut in pieces; place in a salad bowl lined with lettuce leaves. Prepare a dressing of one-half cupful of vinegar, one tablespoonful of bacon, one teaspoonful of salt and one tablespoonful of chili powder. Bring to a boil, then cool and pour over the salad.

Tomato Jelly.—Cook one quart of tomatoes for ten minutes, add one teaspoonful of chili powder and cook again ten minutes. Stir in one-third of a package of gelatin softened in cold water; stir until well dissolved, strain and add salt to taste, then set away to cool. When the jelly is firm cut in cubes; Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

Chili Con Carni.—Take one pound of beef from the round, one-third of a pound of pork steak, chop fine. Fry two slices of diced bacon; brown or cook the meat in the bacon fat. Into a kettle put one quart of tomato, add one chopped onion browned in the bacon fat. Putting the tomatoes through a sieve improves the dish. Add meat and simmer one hour. Just a few minutes before serving add one can of red kidney beans. For seasoning add one tablespoonful of chili powder, salt to taste and one chili pepper dropped into the kettle and cooked with the mixture. The pepper is removed before serving.

Veal Goulash.—Put into a saucepan two tablespoonfuls of butter, add two minced onions, and a few slices of bacon. Cover and cook until brown, then add veal cut in bits, salt and chili powder to season. Do not put any water into the dish but cook until tender.

Suits for Summer Journeyings

AMONG other good things turned out for the benefit of June brides there were some new designs in taffeta suits, to be worn on the wedding journey. But June brides can't have a monopoly of good fortune and other women have been quick to see the advantages of taffeta for summer journeyings: These suits are cool, shed dust, easily cleaned, smartly made and they are that "something different" that makes so strong an appeal at this season.

One of these taffeta suits, together with an attractive cloth suit, is pictured above; they are interesting because both embody some new style features. The taffeta is a revelation of accurate machine stitching as used to supply the decoration and in the cloth suit embroidery is managed in a new way. Fourteen rows of stitching at the bottom of the taffeta skirt, put in with a perfection of workmanship that delights the eye, are repeated above the hem of the coat. They finish the flaring sleeves. But the bands of stitching in herring-bone pattern that adorn the coat are even more difficult to achieve and there are groups of vertical lines above the parallel rows at the hem. The coat is set on a small, plain yoke and has a narrow silk girdle covered with stitching.

A detachable cape of duvetyn lined with machine-stitched taffeta is the outstanding novelty in the suit. The lining is of the same taffeta. A narrow band fastens it about the neck under the rolled-over taffeta collar.

Peach brown, a soft wool fabric, makes the second suit. A braided pattern, simulating embroidery appears in a band which curves over the hips on the full peplum. The same work adorns the front of the coat and the collar. On the coat sleeves that flare a little at the hand, a row of bone-buttons make an unexpected finish.

Summer Hats for All Tastes

IT IS everyone to her taste in millinery; for fashion is easy-going, lured this way and that by lovely midsummer hats of all descriptions. Speaking generally, headwear is more trimmed than for many summers, but there are so many exceptions to this that the devotee of plain hats will not find her choice peculiar. There are many hats that have no trimming except a twisted band of velvet ribbon about the crown or an embroidered motif on brim or crown, or a single large ornament of jet or composition placed in lonely and conspicuous state on the hat shape. The simpler models have a steadfast following. But whether hats are simply or elaborately trimmed, their making is rarely simple. There is a demand for hand-made hats which require delicate and precise needlework.

Just now navy blue hats in silk (both taffeta and georgette) are making their annual appearance for midsummer wear. Often they are faced with a pliant white straw facing and this year finds them beautifully decorated with white yarn, used for embroidering them and in separate ornaments. Sometimes an entire brim is made of the yarn woven over wire. A lovely example is shown in the picture above, made of navy blue taffeta with embroidery on the crown in white silk and wool yarns and two roses made of yarn. A small hat of similar character, to be worn with all sorts of dresses appears with round crown and upturned brim made of soft rough braid. Little garden roses are banked against the brim and veiled with malines having rows of braid stitched on. A twist of velvet ribbon completes it.

Midsummer translated into millinery compels us to admire the designers art in the lovely hat of georgette with roses and grapes posed on the crown. It has a facing of figured chiffon and long ties of narrow black velvet ribbon. Its companion is one of those well beloved, wide-brimmed black hats that throw a protecting shadow over the face. Wide moire ribbon with a satin edge makes a becoming finish for the brim edge and narrow ribbon furnishes a sash about the crown.

Cleaves Her Skull With Ax While School Children Look On.

Muskegon, Mich.—While a hundred or more children watched from windows of the Muskegon Heights school Stuart C. Moon, seventy-eight, Civil war veteran and wealthy retired lumberman, killed his ten-year old granddaughter by cleaving her skull with an ax. Irma Moon, the child, had been summoned from her class room to the school yard, where the grandfather, who had been her confidant and pal, waited with an ax, behind his back.

"I killed her because I love her," the old man said in mild tones to the first man who seized him, Rev. W. A. Lyons. "I wanted to save her from this world of misery and wickedness. I wanted to send her tender young soul to the better world before she would have had opportunity to suffer. I wish I could go with her. But it won't be long before I can join her over there."

The children, who had heard Irma's scream as her grandfather raised the ax and who had flocked to the window in time to see the killing, tumbled in panic from the school building. But possessed by sudden fear, they huddled against the entrance, unwilling to move until the patrol wagon and ambulance had taken away the slayer and the slain.

Edwin B. Moon, father of the child and son of the man who did the killing, is a prominent real estate man in this city. He could only account for the tragedy on the basis of insanity. The granddaughter and the elder Mr. Moon had been inseparable companions almost since the child was born.

NOW COMES ELECTRICAL 'JAG'

San Francisco Man Produces All Symptoms of Alcoholic Intoxication.

San Francisco, Cal.—The possibility of producing all the symptoms of alcoholic intoxication on electric "juice" attracted a good deal of interest here recently when Dr. Albert Abrams of San Francisco demonstrated to medical men the use of an electrical device he has invented.

The feet of the subject are placed on a sheet of zinc, an electrode is placed upon the head, and, when the current is turned on, one newspaper writer said: "John Barleycorn is with you again. The 'kick' comes slowly and without any appreciation of the fact on the part of the subject until he finds himself unduly loquacious, happy or sleepy."

"The discovery," Doctor Abrams said, "is based on the theory that unit of energy is the electron and that every material thing is simply a manifestation of different rates of vibration. I have used the vibration of chloroform to produce the effects of chloroform itself."

Freed "With Honor" After Assault on "Hun"

Denver.—Paul Kennedy, arrested for assault, was discharged "with honor" in police court when he related the circumstances that led to his being taken into custody.

"My brother was killed in France," Kennard told the court, "and when this German fellow, August Something, yelled at me that it was too bad more Yanks weren't killed over there, I hit him—hit him hard, your honor."

"Car Maids" Fight for Jobs.

Louisville, Ky.—Women won jobs as Pullman "car maids" during the war, and now the 100 employed in the local yards have formed a union. The girls contend that the cars were not kept as tidy by the men as now and that they are entitled to proper consideration. They are members of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America.

Hoorah for Harding and Coolidge, the next President and Vice-President of our great country.

Tom Littlejohn says that since Harding is a Republican and a Baptist, that ought to be sufficient reasons for anybody to vote for him for President.

The Democrats want the Republican party to split again. But they don't get everything they want every time. For instance, they want to elect a Demmie president this fall, but they will not do it by a thousand miles and then some.

Senator Harding, the Republican candidate for president, is a born orator and a gifted statesman. You ought to hear his speech on the league of nations delivered before the Senate last winter. Mr. Harding sees very clearly the future course that confronts America and the preservation of our ideals of government.

But the biggest smile we have seen produced by the coming of the Lock 12 juice to our town is worn on the face of Uncle Tom Taylor, the corn mill man. He is particularly delighted that any time of the day a farmer may bring his corn to mill he can turn on the switch and produce the meal in a very few minutes.

A bunch of us hard boiled fishermen carried Judge Reynolds and his son Omar and brother W. A. out to Coosa River last Thursday and introduced them to the art of climbing up and down those pine-straw hills under the scorching heat of a summer sun. When we reached the river a temporary camp was made and a dinner of fresh fried fish was prepared by members of the party who were more or less acquainted with the culinary side of camp life. After dinner we all proceeded across the river and up a gentle slope for a short distance to where a bee tree had been previously located. Perhaps the greatest piece of fun in the whole trip was the cutting of the tree and eating all the honey we wanted.

Some of the Democrats have been poking the Republican convention for being dominated by the sick man at Philadelphia. We likewise look for the sick man at the White House to have quite a bit to do with things at San Francisco when the Democratic convention meets.

Mr. J. Martin Nix of the Clanton Chero-Cola Bottling Co., is one of those who is highly pleased by the constant flow of electric current from Lock 12 into Clanton. His bottling plant is electrically equipped throughout, and with the ample amount of current supplied now Mr. Nix is in shape to quench the thirst of everybody in Chilton County with that tempting and refreshing drink "in a bottle through a straw."

The still sow drinks the most of the slop. The big three caverted around over the country and raised a big smoke, spending much money in the hope of carrying off the plum at Chicago. While Harding was a candidate he did not say much about it and did not spend much time or money in advertisng the fact. But when he went to the "windy city" he got away with the honor after all the hurrah of the big noise makers.

Reports are already coming in to us from various sections of the county that the boll weevils are numerous in the cotton fields. Great care should be exercised right now in picking and killing all the weevils that can be found. Then when the squares come and the weevils begin to puncture them the first squares that fall should be picked up and burned. By doing this the most work of the weevils can be prevented.

There are a few merchants and business men in Clanton and Chilton County, who are Democrats in politics, and who will not patronize the Union-Banner with their advertising and job printing, because the politics of the paper is Republican. This little bit of cheesiness on their part does not amount to anything with us. We have got along without their patronage in the past, and we can continue to do so. But we would like to ask what would become of such Democrats as they are if all the Republicans in Chilton County were to refust to trade with a local man whose politics is Democratic, and send all their business out of the county to some mail order house? Think this over Mr. Business man, and see if you can justify the policy of mixing politics with business.

The man whom the Republicans nominated for President at Chicago is a newspaper publisher of long experience, having for many years owned and published the Marion (Ohio) Star. And more than being a publisher, Senator Harding is a practical printer and it is said of him that he carries his composing rule in his pocket wherever he goes. During the days he spends at his home in the Ohio city he can always be found at the Star office directing the business of his paper and at leisure times setting type in his composing room. We are proud that a member of the newspaper fraternity has reached to such eminence in the affairs of our country as to be a candidate before the people for the highest honor within the gift of the nation. We believe Harding will be our next President and sure he will be a good one.

HARDING'S NOMINATION

The following words from Mark Sullivan, one of the most prominent newspaper correspondents of the present day, in regard to the nomination of Harding, strikes us as a true expression of the very great sentiment among the rank and file of the Republican voters of the country. Mr. Sullivan says:

The judgment of your correspondent is, Harding is a typical old-time Republican nomination. It is like the nomination of McKinley or Harrison or Garfield.

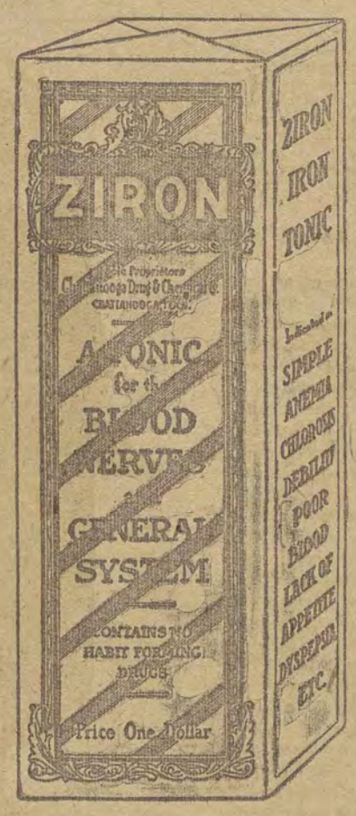
Harding is an accurate expression of the hearts of a very large number of the men throughout the country who get the Republican vote. He is precisely the type of man whom the Republican party workers in the rural districts understand and admire.

If the hearts of a majority of the delegates who made this nomination were distilled, you would find their choice to be Harding, not individually necessarily, but precisely the kind of man Harding is: a small town man, a small business man.

The very averageness, so to speak, of Harding appeals to these men. They can understand him, instinctively they feel that he can understand them. They feel that they have an easy and agreeable relationship with him—not in any undignified sense, but in the sense that is proper and desirable from the public point of view.

Harding's very limitations commend him to this type of man. A bigger man they would not understand, a bigger man would be inscrutable to them.

It may be and probably is true that Harding's nomination is distasteful to the progressive leaders within the Republican party, but this must be balanced by the fact that it is to an extraordinary degree perfectly adapted to the taste of regular party workers in all the great territory where the Republican party usually finds its majoities, in Pennsylvania, in up-state New York, in rural Indiana, in Ohio, and in all the regular Republican states of the Mississippi valley.



The people of Clanton should not fail to realize the immense worth to our town that is represented in our having the Alabama Power Company furnish us its power from the great Lock 12 plant. It was in fact a sacrifice on the part of the company to come here. But they were willing to take us up and give us the advantages of their power when we were in the midst of the deep blue sea so far as power was concerned. We are indebted to them for the plenty of water we now have in our city system. We did not have it before they brought us the current to run our pumps with.

Of course, a business as big as the Alabama Power Company will naturally make some enemies here and there, but we here in Clanton should be the last in the world to fall out with them for they have saved our town and our prestige as a commercial center. They have transformed our little city from a cross roads country village as it has heretofore been looked upon by the commercial world outside, to a thriving city of immense commercial and industrial advantage, with a potentiality for business as great as the wonderful system that is standing back of us and connecting us with the utmost parts of industrial Alabama.

Let us be proud of the Alabama Power Company. We owe it to them.

WHAT THE SCOUTS WILL DO HERE ON JULY THE 3RD.

It is going to be a big time for everybody. Games, Contests, Races, Music, Fireworks and everything for a Good Time.

YOU CAN'T MISS HEARING THE BAND

The Clanton Boy Scouts are perfecting the plans for their celebration here on the Third of July, and everything now looks like a day of much fun for the boys and entertainment for the visiting people.

The band will play the biggest card in the entertainment of the people. Everybody will enjoy plenty of good music and these boys are able to fill the bill completely in that respect. Prof. Memoli of Birmingham, who is teaching the boys in the band, will have charge oft hem on that day.

At 9:30 o'clock in the morning the Boy Scout parade will form at the depot and proceed to the grounds (place to be announced later). There will be a flag raising ceremony on arrival at the scene of the day's proceedings, accompanied by a lecture on the Declaration of Independence.

At 10:30 the games will begin, which will include foot races, tug-of-war, sack races, potato races, etc. There will also be a fiddlers contest about this time of the day. All the fiddlers can get their instruments tuned up and ready. Prizes will be given to the winners in the contest.

At 12 o'clock, the dinner hour, there will be a break in the program, and everybody who has dinner with them will have a chance to spread their baskets in any place they choose.

At 1 o'clock the program will start again with baseball games, volley ball, tennis, etc. These games will entertain the crowds all the afternoon. The teams to play ball will be announced later.

All during the day the Scouts will serve ice cream and cold drinks. All Scouts and scout officials from everywhere are invited to come and be with the Clanton Troop.

On the night of the 3rd the fire works display will be held at the railroad crossing. This promises to be about the best thing on the program. There will be plenty of music by the band all through the day's proceedings.

The people of Chilton County are urged to come to Clanton and spend that day and enjoy the festivities with the boys.

THE FIRST DOSE MADE ME FEEL SO MUCH BETTER

Well known citizen of Mobile declares the new medicine, Dreco, relieved his kidney, liver and stomach troubles very quickly.

"I had such awful pains in my back that sometimes it felt like a ton of bricks was bearing down on me, and I could find nothing that gave me relief." That is how Mr. W. A. Young, the well known carpenter of 204 Dauphine Street, Mobile Ala., described his suffering. "But the new medicine, Dreco, made a big difference in me from the very start."

In addition to the kidney pains, I also had constipation and headaches, pains in my limbs; I was so nervous that I never got a good night's sleep, and my appetite fell to almost nothing. My work was pretty hard and I knew a man in my condition was liable to have a breakdown. I had bought several kinds of medicine, I saw advertised in the papers, but no one of them semed to hit my case. I have always had faith in the old time root and herb medicines though, so when I read about Dreco I bought a bottle, and my improvement began with the first dose. It relieved the constipation almost immediately; it stopped my headaches; my nerves became quieted and I began to sleep the whole night through, and wake up refreshed. The pains in my back became less day by day, and now I have no pain at all. Any medicine that will do that kind of work should be told about to every one, and that is why I am willing to have you publish my case."

Dreco is now sold by all good druggists throughout the country, and is highly recommended in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Company.

OHIOAN AGAINST OHIOAN

Democrats of Buckeye State Want Cox to Oppose Harding.

Columbus, Ohio, June 15—Now that an Ohioan has been chosen the standard bearer of the Republican party, Ohio Democrats are redoubling their efforts to obtain another honor for the Buckeye State by having Governor James M. Cox selected by the San Francisco convention as the one to carry the standard for their party.

No sooner had Senator Harding's nomination been assured than former Gov. James E. Campbell, an Ohio delegate at large to the Democratic national convention, began preparation of a circular letter to all Democratic delegates setting forth why Gov. Cox should be nominated at the San Francisco convention.

"Gov. James M. Cox can carry Ohio. What other candidate can match this certainty with even a probability? the latter asked.

SILURIA TEAM vs. CLANTON

There will be a big ball game in Clanton next Saturday afternoon, June 19. A stout team from Siluria will come down and challenge the Clanton team, on the high school ground. Everybody is invited to be there and witness the affair.

Mr. C. Fenn Jones is very proud of the fact that Clanton now enjoys the beefits of electric curret from Lock 12. Mr. Jones has been one of the moving powers that caused that company to connect Clanton with their lines.

Clanton is now enjoying the privilege of the best electric light and power service of any town of its size in the state, and our people should be and are proud of our opportunities in this respect. Our close proximity to the great generating plant at Lock 12 reduces the likelihood of interruption in our service from those causes which sometimes occur unavoidably. By virtue of our electric power advantages we are in line to offer the best advantages possible for some small manufacturing industries. We predict it will be only a matter of a short time until something will be started around here in the way of locating new industries. Let us be ready to extend the hand of welcome to any legitimate and worthy interprise that might seek a location in our midst.

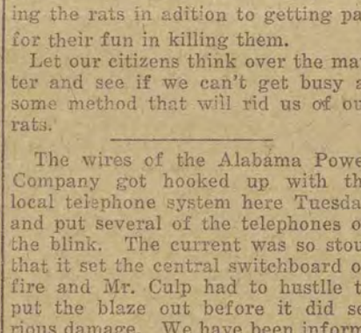
TOO MANY RATS HERE

Dr. Grady Broadhead suggests to us that the people of Clanton should start war on our rodent population; and we heartily second his timely motion. There are far too many rats in Clanton. In fact any rats at all are too many, and goodness knows they are literally thousands of them here. We should make an organized effort to exterminate them.

Dr. Broadhead suggests that the citizens of the town put up a cash fund with which to pay for the killing of rats. He thinks such a move would interest the boys who have nothing else to do, and who would enjoy chasing the rats in adition to getting pay for their fun in killing them.

Let our citizens think over the matter and see if we can't get busy at some method that will rid us of our rats.

The wires of the Alabama Power Company got hooked up with the local telephone system here Tuesday and put several of the telephones on the blink. The current was so stout that it set the central switchboard on fire and Mr. Culp had to hustlle to put the blaze out before it did serious damage. We have been informed that it also caused a little blaze in Dr. Mastin's office over Upchurch's Drug Store.



TRAIN NO. 1 WILL STOP

The effects of Clanton citizens before the Public Service Commission of Alabama recently has resulted in an order by the commission requiring the L. & N. R. R. to stop treir fast south bound train at this station. We suppose the order is to go into effect at once.

The petition to have No. 4 stop here was denied by the commission.

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Terrible Suffering From Headache, Sideache, Backache, and Weakness, Relieved by Cardui, Says This Texas Lady.

Gonzales, Tex.— Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days ...I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go...I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me.

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle...I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today. E 78

Relief for Torpid Livers and Habitual Constipation

The liver is the largest and most important organ in the body, and when the liver refuses to act, it causes constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, gas, sour stomach, bad breath, dysentery, diarrhoea, pains in back and under shoulder blades and under ribs on right side. These symptoms lead to colds, influenza or other serious troubles unless corrected immediately.

An inactive liver places an extra burden on the kidneys, which overtaxes them and causes the blood to absorb and carry into the system the impurities that the liver and kidneys have failed to eliminate.

When you treat the liver alone, you treat only a third of your trouble, and that is why you have to take purgatives every few nights. Calomel or other ordinary laxatives do not go far enough. If you would treat your kidneys and blood while treating the liver, you would put your entire system in order and frequent purgatives would then be unnecessary.

Dr. W. L. Hitchcock many years ago recognized these important facts, and after much study and research, compounded what is now known as Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney and Blood Powders, three medicines combined in one. This was the Doctor's favorite prescription for many years, being used by his patients with marked success. It is a harmless vegetable remedy that will not make you sick, and you may eat anything you like while taking it.

Get a large tin box from your druggist or dealer for 25 cents, under his personal guarantee that it will give relief, tone up the liver, stimulate the kidneys to healthy action and thereby purify the blood. Keep it in the home for ready use whenever any member of the family begins to feel "out of sorts." It will prove a household friend and a valuable remedy.

Blood Was Bad

A Prominent Georgian Suffered From Many Blood Troubles Until Relieved by Taking Ziron.

"I HAD been having rheumatism and feeling very muchly off for some time," says Mr. G. M. Tatum, of Cohutta, Ga.

"I began to have risings, or spring sores. I felt all run-down. I didn't feel like working. I didn't have any appetite, and when night came I was restless.

"I felt tired when I got up. I had a bad feeling all over.

"I knew by the sores that I had bad blood.

"I decided to take Ziron, as I heard that was what it was for—the blood.

"It certainly was just what I needed. The little boils began to dry up. My skin got clearer. I felt so much better, it seemed I could see better.

"I began to eat, and now I can hardly get enough. I feel like a different man.

"I certainly can and do recommend Ziron. I feel fine."

If you should fail to derive any benefit from your first bottle of Ziron, the druggist from whom you buy it will refund your money.

ALL HE COULD DO FOR HIM

According to This, Prospects of Thirsty Gent Getting a Drink Didn't Seem to Be Promising.

"How can I go about it to get a drink in this town?" asked a recently arrived gent, who looked as if he needed irrigation.

"Well," replied the landlord of the Petunia tavern, "I'll tell you what you might do: Go to the second corner up the street, pass around it and go to the alley about half-way, and you'll come to a gate standing open, a crack in a fence made out of old billboard lumber. Go in through the gate and along to a cellar back of the shanty standing in the lot, lift the cellar door and go down the steps, whistle three times, and a dirty feller will come with a lantern, and look you over and tell you that there ain't nothin' doing in this dod-blasted town since the blankity-blank prohibitionists got so sizzle-fired active. This is the best I can do for you, Mr. Dryer."—Houston Post.

Safe in Unsuspected Dangers.

Writing of accidents to persons employed in industrial plants, Dr. C. Widmer says in Therapie der Gegenwart (Berlin) that the experience of countless ages enables us to sidestep injury unconsciously, and only when we focus our consciousness on the reaction to the occurrence is injury liable to result.

And the man who breaks off a matrimonial engagement should be fined for contempt of court.

Analyzing Waste Food.

America leads all other nations in analyzing the value of the foods we eat and the best way to make them nourish us. Scientists have found that we often get little of the real value of our foods so that a great deal goes to waste. It is exactly as if we took just one squeeze out of a juicy orange and then threw it away. The new science has been developed largely since the outbreak of the war. Many interesting experiments have been carried on in Teachers' college in New York which are being watched by scientists all over the world. Some tests are made with white rats, others with human beings. The war department has utilized this information in fixing the rations for our soldiers. In a few years people will look back upon our wasteful, unscientific habits of today with amazement.—Boys' Life.

British Silver Currency.

Owing to the rise in the price of silver, the British government finds it impossible to mint silver coins except at a great loss, so it plans to reduce the fineness. Silver, which before the war cost less than 30 pence an ounce, now costs about 88 pence (respectively $0.60 and $1.76). The British money has been 0.925 fine; it is purposed to make it 0.500 fine in the future. With silver at present prices, the intrinsic value of a shilling 0.500 fine will be greater than that of a shilling 0.925 fine before the war.

Opinions and visits should never be forced upon people.

CONDENSED CLASSICS

THE ARABIAN NIGHTS

By the PRINCESS SHEHERAZADE

Condensation by Alfred S. Clark

The marvellous tales that Scheherazade told to King Shahriar, stories of love and adventure and mad magic cannot be attributed to any one author for the very good reason that there never was an author. They are popular stories that, perhaps about the year 1450, were put into the present form by a professional story-teller, presumably a Persian.

In primitive communities where few of the people can read, and where books are difficult to get, these professional readers are in great demand. They pick up here and there tales that appeal to all and bind them into a long narrative. Some people have thought that Homer's long poems originated in this way.

Everywhere in the near east the traveler finds these story-tellers today. An eager audience collects to hear them, each paying a small fee for the privilege of listening. The entertainer declaims as he walks to and fro and always stops his narrative just before an exciting climax, so that he will be assured of listeners on the morrow. His audience follows his recital with breathless interest, especially when he illustrates thrilling episodes with lively pantomime.

Year after year these groups of listeners gathered centuries ago. The story-teller discarded the tales that did not hold the attention of his listeners. Gradually the process of elimination went on until only the best were handed down by word of mouth from generation to generation. Then some unknown benefactor of mankind had them written down and connected them with the framework of Scheherazade and Shahriar. And these are the Arabian Nights that have delighted children and grown men and women for decades.

SHEHERAZADE was a vizier's daughter and when she besought her father to wed her to King Shahriar it was cause for grief to the vizier. For each day was it Shahriar's wont to put to death his bride of the day before. It befell, however, that Sheherazade had her will. As she had hoped, the king was wakeful and to beguile him she began a story of magic. Dawn broke before she had finished and so eager was Shahriar to hear it all that he gave no order for her execution.

For a thousand and one nights did this befall while Sheherazade told tales of love, war and sorcery, of kings, beggars and rogues, of lands where diamonds were more plentiful than pebbles and bigger than eggs, of intrigues in the lanes and bazaars of Oriental cities. In towns and deserts and far islands did necromancers work their wills. Horses flew; dogs talked; mermaidens and creatures greater than whales peopled the deeps; ogres and enormous apes crept out of forests; birds so great that their wings darkened the day swooped from the skies. Here, too, were lovers in palaces and hovels, bold and cowardly, yet all so enamored that they swooned at the very thought of the beloved. Underlying all was the colorful Orient, with barbers and porters jostling caliphs and princesses in the thronged and picturesque lanes of three cities whose very names conjure up romance—Bagdad, Cairo and Damascus.

Now these are the best liked of Sheherazade's tales:

The Story of Aladdin's Lamp.

Of Aladdin, son of a poor tailor in China, a prankish scamp. An African magician guided him to a subterranean cave where he found the lamp that summoned the genie. Out of nothingness did this genie spread banquets for Aladdin and robe him in rich raiment. He provided him retinues of slaves, bearing basins heaped high with precious stones, who carried to the king Aladdin's suppliance for the hand of the beautiful Princess Badroulboudour. In a night did the genie raise a palace of glowing wonders, of shining marble and gold and silver, with windows incrusted with diamonds, emeralds and rubies, with fragrant gardens and open courts. So Aladdin married the princess and they knew great joy. But the magician returned, stole the lamp and in a trice transported the palace and the princess to Africa. Then was Aladdin woeful, but by magic he found his beloved, poisoned the magician, seized the lamp and came to China, where he and Badroulboudour lived happily ever afterward.

The Story of Sinbad.

Of Sinbad the sailor and his marvelous voyages. Wherein it is related that Sinbad landed upon what seemed an island but which was a great fish that sank into the sea. And of other voyages and greater wonders, of which one marvels most at the adventure with the roc, the bird so huge that it feeds its young with elephants. Sinbad had fastened himself to the roc's leg and it bore him to an impenetrable valley strewn with precious stones from which he escaped by binding himself to a sheep's carcass and was borne away by a vulture. And of the giant who roasted men and whom Sinbad blinded with a red-hot iron. And of the terrible Old Man of the Sea who sat upon Sinbad's shoulders and could not be shaken off until he was intoxicated with wine and Sinbad slew him.

The Story of the Forty Thieves.

Of Ali Baba and his discovery of the stone that swung wide when a voice cried "Open, Sesame!" In the cave was the booty of forty thieves and Ali Baba took home sacks bulging with gold and silver. The robbers traced him and in the guise of a merchant the captain lodged with him. In the yard were stored great jars, one filled with oil and the others concealing the thieves. Ill would it have fared with Ali Baba had not Morgiana, a cunning slave, detected the trick and with boiling oil scalded to death the wicked miscreants. The captain escaped, but returned in a new disguise and again did Morgiana save her master by stabbing his enemy. So Ali Baba married her to his son and he lived joyously upon treasures from the cave.

Many Other Fascinating Stories.

Of the Magic Horse of ebony and ivory, so fashioned that its rider, by pressing divers buttons, could fly whither he willed. It bore a Persian prince to a great palace in a metropolis girt about with greenery. There he looked into the eyes of a princess and they were enraptured. It befell that they rode away on the Magic Horse, but before they were wed an evil man abducted the princess. The disconsolate prince wandered far and at last he found her whom he loved and again they journeyed through the air to his home, where they were married with exceeding pomp and lived happily.

Of a poor fisherman who drew his net from the sea and found therein but a brass bottle. He cut open the top and there streamed forth a cloud of smoke. It collected and, behold! it was a genie, so huge that his head was in the clouds. He would have killed his rescuer had not the wily fisherman insisted that never could he have come from the bottle. The silly genie squeezed himself inside, whereupon the fisherman clapped on the top, nor would he remove it until the genie swore to serve him faithfully. This oath it was that led to the finding of the ensorcelled prince with legs turned to stone and the lake wherein swam fish of four colors that had once been men. After marvelous happenings the prince was made as other men and the fish were men and women. And the fisherman was so rewarded that he was the wealthiest man of his time.

Of Prince Camaralzaman and the Princess Badoura, beautiful beyond compare, and of how each saw the other in sleep and was smitten with great love. But when they awakened they saw not one another for they had been brought together by genii who had carried Badoura out of China to the confines of Persia. Grief so afflicted both that they sickened and were insane from sorrow. Then a messenger from Badoura journeyed far over land and sea until he found Camaralzaman and returned with him to China, where the lovers were wedded. But while they were traveling to Camaralzaman's land he wandered away. Badoura dressed herself in his raiment and passed herself for a man. It befell that she found favor in the eyes of a king and was married to a princess. And Camaralzaman too came to this land and knew not his wife, who heaped honors upon him. At last she revealed herself and was known as a woman and Camaralzaman took also to wife the princess whom Badoura had married and they were happy together.

Of a merchant who, awaiting death at the hands of a cruel genie, was joined by three old men, one leading a gazelle, another two black hounds, and the third a mule. Now it is related that the gazelle and the mule had been wicked wives transformed by magic and likewise had the hounds been evil brothers. When the genie was told these stories of enchantment, he was so diverted that he spared the merchant's life.

About Harun-al-Rashid.

And of many tales concerning the Caliph Harun-al-Rashid and his going disguised into the lanes and bazaars of Bagdad, where he chanced upon strange people who told him strange stories of magic. Once he supped with three ladies of dazzling beauty and with him were a porter dazed with the magnificence he saw and three mendicants, sons of kings, all blind in the left eye. Not knowing the Caliph they told of their fantastic adventures and sufferings and he rewarded them. And again he encountered a beggar who implored him to strike him, a youth who spurred cruelly a mare upon which he rode and a rope-maker who had risen suddenly from poverty to affluence. Their tales too did he hear and them too did he reward. Nor should Abu-Hassan, the wag, be forgotten, whose trickery in pretending that he and his wife were dead won so much gold and so many laughs from the Caliph. And of like import is the mad tale of the humpback who seemed dead and of the talkative barber who restored him to life, of all those who had believed themselves murderers of the humpback and of the amazing tales that they related.

So it came to pass that by the end of the thousand and one nights Shahriar was so delighted in the cleverness of Sheherazade that he wedded her again with regal pomp and they lived happily ever after.

ORCHARD GLEANINGS

SPRAYING IN PRACTICAL WAY

Most Important of All Orchard Work—Increases Yield and Improves Quality of Fruit.

Spraying is the most important work of all in an orchard. Without it, fruit is too wormy and scabby to be placed to advantage on the big markets of the world.

Spraying is a "messy" job, and it takes several years' experience to learn how to do it in the most practical way on your own place, but it is worth while to learn. Sprayed apple trees yield from two to four bushels more per tree, and the fruit is so much nicer that it sells for two or three times as much. The net profits from spraying are usually enough to pay not only for all labor, spraying materials, etc., but often for the entire cost of the sprayer in one year. One thing is certain, though: it is foolish to spray if you do not intend to harvest the apples carefully next fall. Spraying seems to be much more worth while with winter varieties of apples than with summer varieties.

Fig. No. 1.

If you wish to experiment with spraying, first get a spray pump. There are many different kinds of outfits put out on the market. The small hand and knapsack sprayers cost only a few dollars; barrel sprayers cost perhaps $30 or $35, and power sprayers cost several hundred dollars.

The practical materials with which to spray are lime-sulphur and arsenate of lead. As a matter of experiment, use a commercial lime-sulphur as already prepared by one of the standard manufacturers of spraying materials. Use about one gallon of this and two pounds of arsenate of lead to 45 gallons of water.

The most important spraying of all is just after the blossoms have fallen, as shown in Fig. No. 2. A careful spraying at this time will do more to keep worms out of apples than all the other sprayings put together. Just after the blossoms fall, the codling moth lays its eggs at the blossom end of the green apple. If this blossom end of every green apple is filled up with spray poison, the small worms which hatch from the codling moth eggs die as they attempt to gnaw their way into the apples. The object of this spraying, therefore, is to get as much spray as possible into the ends of the green apples. Make the spraying as soon as possible after the blossoms fall, because after a few days the green sepals begin to turn inward and it becomes difficult to cover them with spray.

While the spraying given just after the blossoms have fallen is by all odds the most important, careful sprayers give three others. The first of these is in the early spring, just as the flower buds are swelling and first beginning to show pink. Never spray after the blossoms begin to open. The second spraying is that described in the preceding paragraph, just after the blossoms have fallen. The third spraying is about two weeks after the blossoms have fallen. The fourth spraying is about ten weeks later. In every case, use the mixture of lime-sulphur and lead arsenate with water. The lead arsenate is to circumvent the worms, while the lime-sulphur is to combat such fungus diseases as scab, blotch, etc.

Fig. No. 2.

Time for Second and Most Important Spraying.

The spraying of cherries, plums, etc., is practically the same as for apples. However, spraying of these fruits does not seem quite so important as with apples.

GOOD REASONS FOR SPRAYING

Treated Trees Develop Faster and Live Longer Than Those Unsprayed—Fruit Is Better.

It pays to spray trees for several reasons. Sprayed trees develop faster and live longer than unsprayed trees. It is not uncommon for sprayed orchards to return a yield of fruit of which 95 per cent is sound. On the other hand only 15 per cent of sound fruit is harvested from unsprayed orchards.

DODSON WARNS CALOMEL USERS

It's Mercury! Attacks the Bones, Salivates and Makes You Sick.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you. —Adv.

That Black-Draught Is Excellent for Stomach and Liver Disorders, Hence Its Great Popularity.—Mississippi Planter's Indorsement.

Houston, Miss.—Mr. J. A. Trenor, a well-known planter of this place, recently related his experience in using Thedford's Black-Draught. I don't believe there is a better liver medicine made," said Mr. Trenor. "I use it for headache, stomach disorders and torpid liver.

"It is not bad to take, does not leave a constipated condition, as so many of the liver pills and medicines do. It does its work and leaves you feeling like a new person."

Thousands of others have found Black-Draught as helpful as Mr. Trenor describes, and a valuable remedy for derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. It is purely vegetable, having an active effect upon the bowels, gently stimulating the liver, and helping to increase the flow of bile.

Black-Draught has been found to assist in the digestion of food, and relieves constipation in a prompt and normal way.

On account of Black-Draught's long-proved merit and immense popularity, many imitations are being offered for sale. For your own satisfaction it will pay you to insist upon the genuine, and be sure the package bears the name "Thedford's Black-Draught."

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

Mrs. J. Christman Proved That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a Remedy for this Trouble.

Binghamton, N. Y.—"I was in a very nervous condition for over a year, my mind was gloomy, could see no light on anything, could not work and could not have anyone to see me. Doctor's medicine did not help me and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended. I took it and am now well. I recommend it to all afflicted with nervous prostration."—Mrs. J. CHRISTMAN, 193 Oak Street, Binghamton, New York.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from nervous prostration, displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion and dizziness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

SUPPLY VARIETY IN FAMILY DIET

Eggs Are More Plentiful and Comparatively Reasonable in Price.

SOME NEW DISHES OUTLINED

They Furnish as Many Possibilities for Delectable Food for Luncheon or Supper as They Do for the Morning Meal.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Now that eggs are a little more plentiful and comparatively reasonable in price they can provide a welcome variation in the family diet. In many families eggs are seldom served except at breakfast, but they furnish just as many possibilities for delectable dishes for luncheon or supper as they do for breakfast. They can well take the place of a meat dish, for, like meat they furnish protein, fat, and mineral matter and the yolk is also a good source of vitamin. A few recipes for attractive dishes suitable to serve in place of meat for the midday or evening meal follow. These recipes were tested in the experimental kitchen of the United States department of agriculture.

Combinations of eggs with breadcrumbs, rice, or some starchy cereal to give body to the dish are always good.

Shirred Eggs With Rice.

Fill a baking dish half full of hot boiled rice. Break six eggs and carefully drop them in the rice, taking care not to break the yolks. Pour a cupful of cheese sauce over the eggs and rice and bake in a moderate oven until the whites of the eggs are set.

To make the cheese sauce: Melt one tablespoonful of butter and stir into it one tablespoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, and an eighth of a teaspoonful of white pepper. Add one cupful of cold milk, and stir over the flame until thick and creamy. Add four tablespoonfuls of grated cheese and stir until melted.

Creole Eggs.

Hard-cook six eggs.

Cook half cupful of washed rice in two quarts of boiling water containing one teaspoonful of salt.

Make a sauce in the following way: Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a skillet and add four tablespoonfuls of chopped onions. Cook until the onion is soft, but not brown. Add one and a half cupfuls of canned tomatoes and two finely-chopped green peppers, and half teaspoonful of salt. Cook for 15 minutes. Place a layer of boiled rice in a baking dish, cover with slices of hard-cooked eggs and cover the sliced eggs with creole sauce. Repeat until baking dish is full. Grate cheese over the top and bake for 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Eggs in Tomato Cups.

When fresh tomatoes are in season no more attractive way of serving eggs can be found than this.

Select the desired number of good-sized tomatoes, allowing one to each person. Cut off the blossom end, scoop out the seeds, and stand the tomatoes in a baking pan in the oven until they are partly cooked. Put a half teaspoonful of butter and a dusting of salt and pepper into the bottom of each and break in one egg. Place in the oven until the eggs are "set" to the desired hardness. Have ready a round of toasted bread well buttered, and place each tomato in the center of a round of toast. Serve hot.

Eggs Coddled in Tomato Sauce.

Make a tomato sauce by melting two tablespoonfuls of butter and stirring into it three tablespoonfuls of flour, half teaspoonful of celery salt, quarter teaspoonful of pepper, and two teaspoonfuls of salt. Strain two cupfuls of tomato pulp and juice through a sieve and add to the butter and flour. Cook until thickened. Place one-half of the tomato sauce in a baking dish, break six eggs, one at a time, and carefully slide each egg into the sauce, taking care not to break the yolks. Cover with the remaining sauce, sprinkle with grated cheese, and bake in the oven until the egg is set. It is well to serve each egg on a round of toasted bread, or each may be baked in an individual ramekin if preferred.

Eggs Coddled in Tomato Sauce Are Very Good and So Are Eggs in Tomato Cups.

PROPER WAY TO MIX INEXPENSIVE CAKES

Plenty of Eggs and Butter Are Chief Requisites.

Specialists in Home Economics Kitchen Have Been Making Extensive Experiments—How Best Results Are Obtained.

If your experience has been that cheap cakes have a poor flavor and a coarse texture it is because you have not been putting them together in the right way. An inexpensive cake requires careful mixing. No difficulty should be experienced in compounding a cake which is excellent in texture and has a delicious flavor when plenty of eggs and butter are available. It is when it is necessary to economize on these expensive materials that the cook who is not skillful has her troubles.

Food specialists in the home economics kitchen of the United States department of agriculture have been making extensive investigations in cake baking, especially in the baking of one-egg cakes. Their experiments with cheap cakes show that the best results are obtained when the batter is beaten very little after the baking powder is added and when the cake is baked in a very slow oven.

The recipe which was used in the experiments follows:

One-Egg Cake.

3 level tablespoons fat	1½ cups flour
½ cup granulated sugar	2½ teaspoons baking powder
1-3 to 2-3 cup milk	1 teaspoon vanilla
	1 egg

Cream fat and sugar together, add beaten egg and beat thoroughly. Then add flour and liquid alternately, about one-third of each at a time. Beat the batter thoroughly after all flour and liquid have been added. Vanilla may be added during this beating. Last of all scatter the baking powder over the surface of the batter and fold it in lightly with six or eight motions of the spoon so as to get it thoroughly mixed with every part of the batter. Do not beat the batter after adding the baking powder but turn it at once into a cake pan and bake.

This cake may be baked as cup cakes in muffin pans, or in layers, or in a loaf. If it is baked as a loaf of the size given above it should be put into a very slow oven, which is allowed to warm up gradually (280 to 375 degrees F. for one hour is suitable oven temperature). At the first trial one is more sure of success in baking the small cakes than the loaf.

The cake can be put together by other methods than the one described above. Any approved method may be selected, but the two points which give the most difficulty are the too vigorous beating of the batter after the baking powder has been added, and baking the loaf in too hot an oven.

If directions in the above recipe are carefully followed the resulting cake should be light, of even texture and uniform grain, tender and moist. It should not be coarse and muffin-like in texture, nor dry and compact.

Farm Live Stock

IMPROVE QUALITY OF STOCK

Tennessee Department of Agriculture Urges Breeders to Join Better Sires Crusade.

"Better sires—better stock.

"A nation-wide crusade to improve the quality of cattle, horses, mules, swine, sheep, goats, and poultry in the United States.

"Every Tennessean who believes in better live stock should join this movement, begun by the United States department of agriculture."

That is the first thing seen by the readers of the current issue of the Monthly Bulletin of the Tennessee department of agriculture.

"It means the passing of the scrub," the Bulletin continues.

"It means greater success in livestock production and consequently greater prosperity for the people.

"Good-bred stock will outsell the scrub every time.

"If you want better stock consult the county agent in your own county or else write to the division of extension, Knoxville, Tenn.

"Now is the time to put Tennessee on the live-stock map.

"If you believe in better live stock and poultry join this movement. Tennessee has natural advantages for wonderful live-stock development, but the 'better sires' crusade will do much to hurry along this development."

BEEF PRODUCED FOR FAMILY

More Is Bought From Village Butcher Than Is Raised on Farm—Little Veal Killed.

The farmer buys more beef than he takes from the farm. Only about 10 per cent of meat furnished by the average farm is beef. In the north and west the average consumption of beef per family is nearly 300 pounds and in the south it is less than 100 pounds, according to the United States department of agriculture.

The beef animal killed for home use may be a beef steer or an unprofitable cow, or a heifer that does not promise to be a good producer and would not bring a good price for beef on the market. Very little veal is killed on the farm for home use. Much of the beef bought by farmers is bought in the summer from village butchers who operate meat wagons or cars in the country. On the average farm there are no facilities for keeping fresh meat during warm weather.

A Steer, An Unprofitable Cow or a Poor Looking Heifer May Be Used for the Family Table.

PLAN TREATMENT OF LAMBS

Attention Attracted in Many Localities to Value of Docking and Castrating Lambs.

The value of castration and docking of buck lambs destined for market is attracting attention in many localities where the practice has not been generally followed. In Braxton county, W. Va., for example, the farm bureau plans a demonstration of the value of castration and docking by sending to market one carload of buck lambs that have not been thus treated and at the same time a carload of buck lambs that have been docked and castrated. The prices will be compared, and a forceful object lesson is expected. Farmers in Gilmer county, of the same state, expect to dock and castrate all their buck lambs in the coming year.

Failure to follow this practice generally is regarded by officials of the Bureau of Animal Industry, United States department of agriculture, as a weak point in agriculture, and they recommend the practice to all farmers.

Little Jimmy's Answer to Leading Question Distinctly in Nature of a Compromise.

Aunt Marie was very good, indeed, to her five-year-old nephew, James. She gave him everything his little heart desired. But still she was often inclined to tease him and whenever he showed resentment she teased him still further by threatening to take away something she had given him.

The other night she began her usual teasing, taking for the subject herself and her charms. "Why, Jimmie thinks I'm a wonder," and she turned to little James provokingly and asked: "Don't you think I'm pretty? Don't you think I'm good?"

The little fellow was disturbed. He wanted to tell the truth, and he also wanted to keep auntie's favor. Finally he found his tongue. "Well, I do fink you're pretty good," he said truthfully.

EVIDENTLY HE WASN'T READY

Colored Driver Didn't Wait to See Who It Was That Had a Desire for Him.

While visiting in Nashville, Tenn., my ventriloquist son and I hired a car and driver for a sightseeing tour, writes a correspondent. In leaving the city we passed a private cemetery where the gravestones were close to the road, and I noticed that our driver put on speed and rolled his eyes toward the spooky-looking plot.

I was startled myself to hear an unearthly groan come seemingly from beneath the nearest stone, but turned in time to watch my son grinning before the colored driver put on a burst of speed that nearly threw us out. Then came another groan that seemed to come from the seat next the driver, and a deep voice that said: "Boy, I want you."

That was just before we went over an embankment, and our driver lit running in the road. It was an hour after he disappeared in the distance before we caught a ride back to the city.

SOCIETY AND PERSONALS

MRS. R. E. LUCKIE, Editor.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

One of the prettiest parties among the Juvenile set, was a birthday party given Monday evening, when Miss Sallie Johnson, the attractive daughter of Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Johnson, entertained in honor of her fourteenth birthday. The apartments of Mrs. Johnson's lovely home were lavishly decorated with baskets of garden flowers. The guests were received by little Misses Louise McSwain and Sammie Johnson, and conducted to a beautiful appointed table where delicious fruit punch was served by Misses Myra and Jean Johnson and Mary McSwain. A number of various games were played. A prize contest was also enjoyed and Miss Warrene Spigener displayed her genius and won the prize. The most interesting feature of the evening was cutting the birthday cake, which contained the various favors. The dining room was especially beautiful with its decorations of pink and white, carrying out a color scheme. Delicious ices and cake was served to about 25 guests. Miss Johnson received a number of lovely gifts from her friends. Each one at a late hour bade her good bye wishing that her birthday would come often.

FOR MRS. NICHOLSON

Among the many social functions given for Mrs. George Nicholson of Abbeville, who is the guest of Mrs. R. E. Luckie, was a pretty luncheon given Monday by Mrs. J. Watts Moore at her home. Mrs. Moore's lovely home was attractively decorated with roses and Easter lillies. Delightful Victrola music was enjoled in the forenoon. The centerpiece of the dining table was a cut glass basket of sweet peas and maiden hair fern. Covers were laid for eight. In the afternoon they all motored out to Mims' Swimming Pond.

The guests who enjoyed this delightful day were Mesdames George Nicholson, R. E. Luckie, Hugh Simpson, T. C. McSwain, Macy Jones, Misses Irene Giddens, and Kathleen Mullins and Mr. and Mrs. Moore.

LANDE-MARGOLIS WEDDING

Mr. Maurice Lande left Clanton on Tuesday morning for Dawson Springs Kentucky to join his bride, Miss Sadie Margolis. After a short stay at Dawson Springs they will return to Nashville, where they will be married on June 27th. After the wedding they will go north on their honeymoon trip visiting the cities of Cincinnatti, Chicago, and other points on the Great Lakes.

They will return to Clanton some time in July, and will be at home at the Wilson Hotel.

Mr. Lande is a young business man of Clanton, one of the proprietors of the New York Store. He came here last fall and started in business and since that time has grown in the favor and confidence of the people of this section. He is one of the most genial kind of young men and has made many friends while here.

As he left Tuesday to claim the young lady of his choice for life he carried with him showers of congratulations and best wishes from his friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lande will be received joyfully by their friends here on their return.

Mrs. W. C. White of Mt. Creek was the guest of Mrs. M. L. White the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong motored to Birmingham Sunday, returning Tuesday.

SPEND-THE-DAY-PARTY

Mrs. T. C. McSwain proved a most charming hostess last Saturday when she entertained at a spend-the-day party, in honor of Mrs. George Nicholson of Abbeville and Miss Irene Giddens of Montgomery. Mrs. McSwain's home was made bright with roses of wasturtinnery exported plants. At the noon hour the guests were invited into the dining room, where covers were laid for twelve, the centerpiece of the table was an immense cut glass vase filled with crimson dahlias and fern. A most sumptuous four course dinner was served. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. R. E. Luckie. The guests were the honorees, Mesdames Guy Roberts, Watts Moore, Hugh Simpson, Macy Jones, John Armstrong, Clyde Jones, R. E. Luckie, Herbert Allen of Birmingham and Mrs. McSwain.

THEATRE PARTY

Mrs. George Polk entertained a number of the younger set on Friday evening at a Theatre Party at the Ideal, to see "Pollyanna," for her little niece, Miss Jimmy Polk of Columbiana. After the show the party was invited to Upchurch's Drug Store where refreshing ices were served to Misses Gladys Nix, Gladys Kemp, Helen Copeland, Sarah Mullins, Sophia Mullins, Cathryn and Evelyn White of Birmingham, Lula Sanford, Ruby Armstrong and Jimmy Polk.

Master William Simpson left Tuesday to visit relatives in Montgomery.

Mrs. R. E. Luckie and children left Tuesday for Montgomery, where the children will visit their grandmother, Mrs. Gaadwyn, while Mrs. Luckie will visit her sister, Mrs. Clarke Harper of Columbus, Ga.

Misses Jim and Sunset Polk of Columbiana are visiting Mrs. Geo. Polk.

PICNIC OF MISSIONARY SOCIETY

About forty members of the Junior Missionary Society enjoyed an unusually enjoyable outing on last Wednesday when Mrs. Simpson entertained at a swimming party and picnic at Gore's Creek. A neat little sum was realized from the opening of the Mite Boxes.

Miss Lessie Reynolds and Miss Willie Belle Sartor will leave Tuesday for Lafayette. Miss Sartor will assist Rev. Hubbard during a meeting with the singing.

MESDAMES JONES & JONES

Among the enjoyable social functions of the week was a picture show party given by Mrs. Macy Jones and Mrs. Clyde Jones complimenting two attractive visitors. Mrs. George Nicholson of Abbeille and Miss Irene Giddens of Montgomery. After enjoying "The Last Princess" at the Ideal Theatre the guests were invited to the Alred Drug Store, where tempting ices were served to Mesdames McSwain, Luckie, N. S. Johnson, G. O. McKee, Elna Roberts, Guy Roberts, Watts Moore, John Armstrong, Mallie Whote, G. H. Nicholson, Mrs. E. C. Maye and Misses Giddens, Mabel Thomas and French Evans.

Misses Evelyn and Kathryn White returned to their home in Birmingham after a most delightful visit to their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. White.

Mrs. Clark Harper was among the visitors to Clanton Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. White entertained at a spend-the-day party last Saturday, honoring their charming little nieces, Misses White of Birmingham. In the forenoon they motored out to Mims Pond where they enjoyed swimming until noon, when they were driven to the home of Mr. and Mrs. White, where a most delightful four course dinner was served. In afternoon music, games and motoring was thoroughly enjoyed. Those included in Mrs. White's hospitality were Misses Sallye Johnson, Willer Dean Reynolds, Gladys Mae Nix, Dorothy Stewart of Birmingham and Evelyn and Kathryn White of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton W. Askins and children of Sylacauga have been visiting relatives in Clanton the past week. Mr. Askins went from here to Mobile to attend the Association of Alabama Druggists, from which he will return to his work in Sylacauga.

Mrs. George Nicholson of Abbeville, was the week-end visitor of Mrs. R. E. Luckie.

Mr. Charles Moore left Thursday for a visit to Mrs. Amzi Gowan in Brewton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Parrish motored from Birmingham Friday for a visit to Mrs. R. E. Luckie.

Mrs. C. C. Polk of Sylacauga and Mrs. Emmett Jones of Birmingham visited Mrs. Geo. Polk during the past week.

Miss Roberta Curry left Sunday for a few weeks stay at Cooling, to visit Mrs. Mary Lane VanDerveer.

Mrs. Macy Jones has as her guest for the week her sister, Miss Irene Giddens of Montgomery.

DON'T BE AFRAID OF THE GRADE!
IF YOU'VE GOT "GREEN FLAG"

"Take the Hills" Without "Heating Up"

With "GREEN FLAG" Motor Oil in the crank case you don't have to wear a worried look when you strike a steep grade. The "GREEN FLAG" keeps the engine cool because it is a TRUE LUBRICANT—not "just a motor oil." It does not break down under the terrific heat that would be generated by the use of ordinary oils, which are temporary in service, and jeapordize the life of your motor. Green Flag Motor Oil is the supreme test of efficiency in Lubricants. It carries the full integrity of its value to the last drop.

It increases the power and improves the performance of your motor. "Picks up" quicker, runs smoother and quieter, and MANY MORE MILES to the gallon. Thus you have QUALITY, PROTECTION and ECONOMY in "GREEN FLAG" Motor Oil.

To understand its superior qualities and its economy, you must give "GREEN FLAG" a try-out. It costs no more to do this than to buy any other recognized Motor Oil.

Do this! Go to the "GREEN FLAG" dealer and have your crank case drained, and re-filled with "GREEN FLAG".

Then drive over some familiar, oft-traveled route, and make note of the thrilling difference in the operation and power of your car. You will be amazed at the improvement, and mighty glad there is such a good oil made for you to use.

VOLUME IX. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALABAMA, JUNE 24, 1920. NUMBER 13.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

At the morning hour last Sunday the church in regular conference engaged Mr. J. E. Greene of Birmingham as the architect for the new church building, and the tentative plans of the building were adopted. Mr. Greene will begin at once to draw up the specifications and plans so that the work may continue as rapidly as possible. The contract that we must enter into with the architect will necessitate some money being paid in on the notes that fall due on July 1, and we trust that all whose notes fall due then will make an effort to meet them. In the course of a few days the picture of the proposed building will be on exhibition at the drug store.

The services last Sunday were well attended with something like 150 people present at night. We appreciate very much the large attendance of the public. Services will be held on next Sunday as usual, all of them will begin promptly on time.

A splendid attendance of the B. Y. P. U. was present last Sunday night and the Union re-organized with Prof. J. L. Johnson elected as President. The groups were also organized and a contest announced between the four groups for the best attendance, most new members, number of daily bible readings, all of which will be added together and the best general average will decide which group wins the contest. It is now the desire of the union to reach the A-1 standard.

We regret to have to announce that Dr. L. C. Woolfe has notified us that owing to illness it will be impossible for him to be with us in July for a meeting. We are still making an effort to secure him for a later date in the summer if possible. This may necessitate the postponment of our meeting, so further announcements will be made as soon as possible. Meanwhile we will push ahead with the building enterprise with a hearty co-operation of all who can to help us.

Everybody is invited to our services where we have good preaching, congregational singing and a hearty welcome to all.

P. G. CARTER, Pastor.

WESSINGTON

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your most valuable paper to say the health here is good at present, and the crops are looking fine. Also the sawmill whistles are blowing on every side and they seem to be in a prosperous way.

I am requested to announce that there will be preaching services in the grove at Wessington Station the 4th of July, conducted by Robert Sturdivant, a young man just 16 years of age. He has just started out in religious life and we bid him God speed in the way he has started.

Everybody is invited to come and bring your baskets well filled, as this is intended as a reunion of the Pierce family, related to Robert Sturdivant.

I thank yor for the space, Mr. Editor, and wishing you much success with your paper, I will close,

W. F. THOMPSON.

Uncle Dock Wells went to Baker Schoolhouse last Sunday and took in the old time singing. He had a mighty fine time, but from the best we are able to learn, Uncle Dock can't decide which was the best the singing or the dinner. Uncle Dock being a preacher of course landed right in the middle of the first chicken pie that was put on the table.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION TO BE AT COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

The next session of the Chilton County Singing Convention is to be held at the County High School building in Clanton on the Third Sunday in July (18th).

Mr. J. Monroe Smith, the secretary of the Convention, and other local promoters of the cause of music in the county, are busy getting details in shape for the coming event which will no doubt be made one of the best in the history of the organization.

Such reputed singers as Patton, Merritt and others, will be here to add the great force of their presence to the occasion. At that time Prof. Patton will be teaching a school at Liberty Hill and he will be here with his entire class from that place.

Prof. Merrtt will be remembered by those who attended the special session of the convention at the high school last November. He was there and his directing caught up a most hearty response from all who heard him.

STEEL IS VITAL IN MOTOR CARS

"Few people realize the important part steel plays in modern automobile manufacturing," says Downs Hdwe. Co., local dealer in Chevrolet passenger and commercial cars.

"Steel forms the backbone of each automobile as well as the mainstay of its vital parts. It enters into the construction of the frame, axles, shafts, motor and other units which are subject to the severest strains.

"Upon the quality of the steel used in these parts, important things depend. It is responsible in great measure for strength and long wearing qualities. The safety and comfort of passengers depend upon it. The medium weight desibn that makes the up-to-date car so economical to operate, is based on the strength of the highest grade steel.

"Steel is made from wrought iron by the use of carbon. The amount of carbon used determines its toughness, brittleness and strength.

"Other substances such as mangenese, chrome, nickle and tungsten give the steel special characteristics for different uses. When these are added their properties are developed by heat treatment.

"In modern automobile factories where quantity production warrants the use of the finest equipment, every facility is employed to insure just the right quality in the steel used.

"Only the best steel obtainable is bought. Scientific ovens are used, and special laboratories are maintained where a complete staff of metallurgical and chemical experts keep constant watch over every phase of the steel's development."

MEDITATIONS OF HAMBONE

Hambone is a philosophical old-time negro humorist, whose picture appears every day in the Birmingham News, accompanied by one of his pithy sermonettes which he calls his "meditations." About the best one he has put out appeared Monday, in the following words:

"W'en you heahs a man runnin' down he own neighbor-hood, he mos' en gin'ally right bout hit—hit ain' hardly a fittin place t' lib in wid a man lak dat in it!"

There is more truth than humor in the above saying, and we take pleasure in reproducing it for the benefit of some of our worthy (?) citizens whom the description very aptly fits.

Dr. J. P. Crumpton and P. D. Wilson motored down to Montgomery on Tuesday morning, returning in the afternoon.

CHILTON COUNTY IS PROUD OF ALABAMA POWER CO.

We are the Center of this Company's Great Distributing System that Carries Electrical Energy to All Parts of the State.

Coincident with the coming of the Alabama Power Company operations to Clanton and other extensions they are making from Lock 12 to different parts of the state, we feel that a brief study of this great enterprising concern and their methods and purposes will be an interesting diversion for our readers. Hence, we take pleasure this week in presenting you our own story of what the Alabama Power Company has done and is planning to do in their own particular field of industry.

In the first place the people of Chilton County have a claim to pride in the Alabama Power Company that no other people can boast of yet. Our county contains the site of their big Lock 12 hydro-electric plant and we may feel that out from our county goes the great streams of electric energy generated by Lock 12 and turning the wheels of industry and commerce in forty towns and cities scattered over the breadth of our great state. Can we not then justly say that we are proud of this great industrial organization which has the heart of its great system located in our midst?

Since the Alabama Power Company began in 1912 to develop the latent possibilities for power on the Coosa River at Lock 12 there have been many things which our people here in the county and other parts of the state have learned about their operations. But those things were and are patent facts which anyone with an oberving eye might absorb. But there is behind this great company a wonderful purpose which makes its future hold immense things in its store for Alabama, and there are many latent purposes and moving powers of this great company that outshine the patent facts which we may pick up here and there from one or another.

The Alabama Power Company was incorporated in 1906, under the laws of the State of Alabama, and serves, directly and indirectly, a population estimated to be over 550,000 located in central and northern Alabama. The company does, directly all the electric light and power business in some 40 cities and towns, and the street railway business in three cities. It furnishes all the current used by the Birmingham Railway, Light and Power Company, in Greater Birmingham and Bessemer, and by the Montgomery Light and Water Power Company in Montgomery, and all the current used by the local public service companies in Tuscaloosa and Alexander City. A number of large industrial power consumers are also served by the Company, including ore mines, steel mills, marble quarries, brick plants, cement mills, cotton mills, etc.

The property of the Company includes a 90,000 horsepower water power plant, one of the largest in the South—the capacity of this plant will later be increased to 110,000 horsepower. Two reserve steam turbine plants, one of 15,000 horsepower and one of 35,000 horsepower, together with a comprehensive transmission system af about 1,000 miles. The Company also control additional water power sites which it plans to develop.

This company is engaged in the manufacture and supply to its consumers of a necessity of everyday life—electricity. It is a company of commercial stability and of strength, backed by stores of wealth and guided by the smoothest minds that the commercial world can furnish. It is here to stay. The properties of this great company are dug, spiked and cemented into our ground, and so long as time shall last we may proudly hail their momentous structures and natural developments as a part of our own great county.

This company, by the general utility of their product, serve whole communities, towns and cities, in a variety of useful ways. We are indeed very proud to say that Clanton is among the towns that are served. It has become impossible to destroy the demand for their services without destroying the towns and cities they serve. Does not this fact then argue for the future of the Alabama Power Company as a permanent driving force for the industry and commerce of our great state?

Even now, after only seven years of successful operation, the Alabama Power Company enjoys the highest standing among all the great industries of the state, of which it has in this short time grown to be the most important. None exceed it in contibuting to the growth and upbuilding of the state. It is largest in service to the people of Alabama.

But the Alabama Power Company is a going growing concern, and well may we expect it to contain in its future, developments that mean much to Alabama. It is actually the commercial and industrial heart of the state, generating right here in Chilton County, the most powerful force known to man, and distrubuting it over about two-thirds of Alabama; turning the wheels of enormous factories, lighting great cities and small hamlets, transporting thousands of people to and fro, and performing myriads of other tasks, untiringly, increasingly, day after day, night after night, relieving mankind of much hard toil. These things all are done by the thundering waters of the Coosa as they rush through the great gates at Lack 12 turning the mighty turbines, generating 90,000 horsepower of electricity and passing on in their mad rush to the sea.

In no other state has nature so bounteously bestowed her blessings in such a great variety of natural resources as in Alabama. Her wonderful climate and fertile soil bring forth every kind of agricultural produce; her prodigious stores of coal, iron ore and limestone are found side by side and her rivers will, when further developed, furnish more of that mysterious energy of such stupendous power—electricity.

The Alabama Power Company has already developed part of the state's water power. The most important is the great power station, Lock 12, located on the Coosa River. This makes it possible to turn the wheels of factories without their having boilers and engines, without the burning of a single pound of coal. Picture this enormous saving and what it means. The average family consumes about 8 tons of coal a year. A steam generating plant whose capacity is 90,000 horsepower, must burn over 1,200,000 tons of coal in a year, not to mention the labor and other coal required to bring it to the plant.

The Company has other splendid water power sites for development on the Tallapoosa River, the Coosa River, and Little Rover on top of Lookout Mountain.

The development of these water powers not only makes available large amounts of electrical energy, but also makes these rivers navigable. This is of great importance, as it provides another means of transporting not only the raw materials of our state, but the products of Alabama's mills, factories, etc. Damming these rivers holds back the waters, limiting flood damages, which occur on the rich bottom lands along these streams saving many thousands of dollars each year for the farmers of Alabama.

The Alabama Power Company covers a large territory, and is not dependent upon any particular line of industry of business for its revenues. Its vast system and organization is burdened to its utmost to keep pace with the amazing growth of homes, stores, factories, foundries, railroad shops, mills, mines, machine shops, cement plants, brick plants, quarries, cotton mills, cotton gins, graphite plants, fertilizer plants, public railway, and an endless army of others in the territory it serves. To meet this great expansion, the Company must harness the undeveloped water power of the extensive properties that it has in reserve.

The future of Alabama is great because of the plans that are being formulated by this master industry, the Alabama Power Company. They plan to extend their present operations to other fields, and to open up other operations in new sites. There is now a chance for anyone who wishes to buy stock in this Company, and it is certainly a splendid thing in which to invest your money. It has the distinct advantages of being a company with a certainly active future. There is no doubt but their product will be more in demand ten years hence than now; and it is a good company founded on sound business foresight and managed in the same conservative legitimate way.

There are men of means in Chilton County and in Clanton, who are constantly seeking a safe and sane place to invest their money, and we heartily commend the Alabama Power Company to their consideration.

Mr. Leonard Williams, a well known Clanton man, is the manager of the Clanton operations of the Company. Under his direction we are sure the city will get the maximum efficiency from the concern. Any business our citizens may have with the company will be cheerfully taken care of by Mr. Wililams, no matter what it is. He can wait on you with anything the company has to sell, from the smallest amount of electricity to the largest amount of stock in the company.

H. B. OLIVER SERIOUSLY ILL

Mr. H. B. Oliver of Verbena was carried to Birmingham last Saturday for an operation for appendicitis. At a late hour Wednesday afternoon we received the news that he was not expected to recover from the after effects of the operation. We hope this report is exaggerated, and that Mr. Oliver may be returned soon to his home and family and friends in Chilton County, restored to his health and vigor.

SHOULTS HAPPENINGS

Everyone was proud to see the rain last week; crops look so much better now.

Sunday was a very ugly day, but the inclement weather did not keep Miss Eva Hall and her Sunday School class from having their picnic. They had a nice time.

A larg congregation enjoyed an excellent sermon at Pleasant Hill Methodist Church last Sunday afternoon.

Miss Ollie Bearden from Maplesville motored out to Mr. John Ingram's last Saturday afternoon and carried Miss Myrtle, her cousin, home with her, and on Sunday Miss Myrtle, Miss Ollie and brother, Ruben, motored out to Miss Mae Hamrick's to eat a birthday dinner at the home.

Mrs. Jeff Ellis has returned to her home at Holt, Ala., accompanied by Miss Eva Hall. We are real sorry to see Miss Eva leave. We hope she will soon return. She is a great help in Sunday School and we wish she would reconsider and come back.

Mrs. C. T. Walker and daughter, Allie, went to Centreville last Wednesday to visit her daughter, Mrs. T. C. Snead, and also went to do some shopping.

Mr. Chancey Bearden and Mr. Julian Nichols from Selma, motored up here to visit relatives last Sunday.

The stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawyer McGee last week and presented to them a fine baby girl.

Miss Birdie Hall returned to her work in Montgomery last Wednesday.

Miss Eliza Hall, deaf and dumb sister of Mrs. C. T. Walker, is making preperations to attend the deaf and dumb convention at Montgomery, July 1st, 2nd and 3rd. We hope she will get to go.

Canning time is at hand, the people here are all very busy, and especially the wise, preparing for next winter, when the days will be dark and cold, prices of eatables so high.

PLETCHER NEWS

A fire occurred in our town on last Monday night. The garage and black smith shop belonging to Carey Herrod was destroyed, also the grist mill belonging to Mr. W. T. Herrod, and one of the Wilson Brothers farm houses. Quite a bit of property was destroyed. Had the wind been from the north there would have been great danger for all the buildings in that row.

Miss Mary Belle O'Connor of Montgomery was the guest of Miss Louise Caldwell on Wednesday of last week.

Miss Elsie Caldwell has returned home from Prattville where she has been attending a house party given by Miss Myra Bell.

Little Miss Myrtle Rainwater, who has been visiting her grandparents, has returned to her home in Autaugaville.

Kate and Walter B. Mills, Jr., returned Sunday to their home in Birmingham, after a two-weeks visit with Mr. E. G. Caldwell and family.

Mr. E. O. Keen and little daughter of Sylacauga, have been visiting Mr. Keen's parents.

Mr. Clarence Minor left Friday for Birmingham.

Miss Eula Spain will arrive this week. While here she will be the guest of Miss Elsie Caldwell.

The boy scouts band of Clanton is getting in trim for the big day they plan to have here on July 3rd. Prof. Memoli, their efficient and unexcelled teacher from Birmingham, was here all day Tuesday instructing the boys for the music they will render on the 3rd.

PRESIDENT SIGNS THE WATER POWER DEVELOPMENT BILL

Way Now open for Development of Hydro-Electric Power on Coosa River in Chilton County.

Private enterprise may now go ahead with power development on Alabama's navigable waters. President Wilson has signed the water power bill.

Associated Press telegrams Friday announced this action. Private messages to the Alabama Power Company also brought the news.

Under conditions laid down in the water power bill private concerns may build power dams on navigable rivers one condition being that when the government calls for it the developing company must build locks in connection with the power development so as to enable navigation.

The immediate effect of the signing of the water power bill, in Alabama, will be automatic arrangement of plans by the Alabama Power Company for the building of another power dam on the Coosa River.

In all probality this dam will be located at Duncan's Riffle, about 18 miles south of Lock 12, where the company already has a dam generating 90,000 hydro-electric horse power. The dam at Duncan's Riffle is to be about as high as that at Lock 12, or about seventy feet, and will generate 100,0000 horse power.

The other sites on the Coosa which the company intends eventually to develop are at Lock 18 below Duncans Riffle, where a dam about as large as the others will be built to generate 75,000 horse power and one at Lock 7 above Lock 12, where 60,000 horse power will be generated.

Development of Coosa's power will not only furnish current for mines and cities, but the building of the three dams mentioned above and the three minor ones below Lock 18 by the government will do away with the Coosa Rapids and make that stream navigable the year 'round, from Rome Ga., to the gulf at Mobile. The Coosa Alabama will then be one great inland canal 847 miles long.

With the completed Coosa development and that of the Wilson dam at Florence, Ala., Alabama will have 830,000 hydro-electric horse power.

When it is realized that forty cities, several car lines, 35 coal mines, many cotton mills and graphite mills, and even steel mills are operated by the present supply of 90,000 horse power, the vista of what the complement of the Alabama scheme signifies it looms up broad to the point stupendous.

G.O.P. PLATFORM AS APPROVED BY NATIONAL BODY

PRINCIPLES OF PARTY CLEARLY SET FORTH AT CONVENTION HELD IN CHICAGO.

MANY VITAL ISSUES CITED

Unpreparedness for War, Agriculture, League of Nations Plank, the Mexican Situation, National Economy, High Cost of Living, Suffrage Amendment Among Foremost Topics.

The following is the complete platform adopted by the Republican national convention in Chicago:

The Republican party, assembled in representative national convention, reaffirms its unyielding devotion to the Constitution of the United States and to the guarantees of civil, political, and religious liberty therein contained. It will resist all attempts to overthrow the foundations of the government or to weaken the force of its controlling principles and ideals, whether these attempts be made in the form of international policy or domestic agitation.

For seven years the national government has been controlled by the Democratic party. During that period a war of unparalleled magnitude has shaken the foundations of civilization, decimated the population of Europe, and left in its train economic misery and suffering second only to war itself.

Unpreparedness for War.

The outstanding features of the Democratic administration have been complete unpreparedness for war and complete unpreparedness for peace.

Inexcusable failure to make timely preparation is the chief indictment against the Democratic administration in the conduct of the war. Had not our associates protected us, both on land and sea, during the final twelve months of our participation, and furnished us to the very day of the armistice with munitions, planes, and artillery, this failure would have been punished with disaster. It directly resulted in unnecessary losses to our gallant troops, in the imperilment of victory itself, and in an enormous waste of public funds literally poured into the breach created by gross neglect. Today it is reflected in our huge tax burden and in the high cost of living.

Unpreparedness for Peace.

Peace found the administration as unprepared for peace as war found it unprepared for war. The vital needs of the country demanded an early and systematic return to a peace time basis. This called for vision, leadership and intelligent planning. All three have been lacking. While the country has been left to shift for itself, the government has continued on a war time basis.

The administration has not demobilized the army of place holders. It continued a method of financing which was indefensible during the period of reconstruction. It has used legislation passed to meet the emergency of war to continue its arbitrary and inquisitorial control over the life of the people in time of peace, and to carry confusion into industrial life.

"Flounders Hopelessly."

Under the despot's plea of necessity or superior wisdom, executive usurpation of legislation and judicial functions still undermines our institutions. Eighteen months after the armistice, with its war-time powers unabridged, its war-time departments undischarged, its war-time army of place holders still mobilized, the administration continues to flounder helplessly.

The demonstrated incapacity of the Democratic party has destroyed public confidence, weakened the authority of government, and produced a feeling of distrust and hesitation so universal as to increase enormously the difficulties of readjustment and to delay the return to normal conditions.

Never has our nation been confronted with graver problems. The people are entitled to know in definite terms how the parties purpose solving these problems. To that end, the Republican party declares its policies and program to be as follows:

Constitutional Government.

We undertake to end executive autocracy and to restore to the people the constitutional government.

Congress and Reconstruction.

Despite the unconstitutional and dictatorial course of the president and the partisan obstruction of the Democratic congressional minority, the Republican majority has enacted a program of constructive legislation which, in great part, however, has been nullified by the vindictive vetoes of the president.

The Republican congress has met the problems presented by the administration unprepared for peace. It has repealed the greater part of the vexatious war legislation. It has enacted a transportation act, making possible the rehabilitation of the railroad system of the country, the operation of which under the present Democratic administration has been extravagant and wasteful in the highest degree. The transportation act made provision for the peaceful settlement of wage disputes, partially nullified, however, by the president's delay in appointing the wage board created by the act. This delay precipitated the outlaw railroad strike.

Legislation for the relief of the consumers of print paper, for the extension of the powers of the government under the food control act, for broadening the scope of the war risk insurance act, better provision for the dwindling number of aged veterans of the Civil war, and for the better support of the maimed and injured of the great war, and for making practical the vocational rehabilitation act that has been enacted by the Republican congress.

We passed an oil leasing and water power bill to unlock for the public good the great pent-up resources of the country; we have sought to check the profligacy of the administration, to realize upon the assets of the government, and to husband the revenues derived from taxation. The Republicans in congress have been responsible for cuts in the estimates for government expenditure of nearly $3,000,000,000 since the signing of the armistice.

We enacted a national executive budget law; we strengthened the federal reserve act, to permit banks to lend needed assistance to farmers; we authorized financial corporations to develop export trade, and, finally, amended the rules of the senate and house, which will reform evils in procedure and guarantee more efficient and responsible government.

Agriculture.

A large and contented body of farm proprietors is the backbone of the nation. National greatness and economic independence demand a population distributed between industry and the farm, and sharing on equal terms the prosperity which is wholly dependent on the efforts of both. Neither can prosper at the expense of the other without inviting joint disaster.

The crux of the present agricultural condition lies in price, labor, and credit.

The Republican party believes that this condition can be improved and agricultural production encouraged by the right to form co-operative associations for marketing their products subject to regulation by federal authority; the scientific study of agricultural prices, with a view to reducing the frequency of abnormal fluctuations; the authorization of associations for the extension of personal credit; a national inquiry on the co-ordination of rail, water, and motor transportation with adequate facilities for receiving, handling, and marketing food; the encouragement of our export trade, and the encouragement of the production and importation of fertilizing material and of its extensive use.

The federal farm loan act should be so administered as to facilitate the acquisition of farm land by those desiring to become owners and proprietors, and thus minimize the evils of farm tenantry.

Industrial Relations.

There are two different conceptions of the relations of capital and labor. The one is contractual, and emphasizes the diversity of interests of employer and employee. The other is that copartnership in a common task.

We recognize the justice of collective bargaining as a means of promoting good will, establishing closer and more harmonious relations between employers and employees, and realizing the true ends of industrial justice.

The strike or the lockout, as a means of settling industrial disputes, inflicts such loss and suffering on the community as to justify government initiative to reduce its frequency and limit its consequences.

We deny the right to strike against the government; but the rights and interests of all government employees must be safeguarded by impartial laws and tribunals.

Public Utilities.

In public utilities we favor the establishment of an impartial tribunal to make an investigation of the facts and to render a decison to the end that there may be no organized interruption of service necessary to the lives and health and welfare of the people. The decisions of the tribunals should be morally but not legally binding, and an informed public sentiment be relied on to secure their acceptance. The tribunals, however, should refuse to accept jurisdiction except for the purpose of investigation, as long as the public service be interrupted. For public utilities we favor the type of tribunal provided for in the transportation act of 1920.

In private industries we do not advocate the principle of compulsory arbitration, but we favor impartial commissions and better facilities for voluntary mediation, conciliation, and arbitration, supplemented by that full publicity which will enlist the influence of an aroused public opinion. The government should take the initiative in inviting the establishment of tribunals or commissions for the purpose of voluntary arbitration and of investigation of disputed issues.

We demand the exclusion from interstate commerce of the products of convict labor.

National Economy.

A Republican congress reduced the estimates submitted by the administration for the fiscal year 1920 almost three billion dollars, and for the fiscal year 1921 over a billion and a quarter dollars. Greater economies could have been effected had it not been for the stubborn refusal of the administration to co-operate with congress in an economy program. The universal demand for an executive budget is a recognition of the incontrovertible fact that leadership and sincere assistance on the part of the executive department are essential to effective economy and constructive retrenchment.

The Overman act invested the president of the United States with all the authority and power necessary to restore the federal government to a normal peace basis and to reorganize, retrench, and demobilize. The dominant fact is that eighteen months after the armistice the United States government is still on a wartime basis, and the expenditure program of the executive reflects wartime extravagance rather than rigid peace time economy.

Failure to Retrench.

As an example of the failure to retrench which has characterized the post-war policy of the administration, we cite the fact that, not including the war and navy departments, the executive departments and other establishments at Washington actually record an increase subsequent to the armistice of 2,184 employees. The net decrease in pay roll costs contained in the 1921 demands submitted by the administration is only 1 per cent under that of 1920. The annual expenses of federal operation can be reduced hundreds of millions of dollars without impairing the efficiency of the public service.

We pledge ourselves to a carefully planned readjustment to a peace-time basis and to a policy of rigid economy, to the better co-ordination of departmental activities, to the elimination of unnecessary officials and employees, and to the raising of the standard of individual efficiency.

An Executive Budget.

We congratulate the Republican congress on the enactment of a law providing for the establishment of an executive budget as a necessary instrument for a sound and businesslike administration of the national finances, and we condemn the veto of the president which defeated this great financial reform.

Reorganization of Federal Departments and Bureaus.

We advocate a thorough investigation of the present organization of the federal departments and bureaus, with a view to securing consolidation, a more businesslike distribution of functions, the elimination of duplication, delays, and overlapping of work, and the establishing of an up to date and efficient administrative organization.

War Powers of the President.

The president clings tenaciously to his autocratic war-time powers. His veto of the resolution declaring peace and his refusal to sign the bill repealing war-time legislation, no longer necessary, evidence his determination not to restore to the nation and to the states the form of government provided for by the Constitution. This usurpation is intolerable and deserves the severest condemnation.

Taxation.

The burden of taxation imposed upon the American people is staggering; but in presenting a true statement of the situation we must face the fact that while the character of the taxes can and should be changed, an early reduction of the amount of revenue to be raised is not to be expected. The next Republican administration will inherit from its Democratic predecessor a floating indebtedness of over $3,000,000,000, the prompt liquidation of which is demanded by sound financial considerations.

Reduction in Tax.

Moreover, the whole fiscal policy of the government must be deeply influenced by the necessity of meeting obligations in excess of $5,000,000,000 which mature in 1923. But sound policy equally demands the early accomplishment of that real reduction of the tax burden which may be achieved by substituting simple for complex tax laws and procedure, prompt and certain determination of the tax liability for delay and uncertainty, tax laws which do not for tax laws which do excessively mulct the consumer or needlessly repress enterprise and thrift.

We advocate the issuance of a simplified form of income return; authorizing the treasury department to make changes in regulations effective only from the date of their approval; empowering the commissioner of internal revenue, with the consent of the taxpayer, to make final and conclusive settlements of tax claims and assessments, barring fraud, and the creation of a tax board consisting of at least three representatives of the taxpaying public and the heads of the principal divisions of the bureau of internal revenue to act as a standing committee on the simplification of forms, procedure and law, and to make recommendations to the congress.

Banking and Currency.

The fact is that the war, to a great extent, was financed by a policy of inflation through certificate borrowing from the banks, and bonds issued at artificial rates sustained by the low discount rates established by the federal reserve board. The continuance of this policy since the armistice lays the administration open to severe criticism. Almost up to the present time the practices of the federal reserve board as to credit control have been frankly dominated by the convenience of the treasury.

The results have been a greatly increased war cost, a serious loss to the millions of people who in good faith bought Liberty bonds and Victory notes at par, and extensive post-war speculation, followed today by a restricted credit for legitimate industrial expansion. As a matter of public policy we urge all banks to give credit preference to essential industries.

The federal reserve system should be free from political influence, which is quite as important as its independence of domination by financial combinations.

The High Cost of Living.

The prime cause of the "high cost of living" has been, first and foremost, a 50 per cent depreciation in the purchasing power of the dollar, due to a gross expansion of our currency and credit. Reduced production, burdensome taxation, swollen profits, and the increased demand for goods arising from a fictitious but enlarged buying power have been contributing causes to a greater or less degree.

We condemn the unsound fiscal policies of the Democratic administration which have brought these things to pass, and their attempts to impute the consequences to minor and secondary causes. Much of the injury wrought is irreparable. There is no short way out and we decline to deceive the people with vain promises or quack remedies.

But as the political party that throughout its history has stood for honest money and sound finance, we pledge ourselves to earnest and consistent attack upon the high cost of living by vigorous avoidance of further inflation in our government borrowing, by courageous but intelligent deflation of overexpanded credit and currency, by encouragement and heightened production of goods and services, by prevention of unreasonable profits, by exercise of public economy and stimulation of private thrift, and by revision of war imposed taxes unsuited to peacetime economy.

Profiteering.

We condemn the Democratic administration for failure impartially to enforce the anti-profiteering laws enacted by the Republican congress.

Railroads.

We are opposed to government ownership and operation or employee operation of the railroads. In view of the conditions prevailing in this country, the experience of the last two years, and the conclusions which may fairly be drawn from an observation of the transportation systems of other countries, it is clear that adequate transportation service both for the present and future can be furnished more certainly, economically, and efficiently through private ownership and operation under proper regulation and control.

There should be no speculative profit in rendering the service of transportation, but in order to do justice to the capital already invested in railway enterprises, to restore railway credit, to induce future investments at a reasonable rate, and to furnish enlarged facilities to meet the requirements of the constantly increasing development and distribution, a fair return upon actual value of the railway property used in transportation should be made reasonably sure, and at the same time to provide constant employment to those engaged in transportation service, with fair hours and favorable working conditions at wages or compensation at least equal to those prevailing in similar lines of industry. We indorse the transportation act of 1920 enacted by the Republican congress as a most constructive legislative achievement.

Waterways.

We declare it to be our policy to encourage and develop water transportation service and facilities in connection with the commerce of the United States.

Regulation of Industry and Commerce.

We approve in general the existing federal legislation against monopoly and combinations in restraint of trade, but since the known certainty of a law is the safety of all, we advocate such amendment as will provide American business men with better means of determining in advance whether a proposed combination is or is not unlawful. The federal trade commission, under a Democratic administration, has not accomplished the purpose for which it was created. This commission properly organized and its duties efficiently administered should afford protection to the public and legitimate business interests.

International Trade and Tariff.

The uncertain and unsettled condition of international balances, the abnormal economic and trade situation of the world, and the impossibility of forecasting accurately even the near future, preclude the formulation of a definite program to meet conditions a year hence. But the Republican party reaffirms its belief in the protective principle and pledges itself to a revision of the tariff as soon as conditions shall make it necessary for the preservation of the home market for American labor, agriculture, and industry.

Merchant Marine.

The national defense and our foreign commerce require a merchant marine of the best type of modern ship flying the American flag and manned by American seamen, owned by private capital, and operated by private energy.

We indorse the sound legislation recently enacted by the Republican congress that will insure the promotion and maintenance of the American merchant marine.

The immigration policy of the United States should be such as to insure that the number of foreigners in the country at any one time shall not exceed that which can be assimilated with reasonable rapidity, and to favor immigrants whose standard are similar to ours.

The selective tests that are at present applied should be improved by requiring a higher physical standard, a more complete exclusion of mental defectives and criminals, and a more effective inspection applied as near the source of immigration as possible, as well as the port of entry. Justice to the foreigner and to ourselves demands provision for the guidance, protection and better economic distribution of our alien population. To facilitate government supervision, all aliens should be required to register annually until they become naturalized.

The existing policy of the United States for the practical exclusion of Asiatic immigrants is sound, and should be maintained.

Naturalization.

There is urgent need of improvement in our naturalization law. No alien should become a citizen until he has become genuinely American, and adequate tests for determining the alien's fitness for American citizenship should be provided for by law.

We advocate, in addition, the independent naturalization of married women. An American woman should not lose her citizenship by marriage to an alien resident in the United States.

Free Speech and Alien Agitation.

We demand that every American citizen shall enjoy the ancient and constitutional right of free speech, free press, and free assembly, and the no less sacred right of the qualified voter to be represented by his duly chosen representatives, but no man may advocate resistance to the law, and no man may advocate violent overthrow of the government.

Aliens within the jurisdiction of the United States are not entitled of right to liberty of agitation directed against the government or American institutions.

Lynching.

We urge congress to consider the most effective means to end lynching in this country, which continues to be a terrible blot on our American civilization.

Law and Order.

The equality of all citizens under the law has always been a policy of the Republican party. Without obedience to law and maintenance of order our American institutions must perish. Our laws must be impartially enforced and speedy justice should be secured.

With regard to the sale and maufacture of intoxicating beverages, the Republican party will stand for the enforcement of the constitution of the United States as it shall be declared by the Supreme court.

Public Roads and Highways.

We favor liberal appropriations in cooperation with the states for the construction of highways, which will bring about a reduction of transportation costs, better marketing of farm products, improvement in rural postal delivery, as well as meet the needs of military defense.

The Service Men.

We hold in imperishable remembrance the valor and the patriotism of the soldiers and sailors of America who fought in the great war for human liberty, and we pledge ourselves to discharge to the fullest the obligations which a grateful nation justly should fulfill, in appreciation of the services rendered by its defenders on sea and on land.

Republicans are not ungrateful. Throughout their history they have shown their gratitude toward the nation's defenders on land and sea. Liberal legislation for the care of the disabled and infirm and their dependents has ever marked Republican policy toward the soldier and sailor of all the wars in which our country has participated. The present congress has appropriated generously for the disabled of the world war. The amounts already applied and authorized for the fiscal year 1920-21 for this purpose reached the stupendous sum of $1,180,571,893. This legislation is significant of the party's purpose in generously caring for the maimed and disabled men of the recent war.

Civil Service.

We renew our repeated declaration that the civil service law shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced and extended wherever practicable. The recent action of congress in enacting a comprehensive civil service retirement law and in working out a comprehensive employment and wage policy that will guarantee equal and just treatment to the army of government workers, and in centralizing the administration of the new and progressive employment policy in the hands of the civil service commission is worthy of all praise.

Postal Service.

We condemn the present administration for its destruction of the efficiency of the postal service when controlled by the government, and for its failure to properly compensate employees whose expert knowledge is essential to the proper conduct of the affairs of the postal system. We commend the Republican congress for the enactment of legislation increasing the pay of postal employees, who up to that time were the poorest paid in the government service.

Woman Suffrage.

We welcome women into full participation in the affairs of government and the activities of the Republican party. We urge Republican governors whose states have not yet acted upon the suffrage amendment to immediately call special sessions of their legislatures for the purpose of ratifying said amendment, to the end that all of the women of the nation of voting age may participate in the election which is so important to the welfare of our country.

Women in Industry.

Women have special problems of employment which make necessary special study. We commend congress for the permanent establishment of the women's bureau in the United States department of labor to serve as a source of information to the states and to congress.

The principle of equal pay for equal service should be applied throughout all branches of the federal government in which women are employed.

We demand federal legislation to limit the hours of employment of women engaged in intensive industry, the product of which enters into interstate commerce.

The League of Nations.

We favor a liberal and generous foreign policy founded upon definite moral and political principles, characterized by clear understanding of and firm adherence to our rights, and unfailing respect for the rights of others. We should afford full and adequate protection for the life, liberty and property, and all international rights of every American citizen, and should require a proper respect for the American flag; but we should be equally careful to manifest a just regard for the rights of other nations. A scrupulous observance of our international engagements, when lawfully asumed, is essential to our own honor and self-respect and the respect of other nations. Subject to a due regard for international obligations, we should leave our country free to develop its civilization along lines most conducive to the welfare and happiness of the people, and to cast its influence on the side of justice and right should occasion require.

The Republican party stands for agreement among the nations who preserve the peace of the world. We believe that such an international association must be based upon international justice and must provide methods which shall maintain the rule of public right by the development of law and the decision of impartial courts, and which shall secure instant and general international conference whenever peace shall be threatened, so that the nations pledged to do and insist upon what is just and fair may exercise their influence and power for the prevention of war.

We believe that all this can be done without the compromise of national independence, without depriving the people of the United States in advance of the right to determine for themselves what is just and fair when the occasion arises and without involving them as participants and not as peacemakers in a multitude of quarrels the merits of which they are unable to judge.

The covenant signed by the president at Paris failed signally to accomplish this great purpose and contains stipulations not only intolerable for independent people but certain to produce the injustice, hostility and controversy among nations which it proposed to prevent.

Praises Senators' Actions.

That covenant repudiated to a degree wholly unnecessary and unjustifiable the time-honored policy in favor of peace declared by Washington and Jefferson and Monroe and pursued by all American administrators for more than a century, and it ignored the universal sentiment of America for generations past in favor of international law and arbitration and it rested the hope of the future upon mere expedients and negotiations.

The unfortunate insistence of the president upon having his own way without any change and without any regard to the opinions of the majority of the senate, which shares with him the treaty-making power, and the president's demand that the treaty should be ratified without any modification, created a situation in which senators were required to vote upon their consciences and their oaths according to their judgment against the treaty as it was presented or submit to the command of a dictator in a matter where the authority and responsibility under the Constitution were theirs and not his.

The senators performed their duties faithfully. We approve their conduct and honor their courage and fidelity, and we pledge the coming Republican administration to such agreement with the other nations of the world as shall meet the full duties of America to civilization and humanity in accordance with American ideals, and without surrendering the right of the American people to exercise its judgment and its power in favor of justice and peace.

Will Reform Taxes.

Pointing to its history and relying on its fundamental principles, we declare the Republican party has the genius, courage, and constructive ability to end executive usurpation and restore constitutional government to fulfill our world obligations without sacrificing our national independence; to raise the national standards of education and general welfare; to re-establish a peacetime administration and to substitute economy and efficiency for extravagance and chaos; to restore and maintain the national credit; to reform unequal and burdensome taxes; to free business from arbitrary and unnecessary official control; to suppress disloyalty without denial of justice; to repeal the arrogant challenge of any class, and to maintain a government of all the people as contrasted with government for some of the people, and finally, to allay unrest, suspicion, and strife and to secure the co-operation and unity of all citizens in the solution of the complex problems of the day, to the end that our country, happy and prosperous, proud of its past, sure of itself and of its institutions, may look forward with confidence to the future.

THE MISERY OF BACKACHE

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Muskegon, Mich.—"For six years I was so weak in my back at times that I could hardly walk. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me and it made me good and strong again so that I am able to do all my work. I highly recommend your medicine and tell everyone I meet what it did for me."—Mrs. G. SCHOONFIELD, 240 Wood Ave, Muskegon, Mich.

Woman's Precious Gift

The one which she should most zealously guard is her health, but she often neglects to do so in season until some ailment peculiar to her sex has fastened itself upon her. When so affected women may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a remedy that has been wonderfully successful in restoring health to suffering women.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

One's tongue will behave if he has trained his temper to.

Back Giving Out?

That "bad back" is probably due to weak kidneys. It shows in constant dull, throbbing backache, or sharp twinges when stooping or lifting. You have headaches, too, dizzy spells, a tired feeling and irregular kidney action. It is usually easy to correct these early troubles, and avoid the more serious ailments by giving prompt help. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped thousands the world over. Ask your neighbor!

An Alabama Case

Mrs. Fannie Schrimsher, Pratt Ave., Huntsville, Ala., says: "My kidneys were irregular in action and every time I stooped over a quick, sharp, cutting pain would catch me in my back. My back seemed to ache constantly and frequently nervous and dizzy spells came over me. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and began taking them. They entirely rid me of this complaint."

Acid Stomach

Makes the Body Sour

Nine Out of Ten People Suffer From It

It sends its harmful acids and gases all over the body, instead of health and strength. Day and night this ceaseless damage goes on. No matter how strong, its victim cannot long withstand the health-destroying effects of an acid stomach.

Good news for millions of sufferers. Chemists have found a sure remedy—one that takes the acid up and carries it out of the body; of course, when the cause is removed, the sufferer gets well.

Bloating, indigestion, sour, acid, gassy stomach miseries all removed. This is proven by over half a million ailing folks who have taken EATONIC with wonderful benefits. It can be obtained from any druggist, who will cheerfully refund its trifling cost if not entirely satisfactory. Everyone should enjoy its benefits. Frequently the first tablet gives relief.

CHINESE INFLUENCE IN LIMA

Celestials Occupy Prominent Place in Peruvian Capital—Natives Cling to Old Sport of Cock Fighting.

Lima, the Peruvian capital, is essentially a Spanish city, the population of which may almost be termed cosmopolitan. There the Chinese hold a considerable place of prominence. Celestials of higher caste have taken advantage of Peru's open-door policy and today there are temples and joss-houses and opium dens in Lima. Cock fighting is still the most popular sport, and it is impossible to appear in public without being pestered by a constant procession of "suerteros," venders of lottery tickets, says an exchange.

Another Peruvian city, Morococha, is a little world of its own considerably marked by Anglo-Saxon influence, mining being its exclusive industry. The miners work nine hours a day and seven days a week, and receive an average of something more than a dollar a day, which is considered a high wage from the Andean Indian point of view. The efficiency of the Indian workmen is curtailed by much coca chewing and hard drinking.

The railways of central Peru spread out in a Y, at the right hand end of which is Huancayo, something more than 200 miles from Lima. At every railroad station old women crowd through the cars selling the favorite nectar of the Incas, all purchasers drinking from the same cup, and generally several from the same filling. Nearly every traveler has his own supply of a more potent native beverage.

Ready for Emergency Work.

The mobile disaster unit is a recently formed branch of the American Red Cross which is completely organized and ready to respond instantly in case of a serious accident or disaster. The headquarters of this body are at Boston, and the membership consists of several hundred persons scattered around New England who stand ready to answer any call. It includes doctors, nurses and assistants, a complete 200-bed hospital with all the essentials, such as clothing, food, medicines and X-ray apparatus, with everything which could be called for, even to the garbage and ash cans. The details of this organization are said to be so complete that it could be moved within one hour's time from the receipt of the call.

LIEUT. GOV. MILLER TO WELCOME 42ND

RAINBOW MEN TO GATHER IN BIRMINGHAM FOR REUNION JULY 12.

WILL BE WELL ENTERTAINED

Every Minute of Three Days of Visit Planned for By Entertainment Committee.

Birmingham.—Lieut. Gov. Nathan L. Miller will deliver the welcome address in behalf of the state, and J. R. Hornady, commissioner, in behalf of the city, to the Rainbow men when they gather in Birmingham for the reunion July 12. Every minute of the three days of their visit here has been planned for by the entertainment committee and there won't be any doubt about things being lively, the committee believes. Dances have been planned for each night. Street dances, instituted last year when the 167th came marching home, will be given, while the Southern and Country Clubs and probably the Athletic Club will see the former soldiers on the dance floor. A boxing match at the Athletic Club may be given and an athletic meet where every kind of sport entertainment will be offered at Rickwood or the Fair Grounds, is being planned. There is going to be a "salute and ride parade," however, officials in charge state there will be no pageant as was staged along Highland Avenue last year for the 167th. A military parade will be held on the morning of the last day.

Various Rumors Of Steel City.

Gadsden.—The announcement that the International Motor and Steel Company will build a large steel plant at Pidgeon Mountain, Ala., has revived rumors that the Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia Railroad is to be sold and become a part of a new trunk line in the South. It is reported from Chattanooga that officials of the road are now in New York in connection with its sale, and that the steel company will have a hand in the deal. It is also stated that plans are being formulated to build a large manufacturing town at Pidgeon Mountain, where the company owns large tracts of iron ore of the highest grade.

Work Of Bank Chief.

Montgomery.—Declaring the circular letter on the restriction and control of credits, mailed to all Alabama bankers, by D. F. Green, state superintendent, is "very timely," M. B. Wellborn, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, at Atlanta, Ga., has written Mr. Green a letter of commendation. Mr. Welborn states Mr. Green's letter will be of great assistance in discouraging borrowers who are not using the funds borrowed for the mere essential purposes of industry, or the production of crops. The Federal Reserve Bank has been working along the same lines, he says and has been getting excellent results.

Scottsboro Praised.

Scottsboro.—The clean-up campaign has been an eminent success for Scottsboro. Never in the history of the town has it been freer from filth and unsightly objects. An organization campaign was put on about a week ago by the civic league to clean up the town. A number of towns of the state have entered a contest and a prize of $50 has been offered by the state health department for the cleanest town. The inspectors were here last Saturday and were profuse in their praises for the diligent work of the local civil association.

County Meet Is Held.

Troy.—A district conference of county superintendents of education was held in Troy at the state normal school. A number of important educators from over the state appeared on the program. A feature of the conference was an address given by the state superintendent of education. Many county superintendents from the southeastern part of Alabama were present.

Real Estate Is Active.

Huntsville.—The real estate market in Huntsville and Madison County is still very active in spite of the backward condition of the crops and real estate men declare their sales so far this year are far in advance of the business that had been done up to this time last year.

Crops Are Improved.

Ashland.—The crop outlook for Clay has been raised a great deal by the dry weather. The farmers throughout this section have been steadily at work for 10 days and are very hopeful.

Cordova.—Cordova and Dora citizens are working hand in hand on the section of the Bankhead Highway adjacent to and between the two towns The long, wet winter and unusually rainy spring has left all the roads of Walker County in terrible shape. Around the towns of Dora and Cordova are some exceedingly bad mud holes. The citizens of both towns are determined that the road shall be in first class shape. All the work is being done at private expense.

Harman Succeeds Judd.

Montgomery.—A. F. Harman, superintendent of the Selma Public School system, has been named Superintendent of Education for Montgomery County. This action was taken by the County Board of Education following acceptance of the resignation of Zebulom Judd, who was elected superintendent last week to succeed William F. Feagin. Mr. Judd will return to his old position at Auburn as head of the department of secondary education at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

City to Wipe Out Debt.

Gadsden.—At an adjorned meeting of the council the mayor was empowered to execute the city's note for a sum not exceeding $30,000.00 to make up for any deficiency of revenue that may occur between now and October, when the tax money will begin to come in. The city is just now running behind, and in a condition not usual with Gadsden. It is figured that the floating debt will amount to $50,000.00 by October.

Principals in 44 Schools Approved.

Montgomery.—Names of high school principals for 44 Alabama counties, whose appointments were confirmed at the recent meeting of the state board of education, were announced by Spright Dowell, superintendent of education. These principals are elected by the boards of education of their respective counties, together with the counties in which they will serve during the 1920-21 session.

Fire Marshal to Make Inspection.

Montgomery.—William J. Williams, state fire marshal, returned to Montgomery from Anniston and Andalusia where he has been investigating several fires with the assistance of local fire department officials. Mr. Williams is arranging for a general electrical inspection which will cover the entire state. These inspections will be similar to those carried out in Montgomery during the past three weeks.

M. I. Is Named Honor School.

Marion.—The friends of Marion Institute are very enthusiastic over the recognition just given it by the War Department in the following telegram from the Adjutant General: "Marion Institute is designated as an honor school 1920. Secretary of War extends congreulations to you and to all concerned upon the high standard of efficiency attained by the military department of your institution."

Crops Making Good Progress.

Bridgeport.—With an entire week of ideal farming weather satisfactory progress has been made in cultivation of crops and further planting of corn. A large part of the lowland is yet to be planted, but with the promising outlook for several more days of fair weather, hopes are entertained of reasonable success in planting a fair sized crop of corn. Cotton looks promising considering the lateness of the season.

Lumber Demand Grows.

Tuscaloosa.—Tuscaloosa lumbermen report the demand for lumber much better. Many inquiries coming in and more sales being made. For the past two or three months the lumber business has been dull, but now that there is a slightly better demand sawmill men feel encouraged. But there is still a lack of cars for handling the output of the mills, but railroad men are working hard to remedy this.

Stock Sales Are Pushed.

Decatur.—Sale of stock in the Limestone-Morgan Bridge Company, which will build a bridge across the Tennessee River here, was pushed following the arrival from his at Rome, Ga., of Col. L. A. Dean, one of the promoters of the enterprise. Stock sales had lagged behind because of the absence of both Col. Dean and Capt. Grafton. Capt. Grafton is quite ill at a Chattanooga hospital.

First Cotton Bloom.

Mobile.—Harry Crawford, of Fairhope, Ala., brought the first cotton bloom of the season to this city. The first bloom to reach the city last year was also from Baldwin County.

Cotton Men to Meet.

Gadsden.—G. T. McEldery, prominent farmer and banker of Talladega, is in Gadsden arranging preliminaries for organizing an Etowah County branch of the American Cotton Association. He obtained the pledge of ten leading citizens to underwrite the expenses of the organization.

Goodwater.—All properties of the Goodwater Graphite Company were sold at Rockford under executions and the price paid was only about $40,000. Phil J. Scudder, Sr., and associates, of Shelbyville, Tenn., were the purchasers.

Crops Improve Slowly.

Birmingham.—Crop conditions in Alabama are improving, but slowly, with a late start and labor for this class of work is scarce, according to a weekly report given out here made up from information sent in by traveling representatives in Alabama. The following is the report: Northeast Corn, 25 per cent late; oats 75 per cent; pasture good; cotton from 40 to 75 per cent; syrup good, but late. the section is badly behind on account of rains; land is weedy.

TAFFETA SILK IN USE EVERYWHERE

TAFFETA silk is, by all odds, the most popular of the heavier weights in silk fabrics, its only close rivals, in the high regard of women, being crepe de chine and georgette. It is used for many of their belongings and for those of their little daughters. For evening and afternoon dresses it is the pre-eminent favorite, and its gentle rustle this summer is going to last as long as that of the leaves does.

All the designers need do to make salable frocks of taffeta is to follow the mode and introduce a little originality in the details of finishing decoration. Two very excellent examples, that are up to date and original, portray an afternoon frock that is made entirely of taffeta and are having a decoration of white yarn.

Navy blue in taffeta, with decoration of white yarn makes an ideal dress for midsummer, and it is this combination that is shown in one of the afternoon frocks patterned. White taffeta faces the upper part of the long tunic and forms the cuffs. Blue and beige or blue and tan make combinations as pleasing, and are very fashionable this season. In this dress the tunic is set on to a narrow yoke, which extends above the waist and fastens to the bodice. Two large buttons that repeat the colors used, call attention to this feature. The tunic is laid in three deep plaits at each side, giving a widened hip line and revealing its facing. Three-quarter length sleeves and a Chinese collar are items worth noticing in the design.

Navy blue, black, or any of the favored colors in silk will look well in a dress like the ruffle-trimmed model pictured. It has three corded shirrings at the waistline where bodice and skirt are joined, and a corded tuck defines the hip line. Elbow sleeves and a rolled collar high at the back add two very important style details to the design. The narrow frills on the skirt have picot edges, and there is a charming lace vest in the bodice. It is the only detail of this dress that is not made of the silk; even the smart bow at the waist is fashioned of it.

Negligees of American Design

WHEN negligees come up for discussion, the temptation is to pick out these varied and fanciful ones that reflect the costumes of other lands. But there are others of American design that are really better liked by our own people and that merit the preference shown them. They are graceful, dignified, more or less simple garments, often developed in beautiful fabrics. They reveal an appreciation of what can be done with lovely colors when designers are not restricted in using them. It is in the realm of negligees that they can give fancy free play and be more daring than even evening dress will warrant and a little journey into the shops convinces one that designers make the most of this privilege.

Speaking of dignity in this apparel, some of the new negligees have acquired so much of it that they might be easily mistaken for evening dresses. Those made of light-colored brocaded silks and satins, like the handsome example pictured, leave one in doubt at first glance as to whether they were intended to blush unseen by any eyes but those within the walls of home, or to be placed on parade. There are just some little touches about it, like its simple decoration of silk-covered cord finished with silk-covered balls, that relegate its usefulness to the hours spent at home. But the fascinating turbans and caps that are worn with these negligees lend them the unmistakable flavor of boudoir dress.

The negligee pictured is a model that slips over the head and has a round neck split a little way down the front. Its edges are finished with silk-covered cord and silk-covered cord laces it at the front and hangs from the shoulders. The side seams are left open at the bottom and the material rounded off and bound with the covered cord.

The Transparent Hat.

The type of hat said to be having the greatest sale for summer is the one made of transparent material. This may be hair braid, malines, organdie, georgette or lace. So heavy, in fact, is the call for transparent hats that it is difficult to secure hair braid in sufficient quantity to supply the abnormal demand.

Short Vamped Shoes.

Short vamped shoes are having a decided vogue—the popular models conforming to the blunted toe, but the models put out by the exclusive shops have a more rounded, medium toe that is far more graceful to the foot.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR JUNE 27

REVIEW: THE NOBLE LIFE OF SAMUEL.

SELECTION FOR READING—I Sam. 12:1-5, 13-25.
GOLDEN TEXT—I will teach you the good and the right way.—I Sam. 12:23.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—I Sam. 1:1-16:23.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Stories About Samuel.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Boy Who Became a Great Man.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Strong Points in Samuel's Character.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Samuel's Service to His People.

The method of review must largely be determined by the teacher and the grade of the class. For the junior and intermediate grades a good way will be to make it biographical, centering in Gideon, Eli, Samuel, Eli's sons, Saul and David. Of course, the outstanding personality is Samuel.

For the older classes the following from Peloubet's Select Notes is an interesting and profitable method:

"This review, suited to older classes only, will deal with difficult questions involved in or suggested by the various lessons of the quarter, questions that you may not have had time to discuss adequately during the quarter. Assign one of these to each student, and divide the time evenly among them. The following list of topics may prove helpful, but it is intended to be only suggestive:

Lesson I. How to put religion into our state and national government.

Lesson II. How to utilize better than we are doing the power of women.

Lesson III. How to bring together and use the righteous and brave minority.

Lesson IV. How to single out and help the deserving poor.

Lesson V. How to develop the religious capacities of children.

Lesson VI. How to open the eyes of parents to their children's faults.

Lesson VII. How to bring to bear upon public questions the decisive power of prayer.

Lesson VIII. How to select the best leaders in church and state.

Lesson IX. How to develop individual initiative without the loss of discipline.

Lesson X. How godly men may influence the progress of affairs.

Lesson XI. How to inspire children with lofty ideals.

Lesson XII. How to make our lives serene and trustful.

A plan which can be adapted to all grades is the gathering of the main facts of each lesson and then stating its leading lesson.

The following are suggestions as to the leading lessons:

Lesson for April 4. As Jesus joined the disciples on the way to Emmaus, so he joins all who are journeying life's way in sorrow and says, "Tell me your troubles and perplexities." He wants us to confide in him.

Lesson for April 11. Deborah's judgeship shows that a woman is capable under God not only of the administration of justice, but of leading a nation forth to victory in time of war.

Lesson for April 18. The secret of Gideon's victory was his faith. The ground of his faith was God's word.

Lesson for April 25. Because Ruth forsook country, friends, and her gods for the true God, she has been accorded a place of honor in the ancestry of Christ.

Lesson for May 2. Because Samuel was given in answer to a mother's prayer and was dedicated by her to the Lord's service, the Lord was able to use him in a large way.

Lesson for May 9. Parental indulgence results in the shame and ruin of both Eli and his sons.

Lesson for May 16. When God's people repent of their sins and turn to him for pardon he will not only forgive, but will fight their battles and give victory.

Lesson for May 23. When the people took their eyes off God, their King, they desired a man as king in conformity to the practice of the heathen round about.

Lesson for May 30. Because Jonathan felt the call of God to deliver his people and waited for God's sign for him, he was able to go forward and win a victory in such a way as to show that God was with him.

Lesson for June 6. Because Saul disobeyed the command of God, judgment from the hand of God fell upon him.

Lesson for June 13. God looketh not on the outward appearance, but on the heart; his choices are not arbitrary.

Lesson for June 20. "The Lord is my shepherd. I shall not want."

That proposal to reduce the cost of leather by tanning sharks' hides may sound to the manufacturers as if it might be something personal.

Liberty bond prices may continue to drop, but it is well enough to remember that if the government survives they will be redeemed at par.

HEALS RUNNING SORES

"I feel it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peterson's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use Peterson's Ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed."—A. C. Gilbrath, 703 Reed St., Erie, Pa.
For years I have been selling through druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 60 cents. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily conquered. Pimples and nasty blackheads disappear in a week and the distress of chafing goes in a few minutes. Mail orders filled. Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

Republican National Campaign Opens in Earnest.

Headquarters Throughout the United States are Given Instructions to Get Busy.

Washington, June 22.—The Republican national campaign today swung into action throughout the country.

Before coming to his offices in the Senate office building this morning, Senator Harding, Republican presidential nominee, approved selections by the national committee of the personnel of the executive committee, which with the national committee chairman, Hays, will direct the campaign.

Acceptances have been received from those appointed on this committee and telegraphic and telephonic messages rushed forward during the night and outlined their duties and started them on the campaign.

Headquarters at New York, Chicago, Washington, and San Francisco, and sub-headquarters at Denver, previously established by Hays, were directed this morning to put themselves in shape for the most active campaign it is possible for the managers of the campaign to stage.

Chairman Hays indicated today that special attention is to be paid to the publicity feature of the campaign.

Careful plans are being laid for the education of the voters on the policy to be pursued by the Republicans if resorted to complete national power in the executive and continued in the legislative branches of the government.

Special stress is to be laid on the declaration of Senator Harding that there shall be an end to one-man power and a return to a constitutional form of government under the Republican party.

"It takes more than one man to run the American government," says Harding.

Senator Harding sat yesterday with the special committee of the national committee, which worked out details of the campaign plan and selected the executive committee. He resumed these conferences this morning to give his final approval to the work of the committee which had extended far into the night.

The Senator spent last night at his home, whipping into shape some of the many ideas he has gathered for his speech of acceptance. He plans to be ready to put the finishing touches on this important document within a few hours after the announcement of the Democratic platform to be adopted by the San Francisco convention.

Certainly it will be ready well in advance of July 22, the date determined upon last night for the notification ceremony at Marion, Ohio. The sub-committee of the national committee also announced the date for the Coolidge acceptance ceremonies as July 27 and the place as the governor's residence in Northampton, in Massachusetts.

On Harding's return to his offices today he entered upon the series of conferences he has invited with Republican leaders of every shade of political thought. These interviews are designed to harmonize the Republican views. Former factional differences are being ironed out or brushed aside as though they are non-existing.

Harding was cheered today by the unanimously favorable reports he has received from national committeemen on the reaction to his nomination all over the country. These reports came from John W. Weeks, Kentucky; S. D. Hiller, New York; Ralph E. Williams, Oregon; and J. T. Hamon, Oklahoma. Not one of these men was an original Harding man in the convention.

National Committeemen John C. King of Connecticut; Senator Kellog, of Minnesota; Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, and Chairman Hays, brought similarly encouraging reports on the favorable drift of public sentiment.

"The Republican ticket surely will win in November," they told Harding.

The Senator has decided to make his speech of acceptance from his front porch at the Marion, O., home.

FLAMING, ITCHING SKIN DISEASES

Cause Untold Suffering that Could Be Avoided.

If you are afflicted with eczema, tetter, erysipelas, ringworms, pimples, acne, scaly eruptions, boils, irritations of the skin, or other similar disorders, you need not expect any real relief from local applications, and the sooner you discard their use the sooner you will be on the road to recovery, provided you will rely upon the use of S. S. S.

S. S. S. is one of the most satisfactory remedies for diseases of the skin because it goes direct to the seat of the trouble, and by cleansing the blood of all impurities and disease germs, it keeps the skin free form infection, and restores it to its normal healthy condition.

CHILTON COUNTY ABSTRACT CO.

M. D. FOSHEE, MANAGER.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

Abstracts of Title Promptly Prepared at Reasonable Charges.

The issue is not Senator Harding, but pure Americanism.

When all is said and done, the issue is pure Americanism.

Col. Bryan is right. The Democrats will have to "go some" to beat the Republican ticket and platform.

Senator Harding does not promise to leave his or his party's position on any important question, uncertain.

Senator Harding's greatest asset is his common sense. His head is not in the air. His feet are on the ground.

The commanding strength of Senator Harding is that he is a modest, earnest, yet intensely patriotic American citizen.

Because a voter does not agree with any plank in a party platform is no ground for the statement that the platform is uncertain.

President Wilson has made himself the shining mark by assuming that he is the entire Democratic party, label, record, principles and all.

The Democratic convention will assemble in San Francisco to ascertain what sort of a programme and candidate President Wilson will demand.

Singular how the Democratic party persists in going to Europe for candidates. It is reported that Colonel House is grumshoeing for a man by the name of Davis.

As in the case of 16 to 1 free silver fever, the country needs a kindergarten education in finance and economics. Sound principles seem to have been frogotten by many.

"We get them (the railroads) out of the hole in ninety days," proclaims Former Railroad Administrator McAdoo. Yes, and placed the United States and the taxpayers in a hole to the tune of about a billion dollars in less than two years' government operation of the roads.

A TRAINED LEGISLATOR FOR THE WHITE HOUSE

With the election of Warren G. Harding to the presidency, government by theory and intuition will give place to government by experienced experts, based on proved principles of sound national management. Instead of a professor from an institution of learning seeking to apply to the federal government the dogmas of a college curriculum we shall have a trained legislator and executive who will conform his administration to the lessons he has learned during his term in the United States Senate preceded by two years as lieutenant governor of his State and four year as a member of the Ohio Senate.

When Senator Harding enters the White House on March 4th next he will have completed six years service as a senator from his state—six years of apprenticeship for the work of Federal administrator. As never before in the history of the country, the past seven years have demonstrated how necessary it is that the chief executive shall have had that previous acquaintance with legislative branch of the government indispensible to the proper appreciation of his relations to it. Mr. Wilson's complete failure to comprehend the point of view of congress, and his refusal to concede to the duly elected representatives of the people the part the Constitution decreed that they shall play in national affairs, have been responsible for the almost constant friction that has existed between them. The cost to the people of that lack of coordination can never be expressed in dollars and cents, but is has been enormous; and, in addition, national prestige has suffered a setback that will require the most careful attention from a Republican administration to repair.

Not only has Senator Harding learned in the school of experience of the relations between the executive and legislative branches that must be maintained if our government is to continue to express the popular will as our forefathers provided in the constitution, but he has learned to respect the opinions of his fellow senators and of others chosen by the people to represent their views. It is here, again, that the Wilson administration has signally failed to perform its allotted part in our scheme of government. It has been totally impossible for the Wilson type of mind to conceive that it is not infallible, and to realize that the views of the people can be more nearly expressed through the composite expression of their leaders than through the utterances of a single individual. His has been a one-man government, uninfluenced by the opinions of accepted authorities.

Every act of the senate, and of congress, necessarily is a compromise product—a composite of the thought of the members who compose the majority of that body. It is not too much to say that an act of importance never passes the Senate that is entirely acceptable to any Senator. Every Senator has surrendered some of his personal preferences in order that the act may become a law, and in that surrender he has admitted his own fallibility and recognized that the voice of the many is more likely correct than his own individual opinion.

That is the school in which Senator Harding's conception of popular government has been formed, and to those tenets he will hold the executive department once he has taken control. His cabinet will be composed of men of recognized authority in the problems of their particular department, selected to act as real aids to the President in the performance of his duties, rather than to furnish plausible support for executive opinions already made known. President Harding will personify the policies adopted by the Republican party as a whole and embodied in its national platform, and in the carrying out of those policies the country will witness the closest co-operation with his official advisers and with his party associates in congress.

INSPIRED REPUBLICANISM

The Republican party platform as adopted by the Chicago Convention is an inspiration to every patriotic American determined to rid his country of the Demcratic encumbrance which has been upon it for so long, and substitute for it the enlightened policies of Republicanism. The platform is a damning review of the excesses and extravagances that have characterized the administration of the government for the past seven years, and a resolute determination to bring prompt and effective reform the moment Republican candidates assume the reins of government. Its planks accurately diagnose the ills in the body politic and prescribe remedies that are sure to bring relief and cure when applied. Refreshing Americanism runs through the document from start to finish. The pledges it contains were designed and entered into for the frank purpose of perpetuating American institutions and for contributing to the welfare of American citizens.

While recognizing our concern for the preservation of world peace and recording itelf as standing "for agreement among the nations" to keep that peace, the party insists that anything the Unied States may do in that direction must be done "without the compromise of national independence, without depriving the people of the United States in advance of the right to determine for themselves what is just and fair." How different are such sturdy declarations from the appeals for the "supreme sacrifice" with which ous ears have been assailed for many months!

"We undertake to end executive autocracy," the party declares, "and to restore to the people their constitutional government." Therein is embodied the pith and substance of present-day Republicanism. The ending of executive autocracy entails a vast amount of national housecleaning, some of which has already been accomplished by a Republican congress. Much remains to be done, however, which can only be achieved through the co-operation of an executive of the same party. Once that autocracy has been eliminated and its works consigned to oblivion, realignment of the government with the principles of popular rule will be the commanding duty with which a Republican administration will concern itself.

The party asesrts what is the fact that there is no "short way out" from the high cost of living, but "we do pledge ourselves to earnest and consistent attack upon the high cost of living by rigorous avoidance of further inflation of our government borrowing, by courageous and intelligent deflation of overexpanded credit and currency, by encouragement of heightened production of goods and services, by prevention of unreasonable profits, by exercise of public economy and stimulation of private thrift and by revision of war-imposed taxes unsuited to peace-time economy."

The measures for reconstruction which the party proposes to adopt once it has been reinstated in authority are clearly set forth in the platform. The settlement of industrial disputes through the voluntary acceptance of the decision of important tribunals; the broader recognition of the farmer in legislation, federal appointments in national expenditures, assisted by the re-enactment of the budget bill vetoed by the president; readjustment of the tax laws; the enforcement of anti-profiteering legislation; the encouragement of foreign trade; the early revision of the tariff along protective lines; liberal co-operation with states for highway improvement; the development of the conservation of our natural resources; general provision for disabled veterans of the World War; enforcement of the civil service law; the encouragement of home owning; insistence upon the protection of American citizens in Mexico—all are enunciations of principles which must be adhered to if our independent-republican government is to endure.

When Governor Coolidge made his reply to the Massachusetts delegates returning from Chicago he said: "After all, officers are ended and they fade away. Friendship and the esteem in which men hold each other may remain forever." This is a key to Governor Coolidge's character.

While the country seems to be troubled and divided on the real meaning of President Wilson's Covenant of the League of Nations, let the voters remember that it means the tearing down of the protection principle by which the entire country has grown strong, and the farmers and thousands of small manufacturers throughout the west, have prospered.

Vice President Marshall says: "I am an old man who has torn his hair for Bryan, slaved for Parker and done his hardest for Wilson, and I am about ready to retire from politics." Having performed those thrilling and unrenumerative duties, the Vice President is entitled to be placed on the retired list. There will be many other Democrats to join him.

A party of about thirty people, including the families of Judge Reynolds, M. D. Foshee, J. L. Gore, W. A. Reynolds, W. G. Culp, J. M. Curlee, and some others, enjoyed a fish fry at the Connell Ford on Walnut Creek last Friday. They report a most delightful time and plenty of fish.

Tom Wyatt and his wife and little girl of Poplar Springs were visitors to the Union-Banner office last Saturday. Mr. Wyatt just moved into this county from Coosa this year. His name speaks for him as a worthy citizen. He informed us that Oliver Glenn is a candidate for Tax Collector of Coosa County. We know Oliver well and he ought to be elected by the people of old Coosa. He would make the best officer they can elect. Here's hoping they put Oliver over in November.

THE THREE-MILL TAX

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words about the 3-mill school tax. I have always favored good schools. I have always favored two-teacher schools. I believe we get more good out of them than we do a one-teacher school. I have always got the best benefits from a two-teacher school. In the first place, one teacher can't give the time to all the grades that they ought to. Now, it looks like we will not even have a one-teacher school, for if the three-mill tax is defeated there will not be money enough to run a three-months school, and that means for the next ten years. The schools will have to be put back on the same old plans, and you know what that means. Where a is teacher that we can get for $40 or $50 a month now.

Now, let us think the matter over and see what it means to us. We have had this tax on us for the last three years; now, let us think what that means to our children if we lose out. It just means no education to the majority of our children.

Now, Mr. Tax Payer, it is up to us now, whether we have any schools or not. We will have to pay more supplement than our tax will amount to, so let us all go out to the election on the 13th day of July and cast your vote in the interest of our boys and girls of Chilton County, who will be our future officers.

WHAT THE SCOUTS WILL DO HERE ON JULY THE 3RD.

It is going to be a big time for everybody. Games, Contests, Races, Music, Fireworks and everything for a Good Time.

YOU CAN'T MISS HEARING THE BAND

The Clanton Boy Scouts are perfecting the plans for their celebration here on the Third of July, and everything now looks like a day of much fun for the boys and entertainment for the visiting people.

The band will play the biggest card in the entertainment of the people. Everybody will enjoy plenty of good music and these boys are able to fill the bill completely in that respect. Prof. Memoli of Birmingham, who is teaching the boys in the band, will have charge oft hem on that day.

At 9:30 o'clock in the morning the Boy Scout parade will form at the depot and proceed to the grounds (place to be announced later). There will be a flag raising ceremony on arrival at the scene of the day's proceedings, accompanied by a lecture on the Declaration of Independence.

At 10:30 the games will begin, which will include foot races, tug-of-war, sack races, potato races, etc. There will also be a fiddlers contest about this time of the day. All the fiddlers can get their instruments tuned up and ready. Prizes will be given to the winners in the contest.

At 12 o'clock, the dinner hour, there will be a break in the program, and everybody who has dinner with them will have a chance to spread their baskets in any place they choose.

At 1 o'clock the program will start again with baseball games, volley ball, tennis, etc. These games will entertain the crowds all the afternoon. The teams to play ball will be announced later.

All during the day the Scouts will serve ice cream and cold drinks. All Scouts and scout officials from everywhere are invited to come and be with the Clanton Troop.

On the night of the 3rd the fire works display will be held at the railroad crossing. This promises to be about the best thing on the program. There will be plenty of music by the band all through the day's proceedings.

The people of Chilton County are urged to come to Clanton and spend that day and enjoy the festivities with the boys.

Roberts Says Name of Wilson Will Defeat the Democrats in the U. S.

The President Wants to Run Again and His Ambition Puts a Damper on the Hopes of All Others at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., June 22—It has been a matter of general knowledge that the President is a tentative and anxious candidate to succeed himself. He is thoroughly and sincerely convinced that he alone is able to serve in what he considers the "emergency of the world."

To those who know that the President is fatally stricken, that in all probability he will never make another public appearance, it seems incredible that Mr. Wilson should be regarded as exceedingly formidable.

And yet there is no President headquarters at San Francico which does not reflect a poignant fear that Mr. Wilson will be able to secure the nomination.

It is said in whispers to-day that Bainbridge Colby comes to San Francisco as the personal representative of the President and that in making his first speech to the Convention, he will nominate the President. There is no doubt but that the platform prepared by Carter Glass and Homer Cummings is the handiwork of Mr. Wilson, and it is reported that W. G. McAdoo retired from the field because he had never been able to secure the support of the President, and that as a result there is bitterness between the father and the son.

The Wilson shadow as a result of the foregoing, freezes the hopes of all candidates at San Francisco, and yet it is not regarded as possible that the convention will be swayed to such an extent as to nominate the President and send the party headlong into defeat.

The League of Nations plank, providing for reservations that do not nullify, will be inserted in the platform without a fight, it is learned, although on the floor W. J. Bryan is likely to make it an issue.

It is regarded as doubtful that a wet plank will be included.

Practically all the candidates hesitate to support the wet plank for fear lest its insertion would mean the nomination of Governor Cox. The plank to be proposed however, and which will have support on the floor, will endorse the amendment but leave to the respective states the solution of the moot question as to what actually consitutes intoxicating liquor.

The Georgia contest will be decided Saturday in favor of the delegation commitated to Attorney General Palmer and against that under the leadership of Hoke Smith and Tom Watson. It is said to-day that the committee will act unanimously and will not waste time in inquiring into the merits involved. The Georgia delegation incidentally will be asked to bring the Alabama delegation into the Palmer fold since the retirement of McAdoo, for whom it was understood the Alabamians in the majority would vote. Palmer has a fine chance, it is claimed.—Hugh Roberts in Birmingham Age-Herald.

(We notice that Hugh now thinks that President Wilson and his League of Nations ideas will send the Democratic party to utter defeat this fall. It will not only do it in November, Hugh; it has already done it, and it makes no difference who the Demmies nominate to be the goat.—Editor.)

HARDING WILL BE NOTIFIED OF NOMINATIOM JULY 22

PARTY TO NOTIFY VICE-PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE ON JULY 27—LEADERS IN ALL-DAY CONFERENCE

Washington, June 21—Senator Harding will be formally notified of his nomination as the Republican presidential candidate July 22 at his home in Marion, Ohio.

Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts will be notified of his nomination by the Republican party for vice-president July 27, at his home in Northampton, Mass.

The dates for the two notification ceremonies were decided to-day at a conference in Washington, at which Senator Harding, National Chairman Hays and a sub-committee of the Republican national committee participated.

The conference at its session, which lasted all day and into the early night also agreed on an executive committee to have general charge of the campaign.

While the conference was in progress Mr. Hays issued a statement in praise of both Senator Harding and Governor Coolidge, as that measuring "up to every requirement of a presidential candidate" and informally approving the Senator's announced intention of conducting a "front porch" campaign.

Mr. Hays, in a conference with news paper men announced that the center of activity in the conduct of the coming campaign would be Chicago, the place where he expects to spend the most of his time. He said, however, that the New York office would be no less important than it had been in the past. Headquarters also will continue to be maintained, he said, in Washington and San Francisco, with a branch office in Denver.

In declining to discuss campaign issues, Mr. Hays said, he felt compelled to do so until after Mr. Harding had made his speech accepting the nomination.

The Right Man.

Chairman Hays, in his formal statement said

"Senator Harding possesses just those vital qualities of mind and of heart necessary today, and in the time just ahead. His poise of mind, his soundness of judgmeat, his hold on fundamentals, his appreciation of the needs of the day and of tomorrow, his love of the people from whom he came and of whom he is one, and his faith in them—this magnificent grasp of large affairs, his great native ability and his training in statesmanship, his regard for the opinion of others, his experence and success in the handling of men, his proper appreciation of his country's position as a responsible factor in the world's future, but with the fullest realization of the absolute importance of our own supreme nationalism, his sterling Americanism, his righteous character and manhood, and withal his thorough humanness, all qualify him in the most exceptional degree for the tremendous responsibilities which will soon be his. He will make a splendid candidate and a great president. The country will love him, honor him, trust him and follow him, just as all who know him love and trust him, and the world will honor him.

"Too, in Governor Coolidge we have a candidate for vice president who measures up to every requirement of a presidential candidate. Fortunate, indeen, is the country."

Prior to his conference with the national committee members, Mr. Harding held conference with Senator Kellogg of Minnesota, former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, a former progressive leader; former Senator Marion Butler of North Carolina, and Judge Peter C. Pritchard, who received the vote of the North Carolina delegation in the Chicago convention for the presidential nomination. All pledged their support in the campaign. Senator Smoot paid the nominee a farewell visit before leaving for his home in Utah.

FIRST COTTON BLOOM SENT IN FOR CHILTON COUNTY

Late Wednesday evening as we were printing this issue of the paper we received our first cotton bloom of this season for Chilton County. Was sent to us by Mr. Enoch Driver of Route 2. He says he found the first one on his field on Tuesday. Chilton County is nearly as forward as any other county in reporting the first bloom, as the first one for the state was announced only las week.

J. D. Sims of Jemison was here on Wednesday. He is going to open up a house furnishings business at Jemison in the next few days. The firm will be known as Sims & Roper.

U. S. TRADE BALANCE OF 17 BILLION AGAINST WORLD

The Amount which the United States Has Pillaged up Since Start of The Great World War.

Washington, June 22.—Since the beginning of the world war in 1914 the United States has rolled up a trade balance of approximately seventeen billions of dollars against the world. This exceeds by several billions of dolars the tota baance in favor of the United States from 1875 to 1914. Department of commerce figures today show that the trade balance made in favor of the United States during the fiscal year ending in 1914 one month before the war began, was $1,094,419,600, and in the next year ending June 30, 1916, it was $2,135,599,375. During the following year the total was $3,330,-693,209.

Meantime the United States had entered the struggle and in the year ending June 30, 1918, the first full fiscal year of America's participation the balance was $2,974,055,973, in the next year ending last June 30, however, it was $4,164,564,618.

During the first eleven months of this fiscal the balance was only $2,-788,451,602, but exports were larger in these eleven months than in any other full fiscal year in the nation's history, as against the previous 12 months record of $7,252,282,686, as made during the last fiscal year.

Stomach Troubles Made Him Feel Sick at Meal Times, But Now Always Enjoys His Meals.

DO YOU enjoy your meals? Eat without the dread of the after effects?

Lack of appetite, and a disgreeable, sick-at-the-stomach feeling after meals, usually indicate that your digestive organs are not working properly. As a result, you will feel weak, lose weight and lack the energy that is to be derived from well-digested food.

A valuable help in correcting such conditions is mentioned by the Rev M. K. McKenzie, of Route 1, Section Ala., who writes: "I had stomach trouble. When I would go to eat, I would turn sick. I took one bottle of Ziron, and it cured me. Am always ready for my meals and enjoy them. I think it is a fine medicine."

If your food hurts you, if your appetite is poor, if you are pale, weak and run-down, and have other symptoms that indicate your system needs help, try Ziron. It will put iron into your blood and help build you up. Take it according to directions, and if not benefited by the first bottle, the money-back guarantee will protect you.

CONDENSED CLASSICS

THE PRISONER OF ZENDA

By ANTHONY HOPE

Condensation by Prof. William Fenwick Harris

Anthony Hope, known outside the world of books as Sir Anthony Hope Hawkins, was born in London, Feb. 9, 1863, the son of a clergyman. He married an American woman. It is to be hoped he may have many more children of the brain to follow in the footsteps of "The Prisoner of Zenda" and "The Dolly Dialogues."

He was educated at Marlborough, and at Balliol College, Oxford, where he took honors in letters and was president of the Oxford Union, which means that he was already a man of mark in his undergraduate days. By way of a profession he became a barrister of the Middle Temple in 1877. But if the pursuit of the law interferes with the production of a thrilling tale, may he never have a case to prepare.

His first book was "The Prisoner of Zenda," which has probably remained his best known one. It had a large hearing when turned to the stage, and the public demanded a sequel, which came in "Rupert of Hentzau." After Zenda quickly followed "The Dolly Dialogues," which, by their easy and debonnire grace, inevitably suggest Lawrence Sterne. His books have been numerous, as "The King's Mirror" and "Tristam of Blent," and he has written plays as well, as "The Adventure of Lady Ursula." A touch of sureness and precision lend distinction to his prose; he has an unusual power of interesting his readers in his personages and their doings.

RURITANIA was not England, or the quarrel between Duke Michael and Rudolf Rassendyll could not have gone on, with the remarkable incidents which marked it, without more public notice being directed to it. It is perhaps as strange a thing as has ever been in the history of a country that the king's brother and the king's personator, in a time of profound peace, near a placid, undisturbed country town, under semblance of amity, should wage a desperate war for the person and life of the king.

Yet such was the struggle between Black Michael and Rudolf Rassendyll, both of the royal house of Elphberg, but of very differing antecedents. The one was well known to the royal palace at Strelsau; the other was at home at 305 Park lane, London, West. The kinship between the two was quite an accident, dating from the year 1733, when a dashing young prince, later known to fame as Rudolf the Third of Ruritania, paid a visit to London. There he was courteously entertained and was a great favorite with the ladies, especially Amelia, countess of Burlsdon, and Baroness Rassendyll. In the end the prince left England rather hastily under a cloud, but not before he had fought a somewhat sanguinary duel with Countess Amelia's husband. In the years since there have appeared at intervals in the family of the Rassendylls certain sons who have been marked by the long, sharp, straight nose and the dark red hair of the royal house of Ruritania.

The years pass, many of them, and another Rudolf of Elphberg is about to be crowned king of Ruritania. The same nose, the same red hair distinguish him. The loyal half of the population of Ruritania could not sleep at night till the coronation was safely over. For the late king had left another son, by a second and morganatic marriage, Black Michael, duke of Strelsau and lord of Zenda. Though Michael bore none of the marks of the Elphbergs, he had been his father's favorite, and he cast a longing eye on the throne; all the cut-throats and blackguards of Ruritania seconded his wish, for Michael was a man after their own hearts.

Curious that young Rudolf Rassendyll should be moved by an idle curiosity to witness the coronation of Rudolf of Ruritania; still more curious that he, too, should bear the familiar nose, the same red hair. So thought Colonel Sapt, aide to the king, and Fritz von Tarlenheim, his close friend, as they came upon the young Englishman in the forest of Zenda, making his way afoot to Strelsau. So, too, thought the king when he appeared a moment later. But scandals of the past can no more be concealed in Ruritania than in England. As young Rassendyll later told the tale, first the king frowned, "then gradually the corners of his mouth began to twitch, his nose came down (as mine does when I laugh), his eyes twinkled, and, behold, he burst into the merriest fit of irrepressible laughter, which rang through the woods and proclaimed him a jovial soul.

"'Well met, cousin!' he cried, stepping up to me, clapping me on the back, and laughing still. 'You must forgive me if I was taken aback. A man doesn't expect to see double at this time of day, eh, Fritz?'

"'I must pray pardon, sire, for my presumption,' said I. 'I trust it will not forfeit your majesty's favor.'

"'By heaven! you'll always enjoy the king's countenance,' he laughed, 'whether I like it or not.'"

All the good fellowship in the world, however, could not permit royal scandals of the past to be raked up at a coronation. Rudolf Rassendyll must not show his face at this moment in the capital of Rudolf of Ruritania. "But by thunder," cried the king, "you shan't leave Ruritania today. For you shall dine with me tonight, happen what will afterward."

That was just the trouble, "happen what will afterward." One bottle led to another, until they were all as full of wine as they had any right to be. At last the king set down his glass and leaned back in his chair.

"'I have drunk enough,' said he.

"'Far be it from me to contradict the king,' said I. Indeed, his remark was most absolutely true—so far as it went. But still another bottle—this from Black Michael, praying that he drink for the love that he bears his brother. Could the king refuse? He could not. Was the wine drugged? The morning answered yes.

"'If he's not crowned today,' cried Sapt, 'I'll lay a crown he's never crowned.'

"'By heavens, why?'

"'The whole nation's there to meet him; half the army—aye, and Black Michael at the head—shall we send word that the king's drunk?'

"'That he's ill,' said I, in correction.

"'Ill!' echoed Sapt, with a scornful laugh. 'They know his illness too well. He's been ill before! As a man grows old he believes in fate. Fate sent you here. Fate sends you now to Strelsau. You'll go?'

"'Yes, I'll go,' said I, and I turned my eyes on the prostrate figure of the king.

"'Tonight,' Sapt went on in a hasty whisper, 'we are to lodge in the palace. The moment they leave us you and I will mount our horses and ride here at a gollop. The king will be ready, and he must ride back with me to Strelsau, and you ride as if the devil were behind you to the frontier.'"

So began those wondrous days of adventure which saw the throne of Ruritania occupied by an Elphberg with all the traces of the stock, though not "of the blood." "The play actor," Rupert of Hentzau called him, when he came to know the secret, but "as good an Elphberg as ever sat upon it," declared Sapt at the end.

The wild ride to Strelsau, with Sapt instructing the English Rudolf most minutely in his past life, his family, his tastes, pursuits, weaknesses, friends, companions and servants—as Ruritania knew them—the etiquette of the court, what would be expected at the coronation—and above all of the Princess Flavia.

"God save the king!" cried the people after the coronation had been safely managed.

"God save 'em both!" whispered Sapt as his mouth wrinkled into a smile.

But if things went well at Strelsau with Rudolf Rassendyll, now crowned as Rudolf the Fifth of Ruritania and the accepted lover of the Princess Flavia, fortune did not smile on the other Rudolf at Zenda. For Black Michael had had word from there that cleared for him the mystery of the coronation. Riding as fast as horses could lay feet to the ground, he seized poor Rudolf of Ruritania and held him prisoner. But then ensued a pretty pass.

"Aye, but he can't speak," roared Sapt in grim triumph. "We've got him. How can he denounce you without denouncing himself? 'This is not the king, because we have kidnaped the king and murdered his servant.' Can he say that? Hang me if Michael won't expose himself, if he tries to expose you."

But the most difficult situation for a loyal gentleman—and that was Rudolf Rassendyll—arose from the Princess Flavia. "I had to keep the princess devoted to me—and yet indifferent to me; I had to show affection for her—and not feel it. I had to make love for another; and that to a girl who—princess or no princess—was the most beautiful I had ever seen. How I succeeded in carrying out my program will appear hereafter."

How they fell in love, he with her and she with him, is part of the story. And how, forgetting self, he rescued the king, and robbed himself of love and throne and almost life. When he had fallen sorely wounded:

"Fritz," he called, "is the king still alive?"

"Aye, friend—dear friend;" said he, tender as a woman, "thanks to the most gallant gentleman that lives, the king is alive!"

All's well that ends well. But of the Princess Flavia?

"If I can never hold sweet converse again with her, or look upon her face, or know from her her love, why, then, this side the grave, I will live as becomes the man she loves; and for the other side I must pray a dreamless sleep."

How to Treat A Torpid Liver

The liver is the largest and most important organ in the body, and when the liver refuses to act, it causes constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, gas, sour stomach, bad breath, dysentery, diarrhoea, pains in back and under shoulder blades and under ribs on right side. These symptoms lead to colds, influenza or other serious troubles unless corrected immediately.

An inactive liver places an extra burden on the kidneys, which overtaxes them and causes the blood to absorb and carry into the system the impurities that the liver and kidneys have failed to eliminate.

When you treat the liver alone, you treat only a third of your trouble, and that is why you have to take purgatives every few nights. Calomel or other ordinary laxatives do not go far enough. If you would treat your kidneys and blood while treating the liver you would put your entire system in order and frequent purgatives would then be unnecessary.

Dr. W. L. Hitchcock many years ago recognized these important facts, and after much study and research, compounded what is now known as Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney and Blood Powders, three medicines combined in one. This was the Doctor's favorite prescription for many years, being used by his patients with marked success. It is a harmless vegetable remedy that will not make you sick, and you may eat anything you like while taking it.

Get a large tin box from your druggist or dealer for 25c, under his personal guarantee that it will give relief, tone up the liver, stimulate the kidneys to healthy action and thereby purify the blood. FARM STOCK

DISEASES CARRIED BY DOGS

Animal Should Be Handled in Such Way as Best to Further Welfare of the Community.

Many diseases of man and domestic animals are carried by dogs. Everybody, of course, knows that the dog is responsible for rabies, but it is not so generally known that the dog is equally responsible for other fatal diseases. Among them may be mentioned hydatid and gid in man and stock, tapeworm in man and especially in children, tongue worm in man and stock, "measles" in sheep, cysticercosis of the liver in stock. Some of these parasites depend so absolutely on dogs as carriers that they would become extinct if dogs were not available as hosts. Dogs probably play a part, also, in the spread of diseases due to fungi, such as ringworm and favus, and they certainly play a part in the spread of diseases that may be carried by fleas and ticks.

The United States department of agriculture, while recognizing the dog as a useful domestic animal, insists that care must be taken to minimize the danger of diseases spread by them. In a general way, say the specialists of the department, there are three kinds of dogs—the ownerless dog, the other person's dog, and your own dog.

There Are Three Kinds of Dogs—The Ownerless Dog, the Other Person's Dog and Your Own Dog.

The stray dog which recognizes no owner, they say, does not fit into the modern scheme of civilization and must be eliminated. A dog that is allowed by the owner to wander at large will have substantially the same habits of life, the same sort of food, and be practically as dangerous as the ownerless dog. You have the right to insist, they point out, that such dogs keep off your premises.

Your own dog should be handled in such a way as best to further the welfare of the dog and the community. He should be kept in restraint and not allowed the full freedom of the house or even of the outside premises. He should not be allowed to be familiar with people, and especially with children. The dog should be kept free from external parasites by frequent baths and, if necessary, other appropriate measures, and should be freed from internal parasites by suitable measures and kept free by adequate attention to his food. He should only be allowed to leave the yard or the kennels in company with some person, and wherever conditions call for it should be kept in leash. When away from home the dog should be muzzled with a reliable metal muzzle, not with a strap muzzle that would be cruel to the dog if tight enough to be effective and which is usually so loose as merely to give a false sense of security, since it permits the dog to bite.

PURE-BRED SIRES SAVE CASH

Texas Breeder Finds Best Is Cheapest Whether With Cattle, Hogs or Other Animals.

"We have been in the cattle business for more than 35 years and have always kept the best pure-bred sires we could buy."

With this remark in a letter to the federal bureau of animal industry, C. H. Faires, a Texan, applied for enrollment in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign.

"We have always tried to teach the people to use pure-bred sires of all kinds of stock," he added. "Our motto is the 'best is the cheapest' of anything we raise whether it be cattle, horses, mules, sheep, poultry or dogs. We have found this paid as well with dogs as with everything else."—United States Department of Agriculture.

CATTLE SHRINK IN TRANSIT

Owner Loses Considerable by Not Taking Proper Precautions in Shipping Live Stock.

Investigations by the Colorado agricultural college are beginning to show that shrinkage of live stock when shipped to market can be greatly r duced. The most important thing a comfortable car and not much crow ing. The next thing is to have th animals well fed and contented when they are loaded and until they are sold at the terminal market. In other words, plenty of feed and water and comfortable quarters are most important.

"Some farmers," says R. W. Clark, live stock specialist for that institution, "ship regularly with little or no shrinkage, while others at all times have enormous shrinkage."

DODSON STOPS SALE OF CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" is Taking Place of Dangerous, Sickening Chemical, Say Druggists

Every druggist in town has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it." Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle doesn't cost very much but if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, just ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day.—Adv.

BREAK IN TRAIN'S SCHEDULE

Fair Driver of Auto Had a Hunch, and the Sequel Proved She Was Correct.

Let me recommend a ride in a new car with a woman driver as the best prescription for a thrill that will last a lifetime, writes a correspondent. Mine came when, after reluctantly accepting an invitation to ride from a friend who had just received her new machine, we mounted the incline to a grade crossing in a suburb and started across the tracks. In the exact middle the engine stopped and nothing we could do had the slightest effect on it. While working we were approached by an excited flagman.

"A limited is due here in two minutes," he said, "and it never has stopped at this station."

"It will today," calmly replied my friend. And it did, but not before it had been flagged and the train crew helped boost us from the rails.

After Listening to Much Sage Advice, Bill Jones Wants One Matter Cleared Up.

Our friend Bill Jones is a traveling man and needs rest, but unfortunately he doesn't sleep well. He has consulted a number of doctors in the various towns he visits, and being a systematic person has made a sort of digest of the advice he has received. It sums up as follows:

Don't sleep on your left side, as that creates a pressure on the heart.

Don't sleep on your right side, as it interferes with the action of the right lung.

Don't sleep on your back, as that is bad for the nervous system.

Don't sleep on your stomach, as that causes a pressure bad for the digestion.

"Don't sleep in a chair, as the body cannot properly relax.

Bill wants to know if anyone can tell him how to keep from falling over when he sleeps standing up.

Intruders.

"Why don't you take children in this apartment house?"

"Their crying," replied the janitor "is liable to interfere with the phonographs and player pianos."

I Owe My Life to PE-RU-NA

Mr. McKinley's letter brings cheer to all who may be sufferers as he was. Read it:

"I can honestly say that I owe my life to Peruna. After some of the best doctors in the country gave me up and told me I could not live another month, Peruna saved me. Travelling from town to town, throughout the country and having to go into all kinds of badly heated stores and buildings, sometimes standing up for hours at a time while plying my trade as auctioneer, it is only natural that I had colds frequently; so when this would occur I paid little attention to it, until last December when I contracted a severe case, which, through neglect on my part settled on my lungs. When almost too late, I began doctoring, but, without avail, until I heard of Peruna. It cured me; so I cannot praise it too highly."

Highway Improvement

ROADS STAND TRUCK TRAVEL

Comprehensive Experiments and Tests Now Being Made by Bureau of Public Roads.

State highway departments are vitally interested in the successful outcome of comprehensive experiments and tests now being made by the bureau of public roads of the United States department of agriculture. One state engineer recently declared that millions of dollars in his state are involved in the proper design of road surfaces, which make up one of the problems being investigated by the federal engineers.

The coming into general use of the heavy motor truck has practically revolutionized the science of road building. Big new problems came when loads weighing 10 to 15 tons took the place of vehicles that placed a weight of one-fourth as much or less. The roads built ten years ago were constructed before this fact could be realized—which is one of the reasons why many "permanent" roads have proved to be impermanent.

Constructing Road Sections for Impact Tests.

One of the testing experiments being made by the federal bureau involves the use of a 40-section roadway in the Arlington farm, owned by the department of agriculture. Each section was built from a different type of material, or with a different method of construction. The same use is given to each section, so that eventually the type of construction best suited to heavy traffic will prove itself.

TREE PLANTING BY ROADSIDE

Shade Is Great Help in Keeping Pavement in Prime Condition—Beauty Is Added.

There is a newly discovered benefit in tree planting by the roadside. It has been learned of late that the shade or partial shade of roadside trees is a great aid in keeping the pavement in prime condition. The authorities tell us that during the hot days of summer improved roadbeds are injured by the direct rays of the sun and that the partial shade of trees planted by the roadside enables the cement or other pavements to stand much longer unimpaired. Roadside trees will far more than pay for themselves by assisting in preserving good roads. Then there is the beauty of shade trees, and if fruit trees are planted think of the abundance of peach, plum, pear, cherry, apple and other fruit trees growing by the roadside which in the aggregate would amount to millions of dollars if generally planted through the fruit growing sections of the United States.

URGE CHANGE IN ROAD RULES

British Columbia Favors Alteration to Encourage Motorists From Other Sections.

Changes in the highway regulations now in force in British Columbia are being urged by local automobile and trade associations as a means of inducing motorists from other parts of Canada, and from the United States, to travel in the province. The present rules, which differ considerably from those followed elsewhere on the continent, are declared to deter tourists from including the region in their itineraries. Legislation intended to remedy this condition is being considered by provincial government officials.

INCONSISTENCY IN FARMING

Roadside Often Neglected by Farmer Who Is Provided With Most Modern Equipment.

Often a farm is seen provided with the best of equipment, good fences, fine premises and well painted buildings, yet the roadside is wholly neglected. Such inconsistency is like putting a dirty collar on a clean shirt.

DEPENDENT ON GOOD ROADS

Many Farm Crops Must Be Hauled Some Distance to Railroad Stations and Markets.

Farming is essentially dependent on the condition of country roads; for whatever is not produced on the farin must be hauled to the farm, and many crops of the farm must be hauled away to the railroad stations and local markets.

North Carolina Lady Was Nervous, Weak and Suffered Greatly, but Relief Soon Came After She Took Cardui.

Asheville, N. C.—Mrs. J. A. Sluder, of 45 Woodrow avenue, this city, recently made the following statement:

"I was in a very run-down condition after . . . I wasn't able to go.

"I was nervous, weak and couldn't do my work.

"I felt like, at times, no matter what happened, I couldn't get up a spark of interest.

"I was depressed, blue, and continually on the lookout for something to happen.

"I couldn't sleep to do any good, and had to force myself to eat when meal time came.

"I suffered some pain in my back and sides, but the worst trouble was weakness and depression.

"I decided to try a tonic.

"My sister had gotten such fine results from Cardui, I began using it.

"Soon I noticed I would get hungry, and sleep at night, and this, of course, was a great help.

"I grew less nervous.

"The depression left me and soon I was well and strong.

"I enjoy good health, thanks to Cardui." Ask your druggist about it. —Adv.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription.

Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Saved An Operation

MR. W. F. NELSON, a merchant of Hixon, Tenn., says: That the daughter of one of his neighbors, Mr. James Roberts, was in such a condition with female trouble that an operation was advised, and the young lady was sent to Chattanooga for its performance. She dreaded the operation, and STELLA VITAE having been recommended, decided to try that first. She has taken six bottles and is happily on the road to recovery. She is able to do her usual work and is in better health than for years before, but continues to use it. She writes: "STELLA VITAE will do all you claim." Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

SOCIETY AND PERSONALS

MRS. R. E. LUCKIE, Editor.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR VISITORS

One of the most enjoyable social affairs of the week among the younger set was a surprise party given at the home of Miss Mary Upchurch for Miss Kate Rainer.

After the guests "dropped in" several games were indulged in till a late hour, then went to Upchurch's Drug Store for ices.

Those enjoying this party were: Misses Kate Rainer, Alice Stanfield, Birdie Teel, Anice Kemp, Warene Spigener and Margaret Hester, Messrs Dick Hayes, Evans Edwards, Herbert Davis, Claudie Pipes, Grady Heflin, Lucian Duncan, Billie Orr and Joe Mullins.

CALLOWAY - HENLEY

At the Methodist Parsonage on Friday night Miss Gorie Calloway of Maplesville and Mr. Fred Henley were quietly married, in the presence of only a few friends. Rev. E. C. Maye performed the ceremony. The bride was handsome in a blue suit with accessories to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Henley left for their home in Maplesville.

MRS. BROADHEAD HOSTESS

A very interesting meeting of the Womens Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. J. R. Broadhead on Monday evening. Mrs. Roberts opened the meeting with scripture reading, followed by prayer by Mrs. Maye. The social service program was splendidly conducted by Mrs. W. W. Fox.

A delicious salad plate with tea was served by Misses Jewell Popwell and Theo Headley.

After an absence of about two weeks from the city, Miss Della Latham returned home Monday bringing her little niece, Mary Ellis with her.

MRS. LUCKIE HONOREE

As a special courtesy to her sister Mrs. R. E. Luckie, who is her house guest, Mrs. Clarke Harper entertained at a pretty porch party Thursday morning. The porch, where three tables were arranged for bridge, was attractive with its decorations of fern and shasta daisies. The score prize was a deck of cards, while the guest prize was a dainty piece of lingerie. A lovely salad plate was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. M. Calhoun. —Columbus Ledger.

POSTMASTER'S EXAMINATION

At the request of the Postmaster General the United States Civil Service Commission has anounced an examination to be held at Montgomery, Ala., on July 14th, 1920, for the position of postmaster at Clanton, Ala. This office has an annual compensation of $1800.

To be eligible for this examination an applicant must be a citizen of the United States, must actually reside within the delivery of the office and have so resided at the time the present vacancy occurred.

Applicants must have reached their 21st but not their 65th birthday on the date of the examination.

Application Form 2241 and full information concerning the requirements of the examination may be secured from the postmaster at the place of vacancy, or from the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. Applicantions should be properly executed and filed with the commission at Washington, D. C., in time to arrange for the examination of the applicant.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS MEET

On last Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Martin Nix the E. C. Maye Sunday School class held a most interesting meeting. The porch where the guests were received was lovely with decorations of hydrangia. The guests were received and served Chero-Cola by Misses Evelyn Potts Nix and Mary Heard. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Barney Roberts, and a mother's program was enjoyed. The class presented the president, Mrs. Roberts, with a Sunshine Bag, as a going-away gift, as a token of her faithful and never failing services to the class.

A lovely salad plate was served by Misses Warene Spigener and Gladys Mae Nix. The guests of the class for the afternoon were Mesdames Earl Gowan, Grady Reynolds, Forrester, and L. F. Gerald.

MISS UPCHURCH ENTERTAINS

Among the lovely social affairs of the week was a pretty luncheon given by Miss Mary Upchurch on Wednesday, when she complimented Miss Kate Rainer of Elba. At the noon hour the guests were invited to the dining room where covers were laid for eight and a betutiful lunchceon served.

The central decoration of the table was a basket of sweet peas surrounded by nasturtiums and ferns.

Rook was played in the early afternoon. Later the party went to Mims Swimming Pool. This happy crowd consisted of Misses Kate Rainer, Marie Thomas, Alice Stanfield, Anice Kemp, Mary Sue Mullins, Warene Spigener, Gladys May Nix and Birdie Teel.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Upchurch were visitors to Birmingham Wednesday.

Mr. A. S. Prince is in New Orleans on business for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Mallie White left for a short visit to New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mullins are visiting relatives in Clanton this week.

Mr. and Mrs. DeVaughn of Birmingham spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. G. O. McKee last week.

Mr. Curry Thomas returned to Clanton after spending the week-end in Birmingham.

Miss Leona Pipes has returned home from Hollins, Va., where she was a student during the past season.

Mrs. D. S. Wingard and son are visiting relatives in Shelby this week.

Misses Dewey Branch and Cuba Keith spent the week-end in Birmingham.

Mrs. Marion Foshee has as her guest this week Mrs. Tom Lowe and daughters.

Whet up your appetite for music and prepare to attend the concert to be given by the Clanton Boy Scouts Band at the High School Building in Clanton on Saturday night, June 26. They will have a program that will satisfy you, no matter how hungry you are for the jazz. Prof. Memoli has brought the boys to the front in the short time he has been teaching them and when you hear them play at this concert, you will be surprised at the skill they show.

THE UNION-BANNER

VOLUME IX. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALABAMA, JULY 1, 1920. NUMBER 14

ENTERTAINMENT AT BAKER SCHOOL FRIDAY NIGHT.

Mr. J. V. Best, one of the Trustees of the Baker School, was in town on Tuesday, and asked us to announce that there will be an entertainment at the schoolhouse on Friday night of this week.

The teachers of the school are planning the program of exercises for the occasion, and promise to make it interesting for all who will come. Besides the entertainment features there will be ice cream and cold drinks and other refreshments of various kinds for sale. The proceeds from the sales will be used in improving the school building.

The Baker school district is one of the most progressive in the county, and we hope the people of the adjoining neighborhoods will co-operate in their effort to improve their school.

When you go to Baker schoolhouse you can be assured that the people there will treat you right. If you don't believe it ask Tom Littlejohn or Uncle Dock Wells. They attended the old time singing there a few days ago at which occasion Uncle Dock had his wonderful experience with the big chicken pie.

DISASTROUS HAIL STORM

The Banner has been informed that a most severe hail and rain storm was visited upon the Union Grove community last Wednesday evening which resulted in the complete destruction of the crops over a wide section of that prosperous community. The rainfall is said to have been so heavy that the land was washed very badly. So complete was the destruction to the crops that some of the farmers will abandon their fields without the hope of making anything at all on them this season.

BRIDGES FALL IN

Judge Reynolds informs us that two bridges in the county have fallen in during the past few days making it necessary for the county to build new ones.

The first one to give away was the long bridge over Yellow Leaf Creek east of Thorsby on the Collins Chapel Road. It fell last Thursday as the creek was swollen by the excessive rain the night before. When it fell Carter Willis was on it with his team of Mules. By the aid of several other people Mr. Willis succeeded in getting his mules out without much injury.

The other bridge fell Monday of this week, also with a team of mules on it at the time. It was the new bridge near Sam Curry's in Dry Valley.

EARL BARRETT DROWNED.

News has been received in Clanton of the drowning of Earl Barrett, a young man of 18 years of age, at Edgewood Park in Birmingham Tuesday night.

Young Barrett was the only son of James Barrett of Birmingham, nephew of Mr. George Mims of Mulberry. He was attending the opening of the swimming pool at the park when he drowned.

BRIDGE NOTICE.

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Ala., will meet at Yellow Leaf Creek, near Thorsby, Ala., July 19, 1920, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of receiving bids to erect a steel bridge over said creek. The right to reject any and all bids is hereby reserved.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
7-1-3t Judge of Probate.

PLEASANT GROVE

Times are progressing very well at this place as the people are all well, and crops are looking good.

Sunday was very well spent here. There was preaching by Rev. Jeff Deason, and also communion service in the morning. Our singing society met in the afternoon and we had some very good singing. The songs were conducted by Prof. James Franklin, Mr. George Spivey and J. S.Wright. Organists were Misses Delia Champion, Bevie Childress, Nora Franklin and Mrs. Fleetwood Rasberry. Mr. and Mrs. Cleckler and Mr. and Mrs. Robinson from Pate's Chapel were with us. We very greatly appreciate their co-operation and expect them to be with us again. We also invite all others to meet with us in our song services.

As stated before, we met on the first and third Sunday afternoons, but on account of conflicting with the other societies have changed our time to the second and fourth Sundays in the afternoon. We hope for a great revival of the Master's work and we believe that a revival in the sacred musical field would greatly assist in this blessed cause.

Our dear poet, Edgar Allen Poe, has said of music, "It is in music perhaps that the soul most nearly attains the great end for which when inspired by the poetical sentiment it struggles—the creation of supernal beauty. It may be indeed that this sublime end is now and then attained in fact. We are often made to feel with a shivering delight that from an earthly harp are stricken notes which could not have been unfamiliar to the angels."

I have been requested to announce in this letter that the cemetetry here will be cleaned off July 9th. Everybody that is interested in this cemetery is invited to come and help in the work.

DULCIE CHAMPION, Sec'y.

Cobb and Miss Geneva Cobb; Fred Henley and Miss Gorea Calloway; L. B. Broadhead and Miss Belle Popwell; M. V. Smith and Miss Dora Edwards; J. M. Ward and Miss Lilla Scott.

MT. NEBO.

The Mt. Nebo Singing Society met Sunday afternoon, June 27th, with a large audience and a good class. The singing was opened with song by S. A. Henley, Chairman. Prayer by Rev. Albert Foshee. Leaders appointed were Glover Smith, W. G. Culp, Blanco Durbin, Calvin Parrish, Sim Henley and Sam Culp. Organists were W. G. Culp, Mrs. Zella Scott, Zelma Lowery. One important feature of the program was a duet rendered by Prof. C. C. Parrish and Miss Claudia Smith. We were glad to have the Liberty class with us Sunday afternoon, and any time they will come; also anyone else who is interested in singing.

A party of Clanton disciples of Ike Walton will leave here by auto on next Sunday for Dead Lake Fla., to spend a week of sport in quest of the finny inhabitants of that region. As this is the most famous fishing resort in the Southern states, we know these gentlemen will have some tall fish stories on tap when they return. The party includes George Polk, Hub Nabors, Fate Maddox; Burk Hart, and Tom Woods.

CHILTON COUNTY ABSTRACT CO.

M. D. FOSHEE, MANAGER.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

CLANTON, - ALABAMA.

THREE-MILL TAX

Clanton, Ala., June 30, 1920.

Dear Editor:

No doubt, by this time practically every voter in the county is aware of the fact that on the 13th day of July he will have the opportunity of casting his ballot for or against the retention of the present three-mill tax levied in the county for school purposes. "Where your treasure is there your heart is also." Now, it is not an easy matter to write or talk about taxes. Robert E. Lee once said, "Duty is the sublimest word in the English Language." Now the true parents treasure is his children. Since there has been so much said about taxes recently I shall take the privilege of calling your attention to some of the ways that we people in Alabama pay an enormous tax and yet are not aware of the fact that we are paying these taxes.

According to government statistics recently obtained by the Birmingham Age-Herald, the people in the State of Alabama during the past twelve months consumed over 120,000,000 cold drinks. Now, my friends, the revenue on these cold drinks cost us $1,072,000, which went to the support of the Federal government. Then again, the exact estimate according to the same statistics shows that the people of Alabama consumed daily an average of 350,000 or to be exactly accurate 127,750,000 glasses of soda-water during last year. A conservative estimate from the above of the actual cost of the cold drinks consumed by the people of Alabama would be not less than $10,000,000 annually. How much did the public school funds of the State of Alabama amount to last year? $5,000,000. Thus it is "self-evident" that we spend twice as much in Alabama for cold drinks as the State is able to give for her public schools. According to the estimate if these drinks were all in "Coca-Cola" or "Chero-Cola" bottles placed end to end, they would stretch 3,487 miles, or from the Atlantic Ocean to the Pacific Coast, with about 300 miles left over.

At a certain railroad station in Chilton County where there are only two stores handling cold drinks they sell about $1,500 worth of cold drinks annually. The school building in that community together with the equipment of the same is worth not more than $800. How does this sound for the future generations yet to come? Now, this community sells less drinks than the average towns of Chilton County. The peopel of Chilton County spend more than twice as much each year for cold drinks alone as the three-mill tax would cost them.

Now, Mr. Voter, when you cast your ballot on the 13th day of July remember the welfare of the boys and girls of Chilton County, also with out a doubt you will recall the fact "ONE ALABAMA SCHOOL ROOM IN EVERY THREE HAD EITHER NO TEACHER OR A POOR TEACHER THIS YEAR!" Next year threatens to be even worse! If the tax is defeated there will be practically no schools in Chilton County, but the heavy cosumption of cold drinks and other beverages will not only hold its own with these conditions, but will show a decided increase as a result. This is your business, I have explicit confidence in the judgment and into your hands will be trusted the future welfare of your most sacred treasure—your boys and girls.

Yours very truly,
J. L. JOHNSON.

CREAM SUPPER

There will be a cream supper at Collins Chapel in the grove at J. H. Collins's Friday night, July 2nd. A special invitation is extended to everybody as there will be plenty of eats and drinks for all who are there.

CLANTON INFIRMARY FULL

We are informed that the Clanton Infirmary is filled to its capacity with patients at present. This is not because there is an abnormal amount of sickness in Clanton and surrounding communities but is due to the fact that people are beginning to realize that Drs. Gragg and Marcus, with the assistance of their efficient and faithful nurse, Miss Gardner, can take as good care of sick folks right here in Clanton as they can in any hospital in Birmingham and Montgomery.

Don't forget that Sunday School day will be observed at the Methodist Church Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour. Everybody is urged to come and enjoy the very interesting program which has been arranged, especially the parents of the children.

L. & N. train No. 1 will not make stops at Clanton for a while yet. The railroad has gotten out an injunction against the order of the public service commission requiring them to stop No. 1 at Clanton.

MR. W. Y. NIX HERE.

Mr. W. Young Nix, that sterling citizen and staunch Republican from over at Maplesville, was in Clanton Monday to see Major Simpson about his land valuation. Mr. Nix and Mr. Simpson did not have any trouble in adjusting their matters satisfactorily to both, and as Mr. Nix dropped in to see the editor just as he was leaving for his home he possessed that same cordial smile and pleasing disposition which he carries with him always. Most people lose their smiles and put on long faces when you begin to fool with them about tax matters; but the smile that Mr. Nix wears is of that variety that won't come off easily.

A few cases of typhoid have been reported in Clanton. Those who are lucky in escaping this dreaded disease should take further precautions to avoid it by swatting the fly and keeping their premises clean and sanitary. Special care should be exercised in the use of pure water, milk and ice.

LAND VALUATIONS COMPLETED

Major H. M. Simpson, Tax Adjuster for Chilton County reports that he has completed his hearings with the land owners of the county relative to valuations of their property for taxation by the State. In this work Mr. Simpson has proven himself thoroughly qualified for holding a diplomatic post, for none but a born diplomat could get by with as few scars as he has done in this tax raising business. We have heard no complaints against the Tax Adjuster, and so far as we can learn the tax valuations for our county are satisfactory to most of the people. To say the most of the matter, if they are not satisfied, they are not kicking very much.

FELL IN SLAB PIT

John McDowell's little girl fell in the slab pit at George Jones saw mill at Idella last Saturday and was very severely burned.

Omar Reynolds, son of Judge L. H. Reynolds, has gone to Columbia University to take a special summer course. He will be there six or eight weeks and will return in time to resume his law course at the University of Alabama this fall. He will complete the law school of the U. of A. in one more year, after which he plans to do post-graduate work at Harvard or Yale before beginning active practice.

SHOULTS HAPPENINGS

Rev. J. D. Martin preached another fine sermon at Pleasant Grove last Sunday. A large congregation was present.

A revival will begin here the Fourth Sunday in July.

Everyone seems to be preparing to celebrate the birth of our nation, the Fourth of July.

The farmers of this community are all about through with their work; but there is danger in quitting too soon.

Sheriff Gore was in our community one day last week, and destroyed a wild cat still. There are too many Christians in this community to allow such things to go on at our doors, to ruin our young boys. There is a time coming when every knee shall bow down and every tongue confess Christ; and it may not be long.

Mr. W. P. Hicks received a message from his brother, Holland, in Birmingham, who has had an operation for appendicitis, and has been very low; but now he is doing nicely, but not able to sit up any yet.

The friends of Mrs. Sanford Kelly will be delighted to learn that she is able to sit up.

A jolly crowd of young folks enjoyed a great time swimming in the beautiful Oakmulgee Creek one afternoon last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton McGee and children spent Saturday night with Mrs. McGee's brother, W. P. Hicks.

Mr. Grover Merchant and family from Tabernacle spent last Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Merchant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hamrick.

Miss Ruby Shoults and Miss Pearl Kelley from Lawley attended preaching at Pleasant Grove Sunday.

Miss Jessie Latham and sister, Daisy, from Lawley, spent Sunday with Misses Lucy and Allie Walker.

Mrs. Grady Bailey from Selma returned to her home Sunday accompanied by her sister ,Mrs. John Mitchell. Mrs. Mitchell will see some doctors while in Selma; she is afraid she has cancers.

Mr. C. T. Walker was called to Clanton last Saturday on business.

Mrs. Cleve Latham visited her sick brother, Farmer Shoults, at Lawley, last Saturday, and she said he is not much better. He has just returned from Montgomery where he has been in hospital for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hamrick visited relatives in Perry County last week.

Some of the teachers of Pleasant Grove Sunday School are planning to attend the Sunday School teachers training school at Stanton next week. This will be a great benefit to the teachers.

TRIP TO ORVILLE

Tax Collector J. D. Collins is preparing for a trip to the great stock farms at Orville, below Selma, for a few days between the first and the fifteenth of August. He plans to make the trip through the country in autos as has been done heretofore, when several of our farmers have gone on such trips. Mr. Collins says he would like to have as many Chilton County farmers as possible to go with him on this trip. Those who can do so may notify Mr. Collins of their intentions of going and he will arrange passage there and return for $2.50 a man. The trip will be a valuable one, as those modern stock farms in that part of the state are certainly worth seeing.

ARCHITECT EMPLOYED FOR THE GRAMMAR SCHOOL BUILDING.

Announcement is made this week by the building committee of the Clanton Grammar School that Mr. Green, Architect, of Birmingham has been employed by the authorities to draft plans for the additional story to be built to the present Grammar School Building, which is provided for by the recently authorized bond issue of the Town of Clanton. It is the expectations and plans of those in charge of the matter to have the new building ready for the opening of the school this fall.

MORALITY OF YOUNG PEOPLE.

Editor Union-Banner:—Will you allow me space in our most appreciated paper to say a few words in regard to what Miss Era Sanders said about the morality of our young people. Let me say right here that when I read Miss Sanders' letter it made me feel so full of appreciation that I couldn't keep from writing. I have two girls and four little boys and I appreciate them and hope my friends will help me to see after them that they may come up in the good old fashioned way, so far as virtue is concerned. Fathers and mothers, let's all try to take care of one another's children. I will do all that I can, for I certainly do want my children to be reared so that they will be appreciated by those who care for the moralities of our nation.

I thank you for this space, Mr. Editor. J. M. WILLIS.

LANDE-MARGOLIS WEDDING IS POSTPONED.

The Banner has received the following telegram from Nashville:

"Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Margolis announce the postponement of the wedding of their daughter, Sadie, to Mr. Maurice Lande of Clanton, Ala., owing to illness in the family. The exact date of the wedding to be announced later."

The United States Health Department advises and asks for a vigorous campaign against rats all over the country, as bubonic plague has appeared in a number of the Gulf ports, and is liable to spread to the inland towns. Clanton has an over-supply of rats and we should get rid of them even if we must pay for having them killed. Some of the cities are paying ten cents apiece for every rat killed.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The following is the program for a Sunday School Convention to be held at Evergreen, three miles west of Verbena, on July 11, 1920:

10:00. Sunday school.
11:30. The Sunday School, What and Why? by J. B. Northcutt.
12:00. Adjourn.
1:30. Devotional services by G. W. Speer.
1:40. The Teacher and the Home; How they Can Help Each Other, by R. L. Duffey.
2:00. How to Double Your Sunday School, by J. B. Atkinson.
2:20. The Spiritual Life of the Sunday School, by J. L. Johnson.
2:40. Making the Lesson Interesting to the Class, by Miss Mary Carr Gibson.
3:00. Sunday School Progress since our last Convention,
3:15. Address by D. J. Flummer.
3:30. Our Sunday School Leaders between Sundays, J. C. Pattillo.
4:00. Adjourn.

FEW COMPLAIN SAYS MOORING

CHAIRMAN OF TAX COMMISSION SAYS 60 PER CENT BASIS IS ESTABLISHED FACT.

ORGANIZE EVERY COUNTY

Representative of Lawyers to Tour State and Set Up Bar Association.

Montgomery.—John S. Mooring, chairman of the state tax commission, who returned to the capitol after a tour of inspection in six counties, states that the equalization of taxes on a 60 per cent basis has gone far enough to authorize the statement that this equaliaztion is an established fact. Appeals from the ruling of tax adjusters, he states, are few and far between. During his absence from Montgomery Mr. Mooring visited the counties of Jefferson, Fayette, Etowah, Calhoun, Talladega and Shelby.

To Organize Every County In State.

Montgomery.—The executive committee of the Alabama Bar Association, adopted a resolution for the employment of an attorney to visit every county in the state and endeavor to effect as many county bar organizations. This representative of the state bar association will be appointed by Mr. Crum, chairman of the executive committee. It was also decided that hereafter, all applications for membership in the state bar association must be accompanied by the admittance fee.

Injunction Granted.

Montgomery.—A temporary writ of injunction, restraining the Alabama Public Service Commission from enforcing an order by that body June 9, requiring the Louisville and Nashville Railroad to have their interstate train number one, stop at Clanton, was awarded by Judge Leon McCord, of the Montgomery County circuit court. The order was issued subsequent to a petition filed in the equity division of the court by the Louisville and Nashville, praying such an injunction.

Centennial Coin Committee Meets.

Montgomery.—The special committee, of which Mrs. Thomas M. Owens, director of the state department of archives and histor , is chairman, charged with the duty of selecting and obtaining adoption of an original design for the Alabama centennial coin authorized by act of Congress, held a short conference at the capitol. Further plans concerning the issuance of the coin by the government mint were discussed.

Educators Meet In Mobile.

Mobile.—Needs of the public schools and several other important educational matters were discussed at a meeting of the county and city superintendents of schools, and boards of education, at Mobile. The conference was called by Spright Dowell, state superintendent. The counties represented were Mobile, Choctaw, Washington, Baldwin, Monroe, Clarke and Escambia.

Capital Increased.

Decatur.—The capital stock of the Tennessee Valley Bank will be increased to $150,000. Authority for the increase was voted at a meeting of the stockholders here. The directors were also given authority for an additional increase in capitalization of $50,000, whenever they see fit. This bank has a chain of branches in 16 north Alabama towns and cities, and has dfeposits of $5,000,000. It is one of the largest financial institutions in the state.

New Hospital Is Opened.

Andalusia.—The Andalusia City Hospital, recently incorporated, is opened for business. Plans for an extension are now being drawn, which will increase the capacity to 32 beds. The Covington County Hospital will also be ready for business within the next few weeks, with a $100,000 structure to be erected this Fall. Covington County now has three hospitals, two at Andalusia and one at Florala.

May Ask For Congressional Action.

Gadsden.—Capt. W. P. Lay is seriously considering the advisability of calling the Coosa-Alabama River Improvement Association together, to lay plans for congressional action looking to the opening of both the Alabama and Coosa Rivers to navigation. The fact that the Alabama Power Company will shortly begin construction of huge power dams on the Coosa means that most of the rapids that prevent navigation will soon be eliminated.

Welfare Meetings Held.

Montgomery.—Mrs. L. B. Bush, director of the Alabama State Child Welfare department, returned to Montgomery after attending education group meetings held in various parts of the state. Among other important subjects discussed at these group meetings was better salaries for teachers. At each session, Mrs. Bush brought to the attention of those present the importance to enforcement of the child welfare laws of the state.

No Protests Made On Tax.

Talladega.—Out of a total of approximately 3,000 cases to date, no appeal has been taken from the valuation placed by J. B. Russell, tax adjuster, on the taxable properties in Talladega County. Every case heard thus far has been settled in a satisfactory manner, it is said and no dissatisfaction among the tax-payers of the county has been expressed.

Sugar Rate Is Reduced.

Mobile.—As the result of a fight waged by the chamber of commerce traffic bureau in behalf of Mobile's shipping interests, the rate on sugar from New Orleans has been ordered reduced from 26½ cents to 21½ cents by the Interstate Commerce Commission, it is shown in a copy of the ruling just received by Traffic Manager R. G. Cobb. The new rate becomes effective August 13.

Board Is Reorganized.

Huntsville.—Paul Speake, for several years a member of the city board of education, has been elected president of that body and Mrs. Alberta Boswell, the only other longtime member, has been elected vice-president. Prof. Frank W. Williams was elected secretary. The board is now organized for the selection of teachers.

Sprinkler Is Bought.

Athens.—The commercial club authorized Secretary Sarver to go to Nashville and purchase a street sprinkler, and he closed the deal with the City of Nashville for a sprinkler which has been in use about six months. A committee was sent out later for donations from merchants and business men for funds to pay for it, amounting to a little over $500.

Appeals For Jewish Relief.

Montgomery.—Gov. Kilby before leaving for the National Democratic Convention at San Francisco, issued a statement urging the people of Alabama to support the Jewish war relief campaign, which opened June 27, and will continue through July 3.

School Tax Meets Defeat.

Heflin.—The special 3-mill tax for schools purposes in this school precinct of Cleburne County, was defeated at an election by the small majority of 12 votes. There was no organized opposition to the tax, however.

Dam Gets $4,000,000.

Sheffield.—Official news has jus been received in Sheffield that $4,000,000 more has been allotted by the government to continue the work at Wilson Dam. This amount will be sufficient to meet expenses for another year. It will require about $6,000,000 or $7,000,000 additional to complete the work.

New Plant At Andalusia.

Andalusia.—The McGowin Lumber Company is installing equipment to manufacture shuttle blocks. There is a great demand for the article at present, the product being shipped to Northern points, and is also being exported to England.

Fruit Is Plentiful.

Mountain Creek.—The high cost of living has been reduced to a great extent in this section by the unprecedented crop of plums, whortleberries and blackberries. There has never been a moe plentiful crop of this fruit here.

Work On Dam Proceeds.

Bridgeport.—Government work on the lock and dam at Widows Bar on the Tennessee River continues making steady progress. A number of gasoline locomotives have been added to the equipment.

Field Day Is Success.

Bridgeport.—The field day sports indulged in by the Columbian Woodmen in their great rally for new members were enjoyed by a large number of people. The races furnished much amusement.

Roads Are Surveyed.

Fort Payne.—Highway engineers who have been stationed in this county for the past two months have about completed the survey of both proposed routes of the Birmingham-Chattanooga highway, which the state will build through this county.

Improvements At Nitrate Plant.

Florence.—Bids for the proposed construction work to be done at United States Nitrate Plant No. 2, and at Waco quarry in Franklin County, were opened in Maj. Bundy's office at the plant. Representatives of the various companies submitting bids were present, but the awards have not been announced. The bids opened covered the greater part of the $1,000,000 appropriation made to complete nitrate plant No. 2 as a munitions plant.

Road Route Inspected.

Sylacauga.—Several members of the committee from points south passed through Sylacauga to look into the matter of selecting the permanent route through this section to be decided on. There is every prospect that the old route, as used, will be made permanent. As a result of Winter and Spring rains, considerable damage was done to the highway, but considerable repair work has already been done, and more will be accomplished soon.

"Hundreds of brides have been doomed to a life of useless celibacy through that infamous institution that is known as mixed bathing." This statement is the nulcelus of a protest by Councillor Donald Clark of Tonbridge, Kent county, England, after a debate as to whether or not mixed bathing would be permitted. Clark lost, and will not seek re-election, as the county is a strong woman center.

Lloyds recently experienced "quite an exciting day" as the result of a statement of a United States senator to the effect of the American merchant marine act, which appears to move the center of American marine insurance from London to New York.

Premier Lloyd George's demand that Irish railwaymen handle munition trains gives rise to an issue which must be fought out. Many declare the premier's attitude is a "bluff" and that he is "too afraid of English labor to give it effect."

With armed bands battling for the control of Londonderry, and the entire city in the grip of lawless elements, a state of civil war exists that may be ended only by the proclamation of martial law—and perhaps not them. The British authorities are apparently powerless, businesse is comuletely paralyzed. Murder, looting and incendiarism are alleged to stalk all through the streets, while citizens hide within their homes or attempt to flee the county.

Washington—

A report on the railroad strike situation was laid before President Wilson at the cabinet meeting by Secretary Payne, acting in his capacity as director general of the railroad administration, but action was delayed after Secretary Wilson had declared the situation was so improved that steps by the government were unnecessary.

Flag of Washington

FOURTH OF JULY
1920

Ring the tuneful bells of Freedom,
Let their music float afar,
Look aloft and see our banner
Of the glorious stripe and star;
Crowned with vict'ry, bathed in splendor
Upon many field of fame,
Heroes brave have died around it,
Each with an immortal name.

'Neath its folds our fathers triumphed
In the valiant days of yore,
And in battles for their country
They that beauteous banner bore;
Not a star today is missing,
Not a stripe a tarnish knows,
As it waves in conscious splendor
From the sun lands to the snows.

Let our Eagle guard it ever
For the honor it has won,
As he bathes his noble pinions
In the light of Freedom's sun,
Proud to see his emblem floating
'Gainst the vaulted azure sky;
Hear him shriek his proud approval
Every fourth day of July.

On the land and on the ocean,
Far as human eye can see
Lips repeat the deathless story
Of the Banner of the Free;
Born amid the storms of battle
Not a shame its glory mars;
And new nations wake to freedom
At the glitter of its stars.

Mirrored in our crystal rivers,
Streaming from our mountain peaks,
Loved by freemen for its beauty
It for Right and Homeland speaks;
Time will never dim its glory
While in heaven shines the sun;
Ever linked to song and story
Is the Flag of WASHINGTON.

American's Creed

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect Union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag and to defend it against all enemies.

"United States of America."

The name was original with Jefferson, and appears in the final paragraph of the Declaration of Independence, as follows: "We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, they these colonies are, and a right ought to be free and independent states."

Made Jefferson Immortal.

The Declaration of Independence was drawn up by Thomas Jefferson, who was only thirty-three years old. This remarkable manifesto, into which it has been said Jefferson "poured the soul of a continent," was adopted as he had drawn it, with the exception of a few unimportant changes.

A Serious Feminine Illness Remedied By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Casco, Wis.—"After the birth of each of my children I had displacement and was so weak I couldn't do anything I found a book about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound so thought I would try it, and after taking it I soon felt better. That was fifteen years ago and I have felt well ever since except that I had a slight attack of the trouble some time ago and took some more of your Compound and was soon all right again. I always recommend your medicine and you may publish my testimonial for the benefit of other women."—Mrs. JULES BERO, Jr., R. 1, Box 99, Casco, Wis.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills in this country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

New Zealand.

Discovery of the island of New Zealand is attributed to Tasman in 1642, but exploration did not take place until the time of Capt. James Cook, 150 years later, while colonization was delayed until 20 years before the American Civil war. Colonization resembled the settlement of the American colonies in that settlements were made in half a dozen places instead of being promoted from a central base, according to the usual British method.

Case Seemed Hopeless

Use of Doan's, However, Brought Complete Recovery and the Results Have Been Lasting.

"I used to think my back would surely break," says Mrs. H. S. Fix, prominent lodge woman, 340 Carpenter Street, Reading, Pa. "My back pained me constantly. I was as helpless as a baby and a nurse had to stay with me all the time. The kidney secretions burned and passed as often as every ten minutes. Sometimes my eyes were almost closed by the swollen sacs beneath them and my limbs, too, swelled twice their normal size. For almost a year I was practically helpless and never expected to get downstairs again. I had been told that nothing could be done for me, and had given up all hope of ever getting better. My condition was critical when I was told about Doan's Kidney Pills. I began using them and the results made me hopeful of getting well again. The pain in my back eased up and my swollen limbs started to look more natural. I kept on using Doan's and became entirely well. I owe my life to Doan's."

THE KITCHEN CABINET

The average person is quick enough to remark about the red flame of the sunset, but he seldom sees the dove colors and steel blues that lie back of him in the east. He sees the scarlet maple, or an orange stain upon a hillside in October, but he overlooks the silvery sheen of the wind-swept poplar and the cloudlike surface of the Indian grass. He is not blind to Niagara or the Alps, but he has an unhappy way of never regarding anything that is not 'big,' and hence he loses a great deal of pleasure in life which comes from discovering and enjoying the so-called commonplace."—John Van Dyke.

WHAT SHALL WE HAVE FOR DINNER?

A change of menu is one of the constantly recurring problems of the day, and the progressive housewife is not satisfied with a monotonous diet. Variety in the serving of food does not depend so much upon the purse as upon the trained mind which is able to work out suitable dishes, fitted to the amount one is able to spend for food.

Honey Muffins.—Sift together three cupfuls of flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt. Add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, three eggs, well beaten, one cupful of strained honey and one cupful of milk. Bake in well buttered muffin tins.

Snowballs.—Make a batter of one cupful of cream or top milk, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, the yolks of four eggs, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and flour to make a drop batter. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Fill buttered cups and bake in a hot oven. Serve with crushed strawberries and cream.

Southern Sally Lunn.—Take four cupfuls of flour, three egg yolks, beaten very light, one cake of compressed yeast dissolved in a little warm water, two cupfuls of scalded milk, cooled; stir in a tablespoonful of melted butter, and after all the ingredients are well mixed add the stiffly beaten whites. Set to rise, and when light bake in well buttered muffin pans.

Blueberry Muffins.—Take two eggs; beat well; add one cupful of sugar, one cupful of milk, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and two cupfuls of flour sifted with the baking powder. Add two cupfuls of blueberries; mix well and bake in buttered muffin pans in a quick oven.

"Soup makes the soldier," said Napoleon I, but Napoleon III wisely suggested that "a soldier could not be made on soup made out of nothing."

SUMMER FOODS.

Have a good bed of spinach to use as long as the family enjoy it, then can what is left for winter, adding a few carrots, a stalk of celery and an onion for flavor. This mixture is especially good for small children just beginning to eat vegetables.

Baked Spinach.—Wash two pounds of spinach and cook without adding more water. Drain when tender, chop. Mash the yolks of two hard-cooked eggs and mix with the spinach; season well with salt and pepper. Line a deep buttered baking dish with the spinach, dot with bits of butter or cubes of salt pork. Beat three eggs lightly, add four tablespoonfuls of milk, three-fourths of a cupful of grated cheese, the chopped egg whites, one-fourth teaspoonful of mustard and paprika to taste. Pour into the spinach, mold and bake till the custard sets.

Molded Salmon.—Take two cupfuls of cold boiled salmon or a can of salmon, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one egg yolk, two teaspoonfuls of sugar, one tablespoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, paprika and mustard to taste, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, two-thirds of a cupful of milk, one-fourth of a cupful of vinegar, one tablespoonful of gelatin softened in one-fourth cupful of cold water. Mix the dry ingredients, beat in the butter and milk, add vinegar. Cook in a double boiler, stirring until the mixture thickens. Add the gelatin, then the salmon, mix well and pour into molds. Serve on a bed of lettuce with any desired dressing.

Wilted Cucumbers With Sour Cream.—For those who can enjoy a cucumber without crispness this is a tasty dish. Slice cucumbers and put into salted water until wilted. Rinse in fresh, cold water and dry on a cloth. Season with salt and pepper and serve with thick sour cream poured over them.

Stuffed Peppers.—Parboil shapely green peppers, cut off the stem ends and scoop out the pulp and seeds. Fill the shells with seasoned crumbs, sausage or any chopped cold meat. Bake until well done, basting with melted butter. Serve on toast.

Rutabagas are so often served mashed and seasoned that we tire of the good vegetable; the following will be something to give variety: Cut with a French potato cutter sufficient balls from a large rutabaga, cook until tender, then serve in a good sauce. Rinse the turnip balls in cold water to which has been added a little vinegar, which will add flavor and blanch them at the same time. For the sauce, fry a small onion chopped fine, one small carrot also chopped, in a tablespoonful of butter; when a pale brown add one and one-half tablespoonfuls of flour and cook until the mixture bubbles; add one and one-half cupfuls of white stock or milk and cook until creamy. Season with one and one-fourth teaspoonfuls of salt, a few dashes of pepper and paprika, and cayenne. Pour over the turnips and garnish with parsley. Another sauce which is very good which may be served on diced turnips or turnip balls is a white sauce—a well beaten egg yolk, parsley and a bit of lemon juice.

If one goes through life attentive to the little courtesies he will not spend as much time in regrets after an experience is passed.—E. W. Serl.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE FAMILY.

A beefsteak pie is not a common dish yet it supplies more than one valuable food element.

Beefsteak Pie.—Take three-quarters of a pound of round steak, grind fine, using some of the fat. Season with salt and pepper. Beat two eggs, add two cupfuls of milk. Mix one and one-half cupfuls of flour, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, then mix with two cupfuls of milk. Add to the meat and stir, mixing well. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven for an hour.

Date Custard.—Pour boiling water over one-half cupful of dates, stone and cut into small pieces. There should be one-half cupful after stoning. Scald one and three-fourths cupfuls of milk, add, moisten three teaspoonfuls of cornstarch with a little cold milk. Add salt and cook fifteen minutes. Add two well-beaten eggs, the stoned dates and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Turn into the individual molds and serve cold.

Egg Night Cap.—Beat one egg until light. Add one cupful of milk and two tablespoonfuls of sugar and a pinch of salt. Scald one cupful of milk and just at the scalding point pour gradually over the egg mixture, grate a little nutmeg over the top and serve hot. This is a good drink to stimulate the stomach, drawing the blood away from the head and inducing sleep.

Grape Foam.—Beat one egg until light. Add two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one wine glass of grape juice, one-half teaspoonful of lemon juice. Mix well and pour into a water glass; fill with cold water. Use a second glass, pouring back and forth until well mixed. Serve with cracked ice.

Tomato Chowder.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of tomatoes, six medium sized potatoes, three medium sized onions. Dice the potatoes, mince the onions, cut a slice of salt pork into dice and fry a light brown. Add the onions, and cook until a light brown. Add the potatoes, tomatoes and paprika to season. Cover with boiling water and simmer forty-five minutes. Add three cupfuls of milk, bring to the boiling point and serve.

Call to mind for a moment that a nation's rise and fall can be measured absolutely by its art; that a healthy and vigorous period shows itself in strong, pure art, and a period of debasement and vice in a low and vicious art.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT.

The deduction made by our government scientists whose mission is to figure out just what kinds of foods are necessary to sustain the human body, is that the high cost of food is killing thousands of Americans and underminin; the health of thousands of others. The rea o for the casualty list i: that the most expensiv foods are necessary t sustain the health. Economy and ne cessity causes housewives to sele the cheaper foods and thereby depriv their families of the important foo principles.

The disease which is prevalent i undernourished children has made great advance in the last few years The word "acidosis" is so new tha it is not yet in our dictionary. Whe bread and other starchy foods are con sumed most extensively, as they ar in most poor families, they bring o acidosis. The principal symptom i difficulty in breathing, as the lungs are trying to eliminate the excess of poison.

Such foods as cakes, pies, hominy, bread, potatoes and hot cakes should never make up more than half the menu. Young and old should eat spinach, chard, cabbage, carrots, lettuce, turnips, onions, apples, pears, oranges, grapefruit, and other fruits, as berries.

Where it is possible to have but a small garden spot, vegetables of various kinds may be grown and thus reduce the cost of living and furnish the family with the needed food. String beans served with butter, milk, bacon fat or in salads will furnish food which contains a right proportion of the food principles.

It is pleasant to be reminded that sugar is a luxury that could be largely eliminated with no bad effects. Now that summer is with us, a diet of fresh vegetables, fruits and milk in plenty and at regular intervals will not be a diet difficult to follow.

Adhesive plaster is a most useful household remedy for various things from sore fingers to corns and callouses.

RECOMMENDED TO THE SEAMSTRESS

THE fairly efficient seamstress who has what the French call "a sense of clothes," can take a small allowance in money and dress much better on it than richer women who lack good taste. Also she gets more pleasure out of her achievements and there are a good many women in this favored land who have the knack of doing much with little. Thanks to the wide publicity given by newspapers to all matters of dress in centers of fashion no American need ever be behind the times in styles.

Two afternoon gowns shown in the picture here, may be recommended to the seamstress who undertakes to make her own dresses. They offer a choice between long, straight lines for those who admire the slim silhouette and curved ones for those who are too slender, or those who find unbroken lines unbecoming to them.

Tr olette with an open or drop-stitch stripe, makes the handsom straight line dress. The design is simple but original, achieving a sleeveless jacket effect in the body which slips over an underbodice carrying the sleeves. Wide satin ribbon, in a soft quality, makes a short crushed band across the front, simulating a girdle, and square buttons are set at each side where it terminates. The elbow sleeves are finished with turn back cuffs that employ a band of ribbon and buttons in the same way. There is a very simple neck with sailor collar at the back.

A plain satin underskirt and bodice supply the foundation for the attractive frock of georgette, which might be made of voile. It features the new neck mode—high at back and open in front, and very full ruching of plaited silk with pinked edges, at the bottom of a full, short tunic. The girdle is a folded length of bias satin.

With it she has responsilities thrust upon her; she must be aught to be careful to keep it clean nd thus comes the beginning of her raining in neatness and the unfailing harm of daintiness. Fashion decrees lk coats and frocks for little maids y the time their third birthday dawns nd has selected sprightly taffeta as he prettiest and most practical of eaves for them, although neither repe de chine nor georgette are denied hem. But these softer silks are used n light colors for dress-up times while affeta is sturdier and extends its useulness to coats and dresses that will tand more wear.

Taffeta in dark blue makes the harming little frock shown in the picure on a little girl of four. It has a uaint flavor of old times (which it is asy to achieve in taffeta) with its hort baby waist, round neck and vide, ruffled collar. The bottom of the waist is finished with a frill and band of the silk, the band having slashes in it for a narrow ribbon girdle to slip through. Short ruffled sleeves are caught up at the elbow and tied with ribbon. White sox and black slippers are in keeping with this little affair of other days.

Either taffeta or cotton will be successful in the pretty embroidered frock shown. It is scalloped at the bottom and set on to a narrow yoke also cut in wide scallops. A very simple stitchery like feather or cat stitching runs parallel with the scallops and little rose buds are embroidered above it. The same decoration appears on turned back cuffs that finish elbow sleeves and there is a sash of the dress material slipped through slashes cut in the body of the frock.

THAT SPLASH OF COLOR.

Organdie and novelty cotton frocks re good looking. Imported embroidred voiles dotted in vari-color are iven the splash of interest by a vivid ash of organdie with butterfly loops nd trailing sash ends. Another treatnent which is very effectively used n these voiles and in the organdie rocks is two-inch insertions of shirred ulle or of tucked organdie in a contrasting shade, which gives a much more hand-worked effect than the insertion of narrow laces. Yellow or gandie is used in this way with gray organdie and white tulle in the pale colored frocks.

Novelty Ribbons.

New novelty ribbons are brilliant allies of the woman whose expenditures must be restricted, for they may be fashioned into evening bodices of bright color and rich effect, as well as into girdles and panels.

YOU NEVER CAN TAME A WILD-CAT

Mr. Dodson Warns Against Use of Treacherous, Dangerous Calomel.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.—Adv.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcels Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

PUBLIC HIGHWAYS

AID NATIONAL FOREST ROADS

Secretary Meredith Favors More Liberal Financial Co-operation in Western States.

Speaking before highway representatives for western states, Edwin T. Meredith, secretary of agriculture, stated his belief that in the western states, where large areas of government lands are located, the federal government should adopt a system of financial co-operation more liberal to the states than is the case in the rest of the country.

"I think we must recognize the fact that the existence of these large areas of government lands places these states in a somewhat different situation from the remainder of the country," said Mr. Meredith, "and that it would be only equitable for the federal government to increase its percentage of co-operation over the present basis. I am also heartily in favor of continuing the appropriations for the building of national forest roads. These forests constitute a great natural resource, and their preservation and development is a national responsibility which ought to be met in full measure.

Mr. Meredith advocated active continuation of present federal and state co-operation in connection with state road systems with the systems of adjoining states in order that the working out of an adequate highway program for the whole United States may proceed in an orderly manner. He also advocated the continuance of work now going forward under the federal aid road act.

"As 1921 is the last year covered by the act," he said, "it would be highly desirable, in my opinion, for congress to make another provision as promptly as possible for the continuation of the work under the present system by an appropriation of at least $100,000,000 for each of the four fiscal years beginning with 1922."

MAINTENANCE COST OF ROADS

Ultimate Economy of Concrete Road Depends on the Small Amount Needed to Keep It Up.

The cost of a road involves not only first cost but the cost of keeping it in continuously usable condition. If this were not so, the cheaply built gravel road would be entirely suitable for our main traveled thoroughfares. The ultimate economy of the concrete road depends upon the extremely small amount of money required to keep it in excellent condition. The only maintenance needed on a well built concrete road is that necessary to keep filled with tar the joints and the cracks that may develop. The 1919 report of the state commissioner of highways of New York gives the average cost of maintenance for the three years 1915, 1916, and 1917 as follows: Macadam, $976.00 per mile per year for the maintenance of 2,408 miles; gravel, $824.00 per mile per year for the maintenance of 178 miles; first-class concrete, $124.00 per mile per year for the maintenance of 264 miles.

ROADS AS COMMUNITY ASSET

The Better They Are the More Likely They Are to Prove an Investment to Farmers.

The better the roads are, the more likely they are to prove an investment and consequently stand as a community asset. Without roads that can be used, regardless of weather and season, we might as well be living along the trails that our forefathers used when beasts of burden were literally such and marketing meant almost nothing.

BULLETIN IS OF IMPORTANCE

Useful Contribution From United States Department of Agriculture on Weather.

The highway weather bulletin is an important and useful contribution from the United States department of agriculture, made doubly so by recognition of the fact that the state of the roads is more important than the weather and that you needn't worry about the weather if the roads are paved.

TOY WILLIAMS, MISSIONARY

Many people in this country and especially those who frequent our Baptist churches, have heard more or less about missionaries to China. We have been drumded for contributions for missions and told many stories of how things were being done for the Chinks over there who have never heard of the Savior of the World.

The subject we must confess has been a dry one for many people and some of us have passed the matter up with a very little thought and a corresponding amount of contribution in the mission box.

When it was announced last Sunday that Rev. J. Toy Williams of Canton, China, would speak at the Clanton Baptist Church Sunday night on the life of a missionary in China, there flashed up at once in Clanton more interest in missions than has been manifest here in the past ten years. Everybody was going to hear the story, and when the hour arrived the old church was filled to its capacity.

This great interest was precipitated by several causes that were more or less individually applicable to this particular occasion. The first of these facts is that Toy Williams is originally a Clanton man, having grown up in the Mulberry Community and spent his boyhood days hoeing cotton on his father's farm and going to the neighborhood schools between crops. Later he taught school at various places in the county and was one of our most esteemed teachers.

He was engaged in teaching in the county schools when he answered the call of the ministry. Courses at the Howard College and the Baptist Seminary at Louisville completed his ministerial training and then he packed his grip for China. The past seven years have been active ones for him as a missionary in the city of Canton and adjacent country.

Rev. Williams is at home on a furlough now and it was a mighty great pleasure for his many friends here to listen to him describe conditions in the Orient and relate his experiences. Chinese missions was not at all a dry subject for those who listened to him on Sunday night.

In the cause of his lecture he presented one of the Chinese idols, a small wooden god, and told how an old lady had kept it in her houseboat all her life believing that it protected her from destruction by the evil spirits. He showed us one of the tiny shoes with which the feet of the Chinese women are bound. But this torturing practice he said, is fast disappearing now in the light of Christian era of higher civlization that is sweeping the country of the yellow people.

THE CLANTON BAND

Those who attended the splendid concert given by the Boy Scouts Band of Clanton on Saturday night, came to realize as never before that the band is no longer a joke, but a reality. Almost every piece rendered by the boys which included several new selections showed that remarkable progress had been made in the harmony, time and unity of the pieces rendered, and the money invested for the past six weeks instruction that they have received from Mr. Memoli, the great band expert and instructor of Birmingham, is money well spent.

As an institution or organization the people now have reason to be proud of their band. There are very few if any towns in the entire Southland that possess a boys band of 18 pieces. Apart from this, the large investment of not less than $1,500 by the parents of the boys makes the organization worthy of the financial support and hearty endorsement of every citizen of Clanton.

Some may think it an easy thing to play any one of the instruments comprising the band. They will soon become convinced otherwise if they once try it for themselves. The great bands of our country, some of which it has been the writer's pleasure to listen to, have only attained to their efficiency after years of training either as individuals or as a collective body. The marked improvement of the boys during the past six weeks through the training of Mr. Memoli is an evidence of great possibilities for the band in the future which not only for the reasons mentinoned above, but because of their ability as a band will give Clanton a reason to be justly proud of them. We are glad to learn that an effort will be made to have the instructor come regularly once or twice a month to teach them new selections and to attain to greater efficiency.

Next Saturday, July 3rd, they will render several pieces during the patriotic celebrations of the day led by their very competent instructor; and if you now think it is the same old band that you used to hear last year, you will be very pleasantly surprised and convinced that this is not true, and give them your patronage by purchasing all the ice-cream you can eat and coca-cola you can drink, to help pay the future expenses for the continued improvement of the band.

REV. P. G. CARTER.

DISCREDIT UPON WILSON NOT NATION.

From the beginning of his administration, Woodrow Wilson has been unable to distinguish between himself and the United States government. In his public utterances from time to time he has assumed that he and the government are identical—that he is the government. He has lost sight of the fact that the government is composed of three coordinate branches, the legislative, the executive and the judicial, the legislative being the first and vested with the greatest powers. At best the executive is only a part of the government and a minor part at that.

In one of his most recent utterances President Wilson declared that the United States stands discredited before the world because of its failure to ratify the Peace Treaty with the League of Nations Covenant incorporated therein. A delay which will ultimately extend over a period of two years, in the ratification of a peace treaty, must bring discredit somewhere, and it is pertinent therefore, to examine the truthfulness of President Wilson's statement, that the United States stands discredited. The United States entered the war to defend its own rights by joining in the defeat of Germany and its associates. Our purpose was intensely practical and we were not actuated by any visionary idealism such as that which Woodrow Wilson afterwards expressed. When the purposes for which we entered the war had been accomplished the war should have been terminated by negotiation of a plain treaty of peace imposing upon the offending nations such obligatons as the events justfied. There would have been no delay in securing ratification of such a treaty.

On March 4, 1919, thirty-nine members of the Senate notified President Wilson that they were opposed to the incorporation of extraneous matter in the peace treaty, and that they were desirous of an immediate negotiation of peace. This was extending to the president the 'advice of the Senate' which the constitution requires him to receive and consider. Assuming that he alone constituted the government, Woodrow Wilson rejected the advice of the Senate, forced the League Covenant into the treaty, and by that act caused the delay which has since ensued.

The United States government would stand discredited indeed if one of its coordinate branches should deliberately surrender or evade its constitutoinal duty of passing judgment upon treaties which bind this nation in its relation with the other nations of the earth. Fortunately the members of the Senate neither evaded the responsibilities nor surrendered their power. When President Wilson proposed to surrender American sovereignty to super-state, they defeated that effort by an overwhelming vote, members of his own party joining in the refusal to bind the United States to the League Covenant in the form which President Wilson proposed.

The sum and substance of the whole matter is that President Wilson assumed a power he did not possess. The whole world knew that President Wilson had been notified by a sufficient number of Senators to defeat the league covenant, that they were opposed to its incorporation in the treaty. The world knew, therefore, that the United States could not be bound by any agreement he personally might make with that purpose in view. If promises have been made or moral obligations assumed, they were assumed by Woodrow Wilson acting in defiance of the plain terms of the Constitution which he was sworn to uphold. Woodrow Wilson stands discredited not only before the United States but before the world. The United States government preserves its sovereignty and integrity, and has won the respect of the other nations of the earth.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION TO BE AT COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

The next session of the Chilton County Singing Convention is to be held at the County High School building in Clanton on the Third Sunday in July (18th).

Mr. J. Monroe Smith, the secretary of the Convention, and other local promoters of the cause of music in the county, are busy getting details in shape for the coming event which will no doubt be made one of the best in the history of the organization.

Such reputed singers as Patton, Merritt and others, will be here to add the great force of their presence to the occasion. At that time Prof. Patton will be teaching a school at Liberty Hill and he will be here with his entire class from that place.

Prof. Merrtt will be remembered by those who attended the special session of the convention at the high school last November. He was there and his directing caught up a most hearty response from all who heard him.

SINGING AT COOPERS

There will be an all day singing at Coopers on the First Sunday in July. Everybody is invited to attend and bring dinner and new song books.

Stomach Troubles Made Him Feel Sick at Meal Times, But Now Always Enjoys His Meals.

DO YOU enjoy your meals? Eat without the dread of the after effects?

Lack of appetite, and a disgreeable, sick-at-the-stomach feeling after meals, usually indicate that your digestive organs are not working properly. As a result, you will feel weak, lose weight and lack the energy that is to be derived from well-digested food.

A valuable help in correcting such conditions is mentioned by the Rev. E. K. McKenzie, of Route 1, Section, Ala., who writes: "I had stomach trouble. When I would go to eat, I would turn sick. I took one bottle of Ziron, and it cured me. Am always ready for my meals and enjoy them. I think it is a fine medicine."

If your food hurts you, if your appetite is poor, if you are pale, weak and run-down, and have other symptoms that indicate your system needs help, try Ziron. It will put iron into your blood and help build you up. Take it according to directions, and if not benefited by the first bottle, the money-back guarantee will protect you.

Ask your druggist.

KILL THE RAT—SWAT THE FLY

(By P. G. Carter)

Two very undesirable guests, shall we say pests, seem to abound and apparently to flourish in the enterprising city of Clanton. One is the rat, the other the fly,—the first a breeder of bubonic plague and the other the carrier of disease especially such as attack the bowels. The housefly is also a frequent disseminator of typhoid fever and of other diarrhoeal diseases. Flies breed in filth, and carry on their legs which under a microscope are seen to be thickly covered with hairs, numerous microbes and possibly other germs which they pick up from stable manure and similar knids of filth and deposit them on the food and other things over which they crawl.

In the case of the rat, bubonic plague is said to be transmitted by the fleas which they carry in their fur or skin, coming in contact with the unfortunate victim of this terrible plague. Not only are preachers fond of chickens, but rats have a particular likikng for them, and since frys are worth something like $1.00 each certainly it is economy for farmers, merchants, and householders alike, to wage a distinctive warfare on this terrible pest. Some of the following methods well known might be suggested:—Rat traps, the preparation known as Rough-on-Rats, which they very much like the taste of, or a good fox-terrier may prove very helpful. For the destruction of the fly there are specially prepared powders, also wire cages or traps that can be secured, and of course the well-known fly swatter. But first of all every housekeeper should see that his house is well screened against the fly.

Some of the citizens are endeavoring to dispose of these pests, but frequently their efforts are nullified because so many others do not cooperate. The pests themselves are bad enough, the diseases they breed are worse. Clanton as a whole is a healthy city. Let us make it even more so, by the hearty co-operation of all in keeping down such pests that seek to undermine and destroy them.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

We were glad to have with us on Sunday night the Rev. Toy Williams recently returned from Canton, China. The high esteem in which he is held as a Chilton County product, was manifested by the large congregation that filled the churches and listened to his story of the great work, and the progress of Christianity now being accomplished in China. The spirit of the meeting was good, the large congregation entering heartily into the congregational singing led by the pastor. The preliminary exercises of the meeting in spirit were like many of the regular evening services held in this church of late. The morning service was also very well attended, though automobiles took a large number of the members to other sections of the county either on social visits or all day singings or some other similar attractions to the detriment of their local church, leaving many seats vacant.

The regular services will be observed next Sunday, and the subject of the morning service in keeping with the spirit of Independence as celebrated on July the 4th.

We heartily welcome all visitors to our congregation and urge the Baptists of the city to unite with the church where they can make their influence count for something in the community where they live. Every citizen needs the church, and the church needs them, which is the most valuable asset any community can have. Come and enjoy an hour with us next Sunday and we believe you will desire to come back again. The church on earth is the foretaste of the eternal church in heaven.

P. G. CARTER, Pastor.

TOM PATTERSON DEAD

On last Sunday, at his home near Calera, occurred the death of Mr. Tom Patterson, well known in this part of the county. He was the son of Mr. J. W. Patterson of Poplar Springs.

Tom has been in poor health for some time, and his death was not a great surprise to his friends.

He was buried in Providence Beat 16 Cemetery, Monday.

He leaves a wife and three or four little children.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held in Chilton County, Alabama, on the 13th day of July, 1920, for the purpose of determining whether or not a special tax shall be levied and collected annually, at the rate of thirty cents on each one-hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said county, for the present tax year and continuing for a period of ten years, and said levy is proposed to be made for public school purposes in said county.

SUFFERING IS TERRIBLE STATES H. P. DAVISON

RED CROSS COMMISSIONER DESCRIBES RAVAGES OF DISEASE AND HUNGER.

COMMENDS JEWISH RELIEF

Says That Men, Women and Children Are Dying and That It Is America's Duty To Send Them Aid.

H. P. Davidson, leader of the American Red Cross during the late war, has just issued a statement in which he heartily commends the relief work which is being accomplished in Eastern Europe, and which has been brought about by the campaign inaugurated in the United States by the Jewish War Relief Committee.

Mr. Davison outlines the awful sufferings he witnessed in the stricken districts, and no better imaginative picture could be depicted of these awful conditions than to use the language given by the great humane leader in the following:

"This area includes the new Baltic states, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Ukraine, Austria, Hungary, Roumania, Montenegro, Albania and Serbia.

"The reports which come to us make it clear that in these war-ravaged lands, civilization has broken down. Disease, bereavement and suffering are present in practically every household, while food and clothing are insufficient to make life tolerable.

"'Men, women and children are dying by thousands and over vast once-civilized areas there are to be found neither medical appliances nor medical skill sufficient to cope with the devastating plagues.

"According to reports of the American Red Cross and the commissioner of the League of Red Cross Socities, made in a signed statement to the American government, wholesale starvation is threatened in Poland this summer unless she can procure food supplies in large quantities.

"A telegram to the League of Red Cross Societies, March 20, stated that there are now approximately 250,000 cases of typhus in Poland and in the area occupied by Polish troops.

"This is already one of the worst typhus epidemics in the world's history. In Galicia, whole towns are crippled and business suspended. In some districts there is but one doctor to each 150,000 people. During the year 1919 about 2,400,000 refugees and prisoners entered Poland.

"In the Ukraine, typhus and influenza have affected most of the population. In villages of two to three thousand, half the people were ill at the same time and there was almost no medical care. In many cases a territory of forty miles in diameter had but one physician. Some doctors who had twenty to thirty thousand patients could get no medical supplies whatever and had nothing better to give the sick than oral instructions. Pauperism is intensified every day.

"A report from Vienna said: 'There are rations for three weeks. People are apathetic, fatalistic, tired. One hundred thousand school children in Vienna are reported as underfed and diseased because of food shortage and lack of fuel. At least 25,000 hospital beds have become useless owing to lack of medical supplies. Death stalks through the streets of Vienna and takes unhindered toll. The general death rate has risen 46 per cent since 1913 and the mortality for tuberculosis 250 per cent.'

"Budapest is one vast city of misery and suffering. The number of deaths is double that of births. Of 160,000 children in the schools, 100,000 are dependent on public charity. There are 150,000 workers idle.

"In Roumania tuberculosis is spreading in an alarming and unprecedented manner. All energies are devoted to keeping the typhus epidemic at bay.

"Typhus and smallpox have invaded the four countries composing Czecho-Slovakia, and there is lack of medicines, soap and physicians. The shelves of their pharmacies and their hospitals are bare.

"In Serbia typhus has broken out again and there are but 200 physicians to minister to the needs of that entire country. In Montenegro, where food is running short, there are but five physicians for an estimated population of 450,000.

"Anyone familar with conditions throughout Central and Eastern Europe and also familiar with the organization and relief work done by the Joint Distribution Committee, should welcome an opportunity to assist you in your undertaking in the interests of suffering humanity. In my travels and observations as Chairman of the War Council of the American Red Cross I had occasion to study the needs of the peoples within those countries and also an opportunity to observe the excellent work done by the Joint Distribution Committee, the importance of which seems to me greater today, even, than during the distressing period of the war.

"I hope you will meet with success, which I am sure will be the case if it is possible for you to clearly present the situation to the public."

WHAT THE SCOUTS WILL DO HERE ON JULY THE 3RD.

It is going to be a big time for everybody. Games, Contests, Races, Music, Fireworks and everything for a Good Time.

YOU CAN'T MISS HEARING THE BAND

The Clanton Boy Scouts are perfecting the plans for their celebration here on the Third of July, and everything now looks like a day of much fun for the boys and entertainment for the visiting people.

The band will play the biggest card in the entertainment of the people. Everybody will enjoy plenty of good music and these boys are able to fill the bill completely in that respect. Prof. Memoli of Birmingham, who is teaching the boys in the band, will have charge oft hem on that day.

At 9:30 o'clock in the morning the Boy Scout parade will form at the depot and proceed to the grounds (place to be announced later). There will be a flag raising ceremony on arrival at the scene of the day's proceedings, accompanied by a lecture on the Declaration of Independence.

At 10:30 the games will begin, which will include foot races, tug-of-war, sack races, potato races, etc. There will also be a fiddlers contest about this time of the day. All the fiddlers can get their instruments tuned up and ready. Prizes will be given to the winners in the contest.

At 12 o'clock, the dinner hour, there will be a break in the program, and everybody who has dinner with them will have a chance to spread their baskets in any place they choose.

At 1 o'clock the program will start again with baseball games, volley ball, tennis, etc. These games will entertain the crowds all the afternoon. The teams to play ball will be announced later.

All during the day the Scouts will serve ice cream and cold drinks. All Scouts and scout officials from everywhere are invited to come and be with the Clanton Troop.

On the night of the 3rd the fire works display will be held at the railroad crossing. This promises to be about the best thing on the program. There will be plenty of music by the band all through the day's proceedings.

The people of Chilton County are urged to come to Clanton and spend that day and enjoy the festivities with the boys.

Children's Party Given.

Alex Hayes, little son of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hayes, was a cordial young host Saturday afternoon to a coterie of play mates and friends in honor of his sixth birthday. It was a very happy occasion when host and about 25 young friends alike thoroughly enjoyed the affairs. Many frollicking games and music on the Edison was enjoyed. At last the dining room was thrown open, revealing a beautiful table of "eats" with a pretty birthday cake burning its six candles. Much fun was created by the effort of the little ones to blow out the candles and after all were extinquished the cutting of the cake took place, when Alice Polk cut the dime, Joe Earl Gowan the button, and Miss Alice Selmon cut the thimble. Each guest was presented favors of the occasion, the girls each receiving tiny dolls and the boys rubber balls. The little host was the recipient of a number of lovely birthday remembrances.

Studp Club Entertained.

On Friday evening Mrs. Earl Gowan's attractive home was the scene of a large social gathering of Clanton's Club set. This being the regular business meeting of the Study Club. The subject for the afternoon was representative women and instructive papers were given by Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Mrs. V. J. Heard, Mrs. J. A. Hester and Mrs. Wilson. After the program the old officers retired and the new officers took their places. Mrs. Barney Roberts, President; Mrs. Hester, Vice-President; Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Secretary; Mrs. Guy Roberts, Treasurer; Mrs. V. J. Heard, Federation Secretary. Besides the Club members, Mesdames, Osmond Middleton, Nix, J. C. Page, Page, Hugh Jones, Misses McMillan and Rawlinson, were present. The hostess served a plate lunch with hot chocolate. Mrs. Gerald will be next hostess.

STOPPING NO. 1

A splendid hearing was granted the delegation who went from Clanton to Montgomery last Thursday for the purpose of giving evidence as to why No. 1 should stop at Clanton. Dr. V. J. Gragg, C. R. Mullins, C. B. Cox, R. D. Foshee, J B. Atkinson and P. G. Carter constituted the personnell of the delegation. Mr. Hugh White, the Assistant Attorney General acting on behalf of the State, did everything in his power to strengthen the evidence and testimony given on behalf of Clanton. The witnesses conducted themselves well, and strong testimony was given showing no just reason why it should not stop at this important county seat just as much as at any other or all the other county seats at which it does stop. It would be of great service to Birmingham, Montgomery, Sylacauga, Columbiana, as well as to Clanton and the precinct. The hearing for the other side on behalf of the railroad is to be set in the near future.

We are not able to say at this writing what the final outcome of it will be, but think that the outlook for it to stop by May the 1st is very bright.

The Chamber of Commerce is behind this important move and will do its utmost to bring about this very desirable and neccessary convenience to the citizens of Clanton. This is the first time this organization has had the matter in hand, but the prestiege that such an organization carries with it usually brings such things to pass. This is true in regard to all matters for the benefit of the city and community, therefore as a good citizen, join the Chamber of Commerce.

P. G. CARTER, Secretary.

CUT COTTON COST BY MAKING FOOD

Southern Farm Prosperity Absolutely Dependent on Cutting "Cash Crop" Production Cost Through Food-Making And Saving.

Atlanta, Georgia.—(Special).—The cotton farmer got his "bumps" again in 1921 between boll weevil, unfavorable seasons, food and grain buying on credit, combined with a price on cotton insufficient to 'pay him out.' Same old story, the same thing that has happened three or four times in the last dozen years," said H. G. Hastings, President of the Georgia Association, an organization for state wide development.

"We might just as well face the fact that with the world wide financial and political mix-up in Europe following the world war, there is no possible chance for using normal quantities of cotton at profitable prices to us if we continue to grow cotton on the high cost basis that we have been doing.

"Cotton is the one best money crop for the South, and probably always will be. The time of war prices is over and the problem from now on is to lower cost of production and at the same time afford the cotton grower a fair profit.

"Cost of making cotton is primarily the cost of food, grain and forage for the farmer, his family, his laborers or tenants, and his work stock. Cutting food, grain and forage costs by home production will reduce cotton costs from one-third to one-half.

"Plant for an abundance of food, grain and forage, thus cutting down store bills, and the lower prices for cotton will not hurt so much. We cannot, with European countries so thoroughly disorganized, reasonably expect high prices for cotton for several years and we must make cotton at lower cost, or else quit cotton growing.

"Most of us cannot quit cotton, hence the absolute necessity of food, grain and forage planting in 1922—the making on home acres of every pound of food and grain needed to see us through.

"In this food production program, take the home vegetable garden seriously. Give the home garden a square deal, and it will surprise you in the amount of healthful food produced. It takes the least ground, can be planted the earliest, brings quick returns and if kept replanted and worked will stay by you all the season through."

Want Pullman Fares Increased—Oil Excitement In Hale—A 14 Pound Turnip—Life Valued At 1 Cent—Good Roads Day.

Florence.—Messrs. G. W. Templemayr and R. S. Danby, Detroit realtors, have closed a deal for the property of Louis Gusmus, which lies on the Brick pike between Sheffield and nitrate plant No. 2, amounting to approximately 400 acres. The consideration is said to have been $100,000 or approximately $250 per acre. The Detroit men are said to have offices just across the street from one of the Ford plants in Detroit and they are said to have "inside" information as to what is happening at Washington. It is stated on good authority that they contemplate the purchase of several other tracts of land, some of them on this side of the river. Mr. Templemayr is reported to have said to several people that he and his associates contemplated buying large acreage in this district.

INCREASE IN SALARIES

Average School Principal's Salary In 1921 Is $65 Greater.

Montgomery.—When the new year began the state prison of Alabama contained 2,926 convicts, according to figures made public by the convict bureau of the state board of control and economy. Of the total 774 were white men, 2,018 negro men, seven white women and 1227 negro women. The net gain during the year was 476, records showing that there were 2,450 convicts at the beginning of 1921. The net gain during December was 17. All white women are confined at the state prison at Speigner and are employed in the sewing room of the cotton mill. The other convicts are scattered at 11 convict camps located at different points of the state.

Soldiers' Home Improvements.

Mountain Creek.—Dr. J. T. Fowler, superintendent of the Old Soldiers' Home at Mountain Creek, in Montgomery Tuesday, stated that the work of repainting the buildings at the home, recently repaired and improved, will soon be completed. The institution, Dr. Fowler stated, is now taking care of 84 aged Confederate soldiers.

Parent-Teachers Reorganize.

Mulga.—The Parent-Teacher Improvement Association met at the school building to reorganize and discuss plans for future work. They expect to work up real interest in this association and make it worth while in the community. A membership campaign is planned.

Alabama Postmasters Nominated.

May Build At Gadsden.

Gadsden.—Announcement that the Great Southern Steel Company is preparing to build a $500,000 steel product plant in Alabama caused much interest here, as it is believed that it will be located in the Gadsden district.

Enforcement Activities.

Montgomery.—One hundred and twenty-two stills, 440 gallons of mash and beer were captured by officers of the state law enforcement department during December. Within the same period, 217 arrests were made.

Attorney General Harwell G. Davis, is advising all solicitors to prosecute for murder persons arrested for manufacturing and selling liquor which causes the death of any human being.

Fire supposed to have been caused by defective wiring destroyed the Studebaker service and sales station operated by Foy Walden, at Dothan. About 15 automobiles were burned and the accessory stock badly damaged. Loss is estimated at $20,000.

Watermelon In January.

Rosedale.—How'd you like to set your teeth into the middle of a red, juicy watermelon about now? Desire for just that experience was what led James Whitfield, Rosedale negro to devise a way for bringing it about. His method was simple, he wrapped it in some old clothes to keep out the air and put it in a box in a coc dry closet. On January 3, he decided a little watermelon would taste good. And he had it, the flesh still firm and luscious.

The election for the twenty-five million dollar bond issue to be held January the 30th is fast aproaching, and indications are that the voters of Aabama will rally to the support of this measure. The adoption of the bond issue means that we will get this county, as well as other counties a part of the supposed highways of of the voters could travel over just this state, there would be no question of Alabama will rally to the support but that the issue would carry unanimously.

The House of Whispers

By WILLIAM JOHNSTON

Copyright by Little, Brown & Co.

UP TO DATE GHOSTS

Fiction readers who like haunted houses and mysterious noises in the night, and ghost doings that baffle explanation, should stop, look, and read right here. For "The House of Whispers" is well named. It's even more fascinating than the old-time haunted house, because it's a mystery apartment in a big city building—the lovely heroine, for instance, can creep along a ledge from one window to another in the dead of night, and a wonderful pearl necklace can disappear from a wall-safe and find its way back again, and the superintendent and his employees can fasten a charge of murder on the hero, and there might be room in the walls for secret passageways. But there is nothing new-fashioned or queer about the loyalty and devotion of the heroine for her lover in trouble; it's the same glorious thing that has thrilled us all ever since true love ceased to run smooth. And of course she gets the reward that she deserves—and they live happily ever after.

CHAPTER I.

With an exclamation of annoyance I crumpled up the note from my great-uncle Rufus and flung it on the floor. My disappointment at its contents was the one thing needed to complete the utter misery of a wretched day.

Only that morning my roommates, Birge and Roller, fortunate fellows, had been informed that their applications for the ambulance service had been accepted. Our year of happy companionship had come to an abrupt end.

"Cheer up, old man," cried the optimistic Birge, "your luck will change some time."

"Right," said Roller, as he stooped to give a final tug to the straps of his new kit bag, "a chap as crazy about Adventure as you are is bound to meet her soon."

"Stop it," I cried in desperation. "It is you two who are to have the great opportunity. Soon you'll be seeing shrapnel burst, airplanes battling, regiments charging, heroes dying, and I—I'll be sitting here alone in a hall-room, eating my heart out with lonesomeness and envy, spending my days at an uncongenial desk, and my nights, God knows how, after you fellows have gone."

"You never can tell," chirped old Birge, "all kinds of strange things happen right here in New York. You may be the one that has had a bellyful of adventure before we return—if we do."

His last three words gave us all a sobering thought. There was a chance, more than a chance, that never again on this earth would we three be together again. Eight of our college mates had preceded Birge and Roller to the great battlefield. Already three of them lay in hero graves somewhere under the lilies of France.

The silence of a sad parting fell on us. The taxicab came and we drove together to the pier with hardly a word spoken.

As we shook hands at the gangplank old Roller spoke again, a glisten of tears in his eye, something almost prophetic in his voice.

"Nelson," he said, "I feel it in my bones that something is going to happen to you soon, something thrilling."

"I wish to God something would!" I answered bitterly.

Disconsolately I waved them a last adieu from the dock. In a black mood I railed against the fate that had left me behind, poignantly lamenting the lack of the eight hundred dollars that would have set me free to accompany them.

Two letters, thrust under the door in lodging-house fashion, awaited my homecoming. One of them I recognized at once as my mother's weekly billet of good advice, and tossed aside to be read when I was in a better frame of mind. The other was in a cramped, unfamiliar handwriting. As I studied the envelope curiously a suspicion as to the writer's identity flashed into my mind and eagerly I tore it open. My great-uncle, Rufus Gaston, was an old, old man. It must be from him. What could he be writing to me about? Rufus Gaston was rich—worth many millions.

It was merely an invitation to dine with him and his wife. Disgustedly I flung it aside. It capped the climax of my dissatisfaction with everything. Here were my two chums starting off to the war, and here was I, Spalding Nelson, twenty-six, strong in physique, save for a "football knee" that had barred me from military service, thirsting for excitement, left behind in the prosaic business world and now bidden to an uninteresting meal with two decrepit old relatives. I made up my mind not to answer the note. My great-uncle Rufus could go hang, for all of his millions. I would not go near him.

The sight of my mother's letter lying unopened on my desk served to recall to me that it was she who had prevented my going. Poor mother! She and I had been at cross-purposes ever since my father's death while I was a youngster. It seemed to me that always she had opposed everything I wanted to do.

After I left college she had found a place for me in the office of one of my father's friends in the little western city where our home was. I had been two years getting away to join Birge and Roller in New York. Most of all she had set herself against my going to France. She did not believe in war. I was the only man left in the family. She was far from well. If anything should happen to her, my young sisters had only me to look to. When these pleas had failed to move me she had not hesitated to remind me that I was in her debt.

Unfortunately this was true. My years at college had cost me more than my small patrimony. I had borrowed freely from her, expecting soon to be able to repay her. Like all young graduates I had vastly overestimated my earning capacity. Three years had elapsed and I still owed her eight hundred dollars.

"I do not see," she had written me, "how you can honorably feel free to go while you are in my debt. To furnish you funds at college your mother and sisters practiced many economies. The girls are now reaching an age when their expenses will be much greater. I need the money for them. The least you can do is to pay it back before you give up your position and go off on wild-goose chases."

For this argument I could find no answer. My obligation to her was a debt of honor that must be paid before I could be my own master. Each week I had been putting away five dollars, and as it accumulated had been sending her a money order.

While I was debating what to do I began to read my mother's latest letter. The first part of it repeated her many arguments. She wrote:

"Two days ago I received a letter from my father's brother, Rufus Gaston, upon whom you called when you first went to New York. He asked about you and made me a proposition concerning you. I did not venture to give him an answer. Your views and mine are so seldom in accord. I gave him your address and suggested that he write to you himself. Probably he has done so by this time."

Hastily I rescued my great-uncle's crumpled note from the floor and smoothed it out. If Rufus Gaston—with his millions and no direct heir—had made a proposition concerning me, his letter took on a vastly more interesting complexion. Carefully I reread it, seeking for some hidden meaning between the lines, but it gave no clue to what he had in mind. He merely expressed the hope that I would be able to dine with him and his wife informally next Thursday evening.

What could it mean? It was at least well worth looking into. Mr. Gaston was seventy-four. He had made a fortune in the South American trade, retiring at sixty-five. There was only himself and his wife. On the Gaston side, through my mother, my sisters and I were the only blood relations. I wondered if it could be that old Rufus was thinking of making me his heir—heir to the Gaston millions!

As I penned a cordial acceptance of his dinner invitation I determined to set myself to pleasing the old couple, whom I had met only once, on the occasion of my call. A few years ago I would have despised the thought of catering to wealth, but since I had discovered how difficult it was to earn money and how much more difficult to save it, my views had changed.

I could hardly wait for the day he had set for me to dine with them to arrive. I found myself approaching their residence fully three-quarters of an hour before the time named. When I discovered how early I was I decided to loiter in the park for a few minutes. Old Rufus recently had given up his Avenue residence and now lived in one of those stately apartment buildings erected in the East Eighties. I turned into Central park opposite my great-uncle's street and dropped into the first bench I came to, depositing beside me a bunch of roses I had purchased as my first move toward winning my great-aunt's affections. Lighting my pipe I gave myself up to pleasant reveries, from which I was aroused by finding my roses tossed suddenly to the ground at my feet.

"Pardon me," I said indignantly, "but those belong to me."

"Benches ain't for bundles," croaked an evil voice beside me.

Recovering my flowers, I turned to find seated beside me a rat-eyed young fellow, cheaply dressed, eyeing me with an insolent stare. As I looked at him he began crowding over toward me. Plainly it was his intention to oust me from the bench.

"There's plenty of room on those other benches over there," I suggested resentfully.

"Beat it yourself if you don't like it here," he retorted, blowing the smoke from a cheap cigarette in my face. "I got a date here, and I'm going to stay, see?"

I answered with an angry retort and hot words followed. We had almost come to blows when the bushes opposite us suddenly parted. I caught sight for just a second of a villainous face, that of a man about forty, an unforgettable face with a red scar across the left cheek. He raised one finger in an imperative gesture, signaling to my unwelcome companion on the bench. With a profane exclamation of dismay, the rat-eyed fellow sprang up and walked hastily away along the park path. Wondering what it was all about, I watched him out of sight around a turning of the asphalt and then glanced toward the apartment house where in a few minutes I was to be a guest.

As I looked a young girl came out of the house and walked slowly toward the park. At the corner she hesitated. She seemed to be debating whether to continue on down the avenue or to turn into the park. Apparently the lure of the greenery won her, for she came on slowly toward where I was sitting. As she drew nearer I observed her with interest, for she was one of the prettiest girls I ever had seen. Her slim figure, her dainty ankles, her carriage, everything about her suggested the patrician. Her face, rosy and youthful, was set off by a jaunty feathered toque, from under which a pair of soft, black, roguish eyes, shaded by long lashes, looked out above a dainty nose, just a bit tip tilted, on either side of which a fugitive dimple played.

To my great amazement she walked right up to me and stopped short. I observed then that she seemed to be greatly agitated. Involuntarily I sprang to my feet and removed my hat, feeling certain that she had mistaken me for someone else.

"You Were to Wear One, Too."

She looked straight at me with an odd tightening of the lips. Into her great dark eyes came a look in which pride and fear seemed to mingle with utter loathing.

"I am here," she said.

In my confusion I mumbled something, I hardly knew what. She looked me up and down with a puzzled air and raised her hand to a red carnation she was wearing.

"You were to wear one, too."

"I don't understand," I answered.

"Didn't you," she asked hesitatingly, "didn't you come here about the papers—"

"What papers?"

"You know—"

"I don't know," I replied. "I know nothing about any papers. You must have mistaken me for someone else."

"But this was the place—this bench—the first bench?"

"I sat down here quite by accident."

"Oh!" she exclaimed with a sigh of relief. "And you're not wearing a red carnation, either."

I recalled then with misgiving that the ill-favored youth who just a moment ago had disputed the bench with me had been wearing a red carnation, and that he had muttered something about having a date. Yet it did not seem possible that a girl of this sort would be having a rendezvous with a scamp like him. I determined if possible to ascertain the girl's mission.

"I am merely waiting here," I hastened to explain, "until it is time for me to keep a dinner engagement with some relatives in the apartment house from which you came."

As I spoke I noticed that the fear and loathing had vanished from her eyes and that she was looking with relief at a little college pin I was wearing. She was blushing now from confusion at her mistake, and the rising red in her cheeks added greatly to her exquisite loveliness.

"I was to meet someone here," she faltered; "you quite understand, don't you?"

"I understand perfectly," I answered, and recalling the scar-faced man who had been lurking in the bushes, I hurried on to say, "but if I can be of any service—"

"No, no," she sobbed, apparently overwhelmed by whatever it was that was besetting her. "It's nothing—nothing anyone can help."

"Tell me about the man you were to meet here."

"Who are you?" she demanded, her suspicion suddenly rising at my question. "You're not a detective?"

"Far from it," I answered amusedly. "I'm just plain Spalding Nelson, on my way to dine with my great-uncle Rufus Gaston."

"Oh!" she said, relieved, "their apartment is on the same floor as ours."

"Tell me about the man you were to meet," I insisted. "I may have seen him."

"Did you? What was he like?" she demanded eagerly.

"Don't you know him?" I countered.

"No, I never saw him. I don't even know who he is. I only know that there was to be a man waiting here on this bench this evening. We were both to wear red carnations. I was to come here alone, to see him and to get the—"

She stopped abruptly and tearing off the flower she was wearing, trampled it viciously under her foot.

"Not so loud," I warned her, fearful lest they might still be lurking about and overhear us. "There were two of them."

"Two," she whispered, turning pale.

"Yes, one waiting here on this bench, and the other, a villainous scar-faced fellow, hiding in the bushes yonder."

"I dare not go on with it," she sobbed, "I dare not! I dare not! Oh, what shall I do?"

"The thing to do now," I replied, "is for you to let me accompany you back to your home. They will make no further attempt to meet you this evening, since my presence has spoiled their plans. Come, let me escort you, Miss . . ."

As I hesitated over the name she answered simply:

"Bradford—Barbara Bradford."

She pondered for a moment over my suggestion and then turned to walk with me toward the apartment house.

"What were the men like?" she asked.

I described them as best I could, though really the impression that the youth on the bench had left was vague. His voice, an insolent, hoarse, uncultivated one, was almost all I could recall about him.

"I wonder who they were? I wonder how they knew?"

"Knew what?"

Her lips tightened into a straight line.

"I can't tell you. I daren't. It isn't my secret."

By this time we had reached her home and the bowing doorman was swinging back the great iron door for us. It had been my intention to announce my arrival, but recalling that Miss Bradford had said that the Gaston apartment was on the same floor as hers, I stepped with her into the elevator. When it had descended, leaving us together in the corridor, she turned to me and offered her hand.

"Thank you so much, Mr. Nelson."

"I wish you'd let me help you," I cried.

She shook her head.

"Well, promise me one thing," I insisted.

"What is it?"

"That you never again will go alone to the park to meet these men."

A tremor shook her body, and once more a look of terror crept into her eyes.

"I can't promise that. I must meet them. I must! I must!"

I reached out and took her hand.

"Promise me, then, that before you go again you will let me know."

"You must not try to stop my going," she cried desperately and freeing her hand turned quickly and unlocking her door left me standing there alone, staring after her.

Perplexed beyond measure as to what I ought to do, after a moment I pressed the bell and was admitted to the Gaston apartment and to the presence of my aged relatives.

Under the same roof with the heroine.

Speedy Relief From Habitual Constipation

The liver is the largest and most important organ in the body, and when the liver refuses to act, it causes constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, gas, sour stomach, bad breath, dysentery, diarrhoea, pains in back and under shoulder blades and under ribs on right side. These symptoms lead to colds, influenza or other serious troubles unless corrected immediately.

An inactive liver places an extra burden on the kidneys, which overtaxes them and causes the blood to absorb and carry into the system the impurities that the liver and kidneys have failed to eliminate.

When you treat the liver alone, you treat only a third of your trouble, and that is why you have to take purgatives every few nights. Calomel or other ordinary laxatives do not go far enough. If you would treat your kidneys and blood while treating the liver, you would put your entire system in order and frequent purgatives would then be unnecessary.

Dr. W. L. Hitchcock many years ago recognized these important facts, and after much study and research, compounded what is now known as Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney and Blood Powders, three medicines combined in one. This was the Doctor's favorite prescription for many years, being used by his patients with marked success. It is a harmless vegetable remedy that will not make you sick, and you may eat anything you like while taking it.

Get a large tin box from your druggist or dealer for 25c, under his personal guarantee that it will give relief, tone up the liver, stimulate the kidneys to healthy action and thereby purify the blood. If your dealer will not supply you, it will be mailed direct by the Hitchcock Medicine Co., Atlanta, Ga., upon receipt of price.—Adv.

Music of the Shepherds.

In the stillness of the night, what more beautiful or soul-elevating than the mournful music of a flute? It was this instrument which the shepherds of Bethlehem were playing that memorable night when the angels interrupted to announce to them the birth of the Savior.

Lafayette

CHAMPION OF FREEDOM

General Lafayette, From a Picture Made Late in Life.

He came to fight for Freedom's cause
Against a tyrant's power,
When Washington at Valley Forge
Had reached his darkest hour.
His army fought beside our own,
And, when the task was done,
Another nation had been born,
For victory was won.

A boy in years—a man in heart—
Son of a mighty race,
He wrote his name in mighty deeds
That time shall not erase.
He brought new hope, and faith, and strength
In time of black despair,
And freedom triumphed on our soil,
For France was fighting there.

And then across the many years,
By history's glorious chance,
Against oppression's heavy hand
Our soldiers fought for France;
And when the last hard fight was won
We well had paid the debt
That always had been ours to pay
To France and Lafayette!

Independence hall came into existence without any thought of the part it was destined to play in the birth of the nation. Necessity really created it. It appears, from documents well authenticated, that the Provincial assembly of Pennsylvania had been meeting in a house, annually rented in Philadelphia, until May 1, 1729. It was shortly after this date that the assembly voted £2,000 toward the purchase of ground for the building and its construction. It was designed by Andrew Hamilton, a barrister of Philadelphia, who in making his plans, provided for two wings, one of them Congress hall. In 1732 ground for the building was broken, but the construction dragged on for some years before the work was finished, although certain rooms were used for some years before the whole was completed.

Construction of Congress hall began in 1787, and was completed in 1789, and the remaining wing of Independence hall, known as "City Hall," was started in 1789 and finished in 1791.

Colonies' Second Petition.

In 1775, on the 8th of July, the second Continental congress adopted the second petition to the king. This congress, which was held at Philadelphia, was the same which later adopted the Declaration of Independence. On the same day of the same year Lord Dunmore, the royal governor of Virginia, fearing a general uprising of the colonies, took refuge with his family on board the Fowney, a British warship stationed at Yorktown.

In 1776, on the 8th of July, the Declaration of Independence was proclaimed from the steps of the statehouse at Philadelphia, and read aloud to the army at New York

BEWARE!

That case of malaria may become chronic. Many people think they are free from it, and attribute their low state of health to various other reasons. The chronic effects are Anaemia, yellow skin, enlargement of the spleen and liver, together with a general low state of health.

Stop trying to cure the effects. Get rid of the cause by taking Oxidine, a preparation that drives malaria out of your blood. It is also an excellent tonic, and will make your system strong enough to resist any further effects from this dreadful disease.

Prayed for Cure
Finds it After 10 Years
Food Would Sour and Boil —Teeth Like Chalk

Mr. Herbert M. Gessner writes from his home in Berlin, N. H.:

I had stomach trouble over ten years; kept getting worse. I tried everything for relief but it came back worse than ever. Last fall I got awfully bad; could only eat light loaf bread and tea. In January I got so bad that what I would eat would sour and boil; my teeth would be like chalk. I suffered terribly. I prayed every day for something to cure me. One day I read about EATONIC and told my wife to get me a box at the drug store as I was going to work at 4 p. m. I took one-third of it and began to feel relief; when it was three-fourths gone, I felt fine and when it was used up I had no pains. Wife got me another box but I have felt the pain but twice. I used five tablets out of the new box and I have no more stomach trouble. Now I write to tell you how thankful I am that I heard of EATONIC. I feel like a new man; I eat what I like, drink plenty of water, and it never hurts me at all.

POULTRY FLOCKS

HOW OFTEN TO FEED FLOCK?

Much Depends on Whether They Are Confined or on Free Range—Good Plan Outlined.

Just how frequently chickens should be fed depends on whether they are confined or on the range. Some poultrymen feed their flocks twice a day, while others feed them three times a day. The best plan is to feed fowls in confinement three times a day and those having free range in summer twice a day. When there is a very long interval between feeds it is difficult to keep fowls busy which are kept in confinement. Idle fowls often contract bad habits, such as feather pulling and egg eating, besides going out of condition from lack of exercise.

In case it is not convenient to feed three times a day, the moistened mash may be fed in the morning, and at the same time the noon feed of grain may be scattered in the litter, which will keep the fowls busy a great part of the day.

For those who cannot conveniently feed their fowls early in the morning a good plan is to scatter grain plentifully in the litter after the birds have gone to roost. This grain will furnish feed for the early morning, say poultry specialists in the United States department of agriculture.

Some poultry keepers can look after their fowls only once a day. If this is in the morning, moistened mash may be fed, followed by throwing grain in the litter to furnish feed for the remainder of the day. If it is in the evening, before dark, a moistened mash may be given, and either after the fowls go to roost or in the morning, before daylight, grain may be scattered in the litter for eating during the day.

PLANS FOR BROODING DUCKS

Mother Duck or Hen Is Quite Satisfactory Where Small Numbers Are Being Reared.

Those rearing ducklings in small numbers usually accept the services of the mother duck or mother hen, according to which is used to do the hatching, for the purpose of brooding, and when only a few are reared this is a satisfactory method. Where ducks are raised in large numbers, however, artificial methods are always employed and the brooding is done by individual brooders or by long, hot water pipe systems heated by coal-burning boilers.

PROVIDE FOWLS PURE WATER

No Excuse for Permitting Them to Drink Impurities From Puddles—Cause of Diseases.

Fowls are not very discriminating in regard to water, and appear to enjoy drinking from puddles of foul water just as much as from pure and wholesome sources. That is no excuse for permitting them to do so, however, and the impurities in such water often cause serious losses. Either drain the stagnant pools or

PREVENT SPREAD OF ALL DISEASE

Cleaning and Disinfection of All Railroad Stock Cars Is of Utmost Importance.

OTHER VEHICLES INCLUDED

All Carriers Which Have Contained Animals Affected With Communicable Diseases Must Be Cleaned and Disinfected.

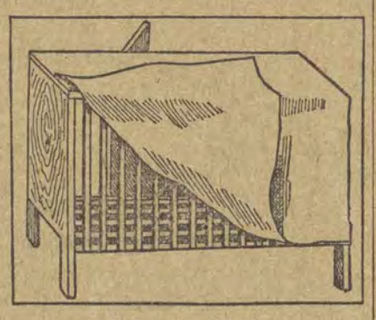
(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The cleaning and disinfection of railroad stock cars is an important means of preventing the spread of infectious diseases of live stock. In connection with federal control over the interstate transportation of live stock, administered by the bureau of animal industry, it is required that all such cars or other vehicles which have contained animals affected with a communicable disease, such as tick fever, scabies of sheep and cattle, hog cholera, etc., be cleaned and disinfected under bureau supervision before being again used in interstate commerce.

Federal Inspection.

All live stock received at public stockyards or at official slaughtering establishments are inspected at the time they are received by employees of the bureau of animal industry. If any animals are found to be affected with a communicable disease the carrier which brought them to their destination is at once notified to have the car or other vehicle set aside and thoroughly cleaned. After that has been accomplished it is disinfected under the personal supervision of a federal employee.

Cars Must Be Cleaned.



Various states also have regulations requiring that cars must be cleaned and disinfected before being used in the transportation of certain classes of live stock. The bureau of animal industry co-operates with such states by having its employees at central markets supervise the cleaning and disinfection of cars in compliance with the requirements of the state to which any stock may be destined.

An idea of the magnitude of this work may be gathered from the fact that during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1919, bureau employees personally supervised the disinfection of 44,843 cars. In addition a large number of motor trucks were handled in the same manner.

DIFFERENT CROPS FOR SILO

Canadian Peas Are in Right Condition When Pods Become Yellow—Same With Soy Bean.

Canada peas and oats are in condition to go into the silo when a stage of maturity is reached where the pea pods are becoming yellow and the oat heads are showing the first indications of ripening. Clover will contain the proper amount of dry matter if allowed to stand until somewhat more than one-half of the blossoms are brown. Soy beans are in the proper stage of maturity for silage when the plant shows signs of approaching maturity. The beans should be well developed and the pods beginning to turn yellow.

Cow peas should show the same conditions as described for soy beans.

OBTAIN LARGER CORN YIELD

Field Selection of Seed Ears Is Best, According to Reports From Ohio Station.

The Ohio station reports that selecting seed ears from the standing corn increased yields three and a quarter bushels to the acre. One reason why field selection is best, the station points out, is that it gets the ears which excel because of inborn merit, rather than those favored by growing on a rich spot in the field or produced from a one-stalk hill. The superior ear that comes from a three-stalk hill on the average soil of the eld is better for seed purposes.

CONTROL OF GARDEN PESTS AND DISEASE

Insects May Be Poisoned by Spraying With Solution.

Plant Lice May Be Repelled With Soap Suds, Kerosene Emulsion or Tobacco Decoction—Dust Surface Mulch Is Good.

Insects which attack vegetables may be divided into two groups—those which eat or chew the leaves or fruit, and those which suck the plant juice.

Biting insects may be poisoned by spraying the plants with poisonous solutions or by dusting them with poison powders. Potato beetles, flea beetles, cabbage worms, striped cucumber beetles and similar biting insects may be held in check by spraying the plants with arsenate of lead paste at the rate of two pounds to 50 gallons of water. The spray sticks better, especially on smooth plants like cabbage, if a little soap or molasses is dissolved in the spray. The arsenate of lead may be obtained as a dry powder, mixed in a quantity of flour or air-slaked lime and dusted on the plants.

Sucking insects like plant lice may be held in check by spraying with soap suds, kerosene emulsion or tobacco decoction. Most insects are also repelled to a greater or less degree by the presence of fine dust, which tends to close their breathing pores. For that reason, it is best to keep the surface soil well tilled to maintain a dry, surface dust mulch. Wood ashes, air-slaked lime, insect powder or tobacco dust sprinkled on and about the plants also help to keep down insects.

Most fungous diseases such as celery rust and potato blight, may be held in check by spraying with bordeaux mixture; four pounds copper sulphate; four pounds lime; 50 gallons water.

Where both insects and fungi are present, it is well to add two pounds of arsenate of lead paste to the 50 gallons of bordeaux mixture. This combination spray is to be recommended especially for potatoes to control the potato beetle and potato blight. Detailed information on the control of garden insects will be found in extension service circular 15, of the University of Missouri college of agriculture.

PAINTING INTERIOR OF SILO

Not Advisable to Use Lead and Oil on Wooden Structures—Carbolineum Is Favored.

In painting the interior walls of the wood silo do not use lead and oil paint; use carbolineum or some other creosote wood preservative. One of our subscribers advised us that he painted the interior of his silo with lead paint and the paint came off in small scale, says Hoard's Dairyman. After feeding silage for some time the cows showed signs of poisoning and seven died. A chemical analysis of the contents of the stomachs showed that lead poisoning was the cause of death.

EGG CIRCLE BENEFITS

The object of a community egg circle is to secure and improve better strains of poultry; to produce more eggs of good color and size; to handle eggs more carefully in order to avoid waste; to pack a uniform grade of clean, fresh eggs, in order to be able to guarantee them and thus create a reputation; to market same more directly to the consumers; to purchase supplies in a co-operative way; and to do such other things as may prove of benefit to the members and the community.—United States Department of Agriculture.

MILLIONS OF GIANTS PUT ON JOB

Germs of Blood Diseases Meet Conquering Foe.

Germs of Eczema, Tetter, Pellagra and other forms of blood troubles make their headway in exact accordance with the scarcity of red corpuscles in the blood.

When these corpuscles are multiplied and strengthened to the extent of being capable of overthrowing disease germs, then and only then, does the disease begin its losing battle.

Sul-Ferro-Sol is a mineral water rich with the one element (iron) that strengthens and multiplies red corpuscles—it makes them by the million.

One teaspoonful of Sul-Ferro-Sol taken 3 times a day quickly displays the wonderful effects of this remedy.

CUSTOMS FIFTY YEARS AGO.

Who among us would say to-day, "I never use a Dentifrice; I never have to?"

Yet Fifty years ago, odd as it may seem, not one person in 1,000 used a Dentifrice—or even a tooth brush.

So to-day, after more than 30 years of persistent publicity of Allen's Foot-Ease, the Antiseptic Powder for the Feet, not many well-turned-out people care to confess, "You know I never have to use a Powder for the Feet!"

More than One Million five hundred thousand pounds of Powder for the Feet were used by our Army and Navy during the war.

The reason is this: Confining the feet in Leather or Canvas Shoes is bound to create friction more or less. Allen's Foot-Ease removes the friction from the shoes. It is this friction which causes callouses, corns and bunions. You know what friction does to your motor-car axle. Why not remove it from your footwear by Shaking into your Shoes to-day, Allen's Foot-Ease, the cleanly, wholesome, healing, Antiseptic powder? "Ziron Did Us Both Good," Writes Mr. Gentry, of Norene, Tenn.

IT is a well-known medical fact, that iron is a necessary constituent of the blood, and that blood lacking iron is the cause of many troubles that only iron will cure.

Ziron, a scientific compound of iron with other valuable ingredients, is the remedy to take when your blood needs more iron, and your system requires a tonic. Ziron is mild and harmless, does not stain the teeth, and is good for children as well as adults.

Mr. P. G. Gentry, of Norene, Tenn., writes: "Ziron Iron Tonic has made good in my family. I have used it to a very great advantage to myself and my 14-year-old boy. It did us both good. I think it is a good medicine for what it is recommended."

If you are pale, weak, tired, feel down and out, take Ziron. It will put iron into your blood, and should help build you up.

MR. AND MRS. J. N. GUEIN ENTERTAIN

A lovely buffet supper was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henley last Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Guein of Maplesville. Never before was this attractive home lovelier than on this occasion. The home was made bright by a profusion of sweet peas and nasturtiums with potted flowers and plants gracefully arranged.

Dancing was indulged in until a late hour when a lovely buffet luncheon was served to about forty guests. Music was furnished by the Victrola. The central ornament of the table was an immense cut glass bowl of hydrangia.

The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. O. McKee, Mrs. Lula Powell, Miss Anice Kemp, Messrs. Earl Henley and Burton Higgins of Clanton; Misses Thelma DeVaughn and Audrey Moore of Birmingham, Otis Gardner of Centerville, and Vivian Shoutler of Stanton.

Miss Mae Roberts arrived in Clanton Tuesday morning after a visit of several weeks to Denver.

An Invitation to Talking-Machine Manufacturers

"We are informed that the representatives of one or more talking-machine manufacturers have stated, on several occasions, that they are able to distinguish between a singer's voice, or instrumentalist's performance, and the New Edison's RE-CREATION of such voice or performance."

"We hereby invite responsible representatives of any reputable talking-machine manufacturer to permit themselves to be blindfolded, and to listen to such a comparison, in the presence of judges of their own choosing, indicating to the judges when they think they are listening to the artist, and when to the New Edison. There is only one condition attached, and that is—that the representatives of the talking-machine company, and the judges selected by them, shall sign a written statement, setting forth, in full detail, the results of the test."

ODD FELLOWS CELEBRATION AT THORSBY JULY THE 17TH

The Thorsby Lodge No. 588 I.O.O.F. will have a day of celebration and a picnic on Saturday, July 17th. The boys up there are planning to have a big time and they invite all the Odd Fellows in the county to come and help them out. But the invitation is not confined to Odd Fellows alone. Everybody is invited to come and bring a basket of dinner and enjoy the day and help make the occasion one of success.

Congressman Huddleston of Birmingham has agreed to be there and make a public address. This will be worth going to hear.

THE COOPER SINGING

Last Sunday, July 4th, there was an all day singing at Chestnut Creek, Cooper, Aia.

Mr. S. M. Yates, Jr., was elected as chairman of the day. Messrs D. S. Robinson and O. L. Devaughn were appointed a committee to arrange the program for the day.

At the morning session interesting music was rendered, led by Messrs R. F. Murphy, C. C. Parrish, R. T. Grant, Lee Robinson, T. L. Robinson, L.T. Grant. At eleven o'clock Rev. T. J. Deason preached an interesting sermon using as his text 31st, 32nd and 41st verses of the 25th chapter of St. Matthew. Practically everyone remained in the house during the sermon thereby showing their appreciation of the well prepared and well delivered sermon.

In the afternoon session the people were entertained with music led by Messrs Lee Grant, Gip Melton, J. M. Cleckler, R. M. Robinson, O. L. Devaughn, Glover Smith, C. H. Robinson.

The organists, who added largely to the excellent music of the day, were Messrs Lee Grant, Jr., Ralph Grant, Earnest Murphy, Lee Robinson, C. H. Robinson and Mrs. Herbert Devaughn.

The people of Cooper sustained the noted hospitality on the occasion, and the very best of order prevailed.

THORSBY NEWS

Thorsby enjoyed a dry plank on her Fourth this year. The only wet goods being a nice shower of rain.

Mr. E. E. Hanson was a Birmingham visitor Friday and Saturday of last week.

Mrs. Rebecca J. Poole, wife of J. M. Poole, died at her home here on Friday night, July 2nd, at 9:00, p.m., after a lingering illness of more than a year. She was 66 years old and a life-long and devoted member of tht Baptist Church. Surviving her is her husband, one son, O. J. Poole, and one grand-child. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at New Salem, Rev. W. P. Lowery officiating.

Mr. J. M. Scott is in Thorsby for a few days visiting relatives and friends.

Miss May Parnell is home for a visit, having been in Birmingham taking a business course.

Generally when folks get dead-locked like the Democrats have been in San Francisco, they have had something else to drink besides grape juice.

Mr. Bennett Forsman has moved his family to Ensley, where Mr. Forsman is employed by the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company.

Mr. Albert Anderson was a visitor to the Magic City last week.

The Lutheran Sunday School picnic was held in the church's grove Monday, and was very well attended. While the weather was cloudy, the day passed without any rain. Many prize contests were held, and the tables were loaded down all day with all kinds of choice fruits. After everyone had eaten all they could there was enough left to have another picnic the next day. Thorsby has always been on the map when it comes to picnics and well-filled baskets.

Mr. Ed Billingsley and family from Chickasaw, Ala., are spending a few days here with relatives and friends. Ed has been away for three years, but he looks natural, with the exception that he has got fat. He weighs close to 120 now.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Childress were Sylacauga visitors a few days last week.

Mr. Harry Peterson of Prattville spent the Fourth here with his relatives and friends.

Miss Anna Werness of Birmingham was at home for a few days recently.

Thorsby is to have a very able speaker here July 17th, when Congressman Huddleston of the Ninth District will deliver an address on Odd-Fellowship, at the Odd Fellows celebration.

Judge Sam M. Adams has bought out the store of W. G. Maynard and tells us he is going to add some new stock. He hopes to get his share of business here at Thorsby.

It looks like the Democrats could have used better judgment in getting someone to open up their convention last Monday with prayer. But they lived up to the administration's policy by giving a Roman Catholic Knight of Columbus the most important job as far as prayer is concerned.

Mr. Sam M. Pate was a visitor to Shelby a few days recently.

Miss Erma Erickson left Friday for an extended visit to Wisconsin.

Mr. Jake Kimbrough spent the 4th in Birmingham.

Mr. J. Goddard is able to be out again after being confined to his bed for about 5 weeks.

Rev. J. M. Graham, formerly of this place but now of Birmingham, preached the sermon at the Congregational Church last Sunday morning.

It has been reported from a reliable source that Dr. Albert M. Woolley, formerly a Thorsby doctor, had dropped dead at a small town near Tuscaloosa, Ala.

A CARD OF THANKS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to thank the good and kind people of South Calera for their kindness and willing hand during the illness and death of Thomas Patterson, my son. I hope in my heart I can return their help some day.

MRS. LAURA PATTERSON.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Moore left Tuesday night for an extended visit to their daughter, Mrs. Crump in Jacksonville, Fla. Before they left Mr. Moore came around and made arrangements for the Union-Banner to come to him while he is on his vacation.

THE THREE-MILL TAX QUESTION

Clanton, Ala., July 7, 1920.

Dear Editor:

Please allow me to say a few words more to the voters before the tax election next Tuesday.

The outlook for the passage of the tax is indeed encouraging since so far there has appeared very little or really no outspoken oppositoin to the proposed tax.

One of the objections that I have heard to the passage of the tax is, that if the tax passes and the railroads, merchants, and lumber interests pay the majority of the tax they will raise their prices to such an extent that the consumers will have to pay the tax in the end. Now, let us see if this argument is true. Doesn't the railroads charge all the freight and passenger fares that the laws of the State, public service commission and inter-state commerce commission will permit them to charge? The railroads will charge just the same freight and passenger rates without the tax that they would with the tax. The lumber industries of the county base their prices on what they receive at markets outside of Chilton County and when the people of the county buy lumber they have to pay these prices. So your lumber will not be any cheaper if the tax is defeated than if it carries. If the farmers pay indirectly the taxes of the corporations then why so much objection to the exemption of the Alabama Power Company from taxes for ten years? If we pay their taxes why not exempt all the railroads, lumber mills, merchants, etc., and let the farming interests pay the taxes directly.

I want you to carefully study the following reasons why I feel that you should vote for the tax.

1. If the three-mill tax is retained it will not increase the annual rate of your taxes over what it was last year.

2. Every dollar of this money will remain in Chilton County and will be used for maintaining the schools of the county on an equal basis.

3. The compulsory attendance period of all schools must be free. You cannot force people to pay supplement during that period but you can tax them and remember the average persons tax should be less than his supplement.

4. If the tax fails we cannot hope to run more than three months free school. While if it passes we can run not less than five and probably six months free school.

5. The farming interests will not pay more than one-third of this tax and it will only cost the average farmer $2.00 per year in taxes.

6. Your vote for this tax means better support for our schools. Better support means better teachers in better schools. Better teachers in beter schools means better future citizens.

7. Remember the jail house and court house of this county are worth more than all the school buildings of the county, the high school included.

8. A vote against the tax means no schools at all.

The biggest job Chilton County can do is to give her children a good education. Chilton County must have YOUR aid if this biggest job is to be well done. Will you help? In no other way can you do so much to help the cause of education and help lift the county to a higher plane of moral, social, intellectual and spiritual betterment than by casting your vote for the three mill tax on July 13th, 1920.

Yours truly,
HOWARD L. FOSHEE.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Regular preaching services will be held next Sunday morning at 11 and at night at 8:00 o'clock.

Owing to the threatening weather last Sunday night the service was dismissed. The subject announced for that service will be carried over to next Sunday night, which will be "The Glorious Flag," with which we hope to have some special musical numbers.

The picture of the new church is now on exhibition at the Upchurch Drug Store. From the picture it will be seen that the structure will be a great credit to the city of Clanton. By all means, see the picture.

We cordially welcome you to all the services of our church and Sunday School, B. Y. P. U., Preaching services and the Prayer Meetings held every Wednesday night.

JAMES M. COX NOMINATED AT SAN FRANCISCO CONVENTION

In Confusion and Excitement of the Nomination, Convention forgets About Vice-President.

San Francisco, July 6.—Jas. M. Cox, Governor of Ohio, was nominated for President of the United States in the Democratic National Convention at 1:40 o'clock on Tuesday morning. The nomination came at the conclusion of a forty-four-ballot struggle in which he had steadily beaten down the forces of William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, and President Wilson's son in law.

When the balloting on the forty-fourth vote had voted to a point where Cox had 702 votes and was rapidly approaching the necessary two thirds, or 729, Sam B. Amidon of Kansas, manager of the McAdoo forces and vice chairman of the democratic national committee, took the platform and moved that the nomination of Governor Gox be made unanimous. Immediately there was a roar from the tired and worn delegates which lasted for a full four minutes before Chairman Robinson could put the question on Amidon's motion to suspend the rules and nominate Cox by acclamation.

In the confusion and excitement of a nomination the body forgot about a nomination for vice-president but the leaders were figuring on a list, which prominently included Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, assistant secretary of the Navy. The crowd was demonstrating its release from the deadlock and leders arrnged an adjournment until noon Tuesday to canvass the question of the second place in the meantime and to meet again prepared to complete the ticket.

DEAD BABY FOUND IN CREEK NEAR LOMAX

Last Monday, a party of fishermen consisting of Rassie Burnett, Enoch Traywick, Lee Traywick, Gannt Robinson and Arthur Robinson, were all seining for bait in the creek a mile north of Lomax. They dragged a sack out of the creek that gave forth a terrible smell, and they at first thought it was a sack of cats somebody had drowned. When they emptied the sack to see what was in it the body of an infant child was discovered. The child was wrapped in an old skirt and placed in two sacks.

The sheriff of Chilton County was summoned and he at once went with his deputies and took charge of the situation. A thorough investigation of all clues that could be started led the officers to find out that Lula Maherg, a young girl of 17 years was the mother of the dead baby. When pressed for testimony by the Coroner's Jury the young girl opened up the whole mystery by acknowledging that she was the mother of the child and that she threw it in the creek herself. She said the baby was born on the bank of the creek about ten o'clock last Tuesday night. Her first story said that the child was alive when thrown into the creek, but later she changed her testimony and said she thought it was dead.

This incident has brought to light one of the most gruesome stories of crime and iniquity that has happened in this county in many a day, and it remains yet to be seen what wll be further brought to light when the preliminary trial is held.

Cox Nominated For President

Nomination is Made at Conclusion of Forty-Four Ballot Struggle.

Henchmen of Cox Fought Steadily Until the Forces of W. G. McAdoo Ex-Secretary of Treasury Were Beaten Back.

Auditorium, San Francisco—James M. Cox, governor of Ohio, was nominated for President of the United States in the democratic national convention at 1:40 in the morning. The nomination came at the conclusion of a forty-four-ballot struggle in which he had steadily beaten down the forces of William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury.

When the balloting on the forty-fourth vote had gotten to a point where Cox had 702 votes and was rapidly approaching the necessary two-thirds, or 729, Sam B. Amidon of Kansas, manager of the McAdoo forces and vice chairman of the democratic national committee, took the platform and moved that the nomination of Governor Cox be made unanimous. Immediately there was a roar from the tired and worn delegates which lasted for a full four minutes before Chairman Robinson could put the question on Amidon's motion to suspend the rules and nominate Cox by acclamation.

The motion was formally voted over with a rolling chorus of ayes and a crashing of the brass bands.

State standards which had surged back and forth in the desperate battles of the deadlock raced to the front of the hall and to a place before the platform.

In the confusion and excitement of a nomination the body forgot about a nomination for vice president, but the leaders arranged an adjournment until noon to canvass the question of second place in the meantime and meet again prepared to complete the ticket.

The Cox band wagon movement really started before the recess for dinner.

Appeal To Tammany.

During the interval both sides of the fight made deserate apeals to Tammany. Throughout the evening New York's vote stood the same, 20 for McAdoo and 70 for Cox. On the third ballot of the evening session the slide to Cox started and before the leaders of the opposition could realize it the votes were flopping over in twos and threes and fours in a fashion which sent him over the majority mark and put him at a new level. After that the going was easy. Georgia went into the Cox column with her entire 28, the withdrawal of Palmer had released not only the Pennsylvania delegation, but other delegates who wanted to slide to the Cox column. The accessions of twos, threes and fours soon grew into blocks and when the forty-fourth ballot was well on its way the votes were tumbling into the Cox column so fast that his nomination seemed an assured fact beyond all doubt.

The coming development was obvious to the McAdoo men, and Amidon of Kansas, rushing to the platform, secured recognition from Chairman Robinson. Everybody who recognized Amidon knew what he was up there for, and the convention knew Cox was nominated several minutes before the motion was put.

Quickly Clear ODut.

With the nomination the convention gave an exhibition of relaxed energy. After dancing and hopping about the auditorium for five minutes or more the delegates cleared out, leaving the big hall abysmal and dark.

Totals forty-second ballot were:

McAdoo 427, Cox 540½, Palmer 8, Davis 49½, Cummings 3, Owen 34, Clark 2, Colby 1, Glass 24.

The changes were: Cox gained 43, carrying him within seven and a half of a majority; McAdoo lost 33, Davis lost 6 and Palmer's voted had dwindled to 8.

Forty-third ballot totals: McAdoo 412, Cox 467, Palmer 7, Davis 57½, Cummings 2, Owen 34, Clark 2, Colby 1, Glass 5½.

The changes on the forty-third ballot of the necessary two-thirds. McAdoo lost 15, Davis gained 8.

The thirty-seventh ballot as officially announced follows:

McAdoo 405, Cox 386, Palmer 202½, Cummings 3, Owen 33, Davis 50½, Glass 1, Clark 2, Adams 1, Bonniwell 1, Lewis 6.

The changes were: Palmer lost 38½, Cox gained 9, McAdoo gained 6, Davis gained 22½.

When the chairman announced no choice on the thirty-seventh the Cox, McAdoo and Palmer factions rose up and called to one another to join and end the deadlock.

The organ and band, which always seemed to be ready for the McAdoo rooters, lit into "Over There." It was all the McAdoo people needed to start up a parade. They took their tip from the music balcony and with Texas leading, started a procession of the McAdoo states.

Thirty-eighth ballot totals:

McAdoo 405½, Cox 383½, Palmer 211, Davis 50, Cummings 4, Owen 33, Glass 1, Clark 3.

The changes were: McAdoo gained one-half a vote, Cox lost 2½, Palmer gained 8½, Davis lost one-half vote.

Palmer Delegates Released.

C. C. Carlin of Virginia, one of the Palmer managers, took the platform and announced that Attorney General Palmer had authorized him to release his delegates. Carlin moved a recess of twenty minutes so the convention could decide what course to take.

Carlin told the convention the Attorney General was disinclined to delay the proceedings of the convention longer and he was authorized by him to "unconditionally and finally release his delegates."

Shouts of "Hurrah for Palmer!" rent the hall.

Totals thirty-ninth ballot: McAdoo 440, Cox 468½, Palmer 74, Davis 71½, Cummings 2, Owen 32, Clark 2, Colby 1.

Cox gained 85, McAdoo gained 34½, Davis gained 21½, and Palmer retained 74 of his 211.

Totals fortieth ballot: McAdoo 467, Cox 490, Palmer 19, Davis 76, Cummings 2, Owen 33, Clark 2, Colby 1.

On the fortieth ballot the changes were:

McAdoo gained 27; Cox gained 21½; Davis gained 4½, and Palmer retained 19.

Forty-first ballot totals: McAdoo 460, Cox 497½, Palmer 12, Davis 55½, Cummings 2, Owen 35, Glass 24, Clark 2, Colby 1.

The changes on the forty-first ballot were:

McAdoo lost 7, Cox gained 7½, Davis lost 20½ and the Palmer vote was reduced to 12.

Virginia Flops to Glass.

Virginia flopped back totally to Glass with her 24, taking 8 which she had cast for McAdoo and the 9½ which had been cast for Cox.

In Pennsylvania McAdoo gained 2 and Cox gained 2. Fourteen votes stayed with Palmer.

The Pennsylvania result was in doubt again and another poll was ordered.

During the recess between the forty-first and forty-second baHots Georgia caucused and it was decided to stick with McAdoo for another ballot. Some change was hinted at but not defined.

A roll call was ordered on a motion to adjourn until 10 o'clock.

Former Governor Linebaugh of Oklahoma moved it and the Cox people opposed it, fearing the effect of an overnight rest on their lead.

Palmer Releases Delegates.

Attorney General Palmer at 9:45 o'clock, at the close of the thirty-eighth ballot, released his delegates and left the democratic national convention free to move out of its deadlock and nominate a presidential candidate.

At the end of the second ballot, after the recess, when the Palmer vote had touched 211 and it was apparent that it could be driven no higher, former Representative C. C. Carlin of Virginia, Mr. Palmer's manager, took the platform and announced the withdrawal of the Attorney General from the race. Chairman Robinson, in presenting him, told the convention significantly that he was presenting a man who had an announcement to make which he was confident the convention would want to hear.

Expectation was in the air and the convention, which only a moment before had been in the height of disorder in a rackety demonstration, quieted down like magic until a pin might almost have been heard to drop in the great auditorium as Carlin took the speaker's place and said in substance:

"I am about to make an announcement of great surprise to this convention, at the conclusion of which I shall move a recess for twenty minutes to give the convention opportunity to decide what course it shall take.

"A. Mitchell Palmer asks me to express his sincere thanks and appreciation to every delegate who has voted for his nomination, but he is unwilling to delay the proceedings further, and has authorized me to finally, positively and absolutely release every delegate pledged to him that the convention may proceed to nominate the next President of the United States."

There was a roar of "Hurrah for Palmer!" as the line broke and the convention went into a recess. The denouncement, coming at the end of thirty-eight hard-fought and fruitless ballots, gave the same effect as does an over-inflated automobile tire when it bursts with a bang and then sizzles down.

JAMES M. COX

Democratic Nominee for President of United States.

BANK DEPOSITS SHOW INCREASE

TOTAL DEPOSITS IN STATE BANKS JUNE 10, AMOUNTED TO $105,695,423.32.

PROSPERITY IS WIDESPREAD

Farmers of State Are In Better Financial Shape Than Ever Before.

Montgomery.—Total deposits in 251 State banks and twenty-one branches in Alabama on June 10, amounted to $105,695,423.32, as against $84,952.81 on June 30, 1919, according to the State Superintendent of Banks. This shows an exceedingly healthy condition of affairs in Alabama, that prosperity has been widespread and confined to no particular section. In the face of labor shortage and a short cotton crop, the farmers of Alabama have profited greatly and are in better financial shape than ever before, and prospects are improving daily for them, and some measure the shortage of help is less than it was last year. Many of the boys are home from the army, and many others engaged in some form of war work away from home, have returned and takeh up agriculture again under the stimulus of good prices, and the cheaper living conditions on the farm, as contrasted with the expense of town, the prospects in all lines of business in the State were never brighter, nor business itself on a more substantial footing.

Coal Production Grows.

Birmingham.—Coal production in Alabama for the week, as given out by Frank V. Evans, statistician for the Coal Operators Association, amounted to 305,595 tons, against 293,887 tons for the previous week and 321,000 for the week ending June 12. The output at mines for the week ending June 5 amounted to 282,151. The production this June is greater than it was during the same month a year ago.

Holcombe Continues As Sheriff.

Montgomery. — William H. Holcombe, Jr., will continue to serve as sheriff of Mobile county. The supreme court dismissed the case brought by Joseph G. Bowen seeking to oust Holcombe from office. Bowen alleged that Holcombe failed to comply with the corrupt practice act.

Pershing Sends His Regrets.

Birmingham.—General John J. Pershing will not be able to attend the Rainbow reunion in Birmingham. An engagement in New England makes it impossible to attend, he states, in a personal letter. He expresses his regret at not being able to accept the invitation extended.

Court Has Large Docket.

Gadsden.—When the United States court meets here in August it will have a large docket to consider and 90 per cent of the docket will be composed of violations of the prohibition law, which have taken place since the last sitting of the court.

No Protests Filed.

Talladega.—With the ultimate time limit of ten days having almost expired, no appeal from the assessed valuations fixed on properties in Talladega county by J. B. Russell, tax adjuster, has thus far been filed. This is considered an unusual record.

County Taxes Settled.

Montgomery.—P. B. Dorlan, Mobile, the only county tax collector in Alabama with a record of 20 years continuous service to his credit, called at the state auditor's office, where he made settlement for this year's tax returns from Mobile.

Baptists Meet July 13.

Talladega. — Representatives from 39 Sunday schools, which comprise the Coosa River Baptist Association will meet here Tuesday, July 13, for an all-day convention.

Liquor Is Found.

Huntsville.—A 12-gallon keg of corn whiskey was found buried in a pile of coke in the rear of a local Bakery, by one of the employes of the establishment.

Sixty-five Teachers Needed.

Talladega.—D. A. McNeil, superintendent of education, states that fully sixty-five more teachers are needed to supply all the schols in this county.

Weevils Appear.

Anniston.—The boll weevil has made his first appearance of the season in this county in a city cotton patch.

Letter Carriers of State Meet.

Birmingham.—On July 5 and 6 the eighteenth annual convention of the Alabama Rural Letter Carriers' Association was held in Birmingham the sessions being held in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce. Birmingham was also the host of the first annual conference of the Alabama Federation of Rural Carriers, which met heer for two days, July 5 and 6. Sessions of the convention were held in the ball roim of the Hillman hotel.

Baptists Launch Rural Campaign.

Birmingham.—The Sunday school departtment of the executive board of the Alabama Baptist Convention, in co-operation with the Sunday school board of the Southern Baptist Convention, is launching the biggest summer rural campaign in the history of Alabama Baptists. Its purpose is that of teaching and training officers and teachers for more efficient work in the local Sunday Schools.

Changes In Offices of State.

Montgomery.—New faces in old offices, and well known faces in new offices, were noted at the capitol, when John W. Abercrombie officially became superintendent of education for Alabama, C. B. Rogers took his place as the chairman of the board of control, in the office at the head of the suite occupied by that department, and William F. Feagan took charge of the warden general's office.

Forest Reserves Are Established.

Birmingham.—In an effort to protect the timber of northern Alabama and the watershed of the great Black Warrior river basin, national forest reserves are being established. This reserve is approximately 200 square miles in area. John Forney, special attorney for the department of agriculture, made this announcement. The land is located in Franklin, Winston and Lawrence counties.

Wage War on Boll Weevils.

Mountain Creek.—Reports from all over this section agree that the boll weevil is plentiful. Industrious people are fighting the weevils energetically. Cotton looks well, and it is growing rapidly. The dry growing weather has favored the young cotton and held the weevil back.

Prisoner Is Hopeful.

Anniston.—Edgar Caldwell, negro, condemned to die July 30, for the murder of Cecil Linton, Dec. 15, 1918, thinks he is going to the coal mine instead of the gallows. Caldwell, in statements made to Sheriff Parker, expressed confidence that he would escape death.

Planning Dog Show.

Birmingham.—The annual bench show of the Birmingham Kennel Club, held during the Alabama State Fair, will be greater and more interesting this year than ever before. It is expected that not less than 300 dogs will be placed in the contests.

1,968 Cases Disposed Of.

Birmingham.—Total of 1,968 civil cases were disposed of in the circuit court during the term beginning January 1, 1920 and ending June 30, 1920, according to the semi-annual report made to Gov. Thomas E. Kilby by the clerk of the circuit court.

Corn Pest Active.

Centerville.—The farmers in Bibb county having corn in the low lands on Cahaba river are greatly disturbed over the appearance of a grass worm, or caterpillar, which is working havoc with the young corn.

Expense of Power Investigated.

Florence.—The Florence chamber of Commerce has appointed a committee to investigate the cost of installation of a hydro-electric plant on Cypress Creek for the purpose of supplying light and power for the city of Florence.

Half Holidays For Employes Sought.

Gadsden.—It is said 127 members of the Business and Professional Women's Club have asked the business houses of Gadsden to grant their employes a half holiday on Thursdays during July and August.

War Waged on Rats.

Greenville.—J. L. Perdue, health officer, has sent out a request to the citizens to assist in the war against rodents. The order was issued as a precaution against bubonic plague.

Veterans Given Furlough.

Mountain Creek.—Many of the veterans at the Old Soldiers' Home here are planning to visit friends over the state, with the furlough granted at this season of the year.

Crop Conditions Improve.

Greenville.—The crop conditions in Butler County are greatly improving, but farmers say they are far from being in such condition that a good yield is probable.

Many Attend Normal School.

Florence.—Over 400 students are attending the summer school of the State Normal here, the three dormitories being filled with students.

County Organizes Agricultural Club.

Florence.—An agricultural club has been organized at Green Hill, this county.

Fish And Oyster Men To Confer.

Mobile.—Representatives of the fish and oyster industry from the entire gulf coast section will meet in Mobile, July 10, for the purpose of forming the association for the promotion of that industry, and will spend the following day on an inspection of local facilities and points of interest hereabouts. The party will consist of both wholesale and retail dealers from the several important centers of the industry along the coast.

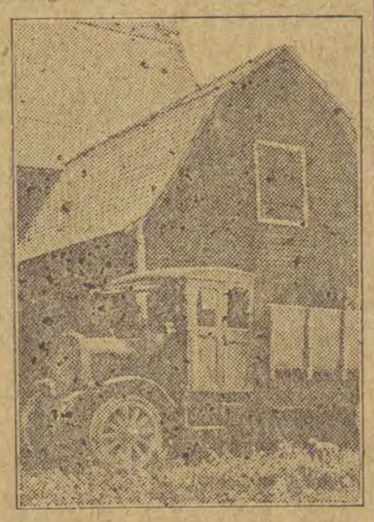
DEVELOPMENT OF TRUCK BUSINESS

Motor Industry in Rural Territory Has an Important Effect on Marketing Costs.



WAR BROUGHT ABOUT CRISIS

Conditions Precipitated Action by Creating Demand for Transportation Facilities of All Kinds—Difference in Plans.

Three general causes have contributed to the exploitation of the motor truck industry in rural territory—an industry which has an important effect on farm-marketing costs. These causes are: (1) the growth of our larger cities and the consequent development of near-by producing areas to provide for part of the food needs of these cities; (2) the failure of the railroads to keep pace with the expansion of their short-haul business; (3) the development of the motor truck manufacturing interests and the consequent extension of their sales campaigns.

Crisis in Transportation.

The crisis in the transportation field, brought about by national war emergency, afforded stimulus to the development of rural motor transportation more powerful than any other general influence. Doubtless the motor truck, in any event, would have established itself as a factor in the rural field, but ordinarily this would have been a slow process, involving the many preliminary steps. War conditions precipitated action by creating a very unusual demand for transportation facilities of all kinds. It has been necessary only to develop the opportunity. Such development necessitates or presupposes a certain familiarity with the problem as a whole. That such familiarity did not exist among those interested in developing rural motor routes was shown by preliminary investigations, initiated by the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture. An attempt was made more than a year ago to conduct a general preliminary survey of rural motor routes established or in process of establishment. The purpose was to secure basic information regarding the desirability of establishing such routes, the methods undertaken by the beginners in this field, and the measure of success which had been attained during the early period of operation.

A Type of Motor Truck That Requires Skill for Most Efficient Operation.

Truck Is Newcomer.

The information collected shows considerable differences in the plans adopted by the average inexperienced operator. The word "inexperienced" is used advisedly in view of the fact that the motor truck is a comparative newcomer in the field of transportation and there has not yet been time for many of the important preliminary problems to be worked out and a general understanding of possibilities secured. The results of the department's investigations in this field have been compiled in a bulletin, "Motor Transportation for Rural Districts," which will be sent on request. PUREBREDS NEEDED AT HOME

Wisconsin Bank Offers to Advance Money to Customers Who Wish to Purchase Holsteins.

The Better-Sires campaign conducted by various states in co-operation with the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, is developing the fact that bank credit is as available to the progressive live stock farmer as to the progressive business man of the city.

A letter received by the bureau of animal industry reports the following announcement published by a Wisconsin bank to its farmer patrons:

"Why not keep some of those purebred Holsteins at home? Many fine animals will be sold at the first annual sale of the Brown County Holstein Breeders' association to be held in the Brown county fair grounds West De Pere, Wis., The ———bank is ready to stand back of any of its customers who wish to purchase some of the stock to be offered for sale and who do not feel able at present to carry the investment. Call at the bank, and the accomodation can be easily arranged."

MARKET INFLUENCED LARGELY BY SUPPLY

Lowest Prices Prevail After the Heaviest Shipments.

With Decreasing Stocks Prices Advance, Sometimes Recovering Much of Early Decline—Careful Study Will Assist.

The man engaged in either selling or buying perishable produce will do well to familiarize himself with the usual course of the market in such lines during a season. The natural market course, according to marketing experts of the United States department of agriculture, is somewhat as follows:

It starts high with active movement even for inferior stock because the demand has the sharp edge of novelty and appetite. The price gradually declines and poor stock becomes harder to sell as the supply increases. Lowest prices arrive soon after the heaviest shipments begin, and a glut may occur, especially if many sections are shipping at once and there is much poor stock. Then, with a decreasing supply, prices advance, sometimes recovering much of the early decline, but usually not reaching the opening prices because demand is far less keen at the end of a long season. If the last of the shipments are inferior, as happens frequently with many perishable crops, the season may close at or near bottom prices.

The common or natural market developments do not always take place as might be expected. Quite frequently superior quality of the main crop or absence of general competition will bring higher prices in mid season. Unexpected shortage may cause the reserve stock in storage to sell at high prices at the close of the season, especially the less perishable crops like potatoes, onions, apples, cabbage, etc. Careful study of crop, shortage, supply, and shipment should enable a fairly good judgment to be made of the outcome. However, quickly perishable short season crops like strawberries or melons are very irregular, and so it is difficult to form a reliable market judgment of them.

BEAUTIFY FARM HOME YARDS

Shrubbery, Flower Beds and Good Lawn Involve Comparatively Small Amount of Labor.

The dwelling is the headquarters of the farm business. Chores are done before breakfast and often after supper, the stock need close attention, certain farm seeds are kept in the house, the hired man may sleep there, and the women folks take care of the poultry; thus it is almost essential that the house be reasonably close to the other buildings.

The value of the house constitutes an important part of the real estate value of the farm, says the United States department of agriculture. On the higher-priced corn-belt farms and the low-priced cotton-belt farms the value of the dwelling represents from Modest Farm Home Showing Simple and Effective Beautification by Inexpensive Planting.

5 to 15 per cent of the real estate value of the farm, while in the eastern part of the United States this percentage is more commonly 20 per cent or over.

The beautifying of the yard by shrubbery, flower beds, and a good lawn involves the occasional use of manure, the introduction of fertile soil, the use of a team and of small farm tools, all of which are available on the average farm.

MOVIE ATTRACTION IS NEW

Series of Pictures and Stereopticon Slides to Be Used to Boost "Better Sires."

The department of agriculture is preparing a series of motion pictures and stereopticon slides for use in the "Better Sires" campaign. The interest aroused among the breeders of the United States is taking the form of requests upon the department of agriculture for information which, it is hoped, the film feature will be able to satisfy. It is probable that the motion pictures will be ready for issue next fall.

RAPE IS ESPECIALLY USEFUL

If Not Pastured Down Too Close Crop Will Grow Until Fall—Withstands Hot Weather.

Rape seeded early will grow until fall if not pastured down to less than four or five leaves to the plant. The crop is especially useful during the hot, dry months. It will grow until heavy frosts come and may be pastured from early June to the middle of November, or about six months.

INVENTIVE GENIUS ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Doctors' Favorite Medicine Now Purified and Refined from All Objectionable Effects. "Calotabs"—the New Name.

What will human ingenuity do next? Smokeless powder, wireless telegraphy, horseless carriages, colorless iodine, tasteless quinine,—now comes nauseless calomel. The new improvement called "Calotabs" is now on sale at drugstores.

For biliousness, constipation and indigestion the new calomel tablet is a practically perfect remedy, as evidenced by the fact that the manufacturers have authorized all druggists to refund the price if the customer is not "perfectly delighted" with Calotabs. One tablet at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no nausea, no griping, no salts. By morning your liver is thoroughly cleansed and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite. Eat what you please—no danger—go about your business.

Calotabs are not sold in bulk. Get an original package, sealed. Price, thirty-five cents.—(adv.)

Music's Charms.

"I like plenty of music at a political gathering," remarked Senator Sorghum.

"You think it has a calming influence?"

"Undoubtedly. The great beauty about a brass band is that it can't be heckled."

Acts on the Liver, Regulates Kidneys, Purifies the Blood

The liver is the largest and most important organ in the body, and when the liver refuses to act, it causes constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, gas, sour stomach, bad breath, dysentery, diarrhoea, pains in the back and under shoulder blades and under ribs on right side. These symptoms lead to colds, influenza or other serious troubles unless corrected immediately.

An inactive liver places an extra burden on the kidneys, which overtaxes them and causes the blood to absorb and carry into the system the impurities that the liver and kidneys have failed to eliminate.

When you treat the liver alone, you treat only a third of your trouble, and that is why you have to take purgatives every few nights. Calomel or other ordinary laxatives do not go far enough. If you would treat your kidneys and blood while treating the liver, you would put your entire system in order and frequent purgatives would then be unnecessary.

Dr. W. L. Hitchcock many years ago recognized these important facts, and after much study and research, compounded what is now known as Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney and Blood Powders, three medicines combined in one. This was the Doctor's favorite prescription for many years, being used by his patients with marked success. It is a harmless vegetable remedy that will not make you sick, and you may eat anything you like while taking it.

Get a large tin box from your druggist or dealer for 25c, under his personal guarantee that it will give relief, tone up the liver, stimulate the kidneys to healthy action and thereby purify the blood. If your dealer will not supply you, it will be mailed direct by the Hitchcock Medicine Co., Atlanta, Ga., upon receipt of price.—Adv.

A Calculating Nature.

"Why did you refuse to take summer boarders this year?"

"I've been to town quite several times," answered Farmer Corntossel. "I've about decided those city folks can't afford to eat very hearty all winter and I don't want to take 'em on when they've spent so much time sayin' up their appetites."

Fads And Fancies of Fashion

THIN FROCKS FILL THE STREETS.

THE shop windows and the streets are furnishing a panorama of enticing things for midsummer wear, with dresses of sheer cotton fabrics the outstanding item in the display. Women have returned to fine and practical fabrics and are using the simpler methods for decorating them, as tucks, frills, ribbon borders and narrow lingerie lace. For the street, voile is in the lead, either plain or figured, embroidered or printed. Chiffon taffeta is its closest rival and is often made up with georgette crepe. Georgette also redeems satin and makes it midsummerish by supplying satin frocks with sleeves, tunic or other details in their composition that make them look cool.

For dressier frocks organdy and voile are both used and St. Gall swisses with embroidered dots are reappearing at prices that are somewhat lower than they were earlier in the season. Wide tucks are in great favor in voile and on organdy dresses, while frills seem the natural order of things for both swiss and organdy. The latter material is much used for collars, cuffs, bands, sashes, fichus and frills on dresses of other materials.

In the picture above there is a dress of white organdy at the left and one of China blue voile at the right. The organdy dress, worn by Irene Castle will help to uphold that talented lady's enviable taste in the selection of clothes. Frills of lace make the medallions and other trimming in the skirt and rows of the same lace form the deep cuff. The long sleeves and collar high at the back are late innovations in summer styles. A wide tuck headed by a frill of lace calls attention to the distended hip line and even the crushed girdle is of organdy with a little frill of lace running along the center of it. The slender type will do well to study this dress.

The pretty dress of plain voile at the right has a skirt covered by tiers of narrow, scant flounces and a plain short sleeved bodice, ending in two ruffles at the natural waist line. What makes this simple affair so chic is the ribbon that borders all edges. It is cleverly managed, showing the borders of the flounces finished with loops and ends, on alternating flounces, at both sides, small bows on the sleeves and in the back at the end of the shirring about the waist line. It suits its youthful wearer and is calculated to make her toy sailor boy leave his happy nursery and break his wooden heart when she discards him.

THE SUMMER HOSTESS

SUMMER vacations bring visits and return courtesies to the members of nearly every family, with their responsibilities resting on "the lady of the house." In these servantless days the problem of entertaining without being overburdened is going to test the abilities of many a hostess whose strength hardly matches her hospitality and her ambition to make guests have a good time. There are hardly any rules that can be laid down which will insure so desirable a result, but one thing is certain: the thought that a hostess is overtaxed and worried will spoil the visit of any intelligent guest. Therefore in the circumstances it is best to plan things that will keep one's visitors in the open and allow them to amuse themselves as much as possible.

Week-end house parties are about the pleasantest events that our summers record on memories that like to dwell upon them. They are recommended to the mother who wants to entertain for her young people. One can fill two or three days with happy times for youths and maidens, especially if there s a river, lake or the sea within easy reaching distance. Water sports, fishing, beach parties, picnics an hikes take care of the days. Camp fires, story telling, dancing and tableaux are recommended for evenings. Both the girls and boys are just as happy when they are required to make themselves useful about the house in the morning as when they have no tasks. The hostess, entertaining a house party of young folks, should provide them with a substantial breakfast and if she has no help, let them assist with straightening up the house. A picnic lunch for the middle of the day is the best way of disposing of lunch, and a hearty dinner, rather early in the evening, makes way for three or four hours for pastime afterward.

A wide porch and a graphophone are the best of aids to entertaining. Youthful guests will stand a good bit of letting alone, for like children they are easily amused for a short time. Costume dances and parties provide a lot of fun and of these the Japanese and Indian parties require little in the way of preparation. Expeditions into the woods for flowers entice town and city-bred guests and everyone enjoys boating, singing and dancing.

Julia Bottomley

Stripes Supersede Plaids

Just at present there is a decided leaning to striped fabrics as against plaids; but fashion changes are so frequent that no one can say from day to day what the major demand will be. Striped skirts are now active rivals of the big gay plaids that have held the center of the stage for so long, and both hair-line and the wider and more conspicuous stripes are featured. Knife plaiting is also being accorded a great deal of favor, as against the accordion plaiting, because only an expert can replait the accordion plaited models once they are out of shape, and the process is an expensive one.

Take Care of Your Shoes.

By the exercise of a little care, says the Thrift Magazine, the life of leather shoes may be considerably prolonged. It is a well-known fact that if a wet shoe is placed too close to a fire, the interior of the sole is sometimes utterly ruined before the surface of the leather shows appreciable signs of injury. Wet shoes should be dried slowly and shoe trees inserted to prevent their losing shape and becoming uncomfortable. It is economy to keep at least two pairs of shoes, wearing them in rotation. Some shoe manufacturers claim that two pairs of shoes worn alternately will outwear three pairs of shoes worn consecutively.

Cannot Praise this Remedy too Highly

THE WAY ONE LADY FEELS AFTER SUFFERING TWO YEARS

Judging from her letter, the misery and wretchedness endured by Mrs. Charlie Taylor, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 144, Dillon, S. C., must have been terrible. No one, after reading her letter, can continue to doubt the great healing power of PE-RU-NA for troubles due to catarrh or catarrhal conditions in any part of the body. Her letter is an inspiration to every sick and suffering man or woman anywhere. Here it is: "I suffered two years with catarrh of the head, stomach and bowels. Tried two of the best doctors, who gave me up. I then took PE-RU-NA and can truthfully say I am well. When I began to use PE-RU-NA, I weighed one hundred pounds. My weight now is one hundred and fifty. I cannot praise PE-RU-NA too highly, for it was a Godsend to me. I got relief from the first half bottle and twelve bottles cured me. I advise all sufferers to take PE-RU-NA."

As an emergency remedy in the home, there is nothing quite the equal of this reliable, time-tried medicine, PE-RU-NA. Thousands place their sole dependence on it for coughs, colds, stomach and bowel trouble, constipation, rheumatism, pains in the back, side and loins and to prevent the grip and Spanish Flu. To keep the blood pure and maintain bodily strength and robustness, take PE-RU-NA.

You can buy PE-RU-NA anywhere in either tablet or liquid form.

Party cheers and partisan eulogies cannot take the place of pricniples or truth.

Chairman Cummings' "key-note speech" was typical of the Wilson plan of government by emotion.

Son-in-law McAdoo has profited by his tuition in the Wilson school of politics. He knows how to dissemble and conceal.

Judging from Chairman Cummings' eulogy, the Democratic party and the nation will go to smash when Woodrow Wilson passes away.

Thoughtful Americans are not swept off their feet or deprived of their good sense by the cheers for President Wilson, in a convention made up of hand-picked Wilson delegates.

According to Chairman Cummings, Woodrow Wilson is Jefferson, Jackson, Garfield, McKinley and Lincoln all rolled in one. Is not this overdoing it? The country is inclined to smile.

"Senator Reed is permitted to appear before the committee on credentials," reads a headline. This, in a "democratic" convention, does not sound very much iike Jeffersonian democracy.

The New York Sun and Herald are right when they say that "the Democratic party it not fit, and cannot by any act of the San Francisco convention, become fit, to manage the United States Government."

SOME THINGS HE DID NOT MENTION.

The following subjects were omitted by Chairman Cummings in his key-note speech at the Democratic National Convention at 'Frisco.

The wicked waste and extravagance under the democratic administration during the war.

The scandals in the war administration already revealed by congressional investigating committees.

The high cost of living due largely to the errors of the present administration.

The effort on the part of the president to coerce the Senate.

The false position in which the president placed the United States before the world.

The serious and pressing problems of peace adjustment.

The refusal of the president to compromise with the Senate and ratify the covenant.

The refusal of the president to accept the Knox Resolution.

The failure of the president to give adequate attention to our domestic affairs.

The making good of the president's threat to force the league of nations into the present pure American campaign.

The first day's proceedings at San Francisco demonstrated that Woodrow Wilson is the Democratic party. Hence Woodrow Wilson is the issue. The Democrats and Woodrow Wilson have made the choice. They must take the consequences.

After telling of Warren G. Harding's early musical achievements in playing a horn in the Marion town band, the National Republican remarks: "You can't imagine Woodrow Wilson playing anything on a horn but a solo, and that is one reason that Senator Harding will be so much of an improvement."

Progressive Republicans all over the country are coming out for Senator Harding for president. They perceive what is the undoubted fact that the people of America have only one real hope for advanced, practical, up-to-date and progressive legislation and administrtion and that is the election of a Republican president and a Republican congress.

Farmer Wilson's steam roller at San Francisco is doing wonderfully good work in fitting the ground for a big increase in the crop of Republican United States Senators this fall. A democratic factional split in several otherwise hopeless states can scarcely be avoided.

Permanent Chairman Robinson in the Democratic National Convention, set up the old claim that the Wilson Covenant of the eLague of Nations, as reported by the President would forever stop war. He knows better than that. No one but a Democratic politician seeking votes for his party will make any such claim.

The people of Chilton County are urged to come out to the election next Tuesday and vote for the three-mill school tax. If we are to have any schools worth while in the future we must have this tax. Don't forget to come out and vote, and don't let your neighbor forget it.

Already Son-in-Law McAdoo is charged with insincerity, not by Republicans, but by Democrats.

HARDING CLOSE FRIEND OF COL. ROOSEVELT.

Washington, July 6.—Recalling Senator Harding's efforts to secure official sanction for Col. Roosevelt to lead a force of volunteers overseas, we wish to remind our readers that the two were on the most friendly terms before the latter's death.

It is certain that in the presidential campaign much attention will be focussed on the relations between Senator Harding and the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt; in fact, references to the close acquaintanceship that existed between the ex-President and the Republican nominee for many years previous to the former's death already have appeared in the press. Probably no more convincing proof of the high esteem in which Senator Harding was held by the Colonel can be found than in Mr. Roosevelt's selection of the Senator to introduce and lead the fight for the amendment to the army bill which was designed to permit the recruiting of a volunteer division of soldiers. No citizen had a more profound conviction of the righteousness of our cause in the world war than Col. Roosevelt, and there was no desire nearer his heart than to be allowed to go overseas with a fighting unit and meet the Huns' face to face. He would have subordinated everything else to the accomplishment of that ambition, and in selecting the champion of his own cause on the floor of the Senate he picked out the man whom he considered most in sympathy with his aspirations and most likely to win success for his project.

Senator Harding presented this Rosevelt amendment and spoke effectively in its favor. In the course of his remarks he paid a eulogy to the patriotism of Roosevelt that ought to be taken to heart by every friend of the former president. "It is designed," said Senator Harding, in referring to his amendment, "to give form to a Rooseveltian expression of eager and ready Americanism and to provide an army of Amercians who believe in him and his gospel of Americanism, and afford him and them the simplest means of proving that American expression and American action are in compelling accord. * * * The amendment has in view a possible volunteer army for immediate and intensive training, to be recruited by Col. Roosevelt, a former Commander in Chief of the United States Army and Navy. It opens the way to provide the earliest possible armed American force to participate in the battles on the western front of Europe. It provides the advance guard of American ideals, bearing the oriflame of New World liberty, New World civilization, and New World humanity, and armed assurance of our everlasting committal to maintained national rights."

"There are but two living men who are ex-commanders in Chief of the armed forces of the nation," continued Senator Harding. "To accept of one of them, who has already seen actual and honorable service on the field of battle, the tender of one or more divisions of volunteers who shall typify the American eagerness to further our cause on European battlefields is the natural thing and the heartening thing and the harmonizing thing to do. It will be the first manifestation of the American spirit, the first earnest of the American consecration, the tangible evidence of American intent. * * * I believe it can be raised; I know it can be raised under Col. Roosevelt's inspiring leadership. * * * I venture to say that 90 per cent of the thoughtful sentiment of this land is ready to approve the hastened recruiting of this volunteer army under Col. Roosevelt. There is but one Theodore Roosevelt in the world, and I am glad all know of him as a citizen of the United States of America."

That Mr. Roosevelt had wisely chosen his representative in the Senate is attested by the fact that the Harding-Roosevelt amendment was adopted by that body by a vote of 56 to 31. Unfortunately an imperious order came from the White House to the Democratic conferees to strike the provision from the bill, and it was thus lost."

JULY TERM COUNTY COURT IN SESSION HERE MONDAY

The followng cases on the County Court docket were disposed of by Judge Reynolds last Monday:

Thomas Henley, charged with vagrancy, continued.

Charley Cleckler, charged with violating prohibition laws, continued to August court.

Jim Mims, charged with assault and battery, forfeitore and alias capias, bond fixed at $500.

Lum Bearden, charged with violating prohibition laws, defendant was discharged.

Lexie Mims, charged with petit larceny, plead guilty, fined $25 and costs, and sentenied to one day and one night in jail.

Ormon Mims, charged with petit larceny, plead guilty, fined $25 and cists, and sentenced to one day and one night in jail.

John Ellison, charged with violating prohibition laws, continued to next Saturday.

Albert Gore, charged with violating prohibition laws; continued.

Charges have been entered in the county court against Monroe Wyatt and Elijah Weldon for keeping their store open on Sunday. It is alleged that the above parties violated a state law in keeping their store in Clanton open on Sundays. The case will be tried in the County Court at its next term the first Monday in August.

The only way to keep Ohio from having the next president is to turn socialist and vote for Gene Debs. We wonder if they would claim him then if he were elected?

DOWN IN TENNESSEE

'Way down in Tennessee, the editor of The Jellico Carry-On, under the heading of "The Next President," begins with, "Some of us have about come to the place where we don't care a rap whether the man is a Democrat, eRpublican or on the force. But there are other things he must be. We would like a man who can devote a little attention to the affairs of Uncle Sam and less to Corsica and the Isle of Man. We want a plain old-fashioned American; not a dreamer nor a theorist or an International star gazer. Harding and Coolidge seem endowed with the qualifications. If we can't have Harding, give us a Democrat just as good, because this is an election to choose a president of the United States and not for the League of Nations."

Helped Father and Son

"Ziron Did Us Both Good," Writes Mr. Gentry, of Norene, Tenn.

IT is a well-known medical fact, that iron is a necessary constituent of the blood, and that blood lacking iron is the cause of many troubles that only iron will cure.

Ziron, a scientific compound of iron with other valuable ingredients, is the remedy to take when your blood needs more iron, and your system requires a tonic. Ziron is mild and harmless, does not stain the teeth, and is good for children as well as adults.

Mr. P. G. Gentry, of Norene, Tenn., writes: "Ziron Iron Tonic has made good in my family. I have used it to a very great advantage to myself and my 14-year-old boy. It did us both good. I think it is a good medicine for what it is recommended."

If you are pale, weak, tired, feel down and out, take Ziron. It will put Iron into your blood, and should help build you up.

Get a bottle from your druggist today, and give ZIRON a fair trial. Sold by him under a money-back guarantee.

Ask him about it. He will tell you.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION TO BE AT COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

The next session of the Chilton County Singing Convention is to be held at the County High School building in Clanton on the Third Sunday in July (18th).

Mr. J. Monroe Smith, the secretary of the Convention, and other local promoters of the cause of music in the county, are busy getting details in shape for the coming event which will no doubt be made one of the best in the history of the organization.

Such reputed singers as Patton, Merritt and others, will be here to add the great force of their presence to the occasion. At that time Prof. Patton will be teaching a school at Liberty Hill and he will be here with his entire class from that place.

Prof. Merrtt will be remembered by those who attended the special session of the convention at the high school last November. He was there and his directing caught up a most hearty response from all who heard him.

BRIDGE NOTICE.

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Ala., will meet at Yellow Leaf Creek, near Thorsby, Ala., July 19, 1920, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of receiving bids to erect a steel bridge over said creek. The right to reject any and all bids is hereby reserved.

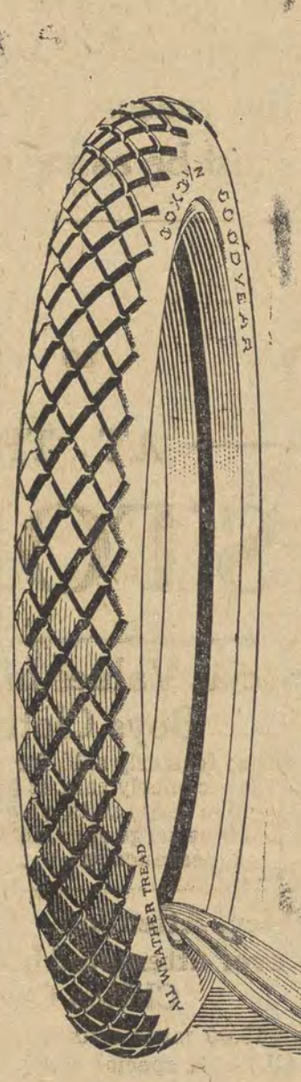
NOTICE OF ELECTION

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held in Chilton County, Alabama, on the 13th day of July, 1920, for the purpose of determining whether or not a special tax shall be levied and collected annually, at the rate of thirty cents on each one-hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said county, for the present tax year and continuing for a period of ten years, and said levy is proposed to be made for public school purposes in said county.

This, the 12th day of June, 1920.

J. L. GORE.
Sheriff of Chilton County, Ala.

CHILTON COUNTY ABSTRACT CO.



M. D. FOSHEE, MANAGER.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

Abstracts of Title Promptly Prepared at Reasonable Charges.

SOCIETY AND PERSONALS

MRS. R. E. LUCKIE, Editor.

CARD CLUB ENTERTAINED

Mrs. V. J. Heard was a gracious hostess on last Wednesday evening when she entertained the members of the Wednesday Card Club and a few extra guests. A profusion of garden flowers formed the bright floral decorations for the library where four tables were arranged for the contest. A lovely box of candy fell to Mrs. N. S. Johnson for the highest score. At the conclusion of the game delicious sandwiches and tea were served. The ones present were: Mesdames Harvey Chandler, Herbert Nabors, J. Watts Moore, Grady Reynolds, Grady D. Broadhead, Hugh Simpson, Hance Alred, Hugh Jones, Macy Jones, Thad McSwain, R. E. Luckie, N. S. Johnson, Eric Hart, L. F. Gerald, Guy H. Roberts and Bill Mullins, of Decatur.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS

A most enjoyable meeting of the Womens Missionary Society was held Monday evening at the residence of Mrs. Harvey Chandler. After the business a social hour was spent. Mrs. Chandler, assisted by her little nephew, George Allen, Jr., served a lovely salad plate with iced tea.

Dr. and Mrs. Whorton and children arrived Tuesday from Birmingham to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Renfroe Mullins at a camp on Yellow Leaf Creek.

A fishing party composed of Messrs Tom Woods, George Polk, Eric Hart and Dr. Neighbors motored to Dead Lake, Fla., leaving Saturday.

Miss Mamie Woods and mother have returned home after being absent from the city for several days.

Miss Nannie Griffith of Birmingham is spending the week in Clanton with Mrs. McSwain.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bilbry of La Grange, Ga., and Mrs. G. F. Bates of Vincent were the guests of Mrs. J. B. Atkinson during the week.

Mrs. Hugh Jones has as her guest her mother, Mrs. Courtney of Montgomery.

Mrs. J. C. Jones and Mrs. Ross Mullins spent several days in Birmingham last week.

Mrs. Durwood Broadhead has returned home after spending the week end in Montgomery.

Miss Erma Thomas of Sylacauga is spending her vacation with her mother in Clanton.

Mr. W. D. Spigener and daughter Miss Warrene, left Thursday for a several days visit to Rockford and Birmingham.

Miss Marzelle Mullins arrived home Thursday from a weeks visit to the Misses Fullers in St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. J. Q. Wade has returned from Red Boiling Springs, Tenn., after a few weeks stay there.

Miss Willie B. Jones and Mr. Otto Jones are the week-end visitors to their parents here.

Mrs. T. H. Neighbors entertained the members of the Embroidery Club at her pretty home Thursday afternoon. The reception hall and parlor, where she received her guests, were prettily decorated with pot flowers. Canvas sewing was the feature of the afternoon, after which a delicious ice course was served to Mrs. Grady D. Broadhead, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. J. Hance Alred, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Mack Wyatt, Mrs. Victor Heard, Mrs. Eric Hart. Mrs. Martin Nix will be the hostess next Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Hosea Downs entertained on Tuesday afternoon the Business and Social meeting of the Civic Club. The house was prettily decorated with ferns and nasturtiums. Mrs. Hart assisted in receiving the guests. After the business meeting was over ices and cakes were served. Those present were: Mrs. Grady Reynolds, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. J. J. Pickens, Mrs. Victor Heard, Mrs. Dr. Hayes, Mrs. E. Littlejohn, Mrs. Fox, Mrs. J. B. Downs, Mrs. Bill Mullins, Miss Maude Mullins, Mrs. Eric Hart, Miss Hilda Hart.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

In the big grove in front of his parents home, master Joe Earl Gowan celebrated his sixth birthday Tuesday evening.

The guests enjoyed a series of games. Fish pond and ices and other good things that feature the refreshments that are served at a birthday party.

About forty-five guests called during the party hours.

Mrs. Gowan was assisted by Mrs. Joe Askins, Mrs. Calloway and Miss Mabel Thomas.

Mr. M. D. Foshee and children returned from Birmingham Sunday.

Mrs. Billie Holmes of Dothan is visiting relatives in Clanton for the week-end.

Mrs. E. E. Upchurch and daughter, Mary, and Misses Alice Stanfield and Marzelle Mullins, left Wednesday for Dothan to attend a house party given by Miss Francis Hopkins.

Mr. Calvin Wilson was a visitor to Clanton Sunday.

Miss Ruth Holley of Marion is the attractive guest of Miss Leona Pipes.

Martin Peterson of Thorsby was among the visitors to Clanton on last Tuesday.

Mr. W. M. Merchant of Jemison Route 1, was a visitor to Clanton on Wednesday.

J. H. Poole of Birmingham visited his father, W. M. Poole, on Route 2 Sunday last.

BUYERS LEAVING FOR EAST

Miss Callie Watts, buyer of Ladies Ready-to-Wear and Millinery, for Elmore's leaves this week for a very extended trip to the eastern markets, where she will purchase ready-to-wear and millinery for fall. Miss Watts will make every effort possible to secure and bring back to the ladies of Clanton and surrounding territory the very newest things to be found.

"SOMETHING WRONG HERE."

Synopsis.—Circumstances having prevented Spalding Nelson, clerk, from joining the American forces going to France, he is in a despondent mood when he receives an invitation to dinner from his great-uncle, Rufus Gaston. On his way to the house he meets, under peculiar circumstances, a young girl, apparently in trouble, to whom he has an opportunity to be of slight service. She lives in the same apartment building as Rufus Gaston, and he accompanies her home.

Although I tried to pretend an interest in their conversation and absently answered their questions about my family, my thoughts kept constantly recurring to the strange trouble of the girl across the hall, her plight interesting me far more than the purpose for which my great-uncle had sent for me. I had expected that he would broach that subject himself, but the coffee arrived and still the conversation had been limited to stilted family chat. As we returned to the living room, I decided to give him a lead:

"My mother wrote me—" I began.

"Oh, yes," said old Rufus, looking relieved.

"Yes, yes, of course," echoed Mrs. Gaston.

I waited for one or the other of them to proceed but for some reason they both seemed at a loss for words.

"You tell him, Rufus," said my great-aunt at last.

His tired old eyes studied my countenance carefully, searchingly, as if he was trying to read my soul.

"What is it?" I asked impatiently.

"It is this," said old Rufus, speaking slowly and with effort, as if he hated to disclose his intentions. "Three days from now—that will be Sunday morning—my wife and I are going to Maine to be gone for some months. We have leased a furnished cottage there and shall take our servants and our motor with us. We do not like to leave this apartment wholly untenanted, and it occurred to Mrs. Gaston that you might occupy it in our absence."

I am afraid my countenance at that moment must have betrayed my consternation. My great expectations vanished, blew up, disappeared. They did not want me for an heir but for a caretaker. What a fool I had been to imagine for one moment that this penurious old couple had contemplated doing anything for me. They wanted me to do something for them. A sarcastic refusal of their proffer trembled on my lips but was stayed by my great-aunt speaking:

"It will enable you to save your room rent, Mr. Gaston will pay the rent in advance before we go. There will be no one here to serve you meals so you will have to get them elsewhere, but I will arrange with my laundress to come in once a day to make up your room, and you'll be under no expense."

Her suggestion that I would have no room rent to pay decided me. Two other considerations also influenced me. It might be a plan on the part of the old people to try me out and see if I was trustworthy, and then, dwelling under the same roof with Barbara Bradford, I might have opportunities of seeing her again, and who knows, perhaps of assisting her out of her mysterious plight.

"I shall be very glad indeed to come," I found myself saying. "It was nice of you both to think of me."

"Something Wrong Here—in This House—I Tell You!"

"We'll consider the matter settled," announced old Rufus. "We are unused to guests here, so you had better come at ten on Sunday, an hour after we have started."

"Rufus," suggested my great-aunt apprehensively, "had you not better give him the combination of the wall safe? My jewels are there, and in case there should be a fire—"

"Why not take them with you?" I interrupted.

"They are a nuisance when you are traveling," she objected.

"A safe deposit box would be better, then."

"No," said old Rufus shortly. "Both my safe deposit boxes are full and there is no use hiring another one. The jewels will be all right where they are. In case of fire you can remove them to a place of safety. This is the combination—see that you remember it—six right, four left, two right, eight left, 6,428."

"I'll remember it," I replied, mentally repeating it over and over again.

"And now, my dear," said the old gentleman, "if you will get the keys from my desk, we can permit our nephew to depart."

My great-aunt left the room to do his mission. The minute she was safely out of hearing old Rufus' whole manner underwent a startling change. Into his deep-set gray eyes came a look of terror. His face became ashen, and the withered hand with which he clutched my arm was trembling violently.

"Listen, boy," he hissed, leaning forward that he might speak into my ear and looking about apprehensively as if he feared to be overheard. "Listen—there's something wrong here."

My first thought was that he had been suddenly stricken with senile dementia, but recalling his perfectly rational conduct throughout the rest of the evening, I dismissed the theory as absolutely untenable. His fear, whatever caused it, certainly seemed very real.

"Something wrong?" I repeated, wonderingly. "What do you mean? What is it?"

He clutched my arm in a still tighter grasp, and his voice, suppressed to a terrified whisper, became more insistent.

"I don't know," he breathed. "I wish I did." He glanced timorously about and went on. "There's something wrong! I sense it. I feel it. I cannot find out what it is. All kinds of queer things happen. I am always hearing voices—whispers, whispers, whispers! That is why we are going away. My wife thinks it is on account of my health. I don't want her to know. Please, please, Spalding, find out what it is before we return. I have no son. There is no one else but you to do it. Solve the mystery for me. Find out about the whispers. Promise me you will. Ssh—not a word to her! Not a word!"

He withdrew his hold on my arm and laid his finger on his lips as he heard his wife returning. With a visible effort he straightened up, and when she entered the room he apparently had entirely recovered his self-possession and was his natural self again, a dignified, world-weary old man.

"I can't find your keys, Rufus," said my great-aunt, "you had better get them yourself."

The minute he left the room she hastened to my side and she, too, began to whisper mysterious warnings, exhibiting a terror hardly less than her aged husband's.

"This is a house of mystery," she announced. "I'm always hearing strange sounds here. He doesn't know"—with a nod in the direction old Rufus had gone, "and I do not want him to. That is the reason I am taking him away. Solve the mystery of it before we return. I'll pay you. I'll make it well worth your while."

Her husband's shuffling in the passage warned her of his return, and she quickly dropped my arm. As he entered she was telling me in quite normal tones to be sure to remember her to my mother the next time I wrote.

Old Rufus handed me the keys, explaining which was which.

"And remember," said my great-uncle, as he escorted me to the door, "you are not to come until Sunday morning at ten, after we have gone. And remember the combination of the safe—Remember!"

The insistent way in which he repeated the word conveyed to me forcefully that what he most wanted me to remember was the strange warning he had given me, and as I clasped his hand in parting I tried by the firmness of my grip to let him know that I understood.

"Remember," repeated my aunt, too, as she stood there in the door a little behind him, at the same time giving me a significant look.

Yet, puzzling as had been the conduct of both of them, my memories that night were not of their warning nor of the combination of the safe nor of the hour at which I was to arrive. They were of the most beautiful eyes I ever had seen and of the haunting terror written in them.

CHAPTER II.

Sunday morning came at last.

It was hardly eight when I set out for my new quarters, taking with me only one small handbag and leaving my two trunks for the expressman. In the time intervening since my visit to the Gaston home I had done but little except speculate on the mysterious warnings that both of the old people had surreptitiously given me. It seemed so utterly improbable and impossible that there could be any inexplicable mystery about a home in a modern, up-to-date apartment house in the center of a civilized city. And if there was a mystery, why did they stay there? Why didn't they move?

Yet, as I pondered over the matter, I was convinced that both my great-uncle and his wife were rational. I dismissed without hesitation the theory that there could have been any supernatural happenings to affright them. It was probable, I decided, that their fears might have been played on by some conspiracy on the part of their servants to induce them to spend a season in Maine. Perhaps there was some specter from my great-uncle's past now rising to confront him that he was seeking to hide from his wife. It might be that she knew of it or had received threats and was trying to conceal the matter from him. There are few men of millions without some secret shameful pages in their lives. As I remembered that old Rufus Gaston's dollars had been made in South America, all that I had heard and read of plots and counterplots below the equator came buzzing into my brain. If such should be the case, that some betrayed conspirator now was seeking vengeance, more than ever I welcomed the unexpected chance that had thrown this opportunity for adventure in my prosaic path.

Yet maybe their warnings were justified. There was Barbara Bradford, who lived under the same roof, on the very floor with them. She seemed to be caught in the web of some plot, to be living in fear of some mysterious peril.

Was she, I wondered, in any way connected with the mystery that overhung the Gaston home? Did my great uncle and his wife know her? Her mission to the park had been to get [illegible]. Could they have been in any [illegible] involved with what was menacing my great-uncle's peace of mind? How I regretted now that I had not asked the Gastons if they knew Miss Bradford. How I welcomed the opportunity I was now to have of living in the same apartment house with her, close at hand if ever I could serve her. I was glad now that circumstances had prevented my going to France with Birge and Roller.

As I arrived at my great-uncle's corner, I saw Miss Bradford approaching from the opposite direction. She was in riding togs. I timed my steps to reach the corner as she did. Would she, I wondered, consider our strange meeting a few evenings before sufficient introduction to justify her speaking to me.

"Good morning, Mr. Nelson," she greeted me pleasantly. "Making an early call, aren't you?"

"I'm coming here to live for a while," I answered, falling into step with her. "The Gastons are going to Maine and have asked me to occupy their apartment while they are away."

As we chatted we had entered the building, and as before I went into the elevator with her. As I left her at the door, wondering if she had had any more encounters in the park, yet hardly daring to ask, she turned to me, half apologetically, and said:

"Mr. Nelson, since you've come to live here in the house, I must be careful. We have not been introduced, and my people will think it strange if they see me speaking to you. You understand, don't you? You must not speak to me or recognize me until—"

"Until what?" I cried eagerly.

"Until we can manage to be properly introduced."

"Yet," I insisted, "you promised to let me help you."

"I have not forgotten. I'm grateful, really I am. Perhaps I may call on your services. I may have to. If I do, I'll find some way of letting you know."

"Some secret way," I suggested, half sarcastically.

"Perhaps," she laughingly nodded as we separated.

As I took out the keys my great-uncle had given me and entered the apartment, I looked about me with a wholly new interest. That little word "mine" makes a vast difference in the way we regard things. Now that these luxurious quarters were to be my home, temporarily at least, I looked about curiously. Certainly at first glance there was nothing mysterious in the atmosphere. Setting my bag down I began an immediate inspection of the rooms.

The Gaston apartment, I discovered, occupied one whole side of the sixth floor of a twelve-story building. Around the elevator shaft that came up through the center was a small square court with four doors, two opening into the Bradford apartment opposite and two into the one I was occupying. The east apartments were known as Six A and the west as Six B. The door by which I had entered led into a lofty foyer, connecting by sliding doors with a great dining room, and beyond it, in the front of the house, with a reception or living room that ran the entire width of the apartment. Back of the elevator, with a separate door for the servants' use, were the kitchen, the butler's pantry, a servant's sitting room and two bedrooms. From the foyer a long hall ran almost the length of the building. On the servants' side it was blank as to doors, save for the passage from the pantry to the dining room, but on the other side several doors opened into spacious sleeping rooms, each with its own bath. As I was wondering which of the bedrooms my great-aunt had expected me to occupy, I noticed still another door which I found led into a small bedroom on the servants' side of the house but unconnected with their quarters. While it was less elaborately furnished than the rooms opposite, it was comfortable enough, and it had a spacious bathroom adjoining. The fact that the bed here had been left turned down was evidence enough that it was intended for my occupancy. Returning to the foyer to get my bag and unpack it, I was startled by the ringing of the front doorbell.

I sprang eagerly to answer it. It must be Miss Bradford. Probably she had reconsidered and had decided to take me into her confidence. Who else could it be? There was no one else who knew I was in the apartment. It must be Miss Bradford!

With an exclamation of welcome on my lips I flung open the door. A man stood there—an utter stranger. In my disappointment I was almost closing the door in his face, but as if anticipating my thought he quickly advanced one foot over the sill and kept it there.

"Well," I demanded, almost savagely, "what do you want?"

"Oh, it is you, is it?" he replied, eyeing me with what seemed to me a most insolent stare.

"What do you mean?" I asked, bewildered. Certainly I never had seen this person before. He was short and stocky, with sparse nondescript hair and weak, shifty blue eyes. His face

"You Must Not Speak to Me or Recognize Me Until—"

had an unhealthy pallor, as if he lived long away from the sunlight, and was sunken in, as if from undernourishment, yet the breadth of his shoulders and his huge rough hands seemed to indicate physical strength beyond the ordinary.

"You're Mr. Spalding Nelson, aren't you?"

"That's my name," I answered shortly.

"Mr. Gaston's—" He paused, as if trying to recall the relationship.

"Mr. Gaston's great-nephew."

"I guess you are him, all right," he said, in a manner of evident relief. "I'm Mr. Wick, the superintendent of the house."

"Of course," I answered, feeling rather foolish at my own vexation.

"Mr. Gaston told me you were coming in this morning," he hastened to explain.

"He gave me a description of you," Mr. Wick went on, unperturbed, "and the boys in the hall were pretty sure it was you that came in, but—"

"But what?"

"I couldn't understand it. You didn't announce yourself. It seemed funny, your coming in with the young lady from next door."

"It just happened that way," I explained, now understanding his mystification. "I met her as I was coming in."

"Twice," he said, rather insolently.

"I can't see that it is any of your business," I retorted angrily, "if it happened a dozen times."

His manner at once became apologetic, and he hastened to offer obsequious explanations.

"Mr. Gaston asked me to take particular notice. The other evening when you were coming to dinner he told me to tell the hall boys to look at you closely so that they could identify you as the right party when you came in today. That was how it happened. You see, sir, in a house of this sort we have to be careful. It doesn't do to let strangers prowl about without finding out who they are and what they are doing."

The hero's troubles begin.

CALOMEL DANGER TOLD BY DODSON

Says You Cannot Gripe, Sicken, or Salivate Yourself if You Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone, which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.—Adv.

Bryan Snowed Under Following Dramatic Debate the Vote Being 959½ to 155½.

San Francisco.—The democratic platform, as framed in the resolutions committee, declaring for the peace treaty, expressing sympathy for Ireland and saying nothing at all about prohibition, came unscathed through a furious floor fight and was adopted without amendment in a great avalanche of applause.

W. J. Bryan led the fight for adoption of his bone-dry plank, but it was buried after a dramatic day of debate by a majority so overwhelming that he did not even ask for roll calls on the four other minority reports which he had prepared.

The convention snowed Bryan under on a roll call, which followed a dramatic debate, the vote being 959½ to 155½.

In the battle for the platform, as framed, the administration forces were led by Secretary Colby and Senator Glass of Virginia during a debate in which both sides stirred the delegates and spectators to repeated bursts of emotional enthusiasm.

Without a roll call the convention also voted down Mr. Bryan's plank for the publication of an official newspaper by the federal government.

The Bryan profiteering plank also was rejected by acclamation.

In quick succession the convention then voted down also the plan offered by Mr. Bryan declaring against compulsory military training in peacetime.

The Bryan League of Nations plank shared the same fate, going out in a great chorus of "noes."

The plank for a commission to investigate the feasibility of a soldier bonus also was rejected without a roll call.

The Legue of Nations plank as adopted by the convention recognizes America's obligations to her allies and the smaller nationalities of the world and advocates the speedy fulfillment of those obligations without impairing American sovereignty or running counter to the laws on which the government is based.

While advocating "immediate ratification of the (Versailles) treaty without reservations which would impair its essential integrity," it does "not oppose the acceptance of any reservations making clearer or more specific the obligations of the United States to the league associates."

The platform reaffirms President Wilson's repeated declarations "that all our duties and obligations as a member of the League of Nations must be fulfilled in strict conformity with the constitution of the United States, embodied in which is the fundamental requirement of declaratory action by the Congress before this nation may become a participant in any war."

The labor plank is one which working men can indorse and support. It recognizes the rights of labor and at the same time is opposed to any one class of the people jeopardizing the public welfare. Labor is assured a square deal.

There is nothing in the expression of sympathy for Ireland at which England could take offense. While recognizing the principle of self-determination, the democratic party does not propose to throw "international comity and usage" to the winds.

Something more substantial than sympathy is recommended for Armenia, but the Armenian mandate is rejected.

The attitude toward Mexico is helpful and sympathetic. Mexico should be given every opportunity to work out her own salvation and attention is called to the progress made by the new government in restoring the country to a peace basis. Recognition and "systematic assistance" are promised Mexico when the government has proved its ability to maintain law and order and signifies its willingness to meet international requirements.

To woman's suffrage, highway improvement, the development of inland waterways, government aid for soldiers, economy in the public's business and war on profiteers, the democratic party pledges its support. The platform as a whole deals with a wide variety of subjects.

Stills Are Destroyed.

Huntsville.—The destruction of two illicit distilling plants on Hester Creek was reported by Prohibition Officer Craft. Both plants, which were fully equipped, were destroyed and 1,000 gallons of beer poured out. No arrests were made.

Still Is Destroyed.

Heflin.—A 120-gallon still was found and destroyed near the Georgia line, and along with it 1,000 gallons of beer. No arrests weer made.

STANDARDIZING ROAD TESTS

Conference of Engineers Expected to Eliminate Confusion and Other Difficulties.

Confusion and other difficulties that have come from the use in different states of varying tests for materials used in road construction are expected to be eliminated by a recent conference held in the offices of the bureau of public roads, United States department of agriculture. Highway testing engineers representing most of the states attended. From their suggestions a system of standardized tests is to be evolved.

Manufacturers of road materials, as well as the federal and state highway departments, have been inconvenienced, because materials that would meet the requirements of one state would be rejected in another often because of different interpretations of specifications. Much of this work is done co-operatively by the federal and state governments under the federal aid road act, which is one of the reasons why it has been thought advisable to set up national standards that will be in effect in all states.

The conference was held under the auspices of the National Association of State Highway Officials. This organization will promulgate the standardized tests. It is expected that use of the tests will be generally adopted, although their use by the states will be voluntary.

A number of state highway testing engineers, in addition to a number of engineers of the bureau of public roads, attended the conference.

ADVANTAGES OF GOOD ROADS

Promote Self-Respect in Community and Cheapen Cost of Transportation to Markets.

Good roads promote self-respect in a community. They make possible social intercourse. They bring the benefits of churches and schools within the reach of all. They help to keep the boys on the farm. They cheapen the cost of transportation of farm products to the markets and thus add to the farm profits. They add to the value of farm lands much more than they cost. They mark the degree of civilization of the rural community.

GOOD ROADS AND DRIVEWAYS

As Essential on Farms as Public Highways to Enable Farmer to Handle Produce.

A well-ordered farm should have well-ordered roads and driveways to and around the buildings. In other words, private roads on the farm are as important to the interests they serve as the public roads over which the farmer's produce is marketed. A good road from the farmer's gate to his marketing place should not be depreciated by a poor road from the gate to the barn or packing house.

FEDERAL AID FOR MISSOURI

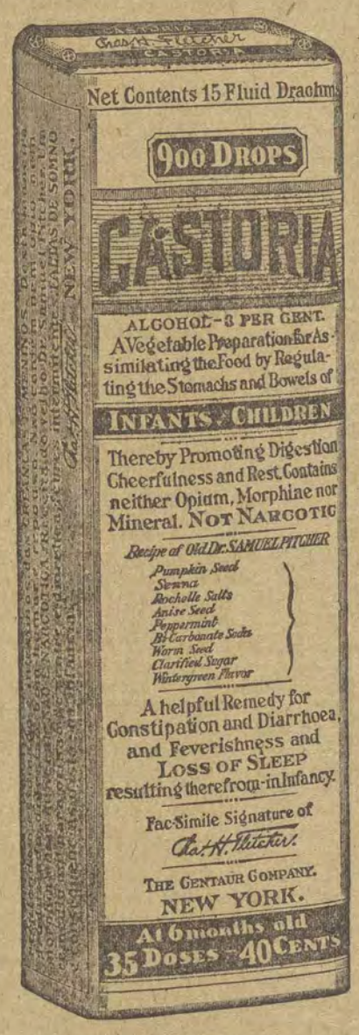
Bureau of Roads Approves Forty-Nine Projects at an Estimated Cost of $5,948,910.

Forty-nine federal aid road projects, an aggregate of 459.29 miles at an estimated construction cost of $5,948,910, have been approved by the federal bureau of roads. This announcement was made by the state highway board here today. The federal government is to pay $2,606,975, and the state and counties the remainder.

IMPROVED ROADS AID FARMER

Make It Possible to Produce Vegetables and Fruits for Canning and City Markets.

Rich agricultural land limited to cereal crops on unimproved roads may be made to yield a much higher return where with an improved road it is practicable to produce vegetables and fruits for canneries and city markets.



False Claims.

WE hope there is no Mother who thinks she can treat her sick baby without calling in a Physician, or with remedies that she uses for herself.

Most Mothers know that Baby requires remedies especially prepared for babies, yet there are some who think that what is good enough for them is good enough for Baby, and it is to these Mothers we appeal to give nothing to their babies that is not specially prepared for babies or recommended by their Physician.

False claims may kill, but false claims can never restore your child.

For over thirty years Fletcher's Castoria has been aiding in the reduction of the deaths among infants as Mothers have become more and more acquainted with it. Always keep it in the house.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Mothers Must Use Care.

Why do we so often call your attention to imitations of Fletcher's Castoria? Because it is a baby's medicine and imitations are always dangerous, particularly imitations of a remedy for infants.

Your druggist may not keep an imitation but they are to be found on drug-store shelves. Reliable druggists think only of the welfare of their customers. The other kind only of the greater profit to be made on imitations.

Your own judgment tells you that Fletcher's Castoria having for over thirty years at great expense held up its reputation, must jealously guard it. Then, it follows that this company must use the very best of material. Must employ experts in the selection of the herbs. Must retain skilled chemists in its manufacture.

Your same good judgment must tell you that these irresponsible imitators are trading on your credulity and the reputation built up by Mr. Fletcher, during all these years, for his Castoria.

ITCH!

A WAR-TIME ILL THAT'S SPREADING HUNT'S SALVE CURES IT!

BRED in the war trenches of Europe, a wave of ordinary ITCH is spreading over the country. This skin disease, history shows, has always prevailed, following wars and the concentration of armies. It was common during the Civil War and following that conflict. There was an epidemic of the Itch after the Spanish-American War. Now history is repeating itself after the great European struggle.

Returned soldiers and those with whom they come in contact will find a recognized remedy for the Itch in Hunt's Salve, commonly known as "Hunt's Itch Cure." Many a veteran of the late '90's will testify to its merits.

If directions are followed HUNT'S SALVE will prove a never failing cure for all forms of the Itch, and your druggist will tell you so. He sells HUNT'S SALVE under a strict guarantee to refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied user.

A Medford, Oklahoma man, among thousands who praise HUNT'S SALVE, says:

"Some people dislike to call it the Itch, but candor compels me to admit I had it badly. Your Hunt's Salve, however, cured me after many other remedies had totally failed. One box completed the cure—the first application afforded wonderful relief. My advice to those who have to scratch, is to use Hunt's Salve."

Hunt's Salve is especially compounded for the treatment of Itch, Eczema, Ringworm, Tetter and other itching skin diseases and is sold on our guarantee by all reliable drug stores, or it will be sent direct by mail if your local druggist cannot supply. Price 75c per box.

Worn Down, Out of Heart

Georgia Lady, Worn-out and Tired, Tells How She Was Helped by Ziron Iron Tonic.

THE personal experience of Mrs. Nannie Phillips, of Powder Springs, Ga., is printed below in her own words:

"I was in a worn-out condition. My stomach was out of order. I didn't sleep well. I was tired all the time. I couldn't half eat, and didn't rest well at night.

"I would get out of heart and blue. I would feel like I was going to be down in bed. Yet I kept dragging around.

"We heard of Ziron, and from what I read, I was sure it wouldn't hurt me if it didn't help me. But after taking it, I found it really helped me, and I sent back for more. I ate better, felt much stronger. I am sure Ziron is a splendid tonic."

Many people who are worn down and disheartened, due to stomach disorders and nervous ills, find relief by toning up their blood with Ziron Iron Tonic.

Tell your druggist you want to try Ziron on our money-back guarantee.

Even Intestinal Indigestion Responds to This Mineral Water

Wonderful Results From Sul-Ferro-Sol Proven.

At a government investigation as to the merits of Sul-Ferro-Sol as a remedy for indigestion, it was conclusively proven that this remedy had been of benefit to all of the 55 witnesses examined.

One of these witnesses swore that he had suffered from indigestion for 23 years and that he had been cured permanently by taking Sul-Ferro-Sol.

Another who had suffered from intestinal indigestion for 10 years, tried Sul-Ferro-Sol and swore: "It helped me wonderfully—more than anything else I've ever taken."

Sul-Ferro-Sol causes the stomach to produce its own pepsin.

COULD GET NO REST DAY OR NIGHT SAYS PROMINENT DEACON.

Pains in limbs and feet, constipation and Stomach Disorder made Life a Burden.

Has been down and out, could't go about at all, but thanks Dreco, the new medicine, I'm greatly improved.. "I have been in very bad condition and couldent get about, had hard pains in my feet and limbs, bnt I'm now able to get about on crutches since taking only two bottlts of Dreco, and I'm sure proud of it says Mr. W. R. Morrison, the well known farme of Lethohatchie, Ala. Mr. Morrison is prominent as a church going man and is a deacon in the Baptist Church.

"After I had taken three doses of Dreco, I began to geel the effects and I got a good night's sleep; something I hadn't had in many a night. My bowels began to get regular kidneys got active, that vile taste in my mouth disappeared, and the pains in my limbsand feet eased up. I am sixty two years old, and I have never seen any medicine to epual Dreco. It truly is a wonder, and I praise it and wish the manufacturers every success which they surely deserve."

All druggists now sell Dreco and it being especially introduced in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Company.

OAK HILL

The Fourth has been a glorious one with us. We celebrated three days instead of one. We began on Saturday by attending the reunion of the Williams family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Williams, which was a day long to be remembered by those who attended. At eleven o'clock we had preaching by Rev. R. M. Honeycutt, followed by Uncle Henry Williams, brother of Mr. Dave Williams, who, with his daughter, Katie and his grand daughter, Lorine Gallops, of Pell City, were attending the reunion. At noon a bountiful dinner was spread and was enjoyed by all, and especially by old Brother Mate of Mammouth, Ala., who motored all the way down here with his two sons and a Mr. Trotter, to attend the Williams reunion. He was very lively and his jokes attracted the attention of all.

An hour or two was spent in making pictures, and the remainder of the evening was spent in singing. But about 4:30 o'clock a sadness fell over the crowd, as they began to say good bye and God bless you and be with you till we meet again.

Then at supper we had some more good things to eat, and from 8:00 o'clock to 10:00 we had some more good singing led by Bro. R. F. Murphy. Then we all retired for a bit of sleep and rest, for we were all tired by this time.

The next thing we knew it was Sunday morning. At 10:00 o'clock we assembled at the church for Sunday School, and we heard a fine sermon by the pastor, Rev. S. L. Crouch. In the afternoon we went to the singing at Oak Grove, which we enjoyed very much. And last but not least, on Monday morning, the 5th, at 8:00 o'clock, we started on our Sunday School picnic to Lock 12. The truck was loaded to its full capacity, there being 47 on it, and two cars loaded with women and children following close behind them. After several hours of bumping over the rough roads we reached the end of our journey. After taking some time in sight seeing and making pictures we assembled back at the truck, and such a dinner you never saw. And we did all eat and we were filled.

And then we made some more pictures and fished a while, looked some more and then loaded up the old truck, which began to puff and to groan under her great load of humanity, but slowly she rolled up and down the hills, and soon we were in Clanton, where we almost drank and ate up all the cold drinks and ice cream in the drug stores.

On our way home the people along the road and in Thorsby and Jemison gave us hearty cheers of welcome as we passed through. With the careful management of our chauffeur, Mr. A. L. Glasscock, we reached our destination without an accident, except the puncture of a pair of silk hose and a pair of pants, which were so badly torn that one man had to keep his seat all the time we were in Clanton. But we are very thankful to our Creator that it was no worse.

Members of the immediate family attending the reunion at Mr. Williams Saturday, the 3rd, were: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Williams of Shelby, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Long of Mammouth, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Williams of Moreland, Mrs. Minie Northcutt and family of Jemison, R. 2., Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Glasscock of Jemison, Ala.

Remember the singing Sunday evening. We invite everybody to come and sing with us.

Respectfully,
ELLEN GLASSCOCK.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Prine, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child...I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time...

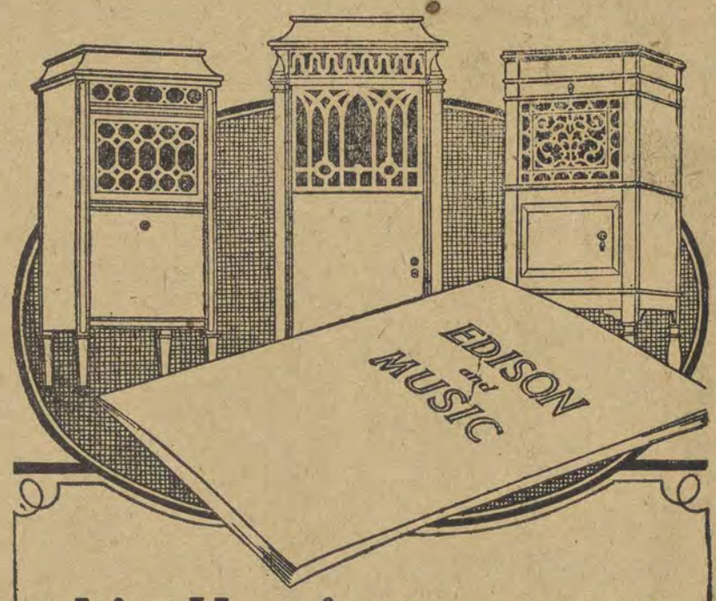
I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. ——about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble', so he got me 5 bottles...After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved...before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it. E 74

AT LAST, RELIEF FROM RHEUMATISM

Now Is An Excellent Time to Get Rid of Its Tortures.

Rheumatism is more than a mere local disorder confined to the locality of the painful parts. It cannot be rubbed away, because it is a deepseated disease that has its source in the blood supply. The millions of little disease germs that cause the disease must be reached and eliminated from the blood before real relief can be had.



S. S. S. has been successfully used for Rheumatism for more than fifty years. It is the most thorough and reliable blood remedy because it searches out and eliminates the disease germs which infest the blood.

School Tax Voted In By Four to One

The ten-year term three-mill school tax for Chilton County went over the top in last Tuesday's election to the tune of four to one, thus making safe for a long time the progress and advancement of our public schools in Chilton County.

At the time we go to press with our paper the unofficial returns from all but two beats in the county placed the vote 667 for the tax and 168 against the tax, thus showing a good interest in schools among our people and establishing the fact that a great majority of our citizens want more public schools and better schools.

The following table gives the unofficial figures as they were brought in by the returning officers. Beat one and Beat eight had not been heard from, and there was no election held at Box 2 in Beat 13.

After the Sunday School Sunday morning Mrs. Jno. Scott made an interesting talk on the "Spiritual Life of the Sunday School."

In afternoon Mr.s Maggie Boone gave an interesting discussion on the Cradle Roll Work. Also Mr. J. C. Patillo interested the people on the very Important subject "Our Sunday School leaders between Sundays."

Miss Mary Carr Gibson made quite an interesting lecture on "Making the lesson interesting." Her lecture was logically illustrated by charts etc.

The Evergreen community never fails to do what they undertake to. They all believe in the old adage of "What is wrth doing at all is worth doing well." The people of this community are noted for their bounteous hospitality.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Two fine congregations were present last Sunday, both morning and evening. The flag service at night was much enjoyed by all present. Loyalty on the part of all the members in their attendance and some missionary work by inviting and by bringing others to the services will soon fill up the church with the present increasing engregations.

There will be services at the church next Sunday morning at 11 a.m. and Sunday School at 10:00 a.m. beginning promptly on time. The senior B. Y. P. U. will meet at 7 p.m. There will be no night service on account of the Revival Services to be conducted by the members of the Presbyterian Church.

Make our church your home church. We extend you a cordial welcome.

P. G. CARTER, Pastor.

SENATOR REED STRIKES BACK

Addressing a mass cnvention at Kansas City after the Democratic National Convention, Senator Reed of Missouri denounced the Wilson League as "a league of treason and a covenant of national death."

He said "if there is one lesson this country needs to learn, it is that this is not a one-man country."

He denounced the Democratic convention as "a convention afflicted with blind staggers."

He said that Robert Lansing was the only man the President took to France who knew anything about international law, and he was removed from office by the president because he insisted on warning the people of the true meaning of this League."

Resolutions were adopted denouncing the action of the Democratic National Convention in refusing Senatr Reed a seat.

More Democratic harmony.

If there are any property owners in the county who are not satisfied with the valuations of their property by the Tax Adjuster, they have recourse to the Commissioners Court under the law. The court will meet at the court house Monday, July 26 for the purpose of hearing all who may appeal to them in such matters.

TWO HEADS BETTER THAN ONE

Senator Harding has announced that if he is elected president he will take the vice-president into his consideration of matters of government. We think this is a splendid idea, and one that should commend the Republican nominee to the thoughtful consideration of the people. The Vice-President should be a more active official than he has been in the past. He should be consulted in all the grave questions that confront the chief executive, because it is a universally recognized truth that two heads are better than one.

More especially is this true when we consider what a splendid official Mr. Coolidge will be in the vice-president's chair.

IT WILL BE THE SAME RESULT

Lincoln and Douglas of Illinois were opposing candidates for president. Roosevelt and Parker of New York were opposing candidates, and now Ohio furnishes the two condidates. It doesn't happen often.—Montgomery Advertises.

Lincoln and Roosevelt, Republicans were elected in the above cases, and this time the Republicans will win with Harding.

THE MORNING AFTER

As usually, after a lengthy debauch, there is a bad taste in mouth. This is the result of the Democratic debauch in the San Francisco Convention. It has left a bad state of nerves, a wicked resentment among the friends of the several candidates, and torn the party into fragments.

Senator Reed was hit with the Wilson steamroller, and went home after the third day, tearful, disconsolate and mad.

W. J. Bryan was flattened out by the same Wilson steamroller, cheered by the mob, and hopelessly defeated by the same mob. He wept also as he witnessed the turning of his bread into stone.

McAdoo, the Crown Prince, refused to be a candidate, and was made to parade before the convention for 44 long ballots, with a bunch of hay just out of reach.

Palmer, the faithful Fidus Achates of the White House, the guardian of the ark of the covenant, was held in leash by the Wilson and administration forces to prevent the nomination of Cox. He too was left by the roadside, embalmed in a thin immortality by the Tammany-Taggart steam roller.

There were some twenty more would be candidates whose chagrin and disappointment bode no good for the candidate put across by the anti-Wilson machine.

The morning after has left a brown taste in the mouth of Democracy; it has brought the bright light of day to a scene of political debauchery and riot unsurpassed in the history of the cuntry.

Too bad to waste so much money and energy for nothing but defeat.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Thorsby Wheat Mill will not be running before the 28 of this month, on account of not being able to get the necessary repairs done sooner.

F. E. GRONQUIST.

Dr. T. M. Dennis and brother Aaron Dennis, attended the sale of dairy cattle at Ashby, Ala., last Saturday.

SHOULTS HAPPENINGS

Everybody enjoyed the good singing at Pleasant Grove Sunday. Prof. James Franklin from near Jemison was there. He sung a while after Sunday School, and in the afternoon. Prof. Franklin will begin a singing school about the first of August.

The crops in this community are looking fine; people are well pleased over the good prospects for a bountiful harvest, corn especially.

The people of this community were a little excited last Saturday night about mid night, when three buildings burned down at Lawley, near here. The buildings that burned were Mr. W. P. Collins store, Mr. Lum Hicks store and the postoffice, all in a row. The origin of the fire is not known. We do not know about the insurance.

Miss Daisy Latham from Lawley is spending a few days with Miss Allie Walker.

Mr. John Mitchell and family spent Sunday with relatives at Lawley.

Miss Eva Hall is spending a few days with Miss Jessie Latham at Lawley.

Mr. Fred McGee and family from near Randolph spent Sunday with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McGee.

Mr. Ed Hall, Miss Eliza Hall, Mr. C. Hall and wife, attended the funeral services of their nephew, Mr. Roy Lawley Monday. Roy died in the hospital at Montgomery last Saturday night; was buried at Tabernacle Methodist Church Monday. He was a young man just 22 years old. A father, two sisters, one brother and a great number of relatives and friends are left to mourn his loss. His mother died about 18 years ago.

We are sorry to say that Miss Fannie Moore, sister of Mrs. J. R. McAfee was carried to hospital in Selma last week for an operation. She was doing nicely when last heard from and her many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

CANE CREEK

The Singing Social met at this place last Sunday and held a nice singing. Everybody enjoyed it.

The directors were Mr. E. F. Taylor, Mr. Willie Cleckler, Mr. Virgile Smith, Mr. Rennie Robinson.

The organists were: Miss Evie Jones.

The singing will be postponed next Sunday afternoon on account of the singing conventio at Claton.

Everybody is urged to come next second Sunday evening.

HIGHLAND

There will be an all day singing at this place the Fourth Sunday in this month.

The Christian Harmony song book will be used in the morning and the new 1920 books in the afternoon.

Everybody come and bring books and well filled baskets.

NOTICE TO MEMBERS OF THE CO. SINGING CONVENTION

All members of the Chilton County Singing Convention, and others interested are urged to attend the business session next Saturday at 2:00, p.m. at the County High School building, at Clanton.

As published elsewhere, Sunday will be spent in singing at this place.

J. M. SMITH, Sec'y.

BARBECUE & PICNIC

We are asked to announce that there will be a barbecue and picnic at Clanton Ford, near Adams Station, on Saturday, July 24th.

Everybody is invited to come and have a big time with us.

Henry Cox Shot By Whit Brown

Henry Cox, a prominent citizen and well-to-do farmer of Collins Chapel community, was shot by Whit Brown on last Saturday night about nine o'clock. Brown is also a farmer who lives near the County Poor House.

The weapon used was a single barrel shot gun and Cox was shot in the back three times.

The reports of the affray say that Cox was passing Brown's place on his way home from Clanton and stopped his team in the road and went over into Brown's water melon patch, supposedly for the purpose of getting some melons. Brown was watching his melon patch armed with his gun and when Cox started out with the melons he fired on him. Cox was shot down. Brown did not go to see whether he had killed the man or not, and says he did not even know who it was. He telephoned the officers that he had shot a man and stayed at home till the officers arrived and took charge of him.

Cox lay on the ground where he fell near the road for about two hours when he was found by a passer-by. He was picked up and carried to his home a few miles up the road, and remained in an unconscious state for several hours. He was carried to an infirmary in Birmingham Sunday and is reported as doing fine. He is expected to recover in a short time.

Brown was brought to jail on Sunday morning where he remained till Monday, when he made bond for the amount of $500 on charge of assault with intent to murder. The preliminary trial will be held in the county court the first Monday in August.

CHILTON COUNTY W. M. U.

The Chilton County W. M. U. Quarterly meeting will be at New Cedron Church July 24th, 1920.

Saturday, 10:00, devotional service, —Col. 1:1-18, by Superintendent.

Song for the new year, "Jesus shall Reign."

Minutes for July meeting read; roll call of societies.

10:30 a talk by Mrs. Hyman, State worker.

10:00. Sermon, by the Pastor.

12:00. Dinner.

1:30. Young Peoples Program.

We would be glad if all the churches in the Chilton County Association would be represented. It is a good work if we could get the people interested—it is the Lord's work.

Mrs. W. J. Billingsley, Pres.
Miss Bertha Littleton, Secy.

Squire A. F. Childress of Thorsby was a visitor to Clanton last Saturday. Mr. Childress had some interesting things to say in regard to the crop prospects. When we asked him about the coming of the pink boll worm he said he thought that there was no use for them to come because the boll weevil would have all the cotton before they get here. He reported some damage to corn by the grass worms.

Rev. E. L. Wilson of Kentucky, now Evangelist of the East Alabama Presbytery, will begin a ten days meeting on next Sabbath, the 18th, in the Clanton Methodist Church, at 11:00 o'clock. During the week following the services will be at 10:00, a.m., and 8:00, p.m.. All persons most cordially invited to attend all these services.

WAR ON RATS IN ALABAMA

Bubonic Plague Uncomfortably Near the Southern Boundary of Our State.

Birmingham.—The only comprehensive educational survey ever made of Alabama, was that of 1919 by the Department of the Interior. It is infinitely more than an educational report—it is an economic study of Alabama, made possible by an act of the Legislature creating the Alabama Education Commission and authorizing the Commission to employ all necessary assistants to make the report absolutely authentic and trustworthy. The task is designated by the Department of the Interior as Bulletin 41.

In view of the recent decision of the Supreme Court of Alabama rendering null and void the income tax law passed by the last Legislature, and of the appeal of Gov. Kilby to Alabamians to make returns on their property of full 60 per cent value, some figures in the report on Alabama's "true" and "assessed" valuation are highly interesting. Fig. 1 on page 20 of the report shows that in 1880 the assessed tax values of the State were a fraction more than $100,000,000, while the true valuation was approximately $400,000,000. But Fig. 1 shows a good deal besides that. It shows that while the assessed valuation has been increased only to approximately $700,000,000, the true valuation has increased from $400,000,000 to about $3,000,000,000.

Commenting upon the wide disparity between true and assessed tax values, the report says:

The crux of the whole matter is how to readjust the State's unsatisfactory tax system; how to equalize among the rich and poor; and how to enforce the revenue code fairly over the State.

War On Rodents In Alabama.

Montgomery.—A statewide campaign for the extermination of rats in Alabama will begin in Montgomery. W. K. Sharp, accompanied by another expert, are expected to begin the instruction of citizens in trapping and destroying the rodents which are carriers of bubonic plague. These two experts are sent from Washington to assist in riding Alabama of rats.

The work in Montgomery will be carried on under the direction of Dr. W. A. McPhaul, county and city health officer. In the course of a week or ten days, as soon as the work is well under way here, the government experts will go to Birmingham, for the organization of a rat killing campaign in Birmingham. They expect to cover the entire state during the Summer months.

People To Boil Drinking Water.

Gadsden.—Dr. John Shahan, laboratory expert of the Etowah County board of health has submitted a report of his examination of the water furnished the people of Gadsden, by their municipality owned water works, which has caused a sensation since it alleges that pollution is to be found at every turn. Analysis of samples from the river, from the filters and from downtown hydrants, the report says, show that the water is dangerous for drinking purposes, and the board of health is planning to recommend the installation of a chlorination plant, it is said. Meanwhile, authorities are advising the people to boil their drinking water until a correction can be made.

Negro League Meets.

Gadsden.—That negroes are aware of the necessity and importance of cooperation, was demonstrated here by the large number present at the opening session of the annual meeting of the Alabama State Negro Business League. The feature of the opening session was what the leaders of the league call a symposium discussion on the subject: "What Cooperative Business Is Most Needed by the Negroes and How to Develop It."

Iron Production For 1920 Growing.

Birmingham.—Alabama's pig iron production for 1920 will exceed that of the previous year and will not be much under the totals of 1918, judging from the figures for the first half of the year from semi-official sources. Alabama is given credit for 1,208,233 tons for the six months, of this amount 210,105 tons are for the month of June.

Union Men Testify.

Birmingham.—Mandamus proceedings are being brought by Horace C. Alford against the jury commission of Jefferson County in which it is sought to compel the commission to fill the jury box with the names of every person in the county qualified for jury service. An effort is being made by comparison of the books of labor organizations with the jury lists for a number of years past to show that members of organized labor qualified for jury service are not summoned by the commission.

Improvements On the Coosa.

Gadsden.—Capt. W. P. Lay, "father of Coosa River development," is being urged through telegrams and letters from various points in the Coosa-Alabama Valley to call a meeting of the Coosa-Alabama River Improvement Association. The success of the water-power bill, coupled with the contemplated improvements on the river to be made by the Alabama Power Company, makes possible and feasible the opening of the Coosa for navigation from Rome, Ga., to the Alabama River, and thence to the Gulf. The power company is expected to build at least two great dams, one at Duncan's Riffle and one at Lock 18. This will remove most of the rapids now existing above Lock 18. By the expenditure of a sum comparatively small in proportion to amounts spent on other river projects, the government then will be enabled to develop the remainder of the river and to provide for its navigation from Rome.

Plunkett Is Killed.

Hamilton.—News has reached here of the killing of A. L. Plunkett in the eastern part of Marion County. Plunkett was under bond at Hamilton and failing to appear for trial, a deputy sheriff and his bondsmen went to his home with the intention of arresting him and delivering him up on his bond. The report is that Plunkett resisted arrest, and made an attempt to cut the deputy sheriff with a knife, and failing, turned on R. M. McGough, one of his sureties on the forfeited bond. McGough retreated to escape, upon further attack by Plunkett, fired one shot from a revolver, which took effect in Plunkett's chest, and from which he died in a few minutes.

Officially Report Fourth Plague Case.

Mobile.—The fourth case of bubonic plague was officially reported in Pensacola. Citizens in mass meeting demanded that the commission pass an ordinance providing for rat extermination. The last case of plague was Henry Hudson, driver of an express company. He was inoculated with serum. Mayor Sanders said that the ordinance requested would be enacted by the commission as soon as it could be advertised to meet the requirements of the law. Word came from the surgeon general's office at Washington that unless rats in Pensacola are killed the city would be placed under quarantine.

Thieves Not Particular.

Birmingham.—Two stores were robbed in Birmingham, according to police reports, cigars, lard, sugar and clothing being lost. The Gist and Jones Drug Company reported 600 pounds of sugar and 675 cigars taken. The rear door had been bored. Forty pounds of lard and various articles of clothing valued at $150 were taken and brought $1,017, which will be turned over to the internal revenue treasury. These cars were siezed when parties were arrested on charges of transporting liquor on which the tax had not been paid.

New Raise For Miners Unlikely.

Birmingham.—Total average increases allowed mine workers, on the wage scale in effect Oct. 31, 1919, should not exceed 27 per cent, according to a telegram received from Henry M. Robinson, member of the bituminous coal commission appointed by President Wilson to investigate conditions. The United Mine Workers claim that the award meant a $1 per day increase, while the operators have been paying a 20 per cent increase.

Annual Meeting of Amateur Press.

Birmingham.—The United Amateur Press Association of America will hold its twenty-fourth annual convention in Birmingham this week. Many amateur publishers and editors will be in attendance from the north and a large number are expected to be present from the southern states.

New Banks Open.

Montgomery.—Announcement was made by the state banking department that the two banks which were granted charters recently have been opened for business. The new institutions are the Hodges State Bank of Hodges, Franklin county, and the Bank of Slocomb, Geneva county.

Birmingham.—The City Commission voted down the ordinance by Commissioner Burruss providing for a million-dollar bond issue for street improvements, the vote being four to one against. It was proposed to raise money in this manner to be expended at the rate of $200,000 per year.

Old Soldiers' Picnic.

Anniston.—The annual picnic of the Calhoun County Confederate Veterans is to be held at Oxford Lake on July 22 and extensive preparations are being made for the event. The committee has issued an invitation to all the old soldiers, their widows, wives, sons, daughters and friends.

Woman Struck By Car Dies.

Birmingham.—Mrs. Clara Miller, age 55, was almost instantly killed at the corner of Twenty-First Street and Seventh Avenue, South, when she was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Walter H. Meseroll. According to witnesses, the automobile was being driven at a high rate of speed and made no effort to stop until almost upon the unfortunate woman. Mrs. Miller is said to have been almost in the middle of the street when the automobile came into view.

FIRST CONVENTION THIRD PARTY MEN

FOUNDATION STONES FOR A NEW PARTY ALL LAID IN CHICAGO.

WRANGLE OVER A NAME

Single Tax Party Joins With Forty-Eight in Their First National Convention.

Chicago.—Foundation stones for a new party on which to unite all third party movements were laid when the committee of 48 and the single tax party joined in their first national convention to draft a platform and pick nominees who, they hope, will win the support of ten or a dozen liberal organizations.

The first day's session, devoted to keynote speeches and organization work, developed as many different views as there were factions represented. Rules, resolutions and nominations for prominent officials were debated step by step and at times acrimoniously. Allen McCurdy of New York, the temporary chairman, and J. A. H. Hopkins, head of the committee of forty-eight, who called the convention to order, maintained order with difficulty.

Division between the liberal and radical elements was brought out in the rules debate when Swineburne Hale of New York said the state delegations were divided "51 per cent liberal and 49 per cent radical." He was pleading for a change in the rules that would prevent the radicals being out-voted by the majority liberals, but the majority ruled and his plea was lost.

Opposed To LaFollette.

Participation of the single taxers in the convention followed an earlier session at which hey decided to present their platform demands and views on candidates. They are understood to be willing to accept either Charles H. Ingersoll or Amos Pinchot, one of the leaders of the committee of forty-eight, for presidential nominee. They are opposed, their leaders say, to accepting Robert E. LaFollette, the favorite presidential candidate of the forty-eighters, and may bolt the convention and select their own ticket if LaFollette is nominated.

Determination of the single taxers' course was declared to be contingent upon three things. First, the platform which they said, must include a single tax plank; second, the candidate and third, the name of the party.

Wrangle Over Name.

The party name promises to develop a fight. Members of the single tax group want some reference to their name incorporated in the party name. The labor party of the United States, whose convention is now under way is willing to join the third party movement and probably will accept LaFollette as a candidate, but demands that the word "labor" be included in the party designation.

As organized, the committee of forty-eight committees numbered 539 accorded delegates, with a majority of 270 required to nominate. The 539 included, in addition to the forty-eighters and single taxers fraternal delegates from the Non-Partisan League. Triple Alliance of the Northwest, Farmers National Council, People's Money League, the Producers League and Consumers League and several other organizations. The committee of forty-eight embraces a number of well known liberal leaders, some of whom were prominent in the bull moose movement of four and eight years ago. The committee was formed last year at St. Louis, with a member for each state.

EMPRESS EUGENIE DIES.

Was Powerful Factor in European Politics For Decades.

Madrid.—The former Empress Eugenie, of France, died here.

Eugenie Marie De Montijo, former empress of France, was born in Granda, Andalusia, Spain, May 5, 1826. She was the second daughter of Count Manuel Fernandez De Montijo, Duke of Penerauda, and Maria Manuela Kirkpatrick of Closeburn, Dumfrieshier, Scotland. Her maternal grandfather was William Kirkpatrick, United States consul at Malaga, who was a native of Scotland, but a nationalized American.

The empress had great influence over her husband and on several occasions acted as regent during the absence of the emperor when he was traveling or with his army in the field. This was in 1859, 1865 and 1870, the latter date during the Franco-Prussian war.

Bread for Fighting Men.

It is scarcely possible to "say exactly how many loaves are baked daily for our men at the front," but it would run into many hundreds of thousands. In one bakery alone in France 120,000 two-pound loaves are produced every day by a small army of 400 bakers—all enlisted army men who wear their khaki as proudly as any of the troops in the front-line trenches. The work goes on night and day without ceasing, and the bread is described as "crisp, appetizing and excellent."—London Tit-Bits.

EATONIC Users —Do This—Get the Greatest Benefits

Chicago, Ill.—Thousands of reports from people all over the U. S. who have tested Eatonic, show the greatest benefits are obtained by using it for a few weeks, taking one or two tablets after each meal.

Eatonic users know that it stops Belching, Bloating, Heartburn, and Stomach Miseries quickly, but the really lasting benefits are obtained by using Eatonic long enough to take the harmful excess acids and gases entirely out of the system. This requires a little time, for Eatonic takes up the excess acidity and poisons and carries them out of the body and of course, when it is all removed, the sufferer gets well, feels fine—full of life and pep.

If you have been taking an Eatonic now and then, be sure and take it regularly for a time and obtain all of these wonderful benefits. Please speak to your druggist about this, so that he can tell others that need this help. Adv.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

POULTRY CACKLES

VALUE OF FEATHERED STOCK

More Poultry Kept on Farms in United States Than All Other Livestock Combined.

Unusual interest in systematic poultry improvement throughout the country is apparent from reports received by the United States department of agriculture in connection with the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign. Figures collected thus far indicate that more poultry is kept on farms in the United States than all other livestock combined, and that a greater proportion of the poultry is of pure blood than any other kind of livestock.

Of the Meat Furnished by the Farm to the Farmer and His Family Poultry Constitutes About 10 Per Cent.

The records also refute the frequent assertion that most livestock raisers take little interest in feathered stock, leaving it largely to the women.

A Connecticut farmer who recently enrolled in the "better sihes' movement is an example of the interest of men in improved poultry. He listed 30 cattle and 1,939 poultry—all of pure breeding. No other breeding stock was kept on the farm.

SWIMMING HOLE FOR DUCKS

While Not Considered Essential for Growing Fowls, It Is Wise to Provide This Feature.

While water to swim in is no longer regarded as essential for duck growing, the fowls enjoy this feature so much that we have always considered it wise to provide a small swimming hole for them. However, in raising young ducks for market they will fatten sooner without swimming. However, they must have all the water they want to drink and it should be deep enough for them to immerse their heads in.

GET AFTER LICE VIGOROUSLY

Peculiar Fact That Vermin Will Infest Some Fowls in Flocks While Others Go Free.

If one of a promising flock seems to make slower progress in growth, has a dull looking plumage and pale face—look for lice. It is queer how lice will infest some birds in a flock while others seem practically free from it. Unless you get after them vigorously, they will certainly stunt the bird.

Was Discouraged

Lost 65 Pounds in Weight and Had to Give Up Work. Has Been Well Since Using Doan's

"Being exposed to extreme heat when working as an engineer, and then going outdoors to cool off, caused my kidney trouble," says Karl Goering, 8513 N. Orkney St., Philadelphia, Pa. "In cold weather and when it was damp, my joints and muscles would swell and ache, and often my limbs were so badly affected it was only with great misery I was able to get around. For a week I was laid up in bed, hardly able to move hand or foot.

Mr. Goering

"Another trouble was from irregular and scanty passages of the kidney secretions. I became dull and weak and had to give up my work. Headaches and dizzy spells nearly blinded me and I went from 265 to 200 in weight. Nothing helped me and I felt I was doomed to suffer.

"At last I had the good fortune to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills and began taking them. I soon got back my strength and weight and all the rheumatic pains and other kidney troubles left. I have remained cured."

Home Town Helps

FOR BEAUTIFICATION OF ROAD

Praiseworthy Idea Is That of Planting Trees in Streets of the Various Cities.

Now comes Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Forestry association, who urges the beautification of roads. Mr. Pack suggests that we cease building monuments for at least ten years, until the proper perspective can be given the situation, and that all the roads of the country, old and new, be planted in honor of the men and women who entered war work. He also suggests that counties work out plans for the placing of groves, so that we may in time have a national extended memorial.

The suggestion has been taken up in many parts of the country. A unique instance is the work of the people of Minneapolis, who are planning as far ahead as 1951. Trees are being trained there for 50 years hence, the American elm, of the vase type, being used. A fund of $50,000 has been set aside for the care of these trees. Mr. C. M. Loring is the chief of the park system of Minneapolis, and this sum is his contribution to the memorial. The trees will be planted 60 feet apart.

Other cities are also alive to what can be done in this work. Washington plans to have a driveway between Potomac and Rock Creek parks, and memorial tree planting is under discussion there. In Cincinnati, a boulevard starting in the down-town section may be improved in this manner.

Concerning the Garden.

The delights of a garden don't need classifying, but some of the difficulties do. The first is to find the right place in which to make the garden. It should be in a locality where the sun will shine on it for at least five hours each bright day. It should not be where the soil is so thin and the rocks so near the surface that the garden will burn out during the summer. It should not be under or near large trees; the trees will not only keep the sun off, but will draw all the moisture and plantfood from the soil. Nor must the garden be in a spot that gets flooded.

Co-ordination of Work.

Through the association of commerce the city of Milwaukee is planning to centralize all of the city's activities among the foreign born. The plan calls for a general committee, whose representatives are drawn from the various civic, social, and patriotic bodies and for an executive committee of five members to be appointed from the general committee. The co-operation of a member from each of these bodies will obviate all duplication of work and will mean a large increase in the ground covered in the coming year.

Her Heartlessness.

"I hear tell that Gabe Gawkey is figuring on getting a divorce from his wife," said a neighbor. "What's the matter with her, anyhow?"

"She's plumb heartless," replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark. "He talked about taking some spring medicine and she up and told him that the best kind to suit his case was a buck-saw and ax. That there infernal lady ain't got no more feelings than a snapping turtle!"—Kansas City Times.

Community's Benefactor.

The man who owns an attractive home, large or small, is a real benefactor to the community. He is particularly fortunate if he can build the house himself. Then he can say with satisfaction: "When I am gone at least I shall have left a monument in the shape of this house. The town is more attractive than it would have been if I had not built my home here."

When Love Grew Cold.

My most embarrassing moment happened when I was twelve years old. I was in love. It was on a winter morning, and my mother was sending me to the store, when the boy I loved passed by. I went out of the house as fast as I could, but I slipped and fell down the stairs. It was so funny he laughed out loud at me. I never looked at that boy again.—Exchange.

DODSON SOUNDS CALOMEL'S DOOM

The "Liver Tone" Man Warns Folks Against the Sickening, Salivating Drug.

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you lose a day.

Calomel is mercury! When it comes into contact with sour bile, it crashes into it, breaking it up. Then is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish, if liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous, go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it can not salivate or make you sick.—Adv.

Aristocrats Among Sweaters

NECESSITY—that humble and useful mother of inventions—brought forth some years ago after her kind the humble and useful sweater and its early intention and seeming destiny, was simply to be comfortable. Mankind adopted it and has required nothing further than comfort from it all these years. Women adopted it and have led it a merry chase into the land of fancy and changing styles. She requires that it be novel, varied, chic, first, and somewhat useful afterward, and it is far from humble or plain now. There are in fact so many diversified kinds of sweaters that pictures of them might provide illustrations for a calendar of the year.

July presents us with such delightful affairs in the smart company of sweaters as that new model shown in the picture. It appears to be of fiber silk knitted so as to show a solid rib alternating with an open mesh. It is a slip-over model, among the neatest of this popular variety, and is very nicely adjusted to the figure with definite fit about the shoulders and bust, and a charming management of the waist. It appears that we cannot tell the story of anything these days without adding a little yarn to it. Yarn trims everything—hats, blouses, frocks, and provides a double cord for the waist of this sweater and a single one for the neck. Little yarn balls finish the cords that are tied in the simplest bows.

This sweater has some own sisters that are hand crocheted of silk yarn in many of the bright sweater tones. Usually they are finished at the bottom with a deep fringe. Narrow picot-edged ribbon may be used for finishing touches or long narrow sashes hand-crocheted to match.

Besides these rather luxurious silk sweaters in open work designs there are many in light-colored wools; as a rule women who crochet or knit make them for themselves. But the machine-made sweaters are so attractive that no one need long for anything better. Some women buy a plain, machine-knit sweater and crochet an edge about it in yarn of a light contrasting color. This is easy to do and gives a distinctive personal touch to the garment.

Ribbons Inspire Accessories

WHEN the young woman's fancy isn't turned to thoughts of love it must certainly be occupied with thoughts of sports apparel for midsummer. It doesn't seem possible that there can be time left for anything else in minds that succeed in thinking up so many sporty clothes. Everything from hats to shoes is permeated with this flavor of out-door pastimes.

Gifted and ingenious designers are taking advantage of their ribbon opportunities and converting lovely ribbons into smart soft hats for sports wear. This is not a new venture for the ribbon hat has proved so practical for sports and also for between-seasons wear, that it is here to stay. A feature of these hats that makes them strong with the tourist is that many of them are collapsible and may be carried in a suit case or small bag. Another merit that everyone likes is their flexibility. Brims may be turned up or down and drawn into lines that are most becoming to the wearer. Faille and satin ribbons are most popular for hat making.

A group of these sports hats shown above reveals how successfully ribbons have played their part in this type of headwear and the most natural step in the world was taken by the designer who made bags and scarf to match. In the set at the top, bright green tricolette and faille ribbon make a soft hat and wide scarf, the ribbon—in white—shirred in a puff about the edges of the scarf and across the front of the hat. The girdle of tricolette is very little wider than the ribbon shirred over it.

Just below at the right, there is a hat made of white faille ribbon with picot edge and a bag to match in which the ribbon covers a foundation of white satin. The mounting is silver metal and the handles are of the ribbon. At the left there is a brilliant set made of white satin ribbon having black embroidered figures over it. This hat is made over a light frame and is a dignified example of sports styles. The ribbon is ingeniously managed in the bag, being folded to bring the embroidered figures to the center.

Leather Belts.

New leather belts are interesting. To begin with, they are most of them quite narrow, and as a second thing they are worn often at a point above or below the waistline of the coat or frock they go with. One is a narrow belt of glazed dark blue leather, with a narrow binding of black on each side. This part of the belt reaches around the waist. Then there are two ends of the belt of braided thongs of the leather which are loosely tied and hang down at the side, front or back.

Bank Vice-President

Tells How Ziron Iron Tonic Helped His Daughter After Operation for Appendicitis.

AFTER any serious illness, the first thing you notice when you begin to get around is your lack of strength and energy—a tired, weak feeling.

The sooner you get your strength back the better. The thing to do is to eat plenty of good, nourishing food, get all the fresh air you can, exercise conservatively, and take Ziron Iron Tonic three times a day.

Your doctor will tell you this is sound advice, and urge you to follow it.

Read this letter from Mr. J. B. Kelly, vice-president of the First National Bank, Graceville, Fla.: "My daughter had been in bad health since last April. She was operated on for appendicitis. She has been taking Ziron for two weeks. Her appetite is better than it has been. Her nerves are better, and she says she feels better . . . I know that Ziron is good for weak and feeble people."

Ziron is a scientific, reconstructive tonic, prepared from valuable strength-building ingredients, for weak people with thin blood. Druggists sell Ziron on a money-back guarantee. Try it.

Relief for Torpid Livers and Habitual Constipation

The liver is the largest and most important organ in the body, and when the liver refuses to act, it causes constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, gas, sour stomach, bad breath, dysentery, diarrhoea, pains in back and under shoulder blades and under ribs on right side. These symptoms lead to colds, influenza or other serious troubles unless corrected immediately.

An inactive liver places an extra burden on the kidneys, which overtaxes them and causes the blood to absorb and carry into the system the impurities that the liver and kidneys have failed to eliminate.

When you treat the liver alone, you treat only a third of your trouble, and that is why you have to take purgatives every few nights. Calomel or other ordinary laxatives do not go far enough. If you would treat your kidneys and blood while treating the liver, you would put your entire system in order and frequent purgatives would then be unnecessary.

Dr. W. L. Hitchcock many years ago recognized these important facts, and after much study and research, compounded what is now known as Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney and Blood Powders, three medicines combined in one. This was the Doctor's favorite prescription for many years, being used by his patients with marked success. It is a harmless vegetable remedy that will not make you sick, and you may eat anything you like while taking it.

Get a large tin box from your druggist or dealer for 25 cents, under his personal guarantee that it will give relief, tone up the liver, stimulate the kidneys to healthy action and thereby purify the blood. Keep it in the home for ready use whenever any member of the family begins to feel "out of sorts." It will prove a household friend and a valuable remedy.

Somebody broke the heart of Democracy.

Tammany and Taggart turned the trick for Cox.

Ohio will not be the only Waterloo for the Democrats.

It is certain that the next president will come from Ohio.

President Wilson was not so popular with the Democrats as he thought he was.

After all that loud talk, the Democrats paid no attention to a bonus to soldiers.

Plenty of bets ready that Senator Harding will carry Ohio by 50,000 plurality.

"Jimmy" Cox cares more about some other issues than the Wilson League of Nations.

Attorney General Palmer defeated McAdoo, and Palmer is a cabinet officer. Will he follow Secretary Lansing

The nomination of "Jim" Cox has made the paramount issue something besides the Wilson Covenant of a League of Nations.

END OF AUTOCRACY, BUREAUCRACY AND HYPOCRICY

The nomination of Cox tells the knell of Wilsonism. To that extent the American people will thank the star of their destiny. But the election of Cox would record on the fair pages of our history the triumph of Tammany and Taggartism over the sane and decent element which constitutes the great American majority. That, however, it a contingency that need not be feared if every voter in the land attends the polls November 2.

The people will not turn from a Louis XIV now in power to a Louis XV now in expectancy. They will not put an end to official servilism by entrenching in power what gives promise to being official corruption. They will not strike the paw of the lion from the Capital Dome to make place for the claws of the Tiger. They will shout, "The King is dead!" but they will not follow it with "Long Live the King!" Despotism has had its day. Constitutionalism will be restored; and the wiles of the demagoyue, to be exhibited in the approaching campaign, must yield to the logic of the statesman.

Yet, it will not do for Republicans to flout the ticket of the opposition. What Cox lacks in conservatism he makes up in political cunning. His announcement that he "will carry the cause to the many homes of service and sacrifice" well indicates the hysterical appeal which he proposes to make to the people. He will seek to distract public attention from eight years of Democratic misrule by convincing the people that he has the panacea for ills which are either imaginary, or, where they exist at all, are a result of the gross incapacities of his own party. He will know when to employ silk-hat argument, and at what time to hand out shirt-sleeve oratory. Cox is for votes first. Let principles take care of themselves. His will be the sort of campaign that tickles the fancy of the thoughtless, full of "pep" and ginger—and wind. But the people have had a long time for bitter reflection. They have had an allopathic dose which has at least the virtue of restoring them to sound thinking. They are fully aware that the example of eight years of dictatorship has not been lost on the Democratic nominee, who would fain emulate Wilson as a ruler, not an administrator.

Cox's record in the national arena of politics is not one at which to "point with pride." He served something less than two terms as Representative in Congress from the 3rd Ohio district. During that period he introduced 931 bills, of which 916 were for pensions, incerases of pension, or to remove charges of desertion, three or four were inconsequential measures, several provided for public buildings in his Congressional Distrct, and but one, to make trade agreements with foreign nations, bore any trace of constructive thought. This record is so weak as to be impossible of comparison with the admirably constructive statesmanship of Harding in the United States Senate. And next to the need of a return to constitutional government, our greatest cry is for constructivism in legislation. Cox's attitude on the league of nations will be dictated by what he discovers in the course of the campaign to be expedient.

The Democratic drums will roll, and the trumpets will blare, and all the vast influence of the Democratic publicity bureaus, many of them operated at government expense, will be turned over to the candidate. But the people will sit tight and compare Cox's eloquence and bureaucratic fustian with the "front porch" deliberate statements of Warren Harding. Then a march en masse on the polls in November will result in the restoration of sane, clean and constitutional government through a Republican landslide.

COX vs. HARDING

After 44 ballots the Democratic convention nominated a candidate. Gov. Cox is the surviver in a battle royal extending through 14 hours, engendering bitter animosities that cannot fail to make more complete the wreck of the party at the November elections. Unlike the Republican convention which nominated a man on the tenth ballot acceptable to practically all the other candidates, who saw that their own hopes had vanished, the Democratic gathering chose one who had been in the forefront of the fight from the start, and who won out simply because his assault on his opponents was the strongest. Senator Harding was a compromise candidate, behind whom all factions of the pre-convention period have composed their differences and are now working together enthusiastically for his election. Governor Cox emerges out from the top of a heap of struggling aspirants for the prize. His nomination is with the assent neither of the Wilson nor of the Bryan forces. Both were bitter against him, and friends of both return from the convention with the memories of the struggle rankling in their hearts. It may be that they will not openly support the Republican candidate, but such aid as they appear to give Cox will be of the spiritless sort that will harm rather than help his campaign.

Senator Harding won because of his faultless record in public and in private life. There were no flaws which could be magnified by his political opponents into obstacles to Republican success in November, nor to which the other aspirants for the nomination could take exception. He is a man of proven executive ability, of demonstrated statesmanship, and lovable personal characteristics. Gov. Cox, too, served for four years as a representative of his State at Washington, but he would never be called a legislator, much less a statesman. One searches his congressional record in vain for anything he did or said calculated to further the welfare of his country. But he was not even neutral. Of the hundreds of bills that he introduced, practically every one was to make exceptions to the laws of Congress or to the regulations promulgated by the executive departments under those laws, such as special pension grants, bills to remove charges of desertion from soldiers' records, or to grant other special relief to his supporters back home which they were denied under the law. Senator Harding's five years' record in the Senate has been essentially constructive. Governor Cox's four years record in the House was essentially destructive.

Senator Harding was chosen by his party as a man whose administration would contribute most to the welfare of the nation. Governor Cox was selected by the partisans at San Francisco because he is a notorious vote-getter and therefore most likely to continue the Democratic party in power at Washington. Senator Harding's election would mean the emancipation of the government from partisans who seek to profit from the spoils of victory and it's administration by men of demonstrated desire and ability to contribute to nation's prosperity. Gov. Cox's election would mean the continued perversion of legitimate governmental machinery into its grip on the Treasury and the rest of the executive branch.

This is the first time both the leading parties presented printer's devils to the voters, as candidates for president.

Three key-note speeches and forty-four ballots were required to arouse much enthusiasm in the Democratic party. Finally it ended in a riot and a lot of bad feeling.

Mr. W. J. Bryan says that the White House, Wall Street and the liquor interests contended for the honor of nominating the Democratic candidate for president. Which won?

The nomination of Governor Cox by the Democrats is a stern rebuke of President Wilson and a mandate to him that his Covenant of a League of Nations will be very much ignored by the Democrats themselves.

Candidate Cox defeated four cabinet officials, several Democratic senators, hundreds of federal officers and a secret but none the less powerful influence of the White House. Yet President Wilson says he is pleased.

At the end of Monday's session of the San Francisco convention a friend met W. J. Bryan, and said he hoped to hear another speech from him.

"Oh no," said Bryan. "This is not my kind of a convention."

"Can't you change it to your kind of a convention?" he was asked.

"The leopard cannot change its spots," was Mr. Bryan's reply.

Mr. Bryan says the convention has courted defeat at the polls.

If You Are Easily Tired Out, Your Blood Needs Purifying

Clogged-up Impurities Will Undermine Your Health.

The first symptoms are usually a loss of appetite, followed by a gradual lessening of energy, the system becomes weaker day by day, until you feel yourself on the verge of a breakdown.

This whole condition is but the result of impurities in the blood that show that nature needs assistance in giving the system a general housecleaning.

Nearly everybody just now needs a few Bottles of S. S. S. to cleanse the system of impurities.

S. S. S. is without an equal as a general tonic and system builder It improves the appetite and gives new strength and vitality to both old and young.

YOU'VE BEEN WAITING FOR IT!

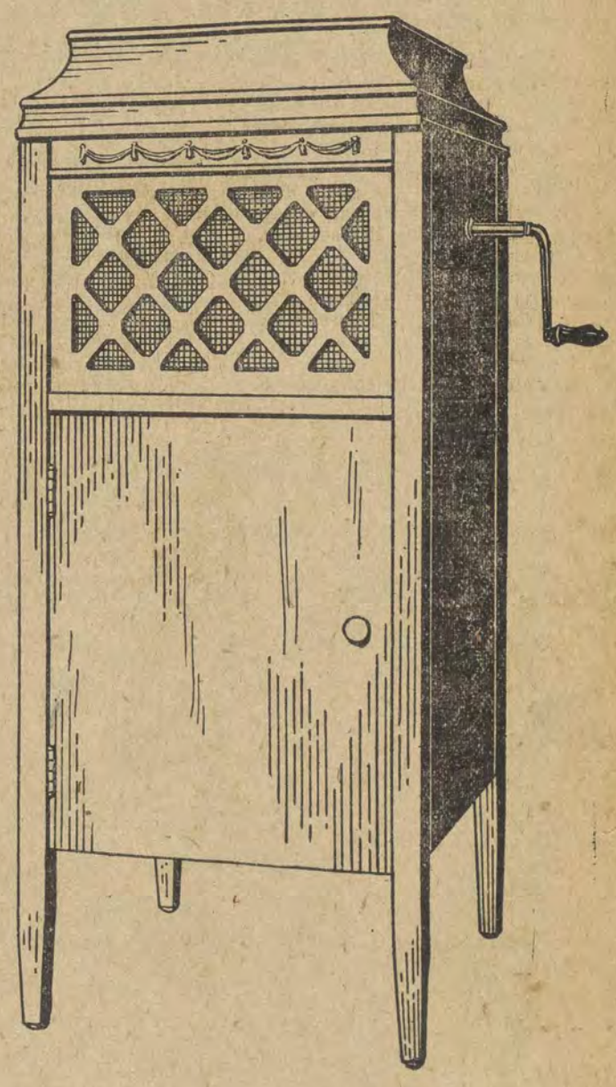
Pathé Single-Dollar Club

A DOLLAR—AND YOU'RE IN!

Pathé Single-Dollar Club

TODAY'S THE DAY!

NEVER mind the freight congestion—never mind the reasons why more phonographs have been shipped to us within the last few months—what counts is that we have succeeded in getting 200 Model 7 Pathé Phonographs—and 200 people are going to lay down one small dollar and get the very instrument they have been planning to own, delivered at home and set up and playing that same day.



Starts at a dollar!
Starts at a dollar!
Starts at a dollar!

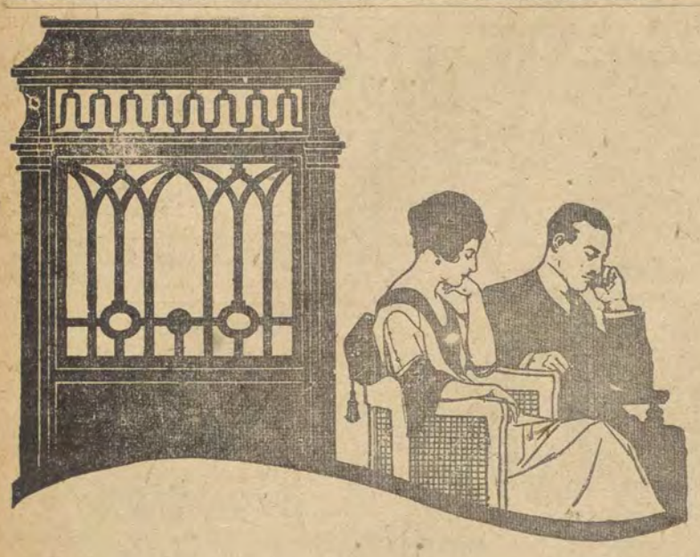
If you've got a dollar you're not going to be disappointed this time in getting a Pathé Phonograph. All you need to insure getting it is one little ornery dollar. The main thing is to be quick. If you don't want to find yourself outside get busy! Get Busy! GET BUSY!

Just 200 members!
Just 200 members!
Just 200 members!

It's up to you to get in while the getting is good. The Pathé Phonograph is likely to advance in price—we can't tell how soon—so take a tip from us and get one now. Records? That's another proposition. The Pathé Single Dollar Club takes in phonographs only. Don't bleat about the H. C. L. when a dollar does this. You've always wanted a good phonograph—here's your chance to get the best there is—a chance for you and a chance for 199 other lucky people.

Get into the "200"

The Pathé REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.



COSTS NO MORE THAN THE ORDINARY
Phonograph

Model 7 is one of the most popular Pathé Models. It is supreme in design, in material and in workmanship and supreme in tone—the one big thing that really counts with any phonograph. It is mechanically right; and it plays all makes of records perfectly, bringing out every detail of every record, whether it's instrumental, operatic, vocal, band or jazz. You will never know the real enjoyment of music until you own a Pathé Phonograph—and that might as well be now.

In Model 7 Pathé Phonograph the Pathé artistic standard is faithfully typified. Mahogany or oak (Golden and fumed); all exposed parts nickel-plated; universal tone arm; Pathé perfect tone control; Pathé reproducer; sapphire ball; double-spring motor. 18" wide; 19½" deep; 41½" high. A beautiful instrument which produces beautiful music—as you want it.

Come into our store and ask for Mr. Edison's

REALISM TEST

IT reveals to you the Supreme Realism of the New Edison, the phonograph with which Mr. Edison has challenged the talking-machine manufacturers of the world.

It shows you the charm of music's imagery. It transports you to the far-away. It makes you lose consciousness of your surroundings.

This Fascinating Test

enables you to determine, in an interesting and scientific way, whether the Realism of the New Edison gives you the same emotions as the living singer's voice—as the sound of the actual instrument—or as the performance of great bands and orchestras.

Noted Psychologists

endorse this entertaining experiment as the correct way to ascertain the New Edison's Realism.

You, too, may enjoy this experiment. We invite you to try it.

It will answer, once and for all, your questions, "Can I have the voices of living singers at my beck and call, in my own home? Can I have the great orchestras and bands of the world exactly as they sound?"

Our Budget Plan

Pays for your New Edison by systematizing your entertainment expenditures. Ask about it.

ODD FELLOWS CELEBRATION AT THORSBY JULY THE 17TH

The Thorsby Lodge No. 588 I.O.O.F. will have a day of celebration and a picnic on Saturday, July 17th. The boys up there are planning to have a big time and they invite all the Odd Fellows in the county to come and help them out. But the invitation is not confined to Odd Fellows alone. Everybody is invited to come and bring a basket of dinner and enjoy the day and help make the occasion one of success.

Congressman Huddleston of Birmingham has agreed to be there and make a public address. This will be worth going to hear.

TEACHERS EXAMINATION

The next regular teachers examination will be held at the high school building in Clanton on July 19, 20, 21, 1920. Any applicant with whom I am not personally acquainted will have to furnish references and identity by someone known by me and place proof of moral character.

This examination is the last that will be given for third grade certificates. While second and first grades will continue for another year on the present basis.

The examination will begin promptly at 10 o'clock, but all applicants should be present for registration by 9 o'clock.

Proved What It Would Do In a Two Days Trial

Mr. Gordon of York, Ala., declares he is rid of Constipation, Indigestion, sluggish liver, and Kidney Trouble.

Heard so much about new medicine, was anxious to try it, and now he is glad that he did.

"I had heard much about this new medicine, Dreco, I was anxious to try it, and after two days I was convinced that it was grand medicine," stated Br. R. B. Gordon, a well known farmer of York, Ala.

"I have suffered all my life from stomach trouble, indigestion, constipation and a sluggish liver. I've taken medicine after medicine, but none every did than temporary good, but I am convinced that Dreco is different from the others. It seemed to be the very thing my stomach needed, and the indgestion ceased almost immediately; my bowels began acting regularly and in a smooth ,natural manner. My liver got active and the biliousnesspassed off. My appetite increased and my nerves became calm so that I could sleep like a baby. Dreco is a great medicine and I think every one should be told about it.,,

All druggist now sell Drecoand it is being especially introduced in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Company.

CHILTON COUNTY ABSTRACT CO.

M. D. FOSHEE, MANAGER.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

Abstracts of Title Promptly Prepared at Reasonable Charges.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION TO BE AT COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

The next session of the Chilton County Singing Convention is to be held at the County High School building in Clanton on the Third Sunday in July (18th).

Mr. J. Monroe Smith, the secretary of the Convention, and other local promoters of the cause of music in the county, are busy getting details in shape for the coming event which will no doubt be made one of the best in the history of the organization.

Such reputed singers as Patton, Merritt and others, will be here to add the great force of their presence to the occasion. At that time Prof. Patton will be teaching a school at Liberty Hill and he will be here with his entire class from that place.

Prof. Merrtt will be remembered by those who attended the special session of the convention at the high school last November. He was there and his directing caught up a most hearty response from all who heard him.

WHAT IS THE OFFICIAL TEST OF COWS.

Prepared by W. H. Eaton, Dairy Husbandman.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

During the past year a number of dairy breeders in Alabama have placed their herds under official test and a considerable number of cows are making creditable records. The Extension Service is frequently in receipt of inquiries concerning official testing, what it is, how conducted and the value of the same.

Any owner of a registered dairy animal in Alabama may have his herd officially tested by first making application to the breed association in which his animals are registered and at the same time making application to the Dairy Department for a supervision of the test.

The owners of cows under this test must pay all expenses of testing, expenses to be collected by the Dairy Department. The owner must also report to the breed association the weight of milk produced by individual cows during twelve calendar months.

In order to qualify for entry in the Advanced Registry or Register of Merit a Jersey cow must produce 250.0 pounds of fat in one year when the test is started, at two years of age or younger. This amount is increased one-tenth of a pound per day for each day the cow is over two years of age. The entrance requirements for a cow five years old or over is 360 pounds of fat.

If a cow is not capable of making a fair record, when given an opportunity, she is not worthy of a place in a pure bred herd. An official record will increase the value of both the cow and her offspring in proportion to the record made.

RYE FOR WINTER GRAZING

To carry livestock without grazing is always expensive. Some grain is often necessary, but grazing furnishes the margin of profit. Permanent pastures may furnish green feed during the "growing" months of the year, but permanent pastures furnish very little grazing from late fall through the winter. Hence, it is usually more expensive to carry cattle through that season than any other. How to provide temporary pasturage for winter is therefore an important question.

Rye is well adapted to the production of green feed when such feed is usually scarce. It may safely be planted earlier than either of the other small grains. While grazing from rye is not quite so palatable as from oats, yet the former is readily grazed by stock when other grazing is scarce. Rye is also a most dependable crop, withstanding unfavorable conditions better than oats or wheat.

Plant early for winter grazing. This should be emphasized, not only for rye but for other crops used as winter grazing. In fact August is not too early to seed rye when the object is grazing. Also when used for this purpose the seeding should be somewhat heavier than for seed production. Five or six pecks is not too much.

Cotton middles furnish an excellent place for seeding rye. After the cotton has been "laid-by" rye may be sown broadcast and covered with a cultivator or a three-row one-horse drill may be used satisfactorily. Very little injury will result from tramping by the cotton pickers.

Planting rye in cotton middles is a good practice, not only because of the feed furnished, but also because the growing plants protect the soil from leaching and washing, and add vegetable matter to the soil. In other words, the use of rye as described is a cheap and effective means of feeding the stock and protecting the land.

It's a Sad Story, Mates!!

The line of talk the mechanic is handing to this poor unfortunate is sump'n' awful. He's just the victim of disregard for the quality of motor oil he bought, and here he is facing the consequences: a prospective repair bill of no mean proportions.

A fact that can never be too strongly emphasized to the automobile owner is the outstanding and VITAL importance of using a heat-resisting Motor Oil. "GREEN FLAG" answers this qualification—its percentage of evaporation is almost negligible under the terrific temperatures of the motor, supplying a constant protection against friction, and the consequent long list of minor and major mishaps.

Go to your "Green Flag" dealer today and have him supply you with this world's supreme Motor Oil.

Costs no more to begin with Costs less in the end

SOCIETY AND PERSONALS

MRS. R. E. LUCKIE, Editor.

MRS. HANCE ALRED HOSTESS

Mrs. J. Hance Alred proved a very charming hostess on last Wednesday evening, when she entertained the Card Club. In the living room where three tables were arranged for the game of bridge, rases of garden flowers were attractively arranged. Mrs. R. E. Luckie was awarded a dainty hand-made handkerchief for the highest score.

A delicious ice course was served at the conclusion of the game to the following members: Mesdames Grady Broadhead, Victor Heard, Harvey Chandler, N. S. Johnson, Grady Reynolds, Guy Roberts, T. C. McSwain, H. M. Simpson, Watts Moore, Eric Hart, and L. F. Gerald.

MISS HESTER ENTERTAINS

Among the enjoyable social features of the week was a spend-the-day party given by Miss Beverly Hester on Wednesday in compliments to Miss Haley.

The central decoration of the table was an immense bowl of nasturtiums. There were covers laid for six. Those enjoying this occasion were: Misses Kathleen Mullins, Leona Pipes, Ruth Holley, Roberta Curry and Mrs. J. Hance Alred.

Mr. Ruben Reynolds and Miss Lessie Reynolds, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Roberts, motored to Birmingham Sunday to attend the Rainbow Division Reunions.

Judge and Mrs. L. H. Reynolds motored to Birmingham Tuesday, returning Wednesday. Mrs. John Newell and children accompanied them.

Master Ernest Askins of Sylacauga arrived Tuesday to spend some time with his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Culver.

Mrs. Grady Borland of Albany, Ga., is visiting relatives here this week.

Mr. Willie Edwards of Pittsburg, Pa., is home for a week.

Mrs. Ida Popwell and daughters, Mary and Mildred, spent last Saturday night with her sister, Mrs. Cora Mims in the Bethel settlement.

Mrs. Tinsie Downs of Mississippi is visiting relatives and friends in Chilton County.

Don't wait too long to go to the big sale at the New York Store.

MISS PIPES COMPLIMENTS MISS HALEY

Miss Leona Pipes was hostess last Thursday entertaining a few of her friends at a luncheon at her home, complimenting her house guest, Miss Ruth Haley of Marion. In the centre of the table was a large vase filled with roses which made an attractive decoration for this occasion. Covers were laid for Misses Haley, Beverly Hester, Kathleen Mullins, Roberta Curry, Willie B. Jones, Mrs. Hance Alred and the hostess. In the afternoon games were played.

EDAWRDS - TUCKER

A pretty home wedding which occured last Sunday, July 4th, at 2:30 o'clock, was that of Mrs. Ava J. Manning-Edwards and Mr. Rufus Earl Tucker, of Birmingham, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Manning. A very impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. B. Lawrence of Birmingham. A large circle of friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony.

The young couple left immediately for their home in West End, Birmingham, carrying with them the good wishes of all their friends.

W. S. Clark of Beat 5 was among the visitors to Clanton Wednesday.

Don't fail to attend the sale at the New York Store.

Mr. R. J. Downs has been busy this week on the telephone lines in Clanton. We hope that he will be able to get them in much better shape.

W. T. Wamble of Mt. Creek was in Clanton Wednesday.

THE GASTON PEARLS.

Synopsis.—Circumstances having prevented Spalding Nelson, clerk, from joining the American forces going to France, he is in a despondent mood when he receives an invitation to dinner from his great-uncle, Rufus Gaston. On the way to the house he meets, under peculiar circumstances, a young girl, apparently in trouble, to whom he has an opportunity to be of slight service. She lives in the same apartment building as Rufus Gaston, and he accompanies her to the house. Gaston and his wife are going to Maine for a trip and want to leave Nelson in charge of the apartment. He accepts. Gaston and his wife tell their great-nephew of mysterious noises—"whispers"—which they have heard in the house. On his way to the Gaston apartment next Sunday Nelson again meets his accidental acquaintance of a few days before, Barbara Bradford. She urges him not to allow the fact of their being acquainted to be known. The hero takes an instinctive dislike to the superintendent, Wick, of the building.

"Quite a proper precaution," I admitted.

"The elevator boy reported your arrival," he continued, "but he wasn't quite sure it was you. The fact that you were chatting with the young lady bothered him, and me, too. Mr. Gaston told me you were a stranger in the city, and I didn't expect to find you knowing one of the Bradfords."

It was on the tip of my tongue to say, "Well, you see I do know her," when I recalled her request that I would not recognize her until we had been introduced in some fashion. I contented myself with saying merely: "Well, I hope you are satisfied now."

"Of course, Mr. Nelson, of course," he answered, though his looks belied his words. Manifestly he was still puzzled over my acquaintance with Miss Bradford.

"I hope you will find it comfortable here," he said, plainly trying to continue the conversation. "If there's ever anything the matter, just call me on the house phone; Mr. Wick, the name is."

"I will," I said, and he unwillingly withdrew.

"If there's ever anything the matter . . ." Was there something sinister in the superintendent's parting remark? Once more the warnings of my relatives flashed into my mind. What was wrong in the house? Why did he anticipate that I might be calling him up? Why did he exhibit such an interest in me and in my acquaintance with the girl across the hall? Somehow the man's whole aspect had impressed me unfavorably.

I carried my bag back to my bedroom and unpacked it. The various attachments in the bath looked so inviting that I stripped and amused myself for half an hour testing the variety of showers and sprays provided. Donning my bathrobe I leisurely smoked an excellent cigar from a box old Rufus had thoughtfully—or perhaps thoughtlessly—left open on his desk, and then returned to the inspection of my new quarters.

As it was Sunday, I had a whole day of leisure before me, and I felt that if I was to clear up the mystery that had driven the old couple out, it was incumbent on me to make a minute study of my surroundings. Only in the little rear sitting room was there any atmosphere of hominess. All the rest of the place was done in the best department store style, even to the richly bound sets of standard authors which lined the walls of the living room, most of which I found had their pages uncut.

My search of the place—and it was thorough, extending even to the empty canisters in the pantry and kitchen—revealed nothing whatever that gave any hint as to the cause or explanation of old Rufus' fears. The place seemed the least likely of all places in the world to hide any mystery, just a great, modern, luxurious apartment, equipped with every possible device for the comfort and convenience of its occupants. It would have to be an up-to-date ghost to find itself at home here.

But wait! Perhaps the safe held some clue to the problem they wanted me to solve. But where was the safe? I had not noticed it anywhere in my repeated journeys through the rooms. I made another tour looking for it. More than likely it had been located in some inconspicuous place purposely. But where? At last I located it, behind a faded crayon portrait of Mrs. Gaston, in the little sitting room.

I lifted the picture to the floor and stood hesitant before the safe. Should I, or should I not, open it? The fact that they had given me the combination seemed to imply that I had a perfect right to inspect its contents.

"Six to the right, four to the left, two to the right, eight to the left,"

As I turned the knob I repeated the combination to myself. There was a little click, and the steel door came open. Reaching in I drew forth two old-fashioned jewel cases of leather, both securely locked. I took from my pocket the keys my great-uncle had given me and toyed with them thoughtfully. Among them were two tiny keys that undoubtedly belonged to the jewel cases. Had I the right to use them? I decided that I had.

The first case I opened contained, so far as my limited knowledge of precious stones enabled me to judge, nothing but a bunch of cheap junk, bits of finery from another century, coral earrings that Mrs. Gaston may have worn when she was a little girl, combs of jet, amber beads, quaint hoop earrings and a ring or two, merely the trinkets of a vain old woman, treasured from the time when the money to buy them was scarce. There was nothing in the lot that any self-respecting thief would take, precious as they may have been to their owner. I locked up that case and returned it to the safe and opened the other.

As I raised the lid an involuntary exclamation of amazement and admiration escaped me. There, nestling in the center of a velvet-lined tray, lay gleaming the most wonderful mass of iridescent pearls I ever had laid eyes on, surely worth a vast fortune. Turning them over and over admiringly in the light, at last I laid them back in the tray and began to investigate the other treasures the casket contained. In other traps in the box I found diamonds galore, a great solitaire that must have been all of seven carats, dinner rings, bar pins, crescents, stars, earrings, and in a compartment all by itself, a tiara of rubies and diamonds. There was also a variety of other gems, pins and rings wrought in curious designs with rubies, diamonds, sapphires, and pearls, some unset diamonds and loose fragments of pieces that had evidently been torn apart to add to other settings, the collection of a woman with unlimited money to spend.

With trembling hands I restored the jewels to their hiding place, twice testing the knob to make sure that the combination had set. The unexpected sight of such a vast fortune in gems had filled me with strange emotions, with thoughts so evil I hardly dared admit them to myself. There must have been nearly half a million dollars' worth of precious stones in that one casket. The Gaston pearls in themselves were a fortune.

If only they were mine!

To every honest man at times come temptations as great as come to any criminal. No man knows whether or not he is honest until he has been put to the test. I knew! I was tempted, strongly tempted, to take my great aunt's jewels. What was to hinder? The old couple were to be absent for months. They had left me in charge and had given me their keys and the safe combination. There would be abundant time for disposing of the jewels before their theft was discovered. With the money they would bring I could satisfy my craving for adventure. I could travel the world over.

Yet, as I look back at it, all the time I was thinking these thoughts, I knew I would not take the jewels. A normal man cannot steal. Even when his desires lead him to theft, his mind points out the folly and his conscience the wrong.

Resolutely I put the thought of the jewels out of my head—or tried to—

There, Nestling in the Center of a Velvet-lined Tray, Lay Gleaming the Most Wonderful Mass of Iridescent Pearls I Ever Laid Eyes On.

and stretching myself out on a couch gave myself up to pleasant reveries about my delightful new acquaintance, the girl who lived just across the hall. I pictured myself finding some way of winning her confidence and of helping her out of her mysterious trouble. And what if eventually old Rufus should make me his heir? Surely I would need a mate with whom to share the joys of having a fortune. With visions of Barbara Bradford bedecked with my great-aunt's choicest jewels. I fell asleep.

It was almost dusk when I was awakened by the arrival of the expressman with my trunks. After I had receipted for them and had unpacked. I suddenly realized that I was hungry, for I had eaten nothing since breakfast. Hastily I donned my clothes, stopping only to count my money. With a week's salary in my pocket and no room rent to pay for several months, surely I could afford a good dinner to celebrate the change in my fortunes.

As I went out I stopped in the lower hall to chat with the telephone girl, ostensibly to ask her to take any messages for me, though I was expecting none.

"You're Mr. Nelson, ain't you?" she asked, eyeing me with curious interest.

"Yes," I replied, "Mr. Spalding Nelson. I am occupying the Gaston apartment while they are away."

A flicker of amusement crossed her face, with just the suggestion of a sneer.

"I hope you'll enjoy living here."

"Why not?" I replied carelessly. "If any one calls, say that I will be home by ten. Miss—"

"Nellie Kelly," she added.

As I chatted with her the elevator had descended again, and three persons emerged, one of them being she for a sight of whom I had been intentionally loitering. One of the two persons with her was plainly the mother and the other I took to be an older sister. She resembled Barbara strongly, but there was a world-weary look in her face, and her beauty seemed to me to be marred by a weak, sensitive, passionate mouth. But I had no eyes for her, so absorbed was I in the appearance of the girl I had met in the park. If I had thought her beautiful then, she was ravishing now. Her raven hair was piled high and caught back with a great Spanish comb. An ermine-trimmed evening coat of brocade swathed her figure, opening at the front just enough to give me a glimpse of her bared white neck. Involuntarily my hand went to my hat, but into her eyes came a haughty look and one hand went to her lips for just a second, as if she were warning me again not to recognize her. I stood there abashed as she swept by me to the waiting motor. The telephone girl's voice jarred me back to my senses.

"I thought you was a friend of the Bradfords," she said sarcastically.

"Sure he is," said the voice of Mr. Wick behind me. "Didn't you hear the boys telling me he came in twice with Miss Bradford?"

"Well, what of it?" I answered lamely and fled from the house, indignant at this open prying of the employees into my affairs, yet entirely at a loss to know how to stop it. How could I tell them I knew Barbara Bradford, when she had just cut me dead?

Feeling vaguely dissatisfied with my first day in my new home, I boarded a 'bus and rode downtown to a little French cafe, where my comrades and I had been accustomed to go when we were in funds. All about me were merry Sunday evening dinner parties, and I was alone. Birge and Roller had gone, and Miss Bradford had refused to recognize me. I hurried through my dinner, paid my check, and was leaving the restaurant when at a corner table I spied the scar-faced man whom I had seen in the park a few evenings before.

He looked up and caught my glance. Into his face came a strange expression, a look of malignant hate, not unmingled with fear. Boldly I returned his gaze. I was tempted to walk right up to him and ask him what he had been doing in the park, and why he had warned his mate away when he saw me there. Yet I had no right to interfere. Miss Bradford had not taken me into her confidence. I had only suspicions to go on that the two men had been there to attempt some wrong on the girl.

Slowly I left the restaurant, puzzled more than ever by the malevolent glance he had given me, and perplexed as to how I was going to serve Miss Bradford, when she would not even recognize me.

CHAPTER III.

My great-aunt's pearls were gone—stolen—vanished from the wall safe!

Still discrediting the evidence of my own eyes, I lighted a match and peered into the steel-lined recess. It was empty. On the table beside me was one of the two jewel boxes it had contained, the one filled with worthless trinkets. The other, which had contained the priceless Gaston pearls and the other rich treasure, had vanished.

Today was Saturday. Six days before I had arrived in the apartment. There had been two jewel cases then. With my own hands I had put them both back safe in their hiding place. I recalled having tested the knob to make sure that the combination had set. Yet since that time someone had opened the safe. Someone had removed the jewels. Who could it have been?

To the best of my knowledge there had been but two persons in the rooms, old Mrs. Burke, my aunt's trusted laundress, and myself. Certainly I had not taken the jewels, and it seemed absurd to suspect Mrs. Burke, who had been in Mrs. Gaston's employ for years and had long been entrusted with a key to the servants' entrance. Yet who else was there to suspect?

Recovering a little from my bewilderment I hastened to the telephone. I must notify the superintendent and also the police that the apartment had been robbed. I decided, too, that I should wire my great-uncle Rufus of the robbery, and then it dawned on me for the first time that I did not know the old couple's address. They merely had said that they were going to Maine. Never mind, there was nothing that they could do in their absence. Probably I could get their address from the superintendent, or from Mr. Gaston's bankers. The first thing to do was to notify the superintendent.

But wait! With my hand on the telephone, I stopped short. It dawned on me that in all likelihood I would be the one most under suspicion.

If detectives were called in, I could see that their first move would be to lay the theft to my door. They would investigate everything about me, and I remembered with distress that I, Spalding Nelson, just now was out of a job—and far worse, stood discredited at the only place of employment I had had in New York.

My discharge had come that very morning like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky. The reason for my peremptory dismissal I had not been able to fathom. In some mysterious fashion my employer's wrath had been roused toward me. Why, I could not imagine. Certainly my life, especially since my two comrades had gone away, had been circumspect enough.

Even though I was living in a seven-thousand-dollar apartment I was unemployed, all but penniless, just recently dismissed for some unexplained reason, and now more than likely to be accused or at least suspected of theft.

Yet only this very morning I had been taking an optimistic view of life. Delighted at having cut my living expenses in two, I had decided to take twenty dollars of the thirty-five I drew that day and add it to the one hundred and eighty dollars I had in the savings bank. I would mail a registered letter to my mother and reduce my indebtedness to her. On my way to business I stopped at the bank and drew out every penny I had there. It was my intention to go to the post office at lunch time to register the letter. Just before twelve, Mr. Wood, the head of the firm, had sent for me.

"Mr. Nelson," he had said wrathfully, the minute I entered his office, "here is your week's salary. You will leave our employ at once."

Stunned both by his manner and his words, I gasped out something about not understanding what he meant. I knew of no reason that would warrant my discharge.

"I can't put it in any plainer English, can I?" he roared at me. "Get out!"

I held my ground.

"Surely I am entitled to some explanation," I protested. "If there's been anything wrong with my work—"

"Your work's all right," he bellowed. "It's this," he cried, waving at me a letter that had been lying on his desk. "This letter is enough. It exposes you for what you are."

Dumfounded at his amazing statement, I demanded to see the accusing document. Angrily he refused.

"You know as well as I what's in it."

In vain I protested. Every word I uttered only seemed to add to his wrath. In the end he almost hustled me out of his office. Blindly I found my way to the street, still clutching in my hand the week's pay he had rudely thrust on me.

That letter to which he referred—who could have written it? What could have been in it that had so inflamed my employer against me? I racked my brains in vain, puzzling to account for it. I had not been aware that I had an enemy in the world, yet who but an enemy could have written a letter that would have such dire effect?

The mystery of my dismissal was too great for me to solve. The one thing I felt thankful for was that it had come before I had sent off my money. At least I had two hundred and fifteen dollars in my pocket. Under my present mode of life that would last me quite a while, surely until I found another position. Well, there was nothing to do but make the best of it.

How Many Women Are Like This?

Can anything be more wearing for women than the ceaseless round of household duties? Oh! the monotony of it all—work and drudge; no time to be sick; tired, ailing, yet cannot stop. There comes a time when something "snaps" and they find themselves "simply worn out," and to make matters worse, have contracted serious feminine disorder which almost always follows the constant overtaxing of a woman's strength.

Then they should remember that there is no remedy like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—the experience of these two women establishes that fact:

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—"After the birth of my last child I had such painful spells that would unfit me entirely for my housework. I suffered for months and the doctor said that my trouble was organic ulcers and I would have to have an operation. That was an awful thing to me, with a young baby and four other children, so one day I thought of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how it had helped me years before and I decided to try it again. I took five bottles of Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and since then I have been a well woman, able to take care of my house and family without any trouble or a day's pain. I am ready and thankful to swear by your medicine any time. I am forty-four years old and have not had a day's illness of any kind for three years." —Mrs. H. Koenig, 617 Ellis Blvd, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Sandusky, Ohio.—"After the birth of my baby I had organic trouble. My doctor said it was caused by too heavy lifting and I would have to have an operation. I would not consent to an operation and let it go for over a year, having my sister do my work for me as I was not able to walk. One day my aunt came to see me and told me about your medicine—said it cured her of the same thing. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and they have cured me. Now I do my own housework, washing and ironing and sewing for my family and also do sewing for other people. I still take a bottle of Vegetable Compound every spring for a tonic. I recommend your medicine to others who have troubles similar to mine and you can use my letter if you wish."—Mrs. Paul Papenfuss, 1325 Stone St., Sandusky, Ohio.

As Example of Perfect Freedom From Care, Colored Boy Would Be Hard to Beat.

Sitting in the rear end of a day coach on a jerkwater road in Texas, my end of the car being a smoker for white passengers and the front end being reserved for the accommodation of colored persons, I—looking through the open door of the dividing partition—saw the conductor stop in the aisle alongside a half-grown negro boy who had boarded the coach at a flag station.

"I ain't got no ticket, cap'n," I heard the darky say. So saying, he hauled a handful of silver dollars out of a pocket and extended the hand, its palm covered with coins.

"Well, then, where do you want to go?" asked the conductor.

"Cap'n, it don't make no difference," quoth the boy. "Jes' you tell me, please, sah, when dis yere money is done ridden up an' den I'll git off effen I lak de looks of the place, an' effen I don't lak it I'll give you some mo' money an' keep on a-ridin'."—Irvin S. The blushing girl leaned over her father's chair and put her arm around his neck.

"You dear old papa!" she cooed. "You've been very good to your little girl since her engagement."

"I'm always glad to make my sunbeam happy," murmured father fondly. "I want you to think sometimes of your foolish old father and remember that he did everything he could to make home pleasant for you before you left him in his lonely old age."

"Oh, you dear, sweet man! What would you say if I didn't leave you, after all?"

"Eh!" exclaimed the startled old man.

"How can I be so selfish after you have been so good to me, and done everything for me?" said the girl tenderly. "I don't care so very very very much for George. I'm going to tell him it was all a mistake, and that he can find somebody else, for I'm always going to stay at home with you. . . . And then you can always give me nice things!"

GOOD ROADS

INTEREST IN FARM MOTORS

Government Schools Give Special Instruction in Operation of Tractors and Trucks.

The government in calling attention to the increased use of automobiles and motor trucks on the farm, has laid its finger on the one big factor that is going to not only make farming an attractive business proposition, but will increase the number of productive farms and make life on the farm more attractive.

The government schools teach men how to operate farm tractors successfully, thus creating a new business or profession, that of the farm mechanical operating expert—a man who can take hold of the production activities of the farm and through the correct operation of tractors, motor trucks and other motor-driven implements and appliances can double and treble the production and distribution of farm products.

The automobile insures quick individual transportation from one field to another on the farm, or from the farm to the nearest shipping point or city. The motor truck likewise insures economical and dependable transportation of produce and live stock, from farm to shipping point or city. With the tractor insuring equal efficiency in production of farm produce, the farmer of today will be the equal of his city brother in the matter of employing time, labor and cost saving equipment that not only increases production but makes the actual work more attractive and remunerative.

Without a doubt, the farmer of a few years hence will employ motor-driven equipment on nearly the same scale that the manufacturer does in the city, insuring the same benefits, increasing his products and decreasing his farm depreciation.

ROADS TO DEVELOP COUNTRY

Of 2,500,000 Miles of Rural Roads in United States, but 12 Per Cent Has Been Improved.

There are today some 2,500,000 miles of rural roads in the United States. Of this amount perhaps 12 per cent could be classified as improved, while only about one-quarter of 1 per cent can be said to be suitable for the carriage of heavy-duty motor trucks. And in the face of this condition it can be said without contradiction that the future development of the United States rests upon the road.

WHAT POOR ROADS INDICATE

Generally Seen in Dull Neighborhood Where Houses Are Run Down and Everything Dead.

Where one finds bad roads, he generally finds a dull, poor and thinly-settled neighborhood. The farmhouses are generally run down, the vehicles are shabby and everything shows that a dead community prevails, while on the other hand where good roads exist the farmer generally has some pride about himself, and tries to bring his business up to the standard of other conditions.

GOOD ROADS BENEFIT FARM

Bring Markets to Rural Sections and Make Possible Development of Productive Land.

Good roads mean better and more productive farms, bringing markets to remote rural sections. By providing something which makes possible the development of farms we perform a service of inestimable value to the country as a whole.

Boosters Now Amazed.

Good roads boosters, who a few years ago were puzzled to find some method of arousing public interest in bond issues for road improvements, are amazed at the ease with which appropriations are passed by city and states authorities.

Poor Roads Isolate.

Poor roads mean isolation, which in turn means fewer possibilities for education, fewer opportunities for wealth, lower real estate valuations as well as increased costs of supplies.

How Old Is John?

Facts vs. Fiction

John Shell turning a grindstone for his five-year-old son, Albert, to sharpen a jack-knife.

Copyright, UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD, N.Y.

"JOHN SHELL is without doubt the most remarkable centenarian I have seen, and he is about the eighth I have met," says our investigator. "His memory is wonderful. The nearest that he and his family can come to his age is 112 years. His family has never claimed him to be over that age. The tax records that were burned in the court house at Harlan gave the date of his birth, as near as they could make it out, as September, 1808. He also counts from the age of his first wife, who died at the age of 107.

"John Shell cannot read or write, but for many years he was an expert maker of flint-lock rifles. John Shell rifles, marked with his private mark just behind the lock, are prized by collectors.

"In order to get a consensus of opinion as to his probable age, I thought it best to secure statements and affidavits from members of the family and neighbors, who have known him for many years. I therefore secured such statements from Judge A. B. Cornett, T. H. Howard, attorney-at-law, and W. B. Kelly, ex-United States marshal, and others. These are among the most substantial and reliable men of Kentucky."

Extracts from their statements are given below:

OVER 100, SAYS W. B. KELLY

I have known "Uncle Johnny" Shell for years, in fact, stayed with him a good deal, about 16 years ago. From the age Mr. Shell claimed to be, when I stayed with him, and the time that has elapsed since, I would judge him to be a good deal over 100 years old.

My Aunt, Mrs. Martha Garrison, says that the date in her Bible, containing grandpa's age, was September 15, 1808. I have every reason to believe that she speaks the truth. My father, W. C. Shell, says this is the truth so far as he has ever known; also my uncle, A. B. Shell.

AT LEAST 110, SAYS T. S. WARD

I will be 81 years old the 10th of July, 1920. I was born and raised in Harlan County, Kentucky. In 1863 I met Johnny Shell, who was called "Uncle Johnny" then. I was dodging the Confederate army and met "Uncle Johnny." He was too old then for service in the Civil war. I am satisfied he is at least 110 years old, as he is a much older man than I am. Most every one in Harlan County knows me and will take my word for anything I say. I would not make a statement unless I believed it to be true.

ATTORNEY HOWARD SAYS OVER 100

In different conversations with John Shell, he often told about coming to Kentucky with his father in the summer of 1816, and that they camped where the town of Harlan, Ky., is now located, and that at that time he was 12 years old. In abstracting old land papers I found one where an entry was made by S. Shell (John's father) in the year 1816, in the neighborhood where he now lives. I have every reason to believe John Shell is a good deal over 100 years old.

OVER 100 AND AN HONEST MAN

I have known Johnny Shell for about 50 years. I have sold him goods for 40 years. W. B. Kelly told of a man Smith. He and Shell grew up together, about the same age. If Smith had lived he would be a little over a hundred now. Richard Wilson, who was raised a few miles from Shell, says Shell has turned 100. I talked to Shell last year. He knew me and talked to me as intelligently as I ever heard him. I have always found John Shell an honest man.

S. C. HOWARD.

JUDGE CORNETT SAYS ALL OF 108

I have know "Uncle Johnny" Shell for 30 or more years. I have known of him as an old, old man. From all reports from the few who lived here when he said he came here at the age of 12, he is now at least 108 years old, and I believe older. I have talked with him in the last year and he seemed to be intelligent and just as rational as I ever saw him

(Judge) A. B. CORNETT, Harlan, Ky.

"OLDER THAN MY MOTHER, 104"

I have known "Uncle Johnny" Shell all my life. I am almost 68. I would place his age at 106. Johnny Shell was older than my mother, and she would have been 104, had she lived till now.

F. G. LEWIS.

In justice to John Shell and his family, it should be said that neither he nor they have ever claimed the extreme old age that was given in some of the reports published in the daily press. A story of the kind grows in the telling, and the desire for something startling to make good reading is no doubt the cause for the intersting fiction (founded on fact) that has been published about old "Uncle" Johnny Shell.

Facts, however, in many cases, are just as interesting as fiction, and we have endeavored in this article to give the facts as we have been able to find them.

INVESTIGATOR'S REPORT

THE age-old puzzle, "How old is Ann," is now put into the shade by the question lately agitated in the public press as to "How old is John?"

Old "Uncle" Johnny Shell, the Kentucky mountaineer, who paid a visit to the Kentucky State Fair at Louisville last fall, has become famous over night as a result of this controversy.

Such papers as the "New York Herald," the "Literary Digest," and other periodicals of national circulation, have printed his picture, with comments on the question at issue.

So much interest has been shown in the matter, that a special investigator was sent to Greasy Creek, Kentucky, by The Chattanooga Medicine Company (whose medicine—Thedford's Black-Draught Liver Medicine—had been used in the Shell family for many years) in order to get more information on the subject.

The investigator's report is given on another column of this page. The result of this investigation seems to show, on testimony of friends and neighbors, that John Shell is about 112 years old, that his health is good for a man of his age, and that his mind is clearer than that of the average centenarian.

A statement from his grandson (A. H. Shell) regarding the use of Thedford's Black-Draught, by John Shell himself, is given at the foot of this page.

The beneath picture shows Uncle John Shell's home at Greasy Creek, Kentucky, where he has lived for 55 years. His first wife died here, at the age of 107 years.

Now Living at Greasy Creek, Kentucky.
Was thought by some to be 131 years old, but a full investigation does not disclose any reliable records going back so far.

Statement by John Shell's Grandson

A H. Shell, aged 45, of Chappell, Kentucky, grandson of John Shell, whose picture is shown in the group at top of this page, authorized publication of the following statement:

"My grandfather has lived to a remarkable age. When a young man, he took very little medicine. Of late years he has needed medicine and my wife has looked after it for him. . . . He needed something as a laxative and to keep his liver acting, so she sends to the store for and makes him a tea from that and it keeps him in splendid shape."

THE UNION-BANNER

VOLUME IX. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALABAMA, JULY 22, 1920. NUMBER 17

COX FOLLOWS A REPUBLICAN PRECEDENT BY PROMISING A 'DIRT FARMER' OFFICE

Governor Cox thought he had made a hit with the farmers when he said if elected president he would appoint a real "dirt farmer" Secretary of Agriculture.

The democratic candidate for president thus criticized the Wilson appointees to the position of Secretary of Agriculture. This has made cold chills run down the spine of the Wilson Democrats who have been boasting of the great achievements of the Wilson administration. Secretaries Houston and Meredith have been two prize officials of the Wilson administration.

Yet, this is not all. Governor Cox forgets that the Republicans for many years had a real "dirt farmer" as Secretary of Agriculture. Senator Harding calls attention to this by saying:

"For sixteen years, under three Republican administrations, we had a real farmer from a real farm as Secretary of Agriculture—"Uncle Jim Wilson' of Iowa, who made the department the greatest of its sort in the world. He ran it for the farmers made it an instrument to fight for the farmers and to serve them in a thousand ways. When the Democrats did come into power they brought a university president as Secy of Agriculture and after him a publisher."

MOSE THOMAS RELEASED ON A BOND OF TWO THOUSAND

The preliminary bond of Mose Thomas, charged with rape, on warrant sworn out by J. C. Wilson, was held before Judge Reynolds last Saturday.

After hearing the evidence in the case, Thomas was released on bond of $2,000 to await further investigation of the case by the grand jury.

Elijah Thomas, who was also arrested on the same charge, was given preliminary trial Tuesday and was released on $2,000 bond to await the action of the grand jury.

Egg breakage in New York is reported to have reached a value of many thousanrs of dollars daily, and to threaten a raise in the cost of hen fruit. The breakage is said to have resulted from careless, if not criminal handling. It might be a good thing to make an investigation to see whether or not this is a new sabotage caper. It bears all the ear marks of I.W.W.-ism.

Judge of Probate.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Owing to the absence of the pastor from the city in a series of meetings, there will be no preaching services next Sunday. The members of the church are urged to attend the meetings now being held by the Presbyterian friends.

The revival services at our church will begin on Sunday, August 1st, and continue for two weeks including the Third Sunday. The Rev. W. F. Frazier, of Springfield, Mo., will assist in the meeting and will have the assistance of a good singer and musical director. Bro. Frazier is one of the Home Mission Board evangelists, and is strongly recommended to us by Dr. L. C. Woolfe, who thru sickness and future engagements, can not be with us this year.

The B. Y. P. U. will meet as usual next Sunday night at 7:00, p.m. and will be led by the president, Prof. J. L. Johnson. All the members of the church are urged to work and pray for a great meeting, and a large inrushing of lost souls into the kingdom of God. Further particulars will be announced later. The meeting will be held in the court house.

P. G. CARTER, Pastor.

THREE STILLS IN ONE WEEK

In the last week there have been three wild cat stills brought to Clanton by the officers. Last Wednesday Sheriff Gore, in company with U. S. Revenue officers found a big 75 gallon outfit about three miles northeast of Jemison. It was not in operation, and no arrests were made. On last Friday the same officers crossed the river about a mile below Lock 12 and found another big outfit just a little way from the river up the McSwain Branch about a half mile. On Tuesday of this week Sheriff Gore went into the western part of the county near Macedonia church and found a 25-gallon copper still in Turner Campbell's smoke house. Campbell is a well-to-do negro farmer, who owns 200 acres of land, a gin and some other property. He confessed to the operation of the still and was brought to jail to await action of the court.

The workmen of the Alabama Power Company have completed the wiring of the streets of Clanton and are moving to another job this week. They have perfected a very neat job of our wiring in Clanton, having connected up all the houses and street lights in splendid shape.

Prof. J. Leonard Harris of Birmingham was in Clanton Sunday attending the session of the Chilton County Singing Convention at the high school.

FORD SWITCH KEY—Somebody left his Ford Switch Key in the Jones Hardware store last week. Owner can get same by paying for this adv. at the Union-Banner office.

LAND FOR SALE—145 acres, 40 acres in cultivation, a good dwelling, tenant house, good barn, smoke house shop house, and good orchard, good hog lot sod with bermuda grass, poultry yard, two good wells; 55 acres in pasture joining to barn with lasting water. Owner, R. F. Littleton, 7-22-20 Clanton, Ala., R. 8.

Mr. John Patterson and two of his sons and Mr. Gip Downs spent last week in Escambia County, near Atmore, looking over the country with a view to locating there. Mr. Patterson says it is a fine farming country and he expects to buy property there if he can sell his property in Chilton County.

POSTMASTER EXAMINATION

The civil service examination for postmaster at Clanton was held in Montgomery Wednesday of last week. The following applicants took the examination:

J. L. Wilson, J. J. Pickens, J. M. Parrish, Grady Harris, Walter Martin, A. D. Maddox, Frank Thomas and Willis Lowe.

Prof. R. A. Smith of Sayre, Ala., was here Sunday attending the singing convetion.

Mr. John Cobb of Jemison was in Clanton Monday to get himself a new set of teeth. He says prospects in his part of the county point to a good crop, and he wants to be prepared to do his part of the eating this winter.

Zack Lowery says that if his cotton holds out a few more days he thinks there will be enough to give the boll weevil all they want to eat.

Commissioners court was in session here Monday for consideration of the matter of building a steel bridge across Yellow Leaf Creek east of Thorsby. In the morning the members of the court went to the bridge site to receive bids, and later held a short business session at the court house. There were no bids submitted on the proposition, and the court adjourned till a future date to take the matter up again.

VARIOUS FOLKS

Various folks we meet in life,
Some peaceable, some full of strife;
Some are noble, others proud,
Some are lovely, others loud.

With painted face and braided hair,
Try to be beautiful in despair;
With dainty feet and shapely form,
With dress galore, themselves adorn.

Some are funny, full of jokes,
Others are grouchy, carrying yokes;
Some think it is a sin to smile,
While others happy, smile a mile.

Some are greedy as money they hoard
With humanity's needs are not bored;
Others are generous, kind and true,
Try all the good they can do.

Some jog through life as best they can
Caring for neither God nor man;
Some seek to make the most of life,
Living for others, do the right.

Many who die are soon forgotten,
As in the grave their bodies rotten;
Others though dead, yet do speak,
Lives that were humble, useful, meek.

The choice of yours which you will be,
To live for self or eternity;
To live in sin, poverty or shame,
Or the crown of righteousness to gain.

But as for me, I will confess,
The latter choice I deem the best;
With noble deeds, and victories won,
How blest to hear His "Well Done."

—Rev. P. G. Carter.

FORMER SERVICE MEN ELIGIBLE FOR FREE SCHOLARSHIP

In order that ex-service men of this County may lose no time in obtaining the benefits offered them by the Y. M. C. A. through its free scholarship plan, the following men have agreed to serve on the local Educational Service Committee, whose duty it be to receive and pass upon applications from men of Chilton County at Clanton, Ala., and Mr. Jno. A. Thomas or Mr. F. B. Collier, will be glad to furnish more detailed information to any ex-service men who need and desire assistance in completing his education.

The plan provides for any kind of educational courses offered in schools of recognized standing, including business or commercial, engineering, mechanical, professional, academic courses in technical schools and colleges, and where no available school conducts the desired courses of study, standard home study correspondence courses are offered. This wide range of course makes it possible for men with little or no elementary education to participate in the benefits of the plan on an equal basis with those more fortunate in the matter of education.

Any man with an honorable discharge from some branch of the service, or any son of a man who died in the service, is eligible for one of these scholarships. The amount of money available for men of this county is substantial, but not unlimited and men who desire to share in the fund should make application at once, to Mr. Jno. A. Thomas, Chairman of the Educational Service Committee for Chilton County.

Those unable to get in touch with the local committee and desiring further information, will please write J. W. Holmes, State Educational Supervisor, Y. M. C. A., 1412 Jefferson County Bank Building, Birmingham, Ala.

The Educational Service Committee for Chilton County are: Jno. A. Thomas, Chairman, Clanton; F. B. Collier, Secretary, Clanton; E. E. Upchurch, Clanton; Guy Higgins, Clanton; C. R. Foss, Thorsby.

Jesse Jones had a demonstration of workings of his Ford attachment at the Mullins and Popwell Gin in Clanton last Monday and invited several fellows down to witness the working of the outfit. He hitched it up to the corn shelling machine of Mr. Popwell, and shelled twenty bushels of corn in fifteen minutes. The Ford pulled it very successfully, with about the same effect on the motor as if the car had been going along a good graveled road at about fifteen or twenty miles per hour in high. We believe this attachment is something worth while for the farmer who owns a Ford, and would suggest that all who might be interested in it, call on Mr. Jones for demonstration. He will be glad to show you.

Mr. R. O. Headley who is now working in Montgomery spent Saturday and Sunday at home with his family in Clanton.

Mrs. Delia Merwin and daughter, Clara, of Maylene, Ala., are spending a few days with friends in South Clanton this week.

NETTIE DENNIS

Nature awoke one morning in spring,
Early, so early, with gladness to bring;
Triumphantly smiling with beauty and grace,
Truly and wonderfully I spied her bright face.
In colors transparent, bright Nature was dressed,
Entracing was her style, so beautifully blest;
Dotted with violets and daisies so white;
Encircled were their arms 'round Nature at night.
Nothing more lovely have mortals here seen,
New was her lining all coated with green.
In her soft thick robe so closely she wraps;
So long, Mother Earth, Nature's off for her nap.

BAPTIST LADIES AID

The members of the Baptist Ladies Aid held a very enthusiastic meeting on Monday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. G. C. Harris, who made a splendid hostess to the company present. At this meeting it was decided by the ladies to sell ice cream in the interest of the new building enterprise each Saturday afternoon, beginning next Saturday and continuing until October. All the money raised by this effort will go towards the new building.

The ladies of the Clanton church are a splendid company of good hard working people and deserve and will heartily appreciate your patronage.

Next Friday week, July the 30th, an interesting concert will be given under the auspices of the Ladies, and under the management of Miss Beverly Hester, who is an accomplished musician. The funds raised by the concert will be given to the building fund. Watch the papers for further particulars.

AUTAUGA COUNTY PULLING FOR BIG STATE HIGHWAY

There were a bunch of good road enthusiasts from Prattville and Autauga County in Clanton Tuesday in the interest of a state aid road from Prattville to Clanton. Or in other words their efforts are being bended toward getting the main Birmingham to Montgomery road to pass through Prattville.

The people of Autauga County claim to have the most feasible route by way of Prattville for that part of the highway from Clanton to Montgomery. It is what we know as the Mt. Pisgah Road south out of Clanton down the ridge route by Enterprise and Oliver Town, entering Autauga about seven or eight miles west of Marbury. It is a fact that this route will meet with practically no obstructions as to drainage or grading, and passes through a thickly populated section of both Chilton and Autauga Counties, where practically all the farmers are white people and operate their own farms.

And the biggest advantage of this route to Montgomery from Clanton is that it is the nearest route that has yet been suggested.

It would be a distinct advantage to both the cities of Prattville and Clanton to have this projected road come into a reality under the state bond issue plan, for it would make us easily accessible to a great number of farmers who have heretofore been handicapped in getting to market by bad road conditions.

Those who were here from Autauga County Tuesday were: H. S. Doster, Editor of the Prattville Progress, C. W. Smith, Chairman of the Autauga County Board of Revenue, John Carpenter, a nominee for the office of county commissioner, Spigener McDonald, G. N. Mitcham, Engineer of the third division of the State Highway Department.

We look with much interest on the progress of Prattville's claims to a place on the Birmingham-Montgomery Highway, and if we can help her to get there we shall be glad to do so.

LAND FOR SALE—Four-horse farm, 155 acres, located 1-4 mile of Poplar Springs Church, four tenant houses, good pastures, lasting water. For particulars see John W. Patterson, Clanton, R. 2. 7-22-4t

Miss Melba Wilson of Palos, Ala., has been spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Cora Mims, and other relatives and friends in the Maple Springs settlement.

DEMOCRATS FIND PHILLISTINES IN OWN CAMP WHILE PEACE PERVADES REPUBLICANS

Say what they will, the Democrats are hopelessly divided already. The nominee of their convention was the choice of a faction. He is unacceptable to the Wilson contingent which planned to nominate either former secretary McAdoo or President Wilson himself.

The convention took over the covenant of the League of Nations issue from President Wilson, but now finds the party with a candidate unwilling to be chained to the Wilson Chariot of Immortality.

Not to assume the burden of Wilsonism was to court defeat. To assume it is to court defeat. Defeat by either route. The Democrats are now hopelessly divided.

The Republican party, on the contrary, is united and enthusiastic. It has only one leader, Senator Harding, while the Democrats have two—President Wilson and Governor Cox.

Old Republican wounds have been healed. The so-called conservatives have come to realize that there is a great virtue in sane progressive laws. The so-called progressives have come to realize that there is no such thing as a reactionary. Progressives and Conservatives have reached a common ground of safe and sane liberalism.

Facing a re-united and militant Republican party, the Democrats expect nothing but a complete wreck of their hopes in the coming election.

CONTRACT LET FOR BUILDING CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL

The contract for the erection of the additional story on the Clanton Grammar School building has been let to Sid Plier of Clanton. The amount of the contract is approximately seven thousand dollars. The building is to be completed by the opening of school the first of September. It is to be built by funds raised by the recent city bond issue of seven thousand dollars for that purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Glenn of Salem were in Clanton Tuesday. Mr. Glenn brought a load of fine water melons to town, and was kind enough to present The Union-Banner force with the pick of the pile. Our thanks were fully expressed in the smile it brought while we were eating the luscious fruit.

Mr. Walter Poole of Route 2 was in Town Tuesday and more than that he presented the Banner with a nice sack of peaches.

ARMY WORM UNDER CONTROL

Agricultural Commissioner Believes Crest of Campaign of Destruction is Passed.

Montgomery.—C. B. Rogers, chairman of the board of control and economy, and W. F. Feagin, state warden general visited Jacksonville, Fla., to inspect the new state prison, which is about to be completed there. Mr. Rogers stated that he wishes to see this prison before officially adopting an architect plan for the new Alabama state prison at Speigner. The new state prison at Speigner as planned by Mr. Rogers and Mr. Feagan will cost not lesa than $250,000, exclusive of convict labor the state expects to furnish, and a large quantity of material, such as sand, gravel and lumber. It will be divided into three sections, it is understood, one building being devoted to men, one to women, ana the third occupied by a hospital, the whole to be surrounded by a lofty concrete wall. This prison when completed will be the most modern institution of its kind in the United States.

Army Worm Under Control.

Montgomery.—It is the belief of I. T. Quinn, secretary of the state agricultural commission, that the crest of the army worm's campaign of destruction has been passed, and that farmers are now rapidly bringing the pest under control. He says that he has received very few reports of further damage to crops through the activities of the army worm, during the past few days and he believes the worst is over.

THE NEWS OF THE SOUTH

What Is Taking Place In The Southland Will Be Found In Brief Paragraphs

Foreign—

The Persian government has instructed the Persian minister at Rome to open direct negotiations with the Soviet government.

Dr. Haniel von Haimhausen, undersecretary of foreign affairs, with Herr Moll, counselor of the government, representing the prefect of police, paid a personal visit to the French embassy to express official regret over the removal on "Bastille Day" of a French flag hoisted over the French embassy. Herr Moll announced the arrest of the guilty person.

Many Germany farmers are reported to be emigrating to Brazil. The Brazilian consul at Hamburg has announced that so many are going that no more free passages will be granted to emigrants on Brazilian vessels until further notice.

The hangmen of Germany have gone on strike. At Meiningen the execution of a murderer could not be carried out, as the hangman refused to work without more pay.

What is tantamount to a threat of direct action for the purpose of forcing the government to call a truce and withdraw the troops from Ireland and institute an Irish parliament was voted at the Trades Union congress in London when a resolution introduced by the Miners' federation was adopted on a card vote by 2,760,000 against 1,636,000.

Lieut. John Stokes, who was discharged three weeks ago from the British army and appointed to organize the defense of police headquarters in Ireland, was killed during an attack on the Newport barracks in County Tipperary.

Minsk has been captured by Russian Bolshevik forces, according to an official statement received from Moscow which says the soviet troops occupied the town on the morning of July 11.

The Polish military authorities have informed the allies that they can put into the field an army of 1,000,000 men, but they need 400,000 rifles, 5,000 machine guns, 1,000 field guns and armored cars and tanks, together with a great variety of munitions.

The Russian soviet government has not replied to the request of the allies that an armistice be arranged with Poland. The message was sent by wireless to the soviet authorities through the British government because of the relations already existing between Premier Lloyd-George and Leonid Krassin, the Bolshevik minister of trade and commerce.

The Rt. Rev. Wm. T. Russell, bishop of the diocese of Charleston, S. C., was received in audience by Pope Benedict at Rome.

Ladislas Grabski, the Polish premier, is due to arrive in Warsaw from Spa bearing the assurances of the allies that ample arms and munitions will be supplied Poland in case the Russians do not agree to an armistice or unduly delay their reply to the request of the allies for same.

It is stated on good authority that the result of the plebiscites in West Prussia and East Prussia show an overwhelming German majority.

News from the Russo-Polish battle front is meager, but at last accounts the Poles were reported to have evacuated Minsk, Kovel and other towns toward which the Bolshevik are approaching in their twelve hundred-kilometer (745 miles) westward advance. Many of the telegraph wires are down and the railroads have been cut at many points.

Washington—

Shipping boards officials indicate that the board will not accept any of the bids received for 122,553.00 barrels of oil fer the merchant marine.

The arrival of aliens in the United States will show a heavy excess over the departures during the past year, according to immigration officials in Washington.

A land army of one hundred thousand farm hands recruited and organized by the department of agriculture is moving northward across the western wheat belt harvesting the nation's grain crop in better time than in many years, according to reports reaching the agricultural department.

Confidence that the ties which bind the American and French people "in fraternal affection and esteem are indestructible and will abide forever," is expressed by President Wilson in a Bastile Day message sent to President Deschanel of France.

Postponement until September of the Brussels international financial conference probably will permit American representation—something which it had been intimated in official circles would be practically impossible should the conference be convened in the latter part of July as originally had been planned.

While the United States administration had intended to be represented at the international financial conference scheduled to be held the latter part of July, the difficulty seems to have been finding some one who would go to the congress in an official capacity.

The railroads of the country have been warned by the interstate commerce commission not to confiscate coal consigned to government departments and to common carriers and to other public utilities.

America is in no way obligated to participate in any offensive measures the European allies may find it necessary to undertake against Germany to enforce the treaty of Versailles, it is stated here authoritatively.

Failure of Cuban importers to carry out contracts for purchase of rice from American shippers has resulted in the accumulation of more than one hundred thousand tons of rice on ship or in warehouses at Havana.

The destroyer on which Secretary Daniels left Seattle July y1 reached Katchikan, Alaska, in the record time of 36 hours. While the previous best time was 41 hours, few ships have made the trip in less than 52 hours.

Samuel Gompers says that, weighed against the demands of organized labor, the Democratic platform more nearly approximates the desired declarations of human rights than do the planks found in the Republican platform.

No report of the killing of an American officer during street fighting at Trieste or the participation by American naval forces in recent disturbances there has been received at the navy department. The cruiser Olympia and several United States destroyers are stationed in the Adriatic.

Bodies of twenty soldiers, returned from overseas, were interred in Arlington national cemetery with appropriate ceremony. Thirteen were southerners.

Domestic—

Four severe earthquakes at Los Angeles, Cal., threw the city and its suburbs into excitement, indirectly caused a number of injuries to men, women and children and slightly damaged several buildings, chiefly old ones, but none to a great extent. An unusually warm, sultry morning called from some of the citizens the remark "good earthquake weather." It was said in jest, and none was more surprised than those who made the remark when the first tremor came at 10:10 o'clock, July 16.

Galveston's (Texas) municipal officialdom has found itself superseded by members of the Texas militia with the carrying into execution by Brig. Gen. J. F. Wolters of orders issued by the governor that city authorities should be suspended and restrained from interference with enforcement of the state's penal laws. This marks another chapter in the dock workers' strike, results of which brought about martial law about a month ago.

The women of Kansas object to giving their ages in order to vote. "It's a club men hold over the women to prevent them from voting," one of them rises to remark.

The federal garrison at Nuevo Laredo, the Mexican town opposite Laredo, Texas, is sleeping on arms following receipt of a demand for its surrender to anti-government forces.

Parley P. Christensen, a Salt Lake City lawyer, a member of the committee of forty-eight, was nominated as the presidential candidate for the new farmer-labor party by its convention at Chicago. Christensen was chosen on the second ballot.

Women's shoes will be prettier than ever this fall, but jast as expensive as at present, Frank P. Meyer, president of the Illinois Shoe Retailers' association, said in addressing the organization's annual convention at Chicago. The price of men s s es also will continue high, he said. He declared the association planned to fight profiteers and the luxury tar on shoes and thus reduce prices.

Mrs. James S. Pinkard of Montgomery, Ala., president of the Southern Women's Rejection league, wired Gov. P. W. Clement, of Vermont, congratulating him upon the stand he has taken in refusing to call a session of that state for the purpose of ratifying the Susan B. Anthony amendment to the federal constitution.

Fire caused by lightning striking an oil tank of the Liberty Oil company at New Orleans, La., destroyed the tank and approximately 3,000 barrels of oil valued at approximately $15,000.

When Mrs. Willis Graham, 26 years old, of Greenville, Ky., tried to stop her 4-year-old son, Harold, from carrying a loaded shotgun out of their home near here, the child pulled the trigger. The full load entered the mother's breast, killing her instantly. She had put down a nursing infant to restrain the child with the gun.

An unidentified man broke into Field Marshal Hindenburg's house and fired at the field marshal. The bullet missed its mark and the man escaped.

The right arm of a man taken from the Niagara river near the Canadian "Maid of the Mist" landing is believed to be part of the body of George C. Stephens of Bristol, England, who was killed in an attempt to go over the "Horseshoe Fall" of the Niagara in a barrel.

Two drunken cows that had eaten mash out of which moonshiners had manufactured whiskey, which fell to the ground in a drunken stupor, led to the discovery of a large still on the farm of John King near Durham, N. C.

HOME TOWN HELPS

FINLAND BOASTS MODEL CITY

Helsingfors Could Give Lessons in Cleanliness to the Majority of Towns in America.

Helsingfors, Finland, might give lessons in the municipal amenities to almost any American city, although it is tucked away in the North, in a bare little land of rock and lakes and birch trees, in the latitude of the southern end of Greenland, writes Arthur Ruhl in the Outlook.

I do not happen to know of any American city so consistently clean and well built. They post no bills in Helsingfors. They tie them around posts with strings, and when they have served their purpose they disappear, strings and all. Every morning there is a market on the broad quay at the end of the esplanade; fish, flowers, meat and vegetables—even Oregon apples, which contrive, in spite of distance and almost prohibitive rates of exchange, to cross the sixtieth parallel. A few minutes after noon you would never know a market had been there. Stalls fold up, rubbish disappears, street cleaners turn on the hose, and presently the quay is as clean as a tennis court.

The Helsingfors gas tanks are not the dismal contraptions that disfigure most of our water fronts. The tank itself may the same, but they build a neat brick house for it—a sort of monumental roundhouse, with stone wreaths around the top by way of frieze, quite in place among buildings intended for politer uses, and not without some suggestion of the Castle of St. Angelo in Rome.

IMPROVING THE HOME YARD

Low-Growing Shrubs at Walk Intersections and Corners of the Lot Should Be Provided.

A well-planted home yard with shade trees, flowering shrubs and perennial flowers surely is more valuable and more enjoyable than a barren, unsightly yard of weeds, ashes, tin cans and rubbish. Perhaps the principal reason why we find so many poorly improved home yards is because a lack of knowledge along these lines is everywhere apparent.

A well-planted home yard should provide for the following ornamental features: The yard should be joined to the street by the planting of low-growing shrubs at the walk intersections and at the corners of the lot along the sidewalk.

Those should all be low-growing shrubs such as Thunberg berries, snowberries, Japan quince, rosa rugosa and golden bell. These when planted in groups, from three to five feet apart, will give an informal treatment, and where every home along the street is planted in this way, the entire street is given a boulevard appearance.

If a formal effect is desired along the sidewalk, the treatment calls for the planting of a hedge. For this purpose the Ibota privet, white mulberry, Thunderborg barberry or honeysuckle marraiwii should be used.

Productive Ornamentation.

Any back yard at all can be made both attractive and productive.

Grapevines make a good porch trellis when space is not available for an arbor. A high fence or back porch may be used as trellis for blackberry plants. In a decorative border a few clumps of the brilliant red giant rhubarb will not look out of place. As for hedges which will be both decorative and highly productive, no plants of a useful variety will be more satisfactory than raspberries, gooseberries and currants. They are hardy, will take little care and will supply fruit for each season.

Plant Memorial Trees.

Planting of memorial trees is becoming a popular custom throughou the country, many cities and communities setting them out along streets and roads. A notable example of this is to be found at Tampa, Fla., where the Rotary club is spending $7,000 in planting trees along a "Road of Remembrance," while at Chattanooga Tenn., the National League for Women's service is lining the Dixie highway out of that city with memorial trees. The South is setting a fine example before the rest of the country in this work.

Sickly Community Handicapped.

You frequently hear a man say: "I am not in business for my health." Well, he should be, for if he loses his health on account of his business, the money generally goes with it.

Good health, that is, bodily health and vigor, lies at the bottom of economic prosperity. A sickly community cannot carry forward commercial enterprises and make them big financial successes.

Unique Reason for Theft.

A. S. Barron, a rancher near San Mateo, Cal., recently lost three bales of hay, and a neighbor of his, Henry Bissig, lost a 300-pound calf. Barron found this notice nailed on his barn door: "We stole three bales of hay from your ranch and, finding we had no use for it, we stole a calf from Bissig to eat it."

A CHAPTER ON SANDWICHES.

As this is the glorious time of year for outings, camping, boat trips and picnics, the sandwich will be the most common article of food. The following may be suggestive, although one may make sandwich filling or soup out of almost anything that is palatable:

If watercress is obtainable, there is nothing more snappy and refreshing for a sandwich filling. Season with lemon juice, olive oil, salt and pepper, with a pinch of sugar, or simply salt and sugar.

Pepper Filling.—Chop green peppers that have been seeded and the white pulp removed and simmer for ten minutes in a tablespoonful of butter. Season with salt and set aside to cool. Spread on buttered bread.

Dutch cheese, made smooth with cream and seasoned with chopped chives, or green pepper, nuts or both.

Grated horseradish with cream spread on buttered bread.

Tongue, cooked, spread with mustard, cut in thin slices.

Swiss cheese cut in very thin slices. Rich American cheese grated and mixed with cream, spread on rounds of bread and fried on both sides in a little butter.

Watercress with hard-cooked eggs, chopped and mixed, or hard-cooked eggs chopped, seasoned with melted butter, a pinch of mustard, salt and a dash of cayenne. Eggs mixed with grated cheese, chopped onion or chopped cucumber.

Thin slices of banana dressed with oil and lemon juice.

Corned beef spread with mustard cut in thin slices.

Chopped dates and nuts, flavored with a pinch of cinnamon and cloves.

Drained and boned anchovies, pounded to a paste with butter. Or anchovy paste may be purchased. Chopped egg mixed with anchovy is good; also cream cheese.

Thinly sliced radishes, sliced cucumbers seasoned with mayonnaise, placed on slices of buttered bread just before serving, so that they will be crisp.

"In all places, then and in all seasons,
Flowers expand their light and soul-like wings,
Teaching us, by most persuasive reasons,
How akin they are to human things."

SEASONABLE FOOD.

When asparagus becomes too tough to serve as a fresh vegetable, use it in soups for it is one of the most healthful of vegetables. Cook the tips, put them through a sieve and add to this pulp the liquor in which the asparagus was cooked. Prepare the soup as for the usual cream soup.

Scalloped Cauliflower.—Cook the cauliflower until tender, then drain and place a layer in a buttered baking dish; on top of the cauliflower place a layer of grated cheese mixed with a white sauce. When the dish is filled with alternate layers of the vegetable and cheese add a layer of bread crumbs which have been buttered. Brown in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes.

Walnut and Salmon Salad.—Take three-fourths cupful of salmon, one-half cupful of walnut meats, three-fourths of a cupful of shredded cabbage. Separate the salmon into flakes, cut the walnut meats into small pieces; crisp the cabbage in cold water. Drain and mix the ingredients, add one cupful of salad dressing and serve on lettuce.

Orange Velvet Cream.—Boil without stirring, one cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of water until it threads, pour this over two stiffly beaten egg whites; beat until cool. Add one cupful of orange juice, the juice of a lemon and a pint of double cream whipped until firm. Freeze slowly and serve in sherbet glasses sprinkled with minced, candied orange peel.

Baked Almond Pudding.—Break six macaroons and six ladyfingers into small pieces, pour over a cupful of hot milk and then let stand covered for half an hour. Beat to a paste a third of a cupful of sugar, the yolks of three beaten eggs, a teaspoonful of vanilla and a half cupful of blanched, shredded almonds. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs and bake in individual ramekins. Serve with a fruit sauce.

CAMP RECIPE.

For a single ration of hoecake mix up a cupful of meal and water just as you do for dodgers. On the palm of the hand flatten out a thin cake of the batter as wide as your hand and not over a quarter of an inch thick in the center. Have a flat stone, or stones, well heated in the camp fire, and if you have some bacon or ham grease pour a little on the stones, or wipe them with ham fat or bacon rind. If you haven't the grease or fat, no matter. Lay your cakes on the hot stones and push them back into the coals. Keep up a good heat around them for 30 minutes. They will be browner on the bottom than on the top. No cooking utensil needed, you see. And great food for hard-hiking boys.—Boys' Life.

Cotton in Day of Herodotus.

The earliest mention of cotton was by Herodotus, who spoke of it as tree wool, the name it still bears in German and other continental languages.

One may fall, but he falls by himself—
Falls by himself with himself to blame;
One may attain and to him is the pelf,
Loot of the city in gold or fame:
Plunder of earth shall be his own
Who travels fastest and travels alone.
—R. Kipling.

SUMMER LUNCHEONS.

During the summer months, the lighter more delicate meats are more acceptable, such as sweetbreads, chicken, veal and lamb; while eggs, mushrooms and all kinds of fresh vegetables will be used abundantly.

Chicken Salad.—Mix cold cooked chicken with twice the quantity of diced celery, add a half cupful of shredded almonds and enough mayonnaise to moisten. Serve on lettuce garnished with slices of hard cooked eggs.

Sweetbreads Salad.—Parboil in acidulated water a pair of sweetbreads, drain and dip into ice water to chill. Remove all membrane and pipes and cut in fine pieces; add an equal quantity of celery cut in dice and serve with a rich, highly seasoned boiled or mayonnaise dressing.

Curried Chicken.—Prepare creamed chicken using one cupful of white sauce to one cupful of finely minced or diced chicken; add a shredded green pepper, one-half cupful of canned tomatoes and heat thoroughly. Season with salt, pepper, and add a teaspoonful of curry powder.

Chicken Croquettes.—Use the remnants of cold boiled or roast chicken, or combine with roast pork or veal finely minced; add boiled rice or mashed potato. Bind with well beaten egg or with a thick cream sauce; season, shape into croquettes, dip into beaten egg and crumbs and fry in deep fat. The canned, boned chicken is very good to make croquettes.

Deviled Chicken.—Make a sauce of salt, pepper, dry mustard, paprika, grated lemon peel, lemon juice, Worcestershire and a few drops of tabasco sauce. Add a lump of butter when the sauce begins to boil. When very hot, add cubes of cold chicken and cook until heated through. Cold cooked veal or roast pork may be used in the same way.

Chicken Saute.—Cut up a chicken and pound the pieces with a potato masher until they are flat. Season, dredge with flour, fry in butter or bacon fat until brown.

To cultivate the sense of the beautiful is one of the most effectual ways of cultivating an appreciation of the divine goodness.—Bovee.

PICNIC DISHES.

At this time of year when the lure of the woods and stream calls us to pack our lunch baskets and hie us out into the open, a satisfying lunch is one of the necessities.

Stuffed Eggs.—Hard-cooked eggs cut in halves lengthwise, the yolks removed, are mixed with creamed butter, pepper and salt, a bit of mustard and cayenne, then the whites are filled rounding them well with the mixture. They may be filled and put together in halves, wrapped in waxed paper twisted at the ends.

A salad is always a welcome dish for a picnic. Potato salad seems to be the one most often served. Take cold, boiled potatoes, cut in cubes, add one small onion, a cucumber, both cut fine, salt and pepper to season and a handful of blanched almonds shredded. Add a little French dressing to the potato to marinate it. Let it stand for an hour or two, then add a rich, well-seasoned boiled dressing or a mayonnaise. Chives may be used instead of onions if preferred.

Giggers.—Cream one-half cupful of butter, one-half cupful of sugar. Add one well-beaten egg, one tablespoonful of milk, one cupful of flour, a pinch of salt, a teaspoonful of baking powder and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. Beat well and drop by teaspoonfuls upon a buttered sheet. Decorate with blanched almonds cut in strips.

A small cake which is always liked for outings is this: Prepare any sponge cake mixture and bake in gem pans. When cold split open and remove some of the crumb. Fill with crushed strawberries and sweetened whipped cream. The better way is to carry the filling and finish the cakes just before serving. It takes but a few moments.

Fads And Fancies Of Fashion

THIN FROCKS FILL THE STREETS.

THE shop windows and the streets are furnishing a panorama of enticing things for midsummer wear, with dresses of sheer cotton fabrics the outstanding item in the display. Women have returned to fine and practical fabrics and are using the simpler methods for decorating them, as tucks, frills, ribbon borders and narrow lingerie lace. For the street, voile is in the lead, either plain or figured, embroidered or printed. Chiffon taffeta is its closest rival and is often made up with georgette crepe. Georgette also redeems satin and makes it midsummerish by supplying satin frocks with sleeves, tunic or other details in their composition that make them look cool.

For dressier frocks organdy and voile are both used and St. Gall swisses with embroidered dots are reappearing at prices that are somewhat lower than they were earlier in the season. Wide tucks are in great favor in voile and on organdy dresses, while frills seem the natural order of things for both swiss and organdy. The latter material is much used for collars, cuffs, bands, sashes, fichus and frills on dresses of other materials.

In the picture above there is a dress of white organdy at the left and one of China blue voile at the right. The organdy dress, worn by Irene Castle will help to uphold that talented lady's enviable taste in the selection of clothes. Frills of lace make the medallions and other trimming in the skirt and rows of the same lace form the deep cuff. The long sleeves and collar high at the back are late innovations in summer styles. A wide tuck headed by a frill of lace calls attention to the distended hip line and even the crushed girdle is of organdy with a little frill of lace running along the center of it. The slender type will do well to study this dress

The pretty dress of plain voile at the right has a skirt covered by tiers of narrow, scant flounces and a plain short sleeved bodice, ending in two ruffles at the natural waist line. What makes this simple affair so chic is the ribbon that borders all edges. It is cleverly managed, showing the borders of the flounces finished with loops and ends, on alternating flounces, at both sides, small bows on the sleeves and in the back at the end of the shirring about the waist line. It suits its youthful wearer and is calculated to make her toy sailor boy leave his happy nursery and break his wooden heart when she discards him.

THE SUMMER HOSTESS

SUMMER vacations bring visits and return courtesies to the members of nearly every family, with their responsibilities resting on "the lady of the house." In these servantless days the problem of entertaining without being overburdened is going to test the abilities of many a hostess whose strength hardly matches her hospitality and her ambition to make guests have a good time. There are hardly any rules that can be laid down which will insure so desirable a result, but one thing is certain: the thought that a hostess is overtaxed and worried will spoil the visit of any intelligent guest. Therefore in the circumstances it is best to plan things that will keep one's visitors in the open and allow them to amuse themselves as much as possible.

Week-end house parties are about the pleasantest events that our summers record on memories that like to dwell upon them. They are recommended to the mother who wants to entertain for her young people. One can fill two or three days with happy times for youths and maidens, especially if there s a river, lake or the sea within easy reaching distance. Water sports, fishing, beach parties, picnics an hikes take care of the days. Camp fires, story telling, dancing and tableaux are recommended for evenings. Both the girls and boys are just as happy when they are required to make themselves useful about the house in the morning as when they have no tasks. The hostess, entertaining a house party of young folks, should provide them with a substantial breakfast and if she has no help, let them assist with straightening up the house. A picnic lunch for the middle of the day is the best way of disposing of lunch, and a hearty dinner, rather early in the evening, makes way for three or four hours for pastime afterward.

A wide porch and a graphophone are the best of aids to entertaining. Youthful guests will stand a good bit of letting alone, for like children they are easily amused for a short time. Costume dances and parties provide a lot of fun and of these the Japanese and Indian parties require little in the way of preparation. Expeditions into the woods for flowers entice town and city-bred guests and everyone enjoys boating, singing and dancing.

Stripes Supersede Plaids

Just at present there is a decided leaning to striped fabrics as against plaids; but fashion changes are so frequent that no one can say from day to day what the major demand will be. Striped skirts are now active rivals of the big gay plaids that have held the center of the stage for so long, and both hair-line and the wider and more conspicuous stripes are featured. Knife plaiting is also being accorded a great deal of favor, as against the accordion plaiting, because only an expert can replait the accordion plaited models once they are out of shape, and the process is an expensive one.

Take Care of Your Shoes.

By the exercise of a little care, says the Thrift Magazine, the life of leather shoes may be considerably prolonged. It is a well-known fact that if a wet shoe is placed too close to a fire, the interior of the sole is sometimes utterly ruined before the surface of the leather shows appreciable signs of injury. Wet shoes should be dried slowly and shoe trees inserted to prevent their losing shape and becoming uncomfortable. It is economy to keep at least two pairs of shoes, wearing them in rotation. Some shoe manufacturers claim that two pairs of shoes worn alternately will outwear three pairs of shoes worn consecutively.

REDUCE COST OF MANY GARMENTS

Bulletin Teaches Methods of Preserving Life of Various Pieces of Wearing Apparel.

CLEANLINESS IS AID

Eliminate Necessity of Spending Large Sums to Replace Wardrobe by Giving Immediate Attention to Rips and Tears.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Men as well as women can help reduce the high cost of clothing. A little care on the part of the wearer will do much to preserve clothing already on hand, and thus eliminate the necessity of spending large sums frequently to replenish the wardrobe. This is brought out in a recent publication of the United States department of agriculture, Farmers' Bulletin 1089, Selection and Care of Clothing.

Immediate attention to rips, sewing on loosened buttons and hooks, reworking worn buttonholes, and "preventive" darning are recommended as means of prolonging the life of a garment. The latter repair measure consists of reinforcing a worn place with rows of fine stitches or by laying a piece of cloth under it and darning it down with raveling of the material. The heels and toes of stockings and socks especially may be treated this way before a hole is entirely worn through. Shortening sleeves or trousers a little to do away with a worn edge, or putting new cuffs and collar or new trimming on a dress may often add months to the life of a garment.

To keep clothing looking "as good as new" as well as actually preserving and lengthening its life, it is necessary to keep it clean. Brushing with a stiff brush for woolen clothing and with a softer brush for velvet or silk, is necessary to remove dust, and spots and stains should be carefully treated with cleaning preparations as soon as possible. In most cases this can be done at home, but it is more economical to have professional cleaners handle very delicate garments, Farmers' Bulletin 861 gives detailed information on the removal of stains from different kinds of textiles.

Pressing Preserves Garments.

Preserving the shape of a garment lengthens its service. Almost anyone can learn to press clothing neatly. Woolen clothing should be covered with a thoroughly dampened cloth and pressed with a moderately hot iron until nearly dry. If the cloth becomes absolutely dry, shine is likely to appear on the garment. Silk garments should be pressed very carefully; in fact, sometimes hanging a silk dress over a tub of steaming water will remove wrinkles without actual ironing. Washable white silk garments should be washed and rinsed in lukewarm water, wrapped in a towel, and pressed with a warm, not hot, iron. Handled in this way they will not turn yellow.

Shoes, more than many other articles of clothing, need to be thoroughly aired after wearing, to prevent perspiration from rotting the lining. Keeping shoes on shoe trees or stuffed with paper when not in use preserves their original shape, and is especially necessary if the shoes have become wet. Intense heat is likely to crack leather; therefore wet shoes should never be dried under the stove or on a register or radiator.

Cleaning Hats and Gloves.

A hat that is worn day after day needs special care to keep it looking neat. Careful brushing or, in the case of straw hats, wiping with a cloth dipped in denatured alcohol will remove dust and freshen it. A new band on a man's hat may postpone the necessity of buying a new hat for months. Trimmings on women's hats that become loosened by wind or wear should be sewed into place as follows: Thread a long needle with coarse thread or silk of an inconspicuous color. Draw the needle from the wrong side through the hat beside the loosened trimming, leaving 2 or 3 inches of thread on the wrong side; pass the needle up and down around the trimming and back to the wrong side of the hat; pull the thread through, tie the two ends securely and cut them a quarter of an inch beyond the knot.

One method of cleaning kid gloves is to rub the soiled parts with cornmeal, moistened with enough gasoline to keep the meal from scratching the gloves, then dry thoroughly in the air.

The bulletin mentioned treats also of ways of economizing in the selection of clothing, how to test textile goods, and gives other suggestions of value.

DO NOT THROW AWAY PARTLY STALE BREAD

Different Ways of Making It Quite Appetizing.

Good Plan to Cut Off What Is Needed at Meal and Place Slices in Hot Oven—Croutons Are Made of Odds and Ends.

Toasting is the most common method for making stale or partly stale bread attractive, but it is by no means the only one. If partly stale bread is put into a very hot oven for a few minutes it grows softer, probably because the heat tends to drive the water from the crust back into the crumb, food specialists of the United States department of agriculture say. Such warmed-over bread is not as soft and springy as fresh, but most persons find it very appetizing. A good plan, therefore, when bread has lost its freshnesss, is to cut off what will be needed at a meal and place the slices in a hot oven for a few minutes just before serving. In this way bread can be used on the table which would ordinarily be considered too stale.

"Twice-baked bread," which is cut bread placed in the warming-oven or in a pan on the back of the stove and allowed to dry out slowly until it is slightly brown and crisp throughout, offers still another way of making stale bread attractive. If desired, this twice-baked bread may be crushed with a rolling-pin and used like the ready-to-eat breakfast cereals. In some localities this dish has long been known under the name of rusks.

The little fried cubes of bread called croutons, which are served with soup, may be made of odds and ends of bread. To save time, bread simply broken into small pieces may be fried either in deep fat or in a pan (sauteed) and used for the same purpose. Sometimes bread crumbs fried in a pan are used as a seasoning or sauce for meat. French cooks frequently put pieces of stale bread in soups just long enough before serving for them to soften; the well-known one, "crust in the pot," (croute au pot), is simply a thin soup with bread in it.

There are many ways of using stale bread in cooking. Almost every good cookbook gives directions for preparing soft and dry crumbs for use in scalloped dishes, bread puddings, etc. The soft parts of bread may be used in place of flour or cornstarch for thickening soups, sauces, gravies, stewed tomatoes (either fresh or canned), etc. Bakers often use stale bread and dried, finely ground cake in place of part of the flour in making fancy breads, cakes and cookies. The housekeeper can often avoid waste by using them in this way in griddlecakes, cakes, cookies, etc.

MOPS FOR POLISHED FLOORS

One May Be Made of Old Stockings or Any Discarded Woolen or Flannelette Material.

For oiled or polished floors an oiled floor mop is almost a necessity. Several makes can be found on the market, or one may be made of old stockings or any discarded woolen or flannelette material. In a Farmers' Bulletin on "Farm Home Conveniences," obtainable free from the United States department of agriculture, the following directions for making such a mop are given:

The material is cut into 1-inch wide strips, which are sewed across the middle to a foundation of heavy cloth. This is fastened to an old broom handle or used in a clamp mop handle.

The mop, when finished, is dipped into a solution made of one-half cupful of melted paraffin and one cupful of kerosene, and then allowed to dry. To keep it moist it is rolled tightly and kept in a paper bag away from stoves or lamps.

CHEMICAL EFFECTS OF FOOD

It May Be Literally True That "One Man's Meat Is Another Man's Poison"—People Differ.

Different persons are differently constituted with respect to the chemical changes which their food undergoes and the effect produced, so that it may be literally true that "one man's meat is another man's poison." Every man must learn from his own experience what food agrees with him and what does not.—United States department of agriculture.

"Trail's end" (Cox's home) suggests "lost in the woods."

A single tax will not be enough to pay for Democratic extravagance.

It is said that Mr. Wilson has a double. He may look like him but that's all.

Senator Lodge says that "no Democrat living can win the election next Fall." He is right.

The Democratic administration has been sufficiently like a menagerie without introducing the Tammany Tiger.

Postmaster General Burleson's request for a million dollars to pay for lost mail was a personal tribute to his administration.

It seems that a tongue-tied man would have suited Mr. Wilson better as the leading candidate on the San-Francisco ticket.

Gov. Cox's Dayton News disagrees with the Wilson notion that the United States entered the war to reform the world.

It is being remarked that if Henry Ford should be elected president "tin Lizzie" would become the "First lady of the land."

Most of the coments of those returning from the convention in San Francisco is about the beauty of the hall and the glorious climate.

What will President Wilson tell Gov. Cox and Boss Murphy, and Boss Taggart, when they present their reservations to the Wilson sacrosanct Covenant?

Washington query—Did Governor Cox do President Wilson "dirt" when he said he would appoint that kind of a farmer head of the Department of Agriculture.

"Columbus discovered America, America made Columbus and Columbus made Cox," says the Washington Herald. That's so, and San Francisco undid him.

Chairman Cummings boasted at San Francisco that with all the revelations of waste, extravagance and graft in the conduct of the war no democrat had been put into jail—Wait.

"Do give us a campaign that is constructive," urges Mr. Franklin K. Lane in his congratulatory telegram to Governor Cox. Mr. Lane is a recently resigned member of Mr. Wilson's cabinet.

WHAT COUNTY IS LOCK 12 IN?

That is a simple question, but if you will spring it in a crowd you will soon find that it is not so easy of solution, for it has more sides than one, and there is pretty apt to be somebody to argue all of those sides.

It doesn't matter so much right now which county the big power plant is in, but when the time comes for the operators of the big works to begin to pay their annual taxes it will be rather an important phase of the question as to where and in what county the taxes will be paid. The amount of those taxes will be enough to make it worth while, probably, for one county to contend against another for possession of the plant.

Just ask the question, "In what county is Lock 12 located?" next time you get into a crowd, and see how many different theories you can find as to what constitutes the boundary line between Chilton and Coosa.

LIMBERING UP

Candidate Cox is already evincing his predilection for straddling issues. On the liquor issue he states that it is up to the people to change, repeal, or continue the present law, or, if they see fit, to wipe out the constitutional prohibition amendment. That is a mere platitude. The question which has been put up to him is simple: Is he for a wet regime or is he for a dry regime? That question can be answered by one word of just three letters, but the candidate persists in begging the question.

He is reported as urging the ratification of the league of nations and treaty, and declaring for no modification of Article X, and then in the same breath proclaiming that nothing in the treaty is to be construed as to surrender the United States of its (Congress's) war-making power, and this in itself absolutely negates Article X, and the spirit of the treaty thereby attempting to meet the wishes of the Wilson interrationalists as well as of the majority reservationists. It is predicted that before Mr. Cox completes his campaign he will be doing the split, and that is neither a dignified nor a practical way to enter the White House door.

Governor Cox will have some difficulty in convincing President Wilson that any man except Woodrow Wilson is the leader of the Democratic party. Others have tackled that job and have failed ignominiously.

Senator Harding says that if the Democrats had followed the policies of the Republicans in the agricultural department, many of the problems connected with the high cost of living would now be solved.

Senator Harding will have Vice-President Coolidge sit in his Cabinet meetings and take part in administration deliberations. The joke will be on Vice-President Marshall who sent a telegram of sympathy to Governor Coolidge.

Senator Kenyon announces that he will move to repeal the appropriation granted the department of justice to fight the high cost of living on the ground that it was used primarily to boost Attorney General Palmer for the Democratic nomination for President.

It would not have made much difference with the Declaration of American Independence if it had been launched from a front porch or a car platform but the people will prefer to hear it understandingly expounded this summer around the piazza in Marion, Ohio.

Raymond Robbins, one of the leading 1912 Progressives and an ardent supporter of Senator Johnson in the primaries says: "Senator Johnson's declaration in favor of the Republican candidates and the platform pointed the way for all Progressives to flock to the G. O. P. standard."

The editorial correspondent of the Portland Oregonian, writing from San Francisco, says: "The true explanation of the nomination of Governor Cox is that the Democratic party has been delivered to the forces of Bourbonism. The present-day Bourbonism of the party is both political and alcoholic."

BOTH FEET ON FRONT PORCH

It is said that Senator Harding is receiving a hundred appeals each day urging him to abandon his front porch campaign and make a tour of the country. But he made his decision and intends to stand by it. There have been those who sought to create the impression that the Senator is a weak candidate, easily led by his own friends. The manner in which he has withstood the enormous pressure to lend personal presence and influence to local campaigns in cities and states proves that vicillation is absent from his make-up. He will seek the advice of the leaders of Republican thought and sentiment in his administration of the executive office, but once his judgment has been formed as a result of those discusions it will not be altered.

OUT OF THE DEPTHS

Senator Harding has announced that, if elected, he intends to ask Vice-President Coolidge to be present at Cabinet meetings. In other ways the Senator has let it be known that with him as President the Vice-Presidency will be lifted from its present position of comparative obscurity to the place in our government that its importance entitles it. Under the constitution the Vice-President is the presiding officer of the Senate, and in that capacity maintains a close association with the legislative branch of the government. In the event of a tie vote he even has the privilege of casting the deciding ballot. By inviting him to attend the Cabinet meetings the President creates in the Vice-President a sort of liaison officer between the executive and the legislative branches, which will make him invaluable in bringing them into close co-operation, a relation that has been so conspicuously lacking under Wilsonism.

Irving S. Cobb, the well known writer, giving his impressions of that Democratic National Convention, penned these words July 4th: "Elsewhere throughout this broad land of ours, independence is being celebrated, but here the Democratic National Convention is still in session making the world safe for Republicanism."

There was a great howl at the democratic convention because some people at the other one may have spent their own money at the primaries. Nothing was said about the horde of postmasters, revenue collectors, U. S. marshals and other democratic job holders in attendance whose salaries and expenses came out of the peoples' treasury.

It is up to the Democrats to show how the Wilson covenant programme will "bring peace to the world" and improve the international situation of the United States. It will not do to simply say: "Le's try it. It may not do any harm." The burden of proof is on the Democrats. Will they accept the job? Already candidate Cox is hedging.

The New York World thus comments on the action of the Wilson administration in permitting trade with Soviet Russia: "Trading with people whose first principle is tthe denial of all private rights in property seems to be on its face a contradictory and impossible proposition." Yet this is an act of the Wilson administration. If a Republican administraton had done this thing, the World would have had a spasm of ridicule or abuse.

"It is said that thousands of Republicans voted for Cox when he was on the ticket. That speaks mighty well for a fellow."—The Centerville Press.

Yes, sir, boss, it speaks mighty well for a fellow when Republicans vote for him; they don't vote vote for any but good men. But they do not have to leave the Republican party to find a good man to vote for. They will stay in the party this time and vote for our own candidate, Mr. Warren Harding.

Ben Duke of Route 4 was in Clanton Tuesday and brought us the cantelopes he promised us last winter. They grew from the seed he obtained from a planter in Colorado. They are the finest variety of cantelopes we have seen around here. Mr. Duke says the unfavorable seasons this summer have caused him to lose out considerably on the yield, but he will have quite a few of them. Those who are interested in growing cantelopes would do well to get some of the seed as they are a highly tested and improved melon.

SESSIONS-MURRAH WEDDING

News of the marriage in Birmingham last week of Mr. Willie G. Sessions and Miss Mollie Murrah, the popular clerk in the County Tax Office, came as a distinct surprise to the many friends of the contracting parties in Clanton and in Jemison, where Miss Murrah lives. The bride has been holding the position of clerk in the tax office for a number of years, and has by her charming manner, won the respect and admiration of a very large circle of friends and acquaintances throughout the county. The groom is a young traveling man whose home is at Montevallo. It is not yet known where they will make their future home.

We extend best wishes and congratulations to them.

The House of Whispers

By WILLIAM JOHNSTON

Copyright by Little, Brown & Co.

"I AM IN TROUBLE."

Synopsis.—Circumstances having prevented Spalding Nelson, clerk, from joining the American forces going to France, he is in a despondent mood when he receives an invitation to dinner from his great-uncle, Rufus Gaston. On the way to the house he meets, under peculiar circumstances, a young girl, apparently in trouble, to whom he has an opportunity to be of slight service. She lives in the same apartment building as Rufus Gaston, and he accompanies her to the house. Gaston and his wife are going to Maine for a trip and want to leave Nelson in charge of the apartment. He accepts. Gaston and his wife tell their great-nephew of mysterious noises—"whispers"—which they have heard in the house. On his way to the Gaston apartment the next Sunday Nelson again meets his accidental acquaintance of a few days before, Barbara Bradford. She urges him not to allow the fact of their being acquainted to be known. At the apartment Nelson meets the superintendent, Wick, and instinctively dislikes him. In a wall safe he finds a necklace of magnificent pearls, worth a small fortune. Meeting Barbara in the hallway she passes him without recognition. Dining in a restaurant he is conscious of the unpleasant scrutiny of a stranger, but a man whom he had seen before. Next day Nelson finds the pearls have disappeared from the wall safe. His first idea of informing the police is not acted upon because of peculiar circumstances. He has been discharged from his position without adequate explanation or reason, and feels himself involved in something of a mystery. He decides to conduct an investigation himself.

CHAPTER III.—Continued.

I dined in a little restaurant in one of the side streets and walked home. Immediately on entering the apartment I decided to put my money in the wall safe. There would be less temptation for me to spend it if I carried only a little in my pocket. As I opened the safe by means of the combination I made the astounding discovery that one of the jewel cases had disappeared.

And now I stood hesitating at the telephone. Self-protection bade me notify neither the superintendent nor the police. Yet I must do something. The jewels entrusted to my care had been stolen. The thief must be found and the pearls recovered.

Why should not I myself play the detective? I had abundant leisure now. My great-uncle had informed me that there was something wrong in the house and had charged me to discover what it was. Here was the opportunity for me to fulfill the trust he had imposed on me.

The thought flashed across my mind, too, that perhaps the crafty old gentleman had deliberately planned the disappearance of the gems. Perhaps he had devised an elaborate test to see if I was honest, if I was of the right caliber to be his heir. Maybe he and his wife had not gone to Maine at all. They might even be quartered in another apartment in this very house, surreptitiously entering when they knew I was absent. There really had been no necessity for them to give me the combination of the safe. They need not have told me anything about the pearls. I wondered if they themselves might not have taken away the jewel box just to see if I would discover the loss and to ascertain what I would do about it.

Another theory suggested itself. My aunt evidently prized her jewels highly. After they had started she might have repented having left them behind and have sent the old colored butler back to get them. He of course would have a key to admit him, and they would have supplied him with the safe combination, as they had me. Probably he had been told to leave some message for me and had forgotten to do so. More than likely in a day or two I would receive a letter from old Rufus that would explain everything.

I was glad now I had not notified the superintendent nor the police. My second theory surely was far more logical than the first. It seemed preposterous that they would risk hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of gems just to test my honesty.

Still, I determined to make a thorough investigation. If they had been stolen, I would set about in a scientific way to discover the method of the theft and to bring about restoration. I would keep my investigation secret, and if it turned out that the pearls were safe, no one would know of my fright about the matter. I began outlining my work as a detective.

First, I would examine the safe knob for possible finger prints.

Second, I would interrogate Mrs. Burke. I would watch her carefully for any appearance of guilt. I would try, without arousing her suspicions, to ascertain if she had let her key out of her possession.

Third, I would insert an advertisement offering a reward for the return of the jewels, so worded that only the thief and myself would understand.

Fourth, I would try to locate the Gastons and would question the hall boys and telephone girl as to whether they had surreptitiously returned.

Fifth, I must try and discover what was in the mysterious letter that had led to my discharge. While this did not seem to have any connection with the other affairs that were troubling me, if I was to remain in New York and become better acquainted with Barbara Bradford, as I fondly hoped, I meant to have nothing hanging over me.

I was about to get into bed, had turned out the light, in fact, when I recalled the errand that had led me to open the wall safe. I had more than two hundred dollars in my trousers pocket and I purposed putting it where it would be safe. With the feeling that if the jewels had disappeared, so might my money, I pressed the light button in the sitting room and looked about for a hiding place. Recalling a custom of my mother's, I stepped over to the bookcase and taking a Macaulay's History, Volume Three, from the shelf, placed between the leaves all of my money except fifteen dollars. No burglar was likely to find it there.

I extinguished the light and in the darkness stepped back into my bedroom, and stopped stock still.

From somewhere in the room there came three distinct taps. Instinctively I crouched in an attitude of self-defense and strained my ears to listen. My first impression was that there was someone in the room, probably the burglar. I hesitated about turning on the light. If he were armed it would give him all the advantage.

Breathlessly I listened. Once more there came three distinct raps, this time apparently from somewhere outside the room. I wondered if it had been sounds like these that had so terrified the old couple.

Perhaps it was the echo of someone pounding in another apartment, the noise being carried along by a water pipe. The thought that it might be the crackling of some hidden steam or refrigerating pipe suggested itself. Both these theories I rejected. The sound, whatever it was, had originated close at hand.

It came again. This time I was certain that it was not due to footfalls as I had at first conjectured. I was able, too, to locate more closely the direction from which it came. The window at the foot of the bed stood open, and the sound seemed to float in from somewhere outside. I hurried over to the window and thrust my head out. At first I could see nothing, but even as I looked a white arm thrust forth from an adjacent window on the same floor. It held a riding crop and reaching out as far as was possible it rapped three times on the sill of my window.

As I Read It I Stood There Aghast.

It dawned on me at once that the window next must belong to the Bradford apartment. It must be Miss Bradford trying to signal to me.

"Hello," I called out softly.

"Oh, is that you, Mr. Nelson?" a relieved voice whispered. "I thought you would never hear. I must see you."

"Why didn't you phone me?"

"I couldn't. Someone might hear me."

"What's the matter?"

"I've had another letter."

"From those men in the park?

"I suppose so."

"Tell me about it."

"I can't now. Can you meet me somewhere tomorrow?"

"Wherever you say."

"Do you ride?"

"Yes, indeed."

"I'll be in the cross lane that leads from McGowan's Pass tavern between eight and eight-thirty."

"I'll be there."

Whether or not she heard me I did not know. She withdrew quickly from the room as if someone had entered. I waited there in the window for a full hour in case she should wish to communicate with me again.

By and by the light in her window was extinguished, but even then I sat there at the window adjoining, hoping in vain that she would seek to renew the conversation.

When at last I got into bed I was in a jubilant mood. I had quite forgiven Miss Bradford for cutting me when she met me in company with her mother and sister. It was enough for me to know that when trouble again threatened her she had decided to trust in me and had sought my aid.

I fell asleep at last and slept for I do not know how long. Opening my eyes in the darkness I seemed to feel the presence of someone in the room. There was the sound of footfalls somewhere—muffled, seemingly some distance off. I was almost certain I could detect muttered words. In a curious detached state of mind I listened, wondering whether I was awake or asleep. The footsteps seemed to come closer, then recede. The whispering noise ceased. I sprang up, and hastily lighting up all the rooms, explored them thoroughly. There was no evidence anywhere of anyone's presence. As I lay there thinking about it, I decided that my illusion must have been a dream, due to my thought of spirit rappings when I first had heard Miss Bradford's signal.

I was still thinking about my experience when I awoke early the next morning. Springing lightly out of bed, I stopped in utter bewilderment. There, in the center of the room on the floor lay a small white folded slip of paper. It could not have been a dream, after all. I had heard footsteps and whispers. I had not imagined it. Someone had been in the room while I slept. There was the proof, the note they had dropped.

Wondering if Miss Bradford had found still another unusual way of communicating with me I hastened to pick up the folded paper that lay on the floor. On the outside it bore my name, in typewriting, "Mr. Spalding Nelson."

With eager fingers I unfolded the paper, wondering what message it contained. As I read it, I stood there, aghast. It ran:

"Why didn't you tell the police about the pearls?"

CHAPTER IV.

I had twice traversed the cross lane near McGowan's Pass tavern waiting for Barbara Bradford. Although it had been my intention to ride thither I was amazed to learn on applying at two of the stables near the park entrance to hire a horse that the few they had there either were owned privately or had been already engaged.

There was nothing for me to do but to go to my rendezvous on foot. I had almost despaired of Miss Bradford's coming when I spied her cantering slowly along the lane, followed at a decorous distance by a groom. She was looking right and left and when she saw me her face brightened but she rode a few steps past me with no sign of recognition. I was wondering what to make of this new slight when she suddenly reined in and allowed the groom to come up with her.

"James," I heard her say to the groom, "my head aches, and the riding is making it worse. Take the horses back to the stable, and I will walk the rest of the way home."

"Very well, Miss Bradford," he said, touching his cap, as he assisted her to alight.

She waited until he had vanished and then hastened to the bench where I was seated, one I had purposely selected because it was half hidden by a turn in the road and the branches of a wide-spreading tree.

She colored vividly as I rose to greet her with outstretched hand.

"Oh, Mr. Nelson," she cried, "I don't know what you will think of me, asking you to meet me here. I am in trouble. I must tell someone. I don't know what to do!"

"The only thing to do," I suggested, "is to begin at the beginning and tell me the whole story. I've sisters of my own. Just pretend you are one of my sisters and let me help you."

She looked at me thoughtfully, studying me as if questioning whether or not I was to be trusted, and apparently deciding in the affirmative, told me an amazing story.

"It's all about my sister, Claire," she began. "She's five years older than I. She's a lovely girl, but she's—that is, she used to be—impulsive, romantic, and headstrong. She and my mother never got along well together, and she was sent away to boarding school. One winter, it was six years ago, mother was in Europe and only Dad and I were at home . . ."

She sighed sadly. Evidently her words were bringing back to her moments of heartache.

"To make a long story short, Claire ran away from the school and married—married a French chauffeur employed by a family in the neighborhood. She took me into her confidence a week later, and I—well, I told dad. There was a terrible time about it all. Dad found out that her husband was already married, had a wife and child right here in this city. He had the marriage annulled and managed to keep everything out of the papers. He threatened Claire's husband with prison and made him go back to France. Dad was simply wonderful. No one knew anything about Claire's escapade except ourselves, the principal of the school, and the judge down in Nassau county, who ordered the marriage annulled. Dad kept mother abroad until after it was all over, and to this day she never has heard a word about it."

"Your father must be a wonderful man," I said enthusiastically.

"He was," she said simply. "He has been dead two years."

"Oh, I'm so sorry," I cried, "I did not know."

"If Dad were alive he would know what to do. You see, when he died, there was not much money left. We're really little better than paupers. We've been living from day to day on our tiny capital, and Mother has been working every wire to arrange a good match for Claire. I wanted to do something, to go out and earn a living for myself, but she never would consent. She insisted I'd be damaging Claire's prospects if I went into trade, as she calls it, and I promised her I'd do nothing until after Claire is safely married."

"And is she to be married?" I asked.

A troubled expression came into her face.

"She was to be, but now I don't know. She is engaged to marry young Harry D. Thayer, who is worth a lot of money, but someone has found out about her secret."

"How did they find out?" I asked eagerly. I understood now the mysterious meeting in the park that had brought me first into touch with Barbara Bradford. Some band of rascals was trying to blackmail Claire Bradford, and her sister was trying to save her.

"That's the greatest mystery of all," exclaimed Miss Bradford. "Before Dad died he turned over to me all the papers about the annulment of Claire's marriage. Somehow he seemed to rely on me far more than on either Mother or Claire. He explained to me the importance of always keeping them, in case the past should ever crop up, but he charged me to see that they always were safely put away where no one could find them."

"Where did you keep them?" I asked.

"In the wall safe in my sitting room."

"In the wall safe!" I cried, thinking in bewilderment of the coincidence that these papers should have had a similar hiding place to the Gaston jewels which had vanished so strangely.

"Yes," she answered, plainly puzzled at my bewilderment. "It was an excellent hiding place. No one but myself had the combination. I don't see now who could have taken them. I found the safe locked as it always was."

"When did you first discover the papers were missing?"

"Let me see," she pondered. "Claire's engagement was announced at a dinner three weeks ago last Thursday. The newspapers on Sunday carried a brief notice of it. Two days later the first note came."

"What note?"

She reached into the pocket of her riding habit and drew forth a folded slip of paper.

"I brought it with me to show you; here, this is the first one."

Like the mysterious note I myself had received only the preceding night, this one was not inclosed in an envelope. It was just a folded slip, addressed in typewriting to "Miss Claire Bradford." On the other side was this message:

"What if Thayer knew about your being married before? How much will you give to get those papers back?"

"Where did you get this?" I asked.

"I found it on the floor of my bedroom one morning when I got up late. I gave it to my sister without having read it, thinking she had dropped it there. She read it and screamed and fainted. Fortunately Mother was out of the house at the time. Naturally I read the note then. I went to the safe and found the documents gone. Claire has been nearly crazy ever since. She insists that it is all my fault. She says I ought to have destroyed the papers, but I couldn't, could I?"

"Of course not," I replied warmly. "You did quite right in keeping them. It was not your fault they were stolen."

"I couldn't destroy them. Dad had told me to keep them," she said simply.

"What did you do then? Did you tell your mother?"

Barbara has heard the whispers, too.

Compensation in Age.

It is true that a poet wrote a famous hymn, "I Would Not Live Always," yet people are interested in living as long as they can, as that is one of the great laws of nature. Even advanced age, bringing dim sight, loss of hearing and general decline, is not without its compensations, and Longfellow proved that "age is opportunity no less than youth."

DODSON WARNS CALOMEL USERS

You Cannot Gripe, Sicken, or Salivate Yourself if You Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition, and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.—Adv.

TRULY AN AWFUL THOUGHT

Small Girl Feared She Had Somewhat Overdone Matter of Praying for Baby Brother.

The little girl came home to her mamma very much disturbed because little Susie, her neighbor, had a new baby brother to play with, while she, herself, was very lonely. Her mother comforted her and told her to ask God to send her a little brother, too. So the child began to pray for a little brother, and occasionally got impatient; but her mother told her to keep on praying and perhaps would be answered some day.

One day she was called into the mother's room, and her delight knew no bounds when the nurse took a wee thing up from the mother's side and laid it in her arms. But a moment later, when the nurse picked up another bit of humanity, the child almost dropped the one she was holding, and a startled expression came into her face as she said:

"Oh, mama! is God going to answer all those prayers that I prayed?"

The Spell of Melody.

"Give me the man who sings at his work!" said the idealist.

"Yes," replied Farmer Corntossel. "It's all right for a man to sing at his work, unless he insists on singing himself to sleep."

At That, Marine Showed Praiseworthy Willingness to Obey Orders Captain Had Given Him.

Army water carts differ from one another about the same as, say, one egg differs from another egg—namely, in size. The number of gallons which each car can contain is, therefore, stenciled on the top of it.

The captain of a marine supply company in France was inventorying his carts and totaling the figures.

"Wilkins," he called to an idle private who hadn't had the sense to get out of the way, "get me the capacity of this cart."

The captain ran his pencil down the column of figures for several seconds, keeping one ear open for the result of Wilkins' research.

But no reply came from Wilkins. The captain glanced up tofind all of Wilkins except the head protruding from the hole in top of the water cart. A desperate struggle with some unseen monster seemed to be going on inside the cart. Finally Wilkins' baffled head emerged.

"I felt all around the blamed thing, captain," he explained, "and I'll be hanged if I can locate that capacity anywhere."—Home Sector.

LESSON FOR JULY 25

DAVID SUCCEEDS SAUL AS KING.

LESSON TEXT—II Sam. 2:1-7; 5:1-5.

GOLDEN TEXT—Trust in the Lord with all thy heart, and lean not upon thine understanding.—Prov. 3:5.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—I Sam. 31: 1-13; II Sam. 1-27; 2:8-4:12.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Shepherd Boy Becomes a King.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How David Became a King.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Secret of David's Success.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—True Success and How to Win It.

The death of Saul lay open to David the path to the throne. This would have rejoiced the heart of many, but David was sad. Instead of reward being given to the slayer of Saul, quick vengeance was executed upon him.

I. David Made King Over Judah (2:1-4).

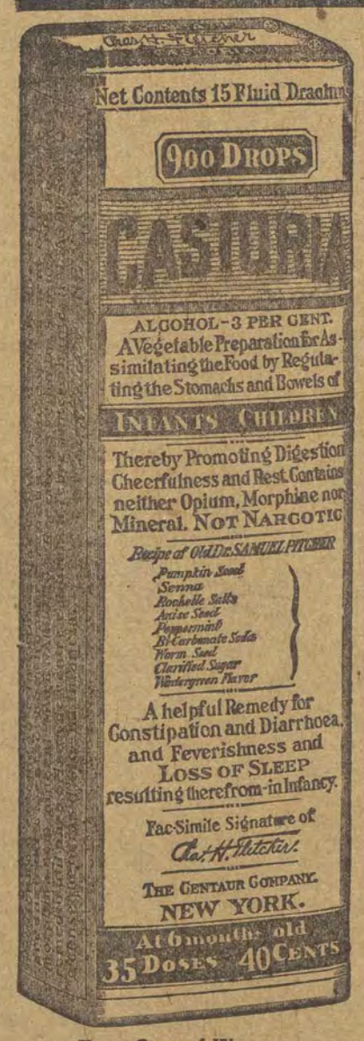
He knew full well that the Lord by the hand of Samuel had anointed him to be the successor of Saul. He had learned the essential lesson which the School of Providence was designed to teach, namely, that the position now open to him was no easy one to fill. His exile and sufferings gave him self-control. He had the good sense to know that promotion to the throne did but bring "harder duties and multiplied perplexities." He threw himself upon God and asked for guidance. He rendered instant obedience to the Lord's answer. If we are to enjoy God's fellowship and blessing we must render quick obedience. He made a right beginning, therefore God prospered him. When he reached Hebron the men of Judah came and anointed him king over them. Thus a part of the nation recognized him as king and ratified the work which Samuel did many years before. When David went up he took with him all who had been with him in exile and suffering. They are now sharers with him in the kingdom. When David's great son, Christ, shall enter upon his glorious reign, those who have been faithful to him in his rejection shall reign with him. "If we suffer we shall also reign with him." (II Tim. 2:12); "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my father in his throne." (Rev. 3:21).

II. David's Behavior Toward the Men of Jabesh-Gilead (2:4-7).

The men of Jabesh owed much to Saul (I Sam. 11), and they showed this recognition of debt by making a daring dash to rescue his body from the ignominious exposure at Bethlehem. David's act of sending men to Jabesh with a message of good will for their affectionate remembrance of Saul is an exhibition of his noble generosity. His love for the unfortunate king survived all the injuries which he suffered at his hands. He forgave and forgot them all. This was an act of political shrewdness as well as a generous one. In fact the only policy which proves effective is that which proceeds from a generous heart. He deftly follows this generous commendation with a solicitude for the men of Jabesh to transfer their loyalty to himself, since he is now their legal king. Since Saul is now dead, he urges them to be valiant for him. In view of the civil war which was to follow he knew it would require valiant men to stand by God's king. This appeal to be valiant is needed now, for we are all called upon to take sides between God's appointed king, Jesus Christ, and Satan, the pretender to the throne. May Christ's appeal result in making us faithful and valiant for him.

III. The Dual Kingdom—War Between the House of Saul and the House of David (2:8-4:12).

This period of civil war lasted seven and a half years. Most of the tribes of Israel clung to Ishbosheth, Saul's son, whom Abner had proclaimed king at Mahanaim. Feuds continued between the rival generals. David's power increased while that of Ishbosheth's waned.



IV. David Crowned King Over United Israel (5:1-5).

Though the struggle for supremacy lasted long and was a bitter one, Abner's death and Ishbosheth's assassination put an end to David's opposition. David's behavior during this time gradually won for him the confidence of the tribes so that they all came to him at Hebron and anointed him as their king. They accepted his divine right to rule (v. 3). The reasons for anointing him their king were:

1. He is their brother (v. 1). This is true of Christ our King. Through the incarnation he has become one with us.
2. He was their true leader in war, even in Saul's time (v. 2).
3. He was the Lord's choice (v. 2).

Procrastination.

Procrastination is helping the devil in retarding righteousness in the world. Remember that legend of how he summoned his imperial staff and offered a reward to the member who would suggest the best way to destroy a human soul. One said, Convince him there is no God. Another said, Prove there is no immortality and no truth in the Bible. But still another suggested, Convince him that there is no hurry about his carrying out his good resolutions. And the devil gave that one the prize.—Bishop Talbot.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

How to Treat A Torpid Liver

The liver is the largest and most important organ in the body, and when the liver refuses to act, it causes constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, gas, sour stomach, bad breath, dysentery, diarrhoea, pains in back and under shoulder blades and under ribs on right side. These symptoms lead to colds, influenza or other serious troubles unless corrected immediately.

An inactive liver places an extra burden on the kidneys, which overtaxes them and causes the blood to absorb and carry into the system the impurities that the liver and kidneys have failed to eliminate.

When you treat the liver alone, you treat only a third of your trouble, and that is why you have to take purgatives every few nights. Calomel or other ordinary laxatives do not go far enough. If you would treat your kidneys and blood while treating the liver you would put your entire system in order and frequent purgatives would then be unnecessary.

Dr. W. L. Hitchcock many years ago recognized these important facts, and after much study and research, compounded what is now known as Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney and Blood Powders, three medicines combined in one. This was the Doctor's favorite prescription for many years, being used by his patients with marked success. It is a harmless vegetable remedy that will not make you sick, and you may eat anything you like while taking it.

Get a large tin box from your druggist or dealer for 25c, under his personal guarantee that it will give relief, tone up the liver, stimulate the kidneys to healthy action and thereby purify the blood. If your dealer will not supply you, it will be mailed direct by the Hitchcock Medicine Co., Atlanta, Ga., upon receipt of price.—Adv.

Gained Ten Pounds

Before Taking ZIRON, Alabama Man Was Weak Nervous, Had No Appetite, But Is Now Strong.

EVERY man and woman, who is in a run-down, weak condition, with bad complexion and poor appetite, due to lack of iron in their blood, should find Ziron helpful and strength-building.

It is a scientific, reconstructive tonic, composed of ingredients recommended by leading medical authorities.

Describing his experience with Ziron, Mr. George W. S. Lanier writes from Jones, Ala.: "Some time back, I was in a terrible condition. I was weak and nervous, and had a tired feeling all the time. My skin was muddy. I had no appetite, and at morning I didn't feel like getting up. I was reading of Ziron and decided I would try it . . .

"Will say that Ziron is a good medicine. I have gained ten pounds in four months. Am strong and have a good appetite."

Ziron is a mild iron tonic, good for young and old. It helps to restore the system, when run-down by overwork, under-nourishment, caused by stomach and bowel disorders, or as a result of some weakening illness.

Get Ziron from your druggist. He sells it on a money-back guarantee.

SOCIETY AND PERSONALS

MRS. R. E. LUCKIE, Editor.

MRS. BROADHEAD HOSTESS

One of the loveliest of the week's social gatherings was a pretty porch party at the home of Mrs. Hugh Jones when Mrs. Grady Broadhead entertained the Wednesday evening Bridge Club and a few extra guests.

At the conclusion of the game, Mrs. Luckie held highest score and was presented a lovely hand-embroidered handkerchief, while during the cut for guest prize Mrs. Mary L. VanDerveer was awarded a box of stationery. A tempting salad plate with iced tea was served to the following club members: Mrs. Harvey Chandler, Mrs. V. J. Heard, Mrs. Watts Moore, Mrs. Luckie, Mrs. H. Simpson, Mrs. Hance Alred, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. Eric Hart and Mrs. N. S. Johnson. And the guests of the club were: Mrs. Alex Richards, Mrs. VanDerveer, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. Toy Parsons and Misses Alma and Willie B. Jones.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS

On last Monday evening at 4 o'clock the Womans Missionary Society held their regular social and business meeting with Mrs. W. W. Fox. After the business lovely refreshments were served.

MRS. WYATT HOSTESS

Enjoyable in every detail was the Embroidery Club of last Thursday when Mrs. Mack Wyatt proved a most gracious hostess. A pleasant evening of fancy work was spent and late in the afternoon a delicious ice course was served.

EDWARDS - ROBERTS

A simple but pretty wedding occurred on last Wednesday evening at four o'clock at the Methodist Parsonage, when Miss Mae Roberts became the bride of Mr. Willie Edwards of Pittsburg, Pa. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. C. Maye, in the presence of a few relatives.

The bride was beautiful in her dark blue traveling suit of tricotine.

After a few weeks visit to relatives here they will leave for Pittsburg, where Mr. Edwards holds a responsible position with the Westinghouse Electric Company.

A most enjoyable affair of the past week was the chicken broil, given at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. William Sandlin on Monday night. A large table was placed on the lawn, where a regular picnic feast was enjoyed. Afterwards a water melon cutting took place. Those who enjoyed this lovely outing were: Mr. T. C. McSwain and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Allen and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thad McSwain and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hann and family, Mr. and Mrs. Halley Frauls and family, Mr. and Mrs. Macey Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Holmes of Dothan, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stewart of Cullman, Mr. and Mrs. Norrell and Norman, Raymond and James Roberts.

Misses Eleanor and Clara Holley returned home Thursday after a delightful visit to relatives in Siluria, and have as their guest, Miss Ruth Dunlap.

Mrs. E. E. Upchurch and Sam have returned home after a visit to Dr. and Mrs. P. I. Hopkins.

Miss Daisy Gillis of Grove Hill, is visiting Mrs. E. E. Upchurch.

Miss Marjorine Alred has returned home from a visit to Sylacauga.

Mrs. S. A. Goodwyn of Montgomery is spending several days with her daughter, Mrs. Luckie.

Misses Helen and Dorothy Sewell of Deland, Fla., are the guests of Miss Sarah Luckie.

Mrs. Bun Roberts of Mobile is the guest of her mother, Mrs. M. A. Mullins.

Miss Helen Bishop is expected to arrive Saturday to visit relatives and friends here.

Miss Lessie Reynolds is visiting relatives in Shorters.

The E. C. Maye S. S. Class will meet with Mrs. Herbert Neighbors on Friday evening at 4:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Barney Roberts and children and Miss Willie Belle Sartor have returned home from Cincinnati, after special training in piano and vocal music.

Miss Marina Brown of Tuscaloosa is visiting Miss Warrene Spigener.

Mrs. Mary Lane VanDerveer has returned home after a several days visit to relatives here.

Mrs. Clyde Jones had a week end visitor, Miss Gladys Speer of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Toy Parsons have returned to their home in Mobile after several days stay in Clanton.

Congratulations are being received by Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Reynolds on the arrival of a fine boy.

Mrs. L. V. Roy and children of Montgomery arrived Wednesday to be the guest of Mrs. Hugh Jones.

Miss Callie Watts, after a two weeks stay at the eastern markets for Elmore's has returned home.

Mr. T. M. Dunlap and family, accompanied by Mr. Raymond Auslay, motored down and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Holley last Sunday.

Messrs J. R. Holley, Jr., and Dallas McArrel of Birmingham, accompanied by Misses Thelma Boyd and Affery Barkley visited the former's parents, Sunday.

Worn Down, Out of Heart

Georgia Lady, Worn-out and Tired, Tells How She Was Helped by Ziron Iron Tonic.

THE personal experience of Mrs. Nannie Phillips, of Powder Springs, Ga., is printed below in her own words:

"I was in a worn-out condition. My stomach was out of order. I didn't sleep well. I was tired all the time. I couldn't half eat, and didn't rest well at night.

"I would get out of heart and blue. I would feel like I was going to be down in bed. Yet I kept dragging around.

"We heard of Ziron, and from what I read, I was sure it wouldn't hurt me, if it didn't help me. But after taking it, I found it really helped me, and I sent back for more. I ate better, felt much stronger. I am sure Ziron is a splendid tonic."

Many people, who are worn down and disheartened, due to stomach disorders and nervous ills, find relief by toning up their blood with Ziron Iron Tonic.

Tell your druggist you want to try Ziron on our money-back guarantee.

THE UNION-BANNER

VOL. IX. CLANTON, ALA., JULY 29, 1920. NUMBER 18

GOV. COX HAS SURRENDERED TO THE WILSON RULE

COL. HOUSE REVEALS CAUSE OF FAILURE OF THE TREATY

President Wilson's Intimate Friend Begins to Discuss the Mistakes of the Foreign Policy of the Administration.

Colonel Edward M. House was for seven years President Wilson's most intimate friend, and during six years was his confidential messenger in dealing with foreign governments. They received information of the President's intentions oftener thhu Colonel House than from his Secretary of State.

When President Wilson returned from Paris in June, 1919, with the Peace Treaty, and the League Covenant signed, he left Colonel House there as his personal representative, although there had been a breach between the President and the four other peace delegates, Colonel House, Secretary Lansing, General Bliss and ex-Ambassador White.

All these chosen advisers had forfeited the President's confidence by venturing to differ from him about Shantung, Russia and other phases of the Peace Treaty.

After the return to America of the President's four collaborators in making the Peace Treaty, President Wilson refused to receive or to talk with any of them, the breach between them had become too wide.

Now Colonel House is again in Europe, this time in an unofficial capacity, and he has begun publicly to discuss the mistakes of President Wilson. In an authorized statement he says:

"A suggestion was made in Paris just after the armistice to proceed at once in the making of a preliminary treaty of peace with Germany alone, based upon broad general lines and concerning four subjects—army, navy, reparations and deliniation of boundaries. The boundaries need not have been so drawn as to give Germany the assurance that her loss of territory would not be greater than indicated. Such a treaty could have been made by Christmas of 1918 and would have been not only the usual but the obvious thing to do. There was at that time facing Germany the entire allied army, militant and flushed with victory, and there would have been no delay or evasion of terms."

It was President Wilson alone who upset that programme. He had declared during his first visit to Europe in December, 1918, that the League of Nations covenent MUST have the right of way over any peace treaty.

He returned to the United States in February, 1919, to address the new Congress. In his absence from Paris cipal Powers agreed to hasten the pacipal Powers agreen to hasten the pacification of Europe, and preliminary terms of peace must be settled first. The plan on which the delegates of all nations in the Conference agreed in the absence of President Wilson was, in the words of Colonel House:

"A careful survey should be made of Germany's resources and ability to pay and a sum assessed which the bankers of the world might be willing to underwrite. If this view had prevailed, the French and Belgians could have received their allotment in cash, which would have been of untold benefit to their respective countries."

But President Wilson, as soon as he returned to Paris, again upset this plan. He was determined that the League Covenant should be settled first, and Lloyd George and Clemenceau, finding any progress impossible without him, finally consented.

The Wilson programme greatly prolonged the agony of Europe, The delay was injurious to all the allies. As it has worked out it has been to the advantage of Germany, which after a year has not paid one penny of indemnity. Colonel House now adds:

"It is doubtful whether Germany has it in mind to pay anything at present, and it may be that she contemplates letting the future care for itself."

Colonel House sees a hiedous mess in the war debts owed by European powers, one to another. France thinks that she should be relieved entirely of her debt to England because she bore five-sevenths of the loss in a war directed not more against her than against England.

England is willing to cancel the debt of France to her provided the United States will cancel Great Britain's greater debt to America. Andre Tardieu, the French High Commissioner, understood from the American peace delegation that such an agreement would be made. Colonel House says of the situation to-day:

"And this leads to the thought that the lending of funds by one government to another should never be done unless under unusual circumstances. It is always provocative of ill feeling and the forerunner of trouble. In the last analysis, if the debtor government declines to pay, it means war.

"Great Britain being closer to the European continent and in more intimate touch wth it understands this difficulty better than we do. She is embarassed by it, for she is conscious of the difficultes into which she may be led. She is confronted by unpleasant alternatives, one her domestic situation in regard to excessive taxation and the natural disinclination of her people to replenish any such substantial part of the national asests as their foreign loans; second, if she insists upon payment from her allies, bad relations are certain to ensue, and it is by no means probable that anything like full collection can be made. It is possible that her government will finally conclude to face the domestic situation and preserve her prestige and good relations with her continental neighbors."

Finally Colonel House evidently regards the present situation in Europe as more critical than at any time since the armistice. He says:

"Conditions in Poland are rapidly approaching a crisis. If Poland succumbs to the Russian invasion, Germany will be the next to go, and largely for the reason that Germany will elect to go. There may be a passive resistance, but a majority of the Germans will welcome the Russians as deliverers.

"The Russian army will be enormously strengthened by recruits from the late German army, and together they will make a formidable force, a force that will take all the resources of the western powers to reckon with.

"If this should happen, and it is well within the bounds of probability, what will England, France and the United States do to counter? If they raise large armies to oppose, can they be transported? Will labor furnish the motive power?"

No one ever uttered finer sentiments for the rule of democracy than President Wilson. But no American in such high place ever ACTED more autocratically or more unwisely in foreign affairs.

SHOULTS NEWS NOTES

Everybody in this community is through work, and enjoying the good meeting at Pleasant Grove this week. Protracted meeting started Sunday, Rev. James Adams helping Rev. J. D. Martin. His sermons are grand; he held the congregation spell bound Sunday morning and Sunday night. We feel that great good is going to be accomplished this week.

Mr. Holland Hicks who has been in Birmingham hospital is at home now, and visited his brother, Mr. W. P. Hicks last Friday night.

Mrs. Oscar Shoults from Selma has been visiting her relatives here last week, she left Friday to visit her sister, Mrs. Lum Williams near Clanton. Mrs. Shoults is making preparations to move back here, but her husband will work on in Selma for a while.

We are sorry to say that Mr. Wheeler is at home sick. He was working for the M. & O. R. R. Co.

Mrs. John Mitchell has been to Selma again to see the doctors, but she is doing nicely now.

We are so glad Miss Fannie Moore has returned home from Selma hospital, and glad that she is doing so well.

Mr. Ben Head and family from Birmingham has been visiting his cousins, Mr. C. T. Walker and Mrs. Mollie McGee.

Mr. Fred McGee and family from near Randolph attended preaching service at Pleasant Grove Sunday and Sunday night.

Mr. W. P. Collins from Lawley motored to Mr. John Mitchell's Sunday afternoon.

Mr. C. T.Walker is painting his new house. This will add greatly to the looks and last of his house.

Miss Eliza Hall is spending a few weeks with her niece, Mrs. T. C. Snead at Centerville.

Mr. Dalton Hicks spent a few days last week with his uncle, Mr. W. P. Hicks.

The many friends of Rev. Buford Lawrence from Birmingham were delighted to see him again at church last Sunday night at Pleasant Grove.

We are having plenty of rain and the crops are looking fine.

Mr. Lawyer McGee is on the sick list; we hope he will soon recover.

Miss Hazel Shoults from Lawley is visiting a few days with her sister, Mrs. Cleve Latham.

MINOOKA NEWS

Mrs. W. H. Clements delightfully entertained a group of young people by a card party at her home in Minooka Thursday evening, in honor of her guest from Birmingham.

The house was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and ferns.

After a late hour a delicious ice-course was served. Those enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Clement's were Misses Esther Gravlee, Morris Anderson, Pattie Simms, Florence Clements, Messrs Isaac Crims and Leanor Barefield.

GRAY - CANDLER

On last Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock, at Clanton, Ala., occurred the marriage of Mr. J. Y. Gray and Miss Katherine Candler. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. C. (Uncle Dock) Wells, while the young couple were in an automobile.

COX'S UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER

Washington, July 26.—Candidate Cox's surrender to the Wilson League idea makes more certain Democratic disaster, declares the Republican Publicity Association, through its president, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., in a statement issued from its Washington headquarters today, as follows:

"If anything was needed to make more certain the disaster that is impending for the Democratic party it has been furnished in the White House conferences between the president and Gov. Cox, with Mr. Roosevelt an interested listener. In the generally accepted meaning of the term, the meeting was a 'conference' in name only, but it had all the characteristics of every so-called conference in which Mr. Wilson has taken part. The president spoke, and Gov. Cox, like all the others who have been there before him, bowed his head and said, 'Those are my sentiments too.'

"After the president had satisfied himself that the candidate thoroughly understood the part he is expected to play, the meeting adjourned to the dining room where Cox and Roosevelt were permitted to lunch with two of the executive triumvirate, Messrs Tumulty and Grayson, the third member, Mrs. Wilson, being absent. Prepared statements from all three participants at the conference were handed to the press, testifying to the complete harmony that had prevailed. 'I found,' said the president, 'that he and I were absolutely at one with regard to the great issue of the league of nations.' 'What he promised,' pledged candidate Cox, 'I shall, if elected, endeavor with all my strength to give.' 'I wish,' reverently echoed Mr. Rooevelt, 'that every American could have been a silent witness to the meeting between these two great men.' Fortunately Americans were spared the humiliation of actually hearing the schemers plotting to betray their country.

"It is fortunate from every point of view that the issue has been drawn thus early and so clearly. No platform planks have approached the Wilson and Cox statements in bluntness, and the candidate's speech of acceptance cannot add nor detract from the definite obligations which he has assumed. The President makes it clear that he considers the honor of the nation bound up in acceptance of the league of nations and Gov. Cox is equally uequivocal in his stand for the same policy. The candidate, like his mentor in the White House, takes the stand that the honor of the United States has been in the keeping of Wilson the individual, and that the promises he has personally made at home and abroad have become, ipso facto, obligations upon the nation, and that the specific pledge that he made when he appended his signature to the league covenant must ,if national honor is to be preserved, be accepted by the people.

"To that position the Republican party and candidates take violent exception. They declare that the obligations contained in the league covenant originated and have remained as only the individual utterance of Mr. Wilson. Never have the people given their assent to them either by popular ballot or through their elected representatives at Washington. On the contrary, the Senate has specifically rejected them twice, and the people in November, 1918, when the league idea was being first discussed, refused to endorse the president's earnest plea for support, and returned a Republican Senate and House.

"Mr. Wilson promised that Congress would obligate itself, whenever certain circumstances should arise, to wage war in any part of the world. To a man, the Republicans of the Senate refused to enter into such contract. That is the issue of the presidential campaign: Shall we or shall we not solemnly agree to spend our billions and sacrifice our lives 'to preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the League?' Cox and Roosevelt answer 'Yes.' Hardng and Coolidge answer 'No.' It is up to the voters next November to give the nation's answer in a way that the world and Wilson cannot misinterpret."

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE CANNOT DODGE THE ISSUE

Harding Demands that Cox Give the American People His True Position on Questions Confronting the Country.

Assuming that the conference between Governor Cox and President Wilson would result in their complete agreement, Senator Harding issued the following statement before word had reached Marion regarding the outcome of the Washington conference:

"The President and the Democratic nominee for his successor are in conference today, and at the conclusion it will inevitably be announced that they found themselves in complete accord, that harmony reigns, and unity is established in the Democratic party.

"The significance of that announcement will not be missed. There is just one way that can establish accord between himself and the President—that is by yielding his own opinion at every point to that of the President. When the nominee establishes accord with the President, it means that the latter is in charge of the campaign and will be the real force of the next administration, if it is Democratic.

"Therefore, in connection with the announcement of harmony between the president and the Democratic nominee, it will be pertinent to inquire the basis of the agreement. The country is very anxious to know if any unqualified acceptance of the League of Nations program is agreed upon.

"Second—Has Governor Cox pledged himself to ratification of the treaty and League without essential modifications?

"Third—Has Article X been accepted? It has repeatedly been declared that Article X is the 'heart of the treaty', and that to cut it out would 'break the heart of the world.' Is the Democratic ticket still for Article X?

"Fourth—The President, naturally, has stipulated that Gov. Cox must assume, underwrite and liquidate all international commitments in which the present administration involved itself and the naton.

"The president could not possibly demand less. A Democratic successor could not possibly grant less, because he stands upon a platform that makes the same guarantees.

"It becomes, therefore, timely to ask: "What are the various, mysterious, uncertain obligations to which the President has committed us?

"Somebody must tell us, because the people are wanting to know.

"Has Governor Cox undertaken, in case he is elected, to renew demand that this country take a mandate over Armenia? Has he undertaken to maintain the administration policy in the Adriatic, where we have wellnigh forfeited the friendship of the great Italian people, brought Italy to the verge of revolution and almost wrecked the establishment of peace?

"Has he pledged himself to insist that Thrace shall be joined to Bulgaria, instead of to Greece, regardless of the wishes of the Thracians, the Greeks and our allies?

"Broadly, has the nominee taken over the various and unknown commitments of the present administration's foreign policy in order to establish harmony between the president and himself?

"To these questions the American people are entitled to an answer. They will insist on knowing what they are assuming.

"It is perfectly apparent that President Wilson's foreign policy involves the need of a great army and navy, for the administration demanded that we build by 1925 a navy equal to Britain's. It also demanded the creation of a regular army twice as large as we ever had in peace.

"What did the president want of these vast armaments, unless to fight with them? Governor Cox will know now, for he is in complete accord with the president.

"It is earnestly to be hoped that Governor Cox will frankly and promptly answer these questions, because the Republican party wants the country to know it rejects all these ill-considered commitments and pledges its administration against them."

CHILTON COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The annual convention of the Chilton County Sunday School Assogiation will be held at the court house in Clanton, Ala., August 23. We will have three State workers with us, and we hope to have the best convention Chilton has ever had. We expect every Sunday School to report to our county Secretary, Della Williams.

Meet us in Clanton on August 23.

D. J. FLUMMER, Pres.

BEAT ONE IS CHAMPION

Tom McKee of Beat One calls our attention to the fact that his Beat was the only one in the county that cast a solid vote in favor of the ten year three-Mill tax for public school purposes.

This is a distinction of which any Beat might be proud, and as Mr. McKee suggests, we think it shouldn't be overlooked. The properties of the Alabama Power Co., at Lock 12 are located in Beat 1.

Judge Reynolds, M. D. Foshee, Jim Grant and Walter Gillespie attended the meeting of the State Republican Executive Committee in Birmingham the first part of this week.

We are very glad indeed to state that Rev. W. J. Armstrong has returned from the West where he went some months ago in search for health. He says he feels as well as he ever felt in his life, and we hope his recovery is permanent. Mr. Armstrong has been one of our most useful citizens in the past, and we sincerely hope he may enjoy a future as long and useful among his people even as his past has been.

COAL SUPPLY IS CAUSING CONCERN

STATE BOARD OF CONTROL EMPLOY MEASURES NECESSARY TO OBTAIN FUEL.

SENTENCE COMMUTED TO LIFE

Alleged Murderer of Davis Simpson, Farm Overseer, Is Removed to Wetumpka.

Montgomery.—Provision of an adequate coal supply for Alabama's state institutions during the coming Fall and Winter, is a problem which is causing the state board of control and economy serious concern. C. B. Rogers, chairman of the board, states that the coal supply situation in Alabama is acute, and although he hopes that supply of fuel for all institutions can yet be arranged through ordinary business channels, if this is found to be impossible, then the state may be compelled to take extraordinary measures in order that inmates of the state prisons and other eleemosynary institutions may not suffer when freezing weather arrives. He states he is using every means in his power to assure the delivery as soon as possible of enough coal to supply the anticipated needs of the state through the coming season. The difficulty encountered at the present time in obtaining coal is attributed by Mr. Rogers not solely to transportation facilities or conditions at the mines, but to a combination of both.

The reply of the Russian Soviet government to the British note concerning an armistice with Poland rejects in substance the British peace proposals. The document is a very lengthy one. The Russians decline to come to London for the suggested peace conference; because it is hinted that Great Britain is not impartial. They further object to the admission to the conference of delegates from the Baltic States, because they contend they have already concluded peace with the Baltic States.

In replying to the British government, anent Poland, the Russian government points out that the proposed armistice line is unfair to Poland and that with direct negotiations the Bolsheviki are preparing to grant Poland a much more favorable frontier. The reply refuses flatly to entertain any conditions regarding the forces of General Wrangel and the refugees in south Russia and demands the unconditional surrender of these.

The management of the Mexican railway has appealed to Gen. P. Elias Calles, minister of war, to prevent strikers at Vera Cruz and Mexico City from interfering with the movement of petroleum trains between the two cities and has been advised that the general can not send forces against the strikers.

MUST SIGN OR QUIT EUROPE FOREVER

ALLIED REPLY TO TURKISH OBJECTIONS DELIVERED TO SULTAN'S PEACE DELEGATION.

THE ULTIMATUM DELIVERED

"Time Has Come to Put End, Once and for All, to Empire of Turks Over Other Nations," Says Note.

Versailles.—A threat to drive the Turks from Europe "once and for all" was contained in the allied reply to the Turkish objections to the peace treaty delivered to the Turkish peace delegation here. Such action might follow Turkey's refusal to sign the treaty or her failure to give it effect, the reply states.

The Turks were informed in the reply that they must make known their decision within 10 days. If by July 27, they were told, they had not signified their willingness to sign the peace treaty, "the allied powers will take such action as they may consider necessary."

The allies made some minor modifications in the treaty after the Turks had presented their protests, but it is understood these modifications do not materially affect the original draft.

The allied reply is couched in the bluntest language, and says:

"If the Turkish government refuses to sign the peace treaty, still more if it finds itself unable to re-establish its authority in Anatolia or give effect to the treaty, the allies, in accordance with the terms of the treaty, may be driven to reconsider this arrangement by ejecting the Turks from Europe once and for all.

"The allies are clear that the time has come when it is necessary to put an end once and for all to the empire of Turks over other nations."

The reply says the Turkish government would appear to think its responsibility in war is less than that of its allies and that Turkey therefore is entitled to lenient treatment but the allies cannot accept that plea. The note maintains "Turkey entered the war without a shadow of excuse or provocation," and by closing the straits in the face of the allies "Turkey certainly prolonged the war by not less than two years and caused loss to the allies of thousands of lives and thousands of millions of pounds."

HOT WEATHER
Hits the Stomach Hardest

Chicago, Ill.—Hot weather upsets the strongest stomach and causes serious trouble for the weak ones, so word is now going out to thousands of eatonic users that they should, during this hot weather, be on the safe side and take one eatonic tablet about half an hour before meals, as well as after eating. Do this and keep the excess acids and poisonous gases from forming in stomach and bowels. Eatonic acts quickly; it will help the appetite and take away the hot-weather, feverish, thirsty feeling from mouth and stomach, because it takes up the excess acids, poisons and gases and carries them out of the body and, of course, when the cause of the trouble is removed, there can be no bad feeling. Eatonic is like a bit of candy, and is recommended to all as a safe, sure remedy these hot days for stomach and bodily troubles, caused from overeating and drinking cold things. Adv.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

Jud Tunkins says one beauty about votes for women is that the system brings politics into the home and gives the folks something to talk about besides their relations.

The KITCHEN CABINET

For each soul has one inner room
Where all alone it seeks the grace
To struggle with the sharpest woe,
Its hardest destiny to face;
To lift the duty that it fears,
To love, to trust, through every doom,
And not the nearest, dearest heart
Goes with it to that inner room.

FOODS FOR HOT WEATHER.

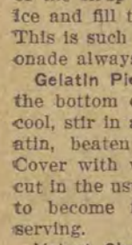
When preparing the breakfast coffee on a hot morning, add enough to make two or three extra cupfuls, which may be served for dinner at night, iced, or for a cool drink at noon. There are so many kinds of cool drinks, from iced tea, coffee and cocoa, to all the fruit juices which one may put up at home, or purchase in the market.

To make iced coffee, take the beverage of the usual strength served when hot, add ice and sugar and cream as desired for each glass.

A chicken sandwich with a dish of head lettuce with a French dressing, or a more elaborate Thousand Isle dressing, makes a meal with a glass of chilled milk or iced tea, which is sufficiently satisfying for the most exacting appetite.

Lemon Sirup.—Grate the rind of one lemon, add the juice of six, with four cupfuls of sugar and two cupfuls of water. Boil all together for ten minutes; cool and put into a bottle in the ice chest. When serving, pour a little of the sirup into a glass, add chipped ice and fill the glass with cold water. This is such an easy way to have lemonade always ready to serve.

Gelatin Pie.—Bake a flaky crust on the bottom of a pie plate and, when cool, stir in a pint of any flavored gelatin, beaten until foamy and thick. Cover with whipped cream and serve cut in the usual way. Let stand on ice to become firm and ice-cold before serving.



Velvet Sherbet.—Take the juice of three lemons, two cupfuls of sugar, a quart of rich milk and the grated rind of one lemon. Stir until the sugar is dissolved, then freeze as usual. This makes a most delicious frozen dish.

Tomato Salad.—Arrange one thick slice of tomato for each cover on heart leafs of lettuce. Over the tomato heap very finely minced celery, cucumber and onion which has been mixed with a French dressing to marinate. Top the salad with a small spoonful of mayonnaise and serve at once.

Labor is man's great function. He is nothing, he can be nothing, he can achieve nothing, he can fulfill nothing, without working.—O. Dewey.

DISHES FOR OCCASIONS.

When making cake for company try the following:

White Cake.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one-half cupful of butter, one cupful of milk, the whites of four eggs, and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder sifted in one-half cupful of flour. Cream the sugar and butter and add one and one-half cupfuls of flour alternately with the milk, beating and mixing until smooth, then add the half cupful of flour sifted with the baking powder. Fold in the stiffly beaten white the last thing. Bake in a loaf.

Pineapple Pie.—Prepare a rich pastry and line a pie plate. Fill with the following: One cupful of shredded pineapple, one tablespoonful of butter, the yolks of two eggs, one cupful of powdered sugar. Beat the sugar and butter to a cream, add the beaten yolks and the pineapple. Cover with a meringue prepared from the whites, or they may be added before baking and the pie served with whipped cream.

Imperial Muffins.—Add one-fourth of a cupful of sugar to one cupful of scalded milk. When lukewarm add one-third of a yeast cake dissolved in one-fourth of a cupful of lukewarm water. Add one-half teaspoonful of salt and one and one-fourth cupfuls of flour. Cover and let rise over night. In the morning fill the buttered muffin rings two-thirds full. Let rise until the rings are full then bake thirty minutes in a hot oven.

Maple Parfait.—Beat four eggs slightly and pour on slowly one cupful of hot maple sirup. Cook until the mixture thickens then remove from the heat at once. Cool and add one pint of cream beaten until stiff. Put in a mold, and pack in ice and salt. Let stand three to four hours.

Mint Sangaree.—Crush three sprays of mint with a lump of sugar. Put into a glass half full of cracked ice. Add four tablespoonfuls of grape juice and fill the glass to the brim with charged water. Shake thoroughly and strain into another glass. Serve garnished with a sprig of mint.

Glad to earn a living—
Glad to be alive!

QUICK SOUPS.

There are many occasions when a quick soup is a great convenience. A stock pot is helpful but not necessary and for a small family not practical. A good soup stock can be made of beef extract and vegetables of which the following is good:

Slice a large onion into a deep granite dish, add a slice of turnip cut fine, a large carrot sliced, three stalks of celery, including the tops, three dozen peppercorns, six cloves, a stick of cinnamon, three bay-leaves, the same of parsley, sage, thyme and summer savory. Fill the pan with cold water, bring to the boiling point and simmer slowly until the vegetables are well cooked—about one and one-half hours. Strain through a coarse muslin and measure the liquor. For each quart add one teaspoonful of beef extract. Dissolve the extract in a little of the soup stock and add to the rest. Boil up once and serve. From this stock aspic jelly may be prepared by using gelatin.

For corn soup add one cupful of cooked corn that has been pressed through a sieve to six cupfuls of the stock.

Carrot soup may be prepared in the same way, using one cupful of minced carrots put through a sieve after cooking. Beans, peas, cabbage, onion or any vegetable may be used in the same proportion.

Split Pea Soup.—Soak one cupful of split peas over night and boil until tender, then drain. Add a sliced carrot, a sliced onion, and half a turnip. Brown the vegetables in a little butter, cover with beef stock, boil up, rub through a sieve and re-heat. A ham bone or a little piece of salt pork may be cooked with the soup.

Peach Soup.—Peel, stone and cut fine a quart of peaches. Break three or four of the stones, pound the kernels fine and add to the peaches, with sugar to taste. Cover with orange juice and one teaspoonful of almond extract; let stand one hour, then put on ice and serve very cold in sherbet cups, with cracked ice.

I tell you the future can hold no terrors
For any sad soul while the stars revolve,
If he will stand firm on the grave of his errors,
And instead of regretting, resolve, resolve.
—E. W. Wilcox.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

Of course there is nothing nicer in a corn dish than corn cooked on the cob and eaten from it with a bit of butter and a dash of salt; but for variety corn may be served in many substantial dishes, furnishing a main dish for the meal.

Squaw Dish. — Sometime when you cannot think of what to eat, cut the corn from half a dozen ears, put into a frying pan two tablespoonfuls of bacon fat and when hot turn in the corn. Stir and cook, adding salt and pepper, adding more bacon fat if needed. Canned corn is very good served in this manner.

Raspberry and Currant Soup.—Bring to the boiling point two cupfuls each of raspberry and currant juice, sweeten to taste, thicken with three teaspoonfuls of arrow root, smoothed in a little cold water. Add one tablespoonful of lemon juice and serve cold.

Any fruit such as cherry, strawberry, pineapple or rhubarb may be prepared for a cooling fruit soup.

Ginger Punch.—Take a half-pound of Canton ginger, chop, add three tablespoonfuls of sirup. Cook together and cool one quart of water and one cupful of sugar 15 minutes with the ginger added; cool, strain, add one-half cupful each of orange juice and lemon juice and one quart of ginger ale. Chill and serve.

Lemon Soup.—Add the juice and grated peel of a lemon to four cupfuls of water. Bring to the boiling point and thicken with three teaspoonfuls of arrow root mixed in a little cold water. Cook until smooth, cool and serve with cracked ice and bits of candied ginger in each glass.

Date Crumbles.—Take two eggs well beaten, one cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one cupful each of chopped dates and walnut meats. Mix all together and spread on two greased pie tins. Bake in a slow oven three-quarters of an hour. Crumble and serve in tall glasses topped with whipped cream, or mix with whipped cream and serve.

ODD WEDDING ARRANGEMENTS.

A young professor of physical culture married a beautiful and athletic pupil of his in the suburbs of Paris. The couple appeared before the mayor in tennis costume, and after the ceremony the wedding party sat down to breakfast on the banks of the Seine. Hardly was the coffee finished than, on a given signal, the whole party retired and reappeared in bathing costume. Later the couple started on a bicycle tour for a honeymoon.

THERMOMETRIC SCALES.

The scale employed by a thermometer is indicated by one of the initial letters, F., C., R., or by the name, Fahrenheit, Centigrade, Reaumur. The degrees of one thermometric scale are readily converted into those of another. Following is their relationship: 180 degrees F. equals 100 degrees C., equals 80 degrees R. Therefore 1 degree F. equals five-ninths of a degree C., equals four-ninths of a degree R.

CALOMEL DYING FAST IN SOUTH

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Is Taking the Place of Dangerous, Sickening Drug.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's Dodson's guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate so let them eat anything afterwards.—Adv.

DO ALL MY HOUSEWORK

Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could hardly stand, says Mrs. Kwarcinski.

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered with displacement and irregularities and I did not know what to do. My mother advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and use the Sanative Wash so I took her advice and used these remedies and cured myself. I feel fine and do all my housework which I could not do before, as I could hardly stand up and I have three healthy children. You can use this letter if you wish, for your remedy is certainly wonderful for sick, run down women."—Mrs. A. KWARCINSKI, 3627 W. Oakdale Ave., Chicago, Ill.

For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been making women strong and well, relieving backache, nervousness, ulceration, and inflammation, weakness, displacements, irregularities and periodic pains. It has also proved invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the Change of Life.

Women who suffer are invited to write for free and helpful advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

FORESHADOWING AUTUMN STYLES

NO ONE turns away from the beautiful and too-brief summer of the North, even to consider its glowing autumn, except from necessity. But those who must think ahead in the matter of the styles, have already given time and attention to frocks for early fall, because they must be ready for the young woman whose school work is resumed in September. They are fore-handed and blaze the trail that mothers from one ocean to the other will follow, in outfitting their daughters who are still in school.

Even when materials have gravitated to something like normal in price, only those of substantial quality and plain texture are chosen for school girls. Reliable fabrics and simple designing are for them. Many schools prescribe a uniform for everyday wear, and this makes easy sailing for those who must outfit the student. But there are other things besides the uniform to consider, among them frocks to be worn on the street and on occasions when the student is not in school.

Two new models that are pretty and practical ought to please their youthful owners, for they are becoming to lithe young figures. Brown is a favorite color and the frock at the left is successfully made in this color of any of the plain wool fabrics that can be depended on for service. It is a one-piece affair having a blouse ornamented with braid in the same color, that has the effect of embroidery. There are flaring sleeves with handsome braiding and a plain skirt set onto the blouse about six inches below the normal waistline. Covered buttons are set on in a loop at each side of the skirt. The plain round neck which youth may venture to wear, is slashed at the front with a tiny vestee inserted made of lace, and there is a heavy silk cord finished with a knot, about the easy waist.

The vogue for accordion plaiting is to hold over into the fall, according to the pretty dress shown at the right. This is also a one-piece model with plaited skirt set onto a plain bodice having a short jacket with long sleeves over it. A very wide girdle, finished with pointed ends falling from short loops, fastens at the left side. The jacket is outlined with two rows of narrow braid in white and the frock, in this instance, dark blue. There is a small sailor collar at the back. These are pretty frocks that will serve without a wrap for fall, and with a warm coat will last out the winter.

Caps for Morning Wear

THE woman who meets the acid test of the breakfast table and the bathing beach and succeeds in looking attractive at these places, is the envied of her sisters. It is no small undertaking, yet there are many who succeed—and there are many who fail in it. Almost everyone can manage the garb for early morning successfully—but the bathing suit is more difficult and takes considerable study. It is of less importance than the dress for the beginning of the day.

Morning dress must be suited to the morning's occupation. In these servantless days most women must engage themselves with the business of getting breakfast ready or helping to get it. It is not the hearty meal our forbears indulged in, for most modern households have learned the wisdom of a light breakfast, but it requires very practical dressing. Besides the one-piece, simple cotton frocks that come from the weekly laundering looking crisp and sprightly, there are popular breakfast sets that include a skirt and a jacket, or blouse, made of the same washable materials. These are the only wear for early morning working hours.

The woman who need not concern herself with housework may indulge in silk breakfast jackets or those of georgette or chiffon. Pretty as they are they are not more pleasing than those crisp cotton frocks worn by her busier sisters.

Whatever the sort of dress, a pretty breakfast cap worn with it is the strongest ally of fair woman at the breakfast table. These little affairs of ribbons and laces and all other gay and frivolous fabrics are made in unending variety so that there is a cap for every face. One has only to experiment to find it, and this experimenting is more worth while than we are likely to imagine.

The breakfast cap is the least expensive of luxuries and the easiest bit of finery to make, as may be gathered by looking at the samples shown in the picture. One of them is made of wide satin ribbon fitted to the head by rows of shirrings. It has two bands of shirred lace across the front bordered with narrow flutings of ribbon and a rosette of this narrow ribbon at each side. A frill of lace all around the cap finishes it. Satin ribbon about two and a half inches wide, and lace cut in triangles form the crown of the other cap. The ribbon is placed in a band extending from back to front and from side to side with the spaces between filled in with lace. Ribbon is shirred in a band about the head, finished with bow and ends at the back.

HARDING'S MASTERPIECE

If there were any doubts lurking in the minds of independent political thinkers, if there were any disgruntlements yet to be found among disappointed partisans of unsuccessful candidates for the presidential nomination, if the slightest trace of factionalism persisted, all doubts, all disgruntlements, all factional feeling vanished with the reading of the truly marvelous exposition of Americanism which breathes in every line of Warren G. Harding's speech accepting the Republican nomination for the Presidency. Henceforth, the struggle to restore constitutional government to our people, to save us from the toils of European and Asiatic intrigue, to deliver the nation from the rule of organized minorities, will be unitedly waged without respite until the forces of one-man government, internationalism, and class-pandering are dissipated and the triumph of the Harding-Coolidge type of nationalism will bring the bitter struggle to a close.

The question which every reader of that splendid document must ask himself is, Am I for party first, or for America first. The speech is a benison to that man who would break away from the bondage instituted by Wilson, and which would be perpetuated by Cox, and who longs for the restoration of those American principles which transcend mere party differences. Nothing which Mr. Cox may say can add to or subtract from the intense patriotism, the breadth of vision exhibited by Mr. Harding. No rhetorical design which that craftsman of fine phrases, Mr. Wilson, may weave upon his typewriter can curb the appeal which Harding's words make to the American heart. After all that has been said and done, the vast majority of us are Americans first. Those staunch disciples of Thomas Jefferson who have hesitatingly followed Woodrow Wilson in his political meanderings of the past few years, and who have recently been assured by Mr. Cox that he is but the shadow of his leader, may find in Harding's nationalism a signal for a parting of the ways; a refusal further to jeopardise American institutions by Wilsonian bell-wethering into a fool's paradise.

Harding's speech gives to the Republicans the assurance that they have done far more than to clinch a party victory by nominating such an exemplar of American thought. It convinces them that they have named the man who will save the nation from embranglement without and disruption within, for there is nothing in Harding's career as a statesman that has ever given the lie to the sentiments he has uttered. As he promises, so will he perform, and the promises to be read in his acceptance speech are the performances which will meet the approval of the people.

In the call of the conscience of America is peace, peace that closes the gaping wound of world war, but it is better to be the free and disinterested agent of international justice and advancing civilizaton, with the covenant of conscience, than to be shackled by a written compact which surrenders our freedom of action and gives to a military alliance the right to proclaim America's duty to the world. "I wish the higher wage to abide," says he, "on the explicit condition—that the wage-earner will give full return for the wage received." He voices his belief in the budget system, more business-like federal departments, in the protective tariff policy—"we will be calling for its saving Americanism again"—for a great merchant marine, our eminence in trade, standards of immigration, unshackling child labor, stamping out lynching, ample and becoming housing, the revision of taxes, and the guarantee to every citizen of his rights of citizenship. Mexico is deserving of help, but she must respect our boundaries and American lives, the laws must be enforced, but they must harmonize with the Constitution.

Breathes there an American with soul so dead who will not subscribe to sentiments like these? Harding's acceptance address is but the prelude to his inaugural address on the 4th of March, next.

"WHAT HE PROMISED I SHALL ENDEAVOR TO GIVE."

(From the Democratic Montgomery Advertiser)

The President has availed himself of his position as a Democrat, twice elected as the candidate of his party, to force the issue of the League of Nations as the paramount question of the campaign. Whether it was or was not wisely done, we cannot tell until the morning after the November election.

We do know now, and we can tell now, that the President's interview with Governor Cox and his announcement that Governor Cox was in "hearty accord" with him and would make his fight for the League of Nations was exactly what the Republican candidate and the Republican party wanted.

The conference held Sunday at the White House between the President, Governor Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt, was called at the initiative of the President. We rather suspect, that the candidates on the Democratic ticket would have preferred not to have held so public a meeting and not to have so materially assisted in the making of the League of Nations the dominant issue of the campaign. We suspect that the great majority of the Democratic leaders who were assembled in San Francisco Convention would have preferred that no such emphasis be put upon the league of nations as an issue, or upon the President as an issue in the campaign. The Democrats had heartily endorsed the President and his Administration, as they had to do and as they should have done. They had, however, been unwilling to accept the plank he sent to the convention on the League of Nations; a committee had to redraft it before the convention which did not want to go as far as the President did, would accept it.

The convention rejected, one by one, all candidates who were before it as distinctly Wilson men. The assembled Democrats, after trimming the League of Nations plank, chose as their nominee the candidate before the convention, who was farthest away from the Wilson administration.

Then when the Democratic campaign is going swimmingly there came to Governor Cox, as the Democratic candidate, an invitation from the White House, an invitation which he could not ignore nor refuse. As the party leader, making the fight for a Democratic victory, he needs the President's support and the active aid of the President's friends. The ticket could not win unless the President and his following supported it loyally and energetically. He might not and probably did not care to have the power of the President and the Administration's policies emphasized at this time as constituting a political issue. But he met the situation boldly, made the trip, held the inevitable conference, and stood fairly forth to say that he and the President were agreed on "the meaning and sufficiency of the Democratic platform, in the face of the threatened bad faith to the world in the name of America." And concluding Governor Cox, loyal Democrat that he is, says, "What he promised, I shall, if elected, endeavor with all of my strength, to give."

But was all this necessary? Nobody but the Republicans have been pleased.

GOOD ENOUGH FOR A REPUBLICAN.

Our good friend, Pate Parrish, of Route 3 came to town Wednesday, and brought the Union-Banner force the finest watermelon we have had this season. "Jeff" said if we had not been Republicans he would have brought us one of his biggest melons. If he should bring us one of his Democratic melons it might be bigger than the one he gave us, but we don't believe it could be any better in the quality.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

It is charged by Democratic journalists and party leaders that the Republican platform adopted at the natoinal convention in Chicago is weak and equivocal. They claim that it cuts and covers; that it says what it doesn't mean—and means what it doesn't say. Is all this true? No! Is any of it true? No! It is a typical Republican platform; therefore it is a truly American platform. The candidate for President and Vice-President are tried-and-true Americans; and they stand with both feet firmly and sturdily planted upon the platform as framed, approved and adopted.

Let's examine a few declarations and provisions of the Republican platform—and see how "equivocal" they are.

"We recognize the justice of collective bargaining as a means of promoting good will, establishing closer and more harmonious relation between employer and employes, and realizing the true end of industrial justice."

Anything "equivocal" about that?

"The strike or the lock-out, as a means of settling industrial disputes, inflicts such loss and suffering on the community as to justify government initiative to reduce its frequency and limit it consequences."

Anything weak or tricky in that?

"We deny the right to strike against the government; but the rights and interests of all government employees must be safeguarded by impartial laws and tribunity."

Anything vacillating about that?

"We condemn the Democratic administration for failure impartially to enforce the anti-profiteering laws enacted by the Republican Congress."

Any dodging of the issue there? A Republican legislative body placed anti-profiteering laws upon our national statute books; but a Democratic executive adminitsration failed to enforce these laws.

"There is urgent need of improvement in our naturalization law. No alien should become a citizen until he has become genuinely American, and tests for determining the alien's fitness for American citizenship should be provided for by law."

Anything evasive about that?

"The equality of all citizens under the law has always been a policy of the Republican party. Without obedience to law and maintenance of order, our American institutions must perish. Our laws must be impartially enforced and speedy justice should be secured."

Anything uncertain in the sound of that?

I might go on—and on—indefinitely.

It is an American platform.

American candidates stand upon it.

Its speaks for equal rights for all and special privileges for none.

It is frank.

It is firm.

But it doesn't suit our friends, the Democrats.

Why?

Because it spells defeat for them.

—Marion (O.) Star.

PITY THE POOR DEMOCRATS

It appears to be the plan of the Democrats to attack the Republicans on what they term the destructive economies of the last Congress. Already seemingly inspired stories have been given out from various Democratic bureaus that their work has been curtailed as a result of the denial by Congress of funds alleged to be necessary for their continuance. It is understood that in the annual reports that will soon begin to appear, many Democratic officials will emphasize their inability to keep their work at the level of efficiency because of the lack of funds.

Republicans refuse to be alarmed at the prospect of attack on the financial record of Congress. They declare that every appropriation bill was framed and passed only after the closest attention to every item with a view to providing sufficient money to support the necessary activities of the Government. Of course Republican retrenchment has meant the discharge of many employees and the cessation of a lot of work that could easily be postponed or omitted altogether. But such curtailment is exactly what Congress aimed to secure, bringing with it a saving to the people of the country of almost a billion and a half dollars for the present fiscal year alone.

THE HAMMER-THROWER

Presented with a gavel made from the handrail of the President's yacht Mayflower, F. D. Roosevelt announces that he "will back the league (of nations) with a hammer." Gosh! JUDGE REYNOLDS NOMINATED FOR U. S. SENATE.

The Republican State Executive Committee, at its meeting in Birmingham on Tuesday, nominated Judge L. H. Reynolds as the Republican candidate for United States Senator from Alabama, in opposition to Oscar W. Underwood, the Democratic nominee.

The honor bestowed upon Judge Reynolds by this nomination is a fitting attest to the record he holds in the ranks of the Republican party leaders in Alabama. All over the state his ability as a leader is thoroughly recognized and appreciated, and his unselfish loyalty to the cause of the Republican party in the state entitles him to the highest honors of his party.

If the people of Alabama will send Judge Reynolds to the United States Senate, they will have a real representative in that body, and not a tool of the big interests to misrepresent them as the mighty Osker has been doing for lo these many years.

MRS. E. H. SMITH DEAD.

Mrs. E. H. Smith of Siluria died suddenly Monday at the home of her son, Albert Smith, in Autauga county. She had gone to the home of her son on a visit, and was apparently in good health up till the time of her death. She attended church on Sunday. The deceased lady was the wife of Mr. E. H. Smith, a Confederate veteran, and they lived at the home of their son in law, Wesley Billingsley, at Siluria.

Mr. Edmund Davis of Mississippi is spending a few days in our county.

You can make this surprising experiment in our store—

The Test of the Two Violins

Violins differ subtly in tone! Test the New Edison Realism by that fact.

We have an "Ave Maria" RE-CREATION played by Albert Spalding with his Guarnerius. This famous violin has a brilliant, singing tone. We have a second "Ave Maria" RE-CREATION played by Carl Flesch with his genuine Stradivarius. This violin has a rich, mellow tone.

Come in and compare these two RE-CREATIONS—tone for tone. If the New Edison makes clear the distinction between the singing Guarnerius and the mellow Stradivarius, you know it has perfect realism for you.

The NEW EDISON
"The Phonograph with a Soul"

Albert Spalding himself recently took part in a test of the New Edison's Realism, at New York City. He played in direct comparison with the RE-CREATION of his performance by the New Edison. Mr. Henry Hadley, one of the jury of the three distinguished musicians who listened from behind a screen, said: "The RE-CREATION matched Mr. Spalding's performance tone for tone."

The New Edison is the only phonograph which has given this conclusive proof of its perfect realism. It has triumphed in 4,000 such comparison-tests.

PRICES! HALT!
Since 1914, the total price-increase in the New Edison has been less than 15%. Mr. Edison has, personally, absorbed more than one half of the increased costs of manufacture. He may not be able to do this much longer. Buy now—if you want today's prices. Our Budget Plan will help you. It distributes the payment over the months to come.

The Clanton Abstract Co.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title which an abstract would set out. Therefore when buying land or in lending money thereon, demand of the seller or borrower that he furnish an Abstract of Title. It is the safe way to transact business. The Clanton Abstract Co. prepares abstracts of land titles carefully, without delay and at reasonable prices.

Seed Selecting

Much Interest is Being Taken in this Important Matter, but there is Still Necessity for More.

Interest of surprising intensity has been shown in the past two years in the use of high grade planting seed for Alabama farms. Farmers are beginning to realize as never before the importance of seed selection and the value of high grade seed for planting. The Alabama Experiment Station and Extension Service have been for several years encouraging and demonstrating the practice of seed selection among farmers, and it has been largely due to this work that farmers have come to know the value of good seed.

A representative of the Alabama Experiment Station for six years has been breeding different varieties of cotton for wilt-resistance, working in co-operation with farmers in different sections of the wilt infected land of Alabama. In this work each breeder is assisted in making selections of individual plants having the desired qualities. Large yield, wilt-resistance earliness and good quality of lint are some of the important qualities in mind when selecting. Each plant is ginned separately and in the spring the seed are planted on rows side by side, one plant to the row on wilt infected land. In the fall individual selections are again made from the plant to row test. The best rows are then picked and ginned separately. The seed from the best rows are planted on increase plots. The seed from the increase plots are used to plant the entire farm. The seed from the entire farm are carefully ginned to prevent mixing and then sold as high grade seed at a reasonable price to farmers who do not care to go to the trouble of breeding cotton for themselves.

Many farmers buy a small quantity of high grade seed from local breeders and plant in a separate patch. They gather the seed from this patch separately and plant their entire crop the following season.

All popular varieties of wilt-resistant cotton are tested in the locality with the breeding plots. The best varieties from these tests are the ones bred and recommended to the farmers of the locality. In a few communities almost all of the farmers grow the same variety of cotton. This plan prevents mixing of the seed at the community gin and renders a uniform product for the market. We hope to induce all communities to grow one variety of cotton. The variety to grow can be determined from the local variety tests.

Work along the same line is being encouraged with corn and peanuts. In order that the market may be supplied with a uniform product, making possible and profitable, cooperative marketing, every community should grow the same variety of corn and peanuts. One or two farmers in each community should carry on the breeding work and sell planting seed to the rest of the farmers.

The Extension Service of the Alabama Experiment Station will assist any farmer who wishes to begin seed selection for himself or his community.

STEM END ROT OF WATER MELONS.

By A. F. Thiel, Associate Plant Pathologist.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Now is the time to attend to your watermelons. The stem-end rot is going to reduce the yield materially unless the necessary precautions are taken. Stem-end rot is a fungus disease, closely related to the fungi which cause a decay of sweet potatoes, a cotton boll-rot, and other plant diseases.

The fungus causing the stem-end rot will not attack a healthy vine. It is advisable, therefore, to protect the vines and melons from other diseases of less importance which nevertheless weaken the plant and make it susceptible to the fungus causing the stem-end rot. By spraying the watermelon field with Bordeaux mixture, such diseases will be controlled.

Bordeaux mixture is made up in the following proportion:

Copper Sulphate ..... 4 pounds
Quick Lime ..... 4 pounds
Water .....50 gallons

In making the spray for immediate use put 4 pounds of copper sulphate into a cloth sack and hang it in a barrel containing 25 gallons of water Being suspended, the copper sulphate will dissolve much more readily than if resting on the bottom of the barrel. Now slake carefully 4 pounds of quick lime, using just enough water to make 25 gallons. Stir it carefully, and then pour together the copper sulphate solution and the milk of lime, so that the streams mix in pouring. A slight excess of lime is desirable, as it prevents any injurious action of the copper salts. This excess will always be present if the lime is of good quality. If there is an excess of copper, foliage injury is likely to result. Therefore, simple tests may be made to determine whether or not the mixture is safe to use. Put a piece of newly filed iron or steel into the mixture for about a minute; if it has a copper coating when it is taken out, there is an excess of copper, and more lime should be added. To determine whether or not there is enough lime in the mixture, pour some of it into a flat dish and blow on it for a few moments. If a film forms on the surface, enough lime is present, if not, more should be added. Bordeaux mixture should be used the same day it is made.

VISITOR FROM KENTUCKY.

Rev. Mr. Duncan of Covington, Ky., an uncle of the late L. J. Duncan of this city, is here this week on a visit to Mrs. L. J. Duncan and family. Mr. Duncan speaks very highly in praise of what he has seen of Clanton and surrounding country. He voices a note of surprise to see corn growing in our fields that is on a fair average with that seen in Kentucky. Our town also comes in for its part of the praise from this visitor, as he is particularly pleased with our magnificent oaks and other shade trees so numerouss along our residence streets. The many friends of the Duncans in Clanton are glad to meet their uncle.

Mrs. Nuna Kicker of Tuscaloosa and Mrs. Laura Peak of Montgomery, visited their brother, James Anderson, at the Soldiers Home Sunday.

Messrs James E. Cobb of Jemison and C. N. Kicker of Birmingham were in Clanton Saturday.

McGill's Autopower Attachment for Ford Cars.

Citizens of Chilton County:—Each and everyone of you that owns a Ford Car needs to see me as quick as possible and let me make you a power plant out of your Ford. It is something you have never seen before. This attachment is fastened on in front of your car and takes the power direct from your crank shaft, therefore you are guaranteed 5 to 12 horsepower from you 22½ H. P. engine.

If anyone who has any kind of belt-driven machinery, such as a wood saw, any kind of feed grinder, thresher, pump, grist mill, corn sheller, or any other form of machinery that you want pulled, I will show you at any time you will call me that my Ford will pull them successfully, and I can make yours do the same thing.

I am also in my Blacksmith shop ready to do any kind of wheel work or horse shoeing. I guarantee to give satisfaction. I am located in front of the county jail. I will say to my patrons that I will be in my shop every day of the week except Tuesday. On Tuesdays I will travel over the county to places out of reach of Clanton. So if you want your Ford Cars to work for you just call me and I will put a set of harness on them and put them to work for you.

Yours for more power,

MONEY TO LOAN

$50,000.00

I have succeeded in arranging with one of the largest Fire Insurance Companies in America, with millions and millions of capital and surplus, for the above amount —and more if needed, to be loaned to farmers of this section, including Jemison, Thorsby, Clanton, Coopers, Verbena and surrounding territory.

The loans will be made in this way: We inspect and estimate your property, including dwelling and contents, barn and contents, smoke house, feed stuff, mules and cattle, and insure you for three fourths value against fire, lightning and wind storms, figuring you up for five years for only four and one-half years premiums, you paying one-fifth cash and the other four-fifths in four annual installments, without interest.

This strictly applies to farmers and good risk. If you will insure your home, we will also carry your tenant houses for you.

If interested, please write, phone or call on me, and I will be glad to consider your application. I also write old line Life Insurance and sell Singer Sewing Machines.

Now listen, people! You do not owe me one cent, neither do you owe my company anything, but you do owe yourself and your wife and children protection against Fires, Lightning, Wind Storms and Death.

The Aim and Value of Boys and Girls Clubs

Boys' and Girls' Club Work is one of the important features of the Agricultural Extension Work conducted by the State Relations Service, United States Department of Agriculture, in co-operation with the State Agricultural Colleges and local agencies for the purpose of improving agricultural conditions and practices throughout the country. These clubs are organized to improve farm and home practices by instructing the boys in correct agricultural methods and the girls in home making; to assist them in demonstrating these methods for the improvement of the farm and home; to aid in the development of co-operation in the family and in the community; to create a more favorable attitude toward the business of farming and home making by encouraging property ownership and the feeling of partnership and to make rural life more attractive by providing organization which tends to diminish isolation and develop leadership.

These objects are in process of attainment. Wherever Club Work has been pushed by our agents, larger yields have been obtained, better pigs have been raised and finer cattle, both dairy and beef, have been grown. The motto of the clubs is "To Make the Best Better." Registered animals are now common where only a few years ago they were unknown, and there is a systematic effort to cull out scrub live stock and poultry. Large yields of crops have been made by club members on lands which were considered worthless, and little girls are vying with the best packers in canning and preserving fruits and vegetables, and are becoming a potent factor in helping to make the farm home more attractive and enjoyable.

The average yield per acre made by club members in the growing of field crops is two to three times as large as the average yields made in the States where the members are located. Many people, seeing a boy or girl here and there engaged in club work, do not realize the value of the products produced by these young folks in the aggregate. In 1918, while under the stress of war and responding to an appeal made to club members in the furrows "over here" to help feed the boys in the trenches "over there," the records in the office show that these young people produced food and feed to the value of more than $20,000,000.

The money value of the products of club members is only a small part of the value of club work. Many boys and girls have had their vision of life enlarged by club membership. Many have taken and are taking college training. The Agricultural Colleges of the country especially, have profited in enrollment from the clubs. Many boys and girls have made their own money to defray their college expenses in club activities. Many after graduation have returned to the farms or have engaged in Extension Work as county agents. Rural life has been greatly enriched in recent years by the trained leadership obtained from agricultural clubs. The results obtained in this work justify many times the expenditures made in securing them, and appeal strongly for a larger development of this very useful work.

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING OF WOOL.

By M. H. Pearson, Marketing Specialist.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

After successful experience in the Co-operative Marketing of various farm products, it was thought wise to undertake the marketing of wool.

The Extension Service began work along this line more than a year ago and held two co-operative wool sales in July and August of 1919. These two sales were considered successful by the wool growers and extension workers, since the growers received from five to eight cents per pound more through these sales than neighboring growers who had sold locally.

A meeting of county agents and specialists was recently held in Mobile for the purpose of making some definite plans for the selling of this year's clip. At this meeting three counties of Southeast Mississippi were represented by the county agent and four counties of Southwest Alabama.

Plans were worked out for pooling wool for sale in the counties represented at this meeting. There will be a circuit of co-operative sales held, the wool will be pooled and sold at auction. The sales will be so arranged that no two will occur on the same date. In planning the dates for sales railroad connections will be figured out so that buyers may make all the sales in the circuit without loss of time.

There will be approximately twenty cars of wool to be sold through this circuit of sales and since the wool market is very low this year

Goodyear Tires in the 30x3-, 30x3½- and 31x4-inch sizes are manufactured with characteristic Goodyear care to build high relative value into every carcass and tread.

Last year more cars taking these sizes, were factory-equipped with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

In order to make these tires widely available to users of such cars, we are operating the world's largest tire factory devoted to these sizes.

If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell or other car requiring one of these sizes, go now to the nearest Goodyear Service Station Dealer for Goodyear Tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

30 x 3½ Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread $23.50

30 x 3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost no more than the price you are asked to pay for tubes of less merit—why risk costly casings when such sure protection is available? 30 x 3½ size is waterproof bag $4.50

SOCIETY AND PERSONALS

MRS. R. E. LUCKIE, Editor.

WILL HAVE TACKY PARTY.

The Senior Class of the Jemison Baptist Sunday School will give a tacky party at the Jemison School Building on Saturday night, July the 31st, at 8:00 o'clock. Admission will be 15 cents for those who are dressed tacky and 25 cents for those who do not dress tacky. The proceeds will be for the church piano. Everyone is cordially invited to come and bring someone with you. We are sure you will enjoy yourselves for we have planned something that will entertain you royally.

EMBROIDERY CLUB.

The Embroidery Club met on last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. D. Woods. After the business meeting the ladies enjoyed a pleasant afternoon sewing. Delicious ice and salad course was served to those present as follows: Mrs. A. Johnson, Mrs. E. Plier, Mrs. Elmore, Mrs. Martin Nix, Mrs. Wyatt, Mrs. Nabors, Mrs. G. Broadhead, Mrs. Roy from Montgomery, Mrs. E. Hart, Miss Mamie Woods, and Mrs. T. D. Woods. The Club will meet next Thursday with Mrs. Grady Broadhead.

Mrs. Carrie Mullins and Miss Maud Mullins are visiting Mrs. J. M. Shepard in Birmngham this week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Polk and children motored to Columbiana Saturday.

CHICKEN BARBECUE.

An excellent chicken barbecue was given by Mrs. Hugh Jones last Thursday evening complimentary to her sister, Mrs. Roy, of Montgomery. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Watts Moore, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Collier, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Macey Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Renfro Mullins, Mr. and Mrs. T.C. McSwain, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Mrs. Roberts of Mobile, and Mrs. Roy of Montgomery.

TACKY PARTY ENJOYED.

Invitations were received by about twenty of the younger set during the past week to a tacky party given by Miss Lola Sanford at her home on Wednesday night.

After several games were played the guests were judged to find that Miss Sally Parrish and Mr. Jack Hays were the winners of the prizes. Late in the afternoon a lovely ice course was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Sophia Mullins. This merry party was composed of Misses Sophia Mullins, Gladys Kemp, Anice Kemp, Eudora White, Maud Wagner, Jewel Armstrong, Estelle Littlejohn, Elizabeth Duncan, and Sally Parrish. The gentlemen present were Jack Hays, Leonard Parrish, Arthur Littlejohn, Hoyt Reynolds, Norman Roberts, Ferman Gore, Howard Vinson, and L. C. Henley.

WEDNESDAY BRIDGE CLUB.

A bridge party given Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Luckie proved to be a most enjoyable occasion. The home was prettily decorated with cut flowers. Interesting games of bridge were played. The club prize a dainty handkerchief, was won by Mrs. T. C. McSwain, and the guest prize, a cut glass vase, was cut for and fell to Mrs. John Newell. Tempting refreshments were served after the game. Besides the club members present, the following were guests: Mrs. Clark Harper, Mrs. Bun Roberts, Mrs. John Newell, Mrs. Clyde Jones, Mrs. P. D. Wilson, and Mrs. John D. Armstrong.

E. C. MAYE CLASS MEETS.

Mrs. Herbert Nabors proved a most charming hostess on Friday evening when she entertained the E. C. Maye S. S. Class. Her home was made bright by attractive vases of spring flowers. An interesting program was enjoyed. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Roberts, President. A scripture reading by Miss Mabel Thomas. Prayer. Solo by Miss Willie B. Sartor. Reading, The Detached Life, by Mrs. Eric Hart. Reading, Does God Mean What He Says? by Mrs. Collier. Reading, The Power of Prayer by Mrs. Nix, Reading Pray All Ye One for Another, Mrs. Maye. Solo, Sweet Hour of Prayer, by Mrs. Armstrong. At the conclusion of the program a lovely salad course was served those in attendance.

MRS. HUGH JONES HOSTESS

Mrs. Hugh Jones entertained Tuesday evening at one of the loveliest of the week's social functions, at a swimming party, as a special courtesy to her sister, Mrs. Victor Roy, who is her house guest. The party motored to Mims' pond, and after a refreshing plunge a picnic luncheon was served, followed by the cutting of ice cold watermelons. Those enjoying this unusual affair were Mr. and Mrs. Macy Jones, Mrs. Watts Moore, Mrs. V. L. Roy, Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Mrs. T. C. McSwain, Mrs. Ervin Luckie, Mrs. W. M. Wyatt, Mrs. F. B. Collier, Mrs. Hugh Simpson, and Misses Kathleen Mullins and Roberta Curry.

Mrs. Hugh Jones delightfully entertained for Mrs. Victor Roy Monday morning at a bridge party. The tables were placed on the veranda, and roses and cornicopias filled with bright flowers made effective decorations. The score prize, a pair of silk hose, was won by Mrs. Eric Hart, and a similar gift was presented to the guest of honor. At the conclusion of the game a salad course was served. Those present were Mesdames Victor Roy, Watts Moore, Hugh Simpson, Harvey Chandler, R. E. Luckie, Macy Jones, Thad McSwain, Eric Hart, and Grady Broadhead.

Miss Leona Pipes has returned to her home after a pleasant visit of two weeks in Montevallo.

REFUGE.

Health of this community is not so very good.

We have our new church almost completed now.

Our Sunday school is moving on nicely. Our preaching days are the Fourth Sundays and Saturday before. Rev. M. J. Parrish is our pastor. We are expecting to have a few days of protracted meeting in August.

Mrs. Lila Connel has returned to her home from the South Highland Infirmary in Birmingham, where she underwent an operation. She is getalong fine since her return.

Prof. Johnson has returned from a weeks visit to his home in Coosa.

FOR TWENTY YEARS HE SUFFERED RHEUMATISM

HAS SPENT $500 SEEKING FOR A RELIEF AND NOW DECLARES DRECO HAS DONE MORE GOOD THAN ANYTHING.

"I have suffered for twenty years from rheumatism of the joints, and no one who has not had this dreaded disease can realize the tortures I've gone through. I have spent five hundred dollars on medicines seeking for relief. I have taken everything recommended to me as being good for my trouble, but all have failed.

"I saw the new medicine—Dreco—advertised, so I gave it a trial, and it has done me more good than all of the other medicines I have taken put together.

"I most earnestly recommend Dreco to those who have rheumatism, and urge them to get at once and get a bottle and begin the treatment. Don't hesitate but take my word for it. Dreco certainly has proved its merit in my case."

These are the words of the Rev. J. J. Snow, a well respected colored minister, who resides on his farm just outside of Montgomery, Ala.

All druggists now sell Dreco, and it is being especially introduced in Clanton by the Upchurch Drug Co.

The House of Whispers

By WILLIAM JOHNSTON

Copyright by Little, Brown & Co.

"YOU HEARD WHISPERS?"

Synopsis.—Circumstances having prevented Spalding Nelson, clerk, from joining the American forces going to France, he is in a despondent mood when he receives an invitation to dinner from his great-uncle, Rufus Gaston. On the way to the house he meets, under peculiar circumstances, a young girl, apparently in trouble, to whom he has an opportunity to be of slight service. She lives in the same apartment building as Rufus Gaston, and he accompanies her to the house. Gaston and his wife are going to Maine for a trip and want to leave Nelson in charge of the apartment. He accepts. Gaston and his wife tell their great-nephew of mysterious noises—"whispers"—which they have heard in the house. On his way to the Gaston apartment the next Sunday Nelson again meets his accidental acquaintance of a few days before, Barbara Bradford. She urges him not to allow the fact of their being acquainted to be known. At the apartment Nelson meets the superintendent, Wick, and instinctively dislikes him. In a wall safe he finds a necklace of magnificent pearls, worth a small fortune. Next day Nelson finds the pearls have disappeared from the wall safe. His first idea of informing the police is not acted upon because of peculiar circumstances. He has been discharged from his position without adequate explanation or reason, and feels himself involved in something of a mystery. He decides to conduct an investigation himself. That night Barbara signals from the window of her apartment, which is opposite his, and they arrange a meeting for next day. In the morning he finds a note in his room, asking him why he had not informed the police of the loss of the jewels. Barbara tells Nelson her sister Claire had some years before made a runaway marriage with an adventurer, from whom she was soon parted, and the marriage had been annulled. Claire is engaged to be married and someone knowing of her escapade has stolen documents concerning the affair from the Bradford apartment.

"Oh, no, she must never know. Dad did not want her ever told anything about it. We talked it over, Claire and I, and decided to put a personal advertisement in the papers. It simply said, 'Liberal reward and no questions asked for return of important papers.'"

"Were there any answers?"

"Yes and no. One morning there was a second note."

"Delivered like the first?"

"Yes, I found it, too, on the floor of my bedroom. Here it is."

More amazed and perplexed than ever by the growing ramification of the plots of the thieves that seemed to involve us both, I took the paper and read:

"Ten thousand is our price for the papers. Pay it or you'll never marry Thayer."

"Did you go then to meet the man in the park?"

"Not until after I got a third note, more threatening than the first and second. Claire and I talked it over and over, trying to think who could have taken the papers. We only keep two servants now, Sarah and Mary, and they both have been with us since we were children. It could not have been either of them. They think as much of us as our own mother does."

"Do you suppose the man that she married may have learned of your father's death and have returned from France to try to blackmail her?"

"We thought of that. The notes did not come from him. They do not read as if a Frenchman wrote them."

"Who could it be?" I said more to myself than to her.

"Then there was another note," she went on. "It demanded that Claire wear a red carnation and meet the writer in the park and bring ten thousand dollars. That was the time I first met you. Your presence must have frightened them off, for we had no more demands until night before last."

"Did you have ten thousand with you that night I first met you?"

She shook her head.

"We haven't ten thousand dollars in the world. Outside of our furniture and our jewels and our motor, we have very little. If all the bills we owe were paid, we'd have almost nothing at all."

"What did you propose doing when you met the man—or men?"

"I didn't know. I was going to try to plead with them to give me the papers. I would have promised anything to have gotten them back."

"But the man—the men—might have harmed you."

She smiled incredulously.

"Hardly. There was little danger of their attacking me there in the park so near the avenue, with people constantly passing, and besides, I carried this."

She reached again into the pocket of her habit and brought forth a vicious-looking automatic.

"It was Dad's," she said. "He taught me to shoot with it, though I don't think either of us thought then there would come a time when I might need it."

"What did the last note say?"

"Here it is."

This was written and folded as the others had been, on the most ordinary kind of writing paper. It read:

"Unless we get the money Wednesday, Thayer gets the papers Thursday. No wedding then for yours. Same bench at six-thirty."

"What can I do about it?"

"I'll go in your place," I suggested.

"Oh, no, I couldn't permit that."

"Let me explain," I hastened to say. "I'm in this mystery as deep as you are. Only last night I discovered that all the Gaston jewels which had been left in my custody are gone."

"Not stolen!" she cried. "The Gaston pearls!"

"Yes," I replied, "the pearls, too."

"Why, they are worth two hundred thousand dollars, at least. What have you done about it? Have you notified the police?"

"No, as yet I have told no one of the robbery but yourself."

"Why not? You must notify the police at once."

I hesitated. It was hard to explain my actions without telling her the whole miserable story, without admitting to this girl on whom I was most eager to make the best of impressions that I was a young man out of a position, discharged in disgrace. Yet she had given me her confidence. It was only fair to her and to myself that there should be no secrets between us. I began at the beginning. I told her of my coming to New York and how I had seen my great-uncle Rufus only once or twice. I related the departure of Roller and Birge for the war front and told her how eager I had been to go with them. I even went into detail as to the reason I had not gone with them, my debt to the mother.

She did not seem greatly interested in the first part of my narrative but when I began telling of the proposition the Gastons had made to me and of the mysterious warnings each of them had separately given me, I could see her interest kindling.

"There is something wrong in that apartment house," she explained. "We have had nothing but trouble ever since we lived there. I wonder if there is anything in the theory that evil deeds make bad karma, which spreads its effects all about. I know I feel there is a sinister atmosphere about the whole place."

"I'm beginning to feel it, too," I said bitterly.

I told her then of my unexpected and unwarranted discharge without explanation the day before.

"How do you account for it?" she asked perplexedly.

"You must have some enemy, some malicious person, who has spread some terrible tale about you."

"I haven't any enemy in the world," I replied, yet even as I spoke there flashed across my mind the malevolent glance the scar-faced man had given me in the restaurant a few evenings before.

"I wonder," said Miss Bradford thoughtfully, "if the same people who are trying to blackmail us are not trying to involve you with us in some way?"

"Why should they?"

"They may have been watching and have seen you enter the house with

"But the Man—the Men—Might Have Harmed You."

me twice. They may think that you and I are friends and that you were there in the park purposely that first time."

"Even so," I replied, "that doesn't explain this."

I pulled from my pocket the note I had found on the floor of my bedroom and showed it to her.

"Where did you get that?" she gasped in astonishment.

"Last night I heard footsteps and whispers. I thought at the time I was dreaming. This morning I found this note on the floor."

"You heard whispers," she cried excitedly, "whispers that seemed to come from up near the ceiling?"

"I thought I heard them. I wasn't sure."

"I know, she said, shuddering. 'I've heard them—twice.'"

We looked at each other despairingly. We both of us realized that we must be surrounded with some potent evil forces working to accomplish our ruin. The motive in the anonymous letters that Miss Bradford had been receiving had plainly been blackmail. But what was the motive in my own case? Why had someone stolen the Gaston pearls and then in an anonymous letter to me spoken of the theft? I wondered, too, if the successful attempt to discredit me at my place of business had not originated from the same mysterious source.

Was my great-uncle Rufus to blame?

The suspicion of him rose in my mind and would not be downed. I recalled the unusual pretext on which he had sent for me after having paid no attention to my existence for nearly a year. I recalled his curious warning and that of his aged wife. I remembered that they had insisted on leaving the jewels behind against my urgings, and that they had been insistent on my having the combination of the safe. Could it be possible that they also had some grudge against the Bradfords, their neighbors, and in some way had got hold of Claire Bradford's secret?

"I think you said," I asked Miss Bradford, "that your family and the Gastons were not acquainted in any way."

"No," she replied, "we don't know them at all. Why do you ask that?"

"I was wondering if it could be possible that my great-uncle Rufus could have had any hand in all this. He's a queer, secretive old chap."

"It's probable that he and my father might have known each other. Both were in business here in the city for many years. I never remember, though, of hearing Dad speak of him—wait, yes, I did once."

"When was that?"

"It must have been six or eight years ago. There was something in the papers about Mr. Gaston retiring from business."

"What was it he said?" I asked eagerly, wondering if some old feud between the two men might not give us a clue to unravel the web of mystery.

"As nearly as I can recall his words were, 'I see that old pirate Gaston has retired with his ill-gotten gains.'"

"To whom was he talking?"

"I don't remember that, probably some man who was visiting at the house. Dad always used to have a lot of men about."

"Did he say anything else?"

"That's all I remember, but I don't think the Gastons could have anything to do with it. This threatening my sister is more the sort of thing a discharged servant would do."

"Yes," I admitted, "but find the discharged servant. Yours have been with you for years."

"Oh, what are we going to do?" she cried in desperation. "If I don't get those papers back, we'll all be ruined. They'll give them to my sister's fiance. Her engagement will be broken. My mother will die of disgrace and shame."

"Don't be discouraged," I cried, trying to inspire in her a confidence I was far from feeling myself. "This is only Sunday. We have until Wednesday evening. I'll find some way of trapping those rascals and making them surrender those papers. Leave it to me."

In spite of my reassuring words, distress was still written on her countenance. As I debated how best to comfort her, she glanced at her wrist watch and exclaimed:

"I must be going. They'll be alarmed about me if I stay longer."

"When am I to see you again?"

"I don't know. That's hard to arrange. My sister and I are so much together."

"Can't I telephone you?"

"No, that wouldn't do at all. Mother and Claire would both want to know all about it and besides—".

"Besides what?"

"I don't trust that girl at the switchboard. I think she listens to everything that is said."

"They are a prying lot," I admitted, "including Mr. Wick, the superintendent."

"I don't like him a bit."

"Nor I, but we must communicate with each other somehow. If you find out anything more you must let me know at once. If I learn anything, I'll let you know, and I'm going to discover a lot."

"There's always our windows," she suggested, "they are close together. I can signal you when I'm alone, and we can talk."

"I'll be there in my room every evening from ten o'clock on," I said, "waiting to hear from you. I'll put a handkerchief on the sill when I'm there."

"And I'll do the same."

Having reached this understanding, I walked with her to the park entrance within sight of the house. All the way we had been talking over the puzzling circumstances of the anonymous notes and of the strange way in which they had been found on the floor. Miss Bradford had spoken again of the whispers she had heard.

"The voices were vague—just like a ghost's might be," she said.

"Yes," I admitted, "that's what they sounded like. But there aren't any ghosts. If those whispers were real, some human being was making them. I'm going to find out who it was, and when we've learned that, we'll have learned a lot about—"

I hesitated.

"About whom?" she questioned.

"I don't know yet," I answered.

I was wondering about my great-uncle Rufus.

CHAPTER V.

I was determined to let the disappearance of the jewels alone until I had found some way of getting the Bradfords out of their troubles. The key to the mystery surely lay in the notes that had been found on the floor in both apartments. If I could discover how the notes had been put there and who put them there, I would be on the trail of the miscreants.

The placing of the notes indicated the necessity of a confederate in the apartment house. Could it be that one of the employees was in league with the plotters? Was one of the Bradford servants betraying them?

Under Ordinary Circumstances I Would Have Hesitated to Examine Them, but Now I Felt No Scruples.

Was my aged great-uncle in hiding somewhere, playing malevolent pranks on us? How had that note gotten into my own apartment? Nobody had access to the place but myself—yes, and Mrs. Burke, my great-aunt's trusted old laundress. I determined to return to the apartment and lie in wait for her until she came in to do up my room. In the week that I had lived there I had not even laid eyes on her, although each evening when I came in I found my bed neatly made.

While I awaited her arrival I busied myself with studying anew the different rooms in the apartment, hoping ever to find some new clue to the methods by which the anonymous notes had been delivered. I went to the back of the house and looked out of the rear windows. An ornamental ledge of stone, perhaps eighteen inches wide ran along apparently on the level of the flooring. Any agile person might easily have crept along it if they dared risk falling six stories to the ground, but there was no means of access to it save from either my bedroom or the sitting room or from the corresponding rooms in the Bradford apartment. Certainly no one from my apartment had been flipping mysterious notes into the other apartment. Could the converse be true? Was there some unbalanced person in the Bradford family who was doing it? Could it be one of the servants, or possibly Claire Bradford? She always had been flighty, according to her sister's description. Had her troubles unbalanced her to such an extent that she was playing mysterious hysterical pranks on all of us?

I sat down at my uncle's desk. The pigeonholes crammed full of papers caught my eye. Under ordinary circumstances I would have hesitated to examine them, but now I felt no scruples. Old Rufus had warned me that there was some mystery about the place. The pearls had strangely disappeared. I faced the accusation of having stolen them. Surely I was entitled to examine anything and everything in my efforts at solving the mystery.

Pigeonhole after pigeonhole I examined without result until at last I came to a little leather-covered diary. I read it with interest, noting that it was for the present year and that the last entry had been made only the day before he had departed for Maine. About six weeks previous to the present date I found this amazing entry:

"Heard whispers last night."

A week later there was another entry, "Whispers again." There could be no question as to what he meant. The ghostly noises that had been heard by both Miss Bradford and myself had been heard by him, too. No wonder the old man had been so terrified. Other entries in the book recorded hearing the whispers at intervals of about one week.

Nelson and Barbara agree to meet frequently.

HARDING AT HOME, COX WILL TRAVEL

CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDENT PLAN TO CONDUCT UNLIKE CAMPAIGNS.

LACK OF COAL CARS LOOMS

Transportation Shows Slight Improvement, But Conditions Are Far From Normal—How to Keep Women on Farm Subject of Federal Inquiry.

By JAMES HORNADAY.

Washington.—Unlike campaigns will be conducted this year by the rival candidates for president of the two big political parties. Senator Harding, the Republican nominee, will stay at home in Marion, Ohio, while Governor Cox, the Democratic candidate, will take to the stump.

These announced programs make of interest the experiences of the rivals in the past, and yet a comparison does not prove the efficacy of either. What has been victorious for one, may have meant defeat for the other.

When Washington was first elected president in 1788, the campaign, such as it was, was confined to a strip of country 200 miles wide, from Massachusetts to Georgia. Then, the population was four million, and now the country, ten times as great in area, is more than twenty-five times as large in population. But this difference in territory and population is more than offset by improved transportation, and the accessibility of the people through the daily press.

Twice Washington was elected unanimously. When he left office, the political parties had lined up, but it was for Andrew Jackson, the fighting Democrat, to be the first candidate for president to change the method of campaigning, which before his time was conducted with considerable decorum.

John Adams and Thomas Jefferson did not try the stump, because, we are told, neither was an orator. Henry Clay, however, was a great speaker, but was silent while a candidate. Jackson and Harrison toured their own states, but did not attempt long tours. Cass, Scott, Fillmore and Buchanan made a number of speeches, but in 1856 Fremont kept still and let his friends do the campaigning.

Too Much Speaking.

On a number of occasions too much speaking has embarrassed candidates—sometimes the candidates did the talking themselves and sometimes their friends, the most conspicuous case probably being in the Blaine campaign of 1884. Then, it was the remark of a friend that proved unfortunate for Mr. Blaine.

In 1880, Stephen A. Douglas, candidate of the more conservative Democrats in the northwest against Breckinridge, the choice of the slave states, undertook a whirlwind campaign throughout the country against Lincoln, the Republican nominee. Douglas toured every state, except a few in the South, his trip being the most sensational stumping tour ever staged up to that time. He was on the road for two months, sometimes speaking as often as twenty times a day.

Lincoln remained at home in Illinois, made no important speeches and wrote no letters on political topics that found their way into the public prints. Senator Seward of New York, however, took the stump for the Republicans and toured most of the country. For Breckinridge, a tour was made of the country by William Yancey. President Buchanan, Democratic incumbent, made one speech from the White House, and it was widely published.

With the passing of time, the candidates have more and more come to take charge of the campaigns themselves. The personal element has entered into the campaign more and more, and the parties in a measure have been shoved into the background. Bryan, Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson, have been great travelers. In 1896, Bryan stumped the country, but McKinley, his opponent, remained at home.

Steps for Coal Supply.

Although the temperature is sufficiently high in the national capital during the summer months to put out of mind the wintry blasts of January, government officials are having it impressed upon them daily that great suffering will ensue this winter unless steps are taken which will assure the northeast, the middlewest and the northwest an adequate coal supply. Not a day has passed in recent weeks but that representatives of the various sections of the country have not pressed their case before the bar of the Interstate Commerce commission and other governmental agencies.

The car shortage looms large in the coal situation. It may be said that as the result of action taken by the Interstate Commerce commission some improvement has been observed in the movement of cars used for the transportation of coal, but conditions are far from normal. Without a supply of cars the coal mine is helpless; coal being transferred directly from the mine to the waiting car. When there is no supply of cars, the mine shuts down.

Members of the Interstate Commerce commission believe that one solution of the coal supply problem which confronts the country annually to a more or less serious degree lies in the establishment of seasonal freight rates on coal—a lower rate in the summer months to induce movement of that commodity and a higher rate in the winter months.

Seasonal Coal Rates.

On the recommendation of Chairman Edgar E. Clark of the commission and the other members also, a subcommittee of the senate committee on interstate and foreign commerce, the chairman of which is Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, reported favorably a bill establishing seasonal coal rates. This bill and the report of the committee are now before the whole committee and will be brought up for consideration when congress reconvenes.

Widespread opposition developed to the proposed legislation among coal operators, coal dealers and commercial organizations. The opposing interests cannot see that the proposed legislation would accomplish the desired result—that of inducing the movement and storage of coal in the summer months so that a minimum of coal would have to be transported in the winter months.

In the opinion of George Otis Smith, director of the United States Geological Survey, to allow present conditions in the coal industry to continue will be to invite industrial paralysis.

"The seasonal fluctuation in coal output comes from a seasonal fluctuation in demand," he says. "The consumer must be hitched on to the problem of giving the mines more orders for the spring and early months and of relieving both mines and railroads of their extra heavy burden in the fall and winter months. In a normal year the country over this seasonal inequality of demand calls for 35 per cent to 60 per cent more coal being mined in November, the peak load month, than in April, the usual month of greatest slump in mine operation. Uneven demand thus requires more mines and more miners, both working a 75 per cent year, and conditions of unequal seasonal demand are also bad for the railroad, especially when combined with crop movements and winter interference with traffic."

Figures compiled by the Geological Survey disclose that the entire world is suffering from reduced production of coal and that the production of 1919 dropped back to the level of 1910. The total output of coal of all kinds in 1919, preliminary estimates show, was 1,200,000,000 net tons.

Menace to Rural Life.

How to keep the women down on the farm is the subject of special inquiry that is being made by the department of agriculture.

Already the survey of the farm home has been made in 33 states in the North and West, and the deduction made from it by department specialists is that waste of woman power is one of the greatest menaces to the rural life of the nation.

Records covering more than 10,000 farm homes, averaged by taking typical communities of the county in which the survey was made, have already been tabulated by the department. Much of the information was gathered personally by home demonstration agents.

Admittedly, the survey thus far shows only the dark side of the farm life of a woman. It does not consider the many compensations that come with the woman's daily round of work for the comfort of the family, and anyone who has experienced the satisfaction of living in the open country knows that the average farm woman is more fortunately placed than her average city sister, the department says.

But what is to be done?

Miss Florence E. Ward, in charge of the extension work of the department of agriculture under whose direction the survey was made, answers the question.

Benefits From Conveniences.

"The interest of the department of agriculture in the returns from these studies as to labor, working equipment and compensation of the farm woman," says Miss Ward, "are as practical as its interest in farm studies regarding labor, machinery and crop returns for the same general reasons.

"The farm woman's working hours might be shortened, if the principles of modern business were applied to the farm home. Running water in the home for the 52 out of every 100 that must carry it into the house would lighten the woman's labor and add to her comfort. Labor could be lessened if the farm house were as well equipped as the up-to-date barn, which the farmer looks upon as so much currency with which to buy efficiency.

"The installation of modern lighting systems would release some of the women in 79 per cent of the homes where kerosene lamps are still used, and the installation of heating systems would release some of the time of the 54 per cent who care for coal or wood stoves.

"Forty-eight per cent of the farms are showed by the survey to have power for operating farm machinery, but only 22 per cent have this advantage for the home. That is a singular fact when we consider that frequently it is a simple matter to connect the engine used in the barn with household equipment.

"The washing machine is another labor saver, and selling cream, instead of churning it at home is another. In short, the same sort of intelligence and a fraction of the money applied to making field and barn work convenient would, if applied to the home, save untold drudgery to the women of the farms and would add both to the profit and comfort of the home."

HOW TO PREVENT BEES SWARMING

Advice and Suggestions on Subject Given by Professor Conradi of Clemson.

BROOD CHAMBER TOO SMALL

Emigration of Honey Gatherers Can Be Greatly Reduced by Proper Management—How Swarm May Be Hived to Best Advantage.

One of the problems of the beekeeper, says Prof. A. F. Conradi, entomologist, is how to prevent bees from swarming. The following questions and answers taken from information card No. 9, published recently by the extension service of Clemson college, give in brief form expert advice and suggestions on this subject:

1. Why do bees swarm?

The bee colony is divided into workers, drones (or male bees), and a queen. Normally the queen alone lays eggs, and to perpetuate their race new colonies are necessary. This is their natural way of increase.

2. What are conditions that induce swarming?

(a) The brood chamber may be too small, allowing too little egg-laying space. (b) There may be too little storage space. (c) There may be lack of ventilation. (d) There may be too many drones.

3. At what season is swarming most frequent?

Mostly in early spring, but it may occur at any time during honey flow if conditions named in No. 2 are not corrected.

4. Can swarming be entirely prevented?

No; but it can be greatly reduced by proper management.

5. Why should swarming be prevented as far as possible?

To keep the working force together. One hive full of bees is worth more than any number of weak colonies.

6. Are there two queens in the hive at swarming time?

Generally not. The young queen has not yet come out of the queen cell. The old queen leaves with the first swarm.

7. How may swarming be reduced or possibly prevented?

(a) If the brood chamber becomes crowded, add another brood chamber. (b) If bees cluster out, it may be due to a crowded condition, or lack of ventilation. Ventilate the hive and add supers when necessary. If possible remove drone comb and also queen cells.

8. How may a swarm be hived to best advantage?

(a) When the swarm has settled, shake or brush it into the new hive.

Swarming Bees.

(b) Remove the old hive from which the swarm came and place it where you want it to remain in the future. (c) Place the hive containing the new swarm on the old stand. The first bees returning home will enter the new hive on the old stand; by night the majority of bees are again in the new hive on the old stand, making a strong colony.

POISONING GOPHERS IS EASY

Put Strychnine Sulphate on Pieces of Vegetable of Some Kind and Shove in Hole.

The easiest way to poison gophers is to put pieces of strychnine sulphate, about the size of half a wheat grain, on pieces of potato, carrots or turnips. Then take a sharp stick and push it down into the soft earth around the mound. Put the pieces of poisoned material down into these places and the gophers will get it. This way also keeps stock and children from picking it up. It has been proven to be very efficient in ridding the field.

RICH SOIL FOR LATE GARDEN

To Withstand Summer Heat and Drought Plants Must Have Well-Prepared Seed Bed.

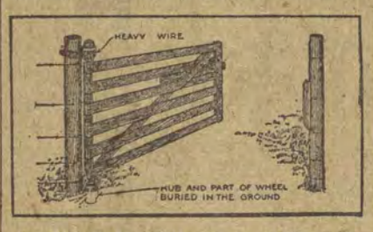
Late garden seeds should be planted in very rich and well-prepared soil. To stand summer heat and endure severe drought the plants must have rich, mellow soil, and it must be kept in that condition, if possible.

USE AX IF DISEASE DEVELOPS IN FLOCK

Chicks Will Not Grow Properly if Not Healthy.

Far Better Plan to Prevent Ailments Than to Attempt to Cure an Ailing Fowl—Give Good Attention to Their Houses.

Disease is one of the handicaps to successful poultry keeping and should be guarded against at all times. Unless kept in a healthy condition, chicks will not grow properly and mature fowls will lose their vigor and vitality and become unproductive and unprofitable.



It is far better to prevent disease by proper care and attention than to attempt to cure a bird after it is sick. Therefore it is important to watch the flock closely at all times for any signs of disease, so in case an outbreak occurs it may be checked at once. Prevention is always better than cure, and all those who wish to succeed with poultry should give their birds such good care and keep their houses so well cleaned and disinfected that both fowls and chicks will keep hardy and vigorous.

Some diseases may be treated successfully, while others of a more serious nature usually prove fatal. If only one or two birds of a flock become sick it is usually advisable to kill them immediately (unless they are choice specimens) and burn or bury the carcasses, say poultry specialists in the United States department of agriculture. If the birds are kept and an attempt is made to doctor or cure them the disease may prove contagious and spread throughout the entire flock.

AXLE USEFUL AS GATE HINGE

Illustration Shows How Discarded Part of Wagon or Other Implement May Be Utilized.

On almost every farm can be found an old wagon or implement wheel with its axle. The illustration shows how it can be made to form one side and a very effective hinge for the farm gate.

An Old Axle, With Parts of the Two Wheels Remaining Upon It Forms an Essential Part of This Easy-Working Farm Gate.

The axle is set upright with the slats of the gate bolted to it. The lower end of the axle should be fitted with an old hub to serve as a bearing. The hub on the upper end should have at least one spoke remaining in it, so that the latter can be thrust through a hole bored in the gate post. Some stout wire, or iron strips, will be necessary to hold the hub up against the post.

PRODUCE BEST CAULIFLOWER

Tie Leaves Over Head to Protect It From Sun or Weather—Three Cuttings of Crop.

When the cauliflower head is about the size of a dollar, the leaves should be tied or twisted over the head to protect it from sun and weather. This method should produce a perfectly white product. The leaves should be so tied that snow or rain that enters may find a ready exit at the bottom, as an accumulation of moisture on the head or curd will cause dark spots and eventually ruin the product. There are usually three cuttings of the crop. If the earliest heads are tied with string, the second with raffia and the last have the leaves broken over, the grower will be aided at cutting time and will not have to examine all the plants.

HIRE LABOR ON HOUR BASIS

Specialist Says Farmers Will Find Employing Hands on That Plan Advantageous.

Experience the last several seasons, says W. L. Cavert, farm management specialist of the Minnesota College of Agriculture, indicates that farmers will find it advantageous to employ harvest and threshing labor on the hour basis instead of the day basis. "The hour plan," says Mr. Cavert, "is absolutely fair to both farmer and laborer and has the advantage that the help is not likely to object when it seems necessary to put in long hours."

FEW WEEDS ARE DESIRABLE

Detailed Purity Test Will Enable Farmer to Decide Whether He Wants Weeds or Not.

Not all weeds are equally undesirable in fields, hence a detailed purity test showing the various weeds in a sample will enable the farmer to decide whether he is willing to plant the weed seeds his sample contains or whether he will look farther for pure seed. Clean seed is always obtainable, usually at a somewhat higher price. The decision must be made on an accurate and detailed test of the seed under consideration.

Speedy Relief From Habitual Constipation

The liver is the largest and most important organ in the body, and when the liver refuses to act, it causes constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, gas, sour stomach, bad breath, dysentery, diarrhoea, pains in back and under shoulder blades and under ribs on right side. These symptoms lead to colds, influenza or other serious troubles unless corrected immediately.

An inactive liver places an extra burden on the kidneys, which overtaxes them and causes the blood to absorb and carry into the system the impurities that the liver and kidneys have failed to eliminate.

When you treat the liver alone, you treat only a third of your trouble, and that is why you have to take purgatives every few nights. Calomel or other ordinary laxatives do not go far enough. If you would treat your kidneys and blood while treating the liver, you would put your entire system in order and frequent purgatives would then be unnecessary.

Dr. W. L. Hitchcock many years ago recognized these important facts, and after much study and research, compounded what is now known as Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney and Blood Powders, three medicines combined in one. This was the Doctor's favorite prescription for many years, being used by his patients with marked success. It is a harmless vegetable remedy that will not make you sick, and you may eat anything you like while taking it.

ROAD BUILDING

PACIFIC COAST GOOD ROADS

Interest Centers Particularly in Highway Extending From California to Washington.

(By HERBERT NUNN, State Highway Engineer of Oregon.)

The Pacific coast is particularly interested in our national highway; that is the Pacific coast highway extending from California to Oregon and Washington. This when completed will have approximate length of some 1,400 miles, and the large part of it is now completed or nearing completion.

Mr. Fletcher of California stated to me that his state had completed 525 miles, extending from Los Angeles north to Sacramento, and we are now under contract to complete the road. Oregon now has under contract on this road some 400 miles of construction, all of which will be completed by the middle of next year, 200 miles of which will be paved and the rest macadam or gravel. Washington has completed this road to Seattle, and next year its entire length will be complete.

I am unable to say at this time just how much money was expended during the year 1919 in the three states, but in Oregon approximately $7,000,000 was expended. The three states, however, are pretty well fixed financially.

California has a new bond issue for $40,000,000 and previously has expended some $33,000,000. Oregon has some $32,000,000 available and roads to cost $19,000,000 to $20,000,000 under construction. Washington has less money. They failed to carry the bond issue there this year, but have between $8,000,000 and $9,000,000 available for next year.

The eastern connections with the Pacific highway are the Santa Fe trail, the Lincoln highway, and the Midland road. I think the Santa Fe is pretty well cared for. It connects with southern California. In Oregon we are connecting with the southern highway and with the Columbia river highway.

Labor conditions on the Pacific coast are about the same as in the East.

Improved Road in Oregon.

The pay is about $4.50 with $7.50 for teams. We don't expect better labor conditions next year. Material conditions are better. In Oregon we have sufficient local material and don't require much rail transportation. Washington is fixed similarly. So is northern California. Southern California is in worse condition as to transportation.

MOTORTRUCK IS INSISTENT

War Brought It Into Prominence as Commercially Practical Form of Transportation.

The value of the motortruck as an the war, sprang into prominence as a commercially practical form of transportation and while the fighting has ceased, the need for the motortruck remains with us, more insistent than ever before. Within certain limitations the freight car of the highway is more efficient than the rail carrier, and, because it is, it may be taken as a permanent form of transportation and one destined to have a large influence on the movements of trade in the future.

PUSH GOOD ROADS BUILDING

Construction Work Retarded by War Should Now Be Resumed to Facilitate Transportation.

Good roads construction retarded by the war should now be pushed vigorously and nothing should be permitted to interfere with the expansion and development of these important arteries of transportation and trade which can serve to materially reduce high living costs by facilitating the movement of foodstuffs from the farm to the table.

Significant Auto Fact.

Observers are said to regard it as significant that the states which will spend most freely for better highways and which manufacturers depend upon to buy the most motortrucks in 1920 are states in which farming is the predominant occupation.

Value of Motortruck.

The value of the motortruck as an aid in marketing farm products is now well established. In bringing this about improved roads have been an essential factor.

"MY WIFE and I, after a hard spring on the farm, were tired and run-down," says Mr. E. B. Mulkey, of Route 1, Acworth, Ga. "We neither felt well. I knew my blood was bad, as I had little boils on the back of my neck.

"We felt we needed a builder. We had heard of Ziron and thought it must be what we needed. It certainly was. We took it faithfully, and after a week or such matter we began to feel better. My wife felt like cooking, and I sure felt like eating.

"Ziron sure did us good. It made us both feel stronger and better for the fall work, which everyone knows is 'some work' on a farm. My boils began to dry up, though just at first they seemed worse.

"We are much better and can highly recommend Ziron, and gladly do so for it sure did us good."

Cold Water Has Odd Use.

For years steam has been used for thawing the frozen soil of mining claims in Alaska, in spite of difficulties. Now it has been discovered that cold surface water, which of course is warmer than the ground, is a much better thawing medium than either steam or hot water, states Popular Mechanics Magazine. This seeming paradox is explained by the fact that the superabundant heat units of steam rise rapidly around the pipe, and are wasted, while the few heat units carried by the cold water remain in the ground and do their work slowly but thoroughly. In one test in the Nome district, a 2-inch pipe was inserted in a 6-inch drilled hole, and fed with 20 gallons of water a minute at a temperature of 52 degrees F., the ground being at 28 degrees. In 36 hours an 8-foot cylindrical thaw had been made.

THE CHILTON COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION

The Chilton County Singing Convention met at the Co. High School building Saturday, July 17th. Called to order at 3:00 o'clock p.m. with song by James Franklin, prayer by S. M. Yates. Motion carried that we elect officers for ensuing year, which resulted as follows: President, Jas. Franklin; Vice-President, S. M. Yates; Secretary, J. M. Smith; Chaplin, A. H. Glasscock; Executive Committee, F. I. Popwell, Mrs. L. O. Vickers and W. M. Boswell. Motion adopted that we suspend publication of minutes for coming year.

Resolution attached herewith was adopted and ordered published.

The Resolution.

Whereas, there has arisen among some of the people of our County an idea that all music leaders who are not members of a church should be denied the privilege of directing sacred music in our singings; and

Whereas, we believe that such an idea or practice will prove detrimental to the advancement of the cause of music, therefore, be it

Resolved, that it is the sense of the Chilton County Singing Convention that all men and women of recognized moral and upright character in our county, who are interested in the advancement of the cause of sacred music, be fully privileged and invited to take part in our singings throughout the county, as directors, or otherwise, as they may see fit or be called upon, without regard as to whether they are members of a church or not. Be it further

Resolved, that this Convention would suggest that the Committee for arranging musical programs at any time or place in our county, use every effort to distribute as widely and effectually as possible, the names of those who may be selected as leaders, in order that the greatest diffusion of ideas and interest may be affected looking to the broadening of the sphere of musical progress, and not be limited or biased toward any person or leader because he or she may not be a member of the church.

This Convention further appeals in this regard, for the most hearty and cordial support for the cause of music in our county, from all leaders and lovers of music, both inside and outside of the church. We believe that music is one of the greatest moral refining agencies in our land, and we hope that no one may be denied the privilege of executing his or her talents in this respect.

Resolved, further that these resolutions be printed in the Union-Banner.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Another step forward in the progress of the new building enterprise has been accomplished. The plans and specifications of the architect have been received and adopted by the building committee. The plan of the church adopted will give to the city of Clanton a modern up-to-date three-story building, with all the departments for a fully graded Sunday School, also kitchen equipment, furnace for heating purpose, dining room for social occasions, gymnasium for the young people, with a splendid auditorium including baptistry, robing rooms, and pastor's study. A place will also be provided for the pipe organ.

The committee is now writing the bids for the erection of the building and work will be commenced just as soon as the successful contractors can get the material on the ground. This will be a valuable asset to the citizens of Clanton as well as to the Baptist denomination. We want this to be the people's church of the community and solicit your interest and co-operation.

P. G. CARTER, Pastor.

REYNOLDS WILL SPEAK AT ANNISTON

Judge L. H. Reynolds has accepted an invitation to speak at Anniston on August 12, the ocacsion being the annual meeting of the State Farmers Union. We do not suppose that this will be a political speech, but Judge Reynolds will be able to give the farmers at that meeting some food for thought, and we expect that if they are observant enough they can find some politics between the lines of what he says.

CAMPAIGN FOR AMERICANISM

An active campaign with Americanism as its keynote, as opposed to internationalism, is being waged by the Republican Senatorial campaign committee, according to Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington, the chairman of the committee. Senator Poindexter said that the states in which the campaign is centering include Idaho, Utah, Oregon, California, Arizona, Colorado, Nevada, Maryland, and Kentucky. "The great issue in Senatorial campaign especially is the issue of Americanism," Senator Poindexter stated. "The maintenance of complete American sovereignty, the withdrawal of our military forces from Europe, the co-operation of the nation for the preservation of the peace of the world and the re-establishment of peace and commercial relations with Germany without compromising American independence are all peculiarly involved in the Senatorial campaign."

MR. DAVID VINES

No, he is not dead,—he is not even sick. But we simply want to let everybody know what has become of him. Several people have been asking where he has gone to; so we are going to tell you about him.

Most everybody in the county are acquainted with David, and his friends are no less numerous than his acquaintances. He is an admirable young fellow, and no one can know him without liking him.

You will remember Mr. Vines as the veteran rural carrier on Route No. 5 from Clanton before the war. During the war he served in the United States Navy. Since being discharged from the service two years ago he has been at work for the Alabama Power Company at Lock 12.

But the first of this month he landed safely back in Clanton, and is now permanently located with the Chilton Hardware Company in the capacity of salesman. He invites his many friends to call on him there and let him sell them something that is hard to wear.

Mr. Willie Logan of Ensley spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Logan.

Mrs. J. M. Popwell and children spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. J. A. Mims.

Misses Leara Johnson, Bertha and Nettie Dennis, visited Miss Elner Holley and sisters Sunday.

Mr. James Johnson of Chambers county has been visiting his brother, W. T. Johnson south of Clanton.

Mr. Thomas Bosworth of Thorsby was a visitor to The Union-Banner office on Wednesday. Mr. Bosworth is on old-time Republican from Indiana, and has been living at Thorsby for about twenty years. He follows politics with a close interest, and expresses great hopes that the Republican ticket will be a success in this country next November.

MONEY TO LOAN

$50,000.00

I have succeeded in arranging with one of the largest Fire Insurance Companies in America, with millions and millions of capital and surplus, for the above amount —and more if needed, to be loaned to farmers of this section, including Jemison, Thorsby, Clanton, Coopers, Verbena and surrounding territory.

The loans will be made in this way: We inspect and estimate your property, including dwelling and contents, barn and contents, smoke house, feed stuff, mules and cattle, and insure you for three fourths value against fire, lightning and wind storms, figuring you up for five years for only four and one-half years premiums, you paying one-fifth cash and the other four-fifths in four annual installments, without interest.

This strictly applies to farmers and good risk. If you will insure your home, we will also carry your tenant houses for you.

If interested, please write, phone or call on me, and I will be glad to consider your application. I also write old line Life Insurance and sell Singer Sewing Machines.

Now listen, people! You do not owe me one cent, neither do you owe my company anything, but you do owe yourself and your wife and children protection against Fires, Lightning, Wind Storms and Death.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The revival services of the church are now in progress, and large congregations are gathering each day at the court house to listen to the wonderful sermons being delivered by Dr. W. F. Frazier and to the fine singing of Mr. James W. Jelks.

A splendid chorus choir of adult people, and a fine Sunshine Choir of children are some of the attractions of the meeting.

Some have already been received into the membership of the church, and a very fine spirit is manifested which promises one of the greatest revival meetings the church has ever experienced. Dr. W. F. Frazier is one of the experienced workers of the Baptist Home Board of Evangelism. He is a thoughtful, earnest, eloquent preacher with a good deal of humor and some pathos. He is logical in his conclusions and direct and forceful in his appeal. He makes a specialty of working with the men, being a great lover of men. Dr. Frazier and Mr. Jelks make a good team for evangelistic work .

Singer and Director.

In an interesting editorial The Birmingham News has the following to say about "Sunshine Jelks": Sunshine Jelks is a wonder when it comes to children. At 7 o'clock every night his Sunshine Choir meets him for a story hour. The choir is divided into two parts—the Mocking Birds and the Nightingales, and these two sides are working to win the contest which closes Friday night. Mr. Jelks says that he organized his first children choir after his graduation from the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, but at first he did not like children. After his own baby won her way into his own heart however, he began to really love them and his orginal way in handling them has gained for him remarkable success.

"You can't fool a child," smiled the sunshine singer. "You have simply got to enter into the spirit of their play with them and let them know that you really love them to win their confidence."

Mr. Jelks has organized sunshine choruses from Panama to the Canadian Border in about 150 of the leading cities and towns. Sometimes he has 500 in a choir and he says he has been back to a city years after organizing them to find that they are still alive and the children always rememberng him.

Mr. Jelks' popularity does not stop with the kiddies. The grown-ups like him equally as well, and it is almost an impossibility to sit in church he he is leading the singing and not sing. His motto with the cheildren is "Its sunshiny weather when we are together."

Many of the leading pastors and evangelists of the country speak equally well of him.

The services of this week will be as follows:

Preaching services at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. each day.

Street service on Saturday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. led by evangelists.

Sunday afternoon a great mass meeting for men and boys only in the court house at 3:00 p.m.

The women of the church are holding daily prayer meetings in their various circle gatherings and are being assisted by Miss Ida Belle Ray, who is a very capable volunteer worker, a splendid scholar, teacher and speaker.

We cordially invite the public to these services and urge the Baptist people of the community who are living in the city to put their membership into the church, and thus help to make their influence felt in the communty in which they live.

The meetings will continue every day this week and probably through the next closing on Sunday, August 15th. P. G. CARTER, Pastor.

CHILTON COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

With an earnest appeal to every Sunday School worker of every denomination to be present, the Chilton County Sunday School Association announces an annual county convention to be held at Clanton, Ala., on August 23rd, 1920.

A program, replete with interesting and instructive details has been prepared by expert workers, who have included every phase of modern Sunday school work for consideration at the convention. "The Sunday School of Today," an address by one of the state association workers, will introduce an open forum discussion.

The convention will open in the morning at 9:30 o'clock and will continue through an afternoon session, adjourning at 4 p.m. Dinner will be served in the open. Two of the field secretaries of the Alabama Sunday School Association will appear on the convention program.

This convention is of vital interest to every Sunday school worker and devotee in the county and is expected to be largely attended.

Pate Parrish brought us one of his Democratic watermelons Monday, and the only supremacy it held over the Republican brand was that it was bigger. We invited a friend of ours (and also a friend of "Jeff") who is a Democrat, to help us eat the melon, and when we told him it was one of Pate's Democratic melons, he said he did not believe it was a Blackmon Democrat. We don't now why he said that, but we will ask Pate and see if he knows.

Mrs. J. W. Kicker and grand-daughter, Lillian Dennis, are spending this week with relatives in Montgomery.

A MANDATORY LAW

Because of the Secretary of Labor in making futile the arrests of anarchistic and revolutionary aliens for deportation, the Republican Congress during the recent session so amended the deportation law as to leave no doubt as to its intent. "These aliens are here only because of our good grace and the courtesy of the United States," says Representative Albert Johnson ,chairman of the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization. "Some government officials think our present laws do not reach these aliens. This bill will reach them. They are welcome here no longer. Not only is the bill necessary because many of these alien reds are now in the United States but because many thousands are at the ports of the world seeking passage to the United States to do propaganda work for world revolution."

WHAT CITIZENSHIP IMPLIES

Washington, Aug. 3.—(Special correspondence)—Speaking as a member of the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization in the House of Representatives, Representative Isaac Siegel, of New York, says that the United States typifies love of country. "Citizenship implies desire and will and obligation to give all you possess in behalf of the country in which you live. As far as the Immigration Committee is concerned, it is determined upon one thing—that in the United States there is not going to be room for a living creature, no matter how small he can be, if he is not willing to stand by America 24 hours a day. It is only in the last two years that the immigration law really provides for illiteracy test and examination both physically and mentally. It gave the government all the power it could ask for to effect the deportation of undesirables. The astonishing feature of our investigation has been that we find that the man cannot read English or any language in fact, is the very man who is willing to listen to people who have no love for America."

CONDENSED CLASSICS

THE AWAKENING OF HELENA RICHIE

By MRS. MARGARET DELAND

Condensation by Miss Sara Ware Bassett

Margaretta Wade Campbell was born at Allegheny, Pennsylvania, Feb. 23, 1857. When only 16 she went to New York to study drawing and design and later taught them. In 1880 she married Lorin Deland, famous as sometime football strategist against the enemies of Harvard.

In 1886 appeared "The Old Garden," a collection of verse. It is a characteristic title; for many years Mrs. Deland has each winter grown in her own house in Boston great numbers of Dutch bulbs, which she sells at an annual function to her friends and the public, for the benefit of her favorite charities. As she does all the labor herself, it is a singularly personal form of good works.

Only two years later came "John Ward, Preacher," a book which won the author wide recognition. There have been many others between that and "The Awakening of Helena Richie" in 1906, including "Old Chester Tales" in 1898, in which she made famous her childhood home. "The Iron Woman" appeared in 1911.

IN 1906 Margaret Deland, after having written several other books, gave to the public the fruit of her maturer skill in "The Awakening of Helena Richie."

The story is simple.

Stripped of the charm of its setting, and the subtle delicacy of its treatment, we have a tale presenting few characters, and with no very extended scope for action.

The scene of the novel is the same small Pennsylvania town in which Mrs. Deland has placed two previous books: "Old Chester Tales" and "Doctor Lavendar,"

At the opening of the story Mrs. Richie has come to Old Chester and taken up residence in the "Stuffed Animal House," so called because its former owner was a taxidermist. She is little known to the villagers, living an isolated existence, and shunning any intimacy with the townsfolk; nevertheless she is universally respected. There is, to be sure, an atmosphere of mystery enshrouding this beautiful stranger who is possessed of a culture and poise that place her a stratum above the simply bred inhabitants of the sleepy little settlement, but since she goes to church, is quiet and decorous, and gives herself no airs, she furnishes no cause for criticism.

Her only visitor is Mr. Lloyd Prior, known to Old Chester as her brother.

As the story proceeds, however, we are made aware that Prior is not her brother, but is a Philadelphia widower with one daughter whom he idolizes; and that he and Mrs. Richie have for thirteen years been living together awaiting the death of Frederic, Helena's husband, whose demise will leave them free to marry. Frederic has been a dissipated man who, when not himself, has been responsible for the death of the Richie baby; and he is now living a dissolute life in Paris. The tragedy of the baby's death has been the culminating factor in turning his wife's hatred and contempt for him into revulsion, and determining her to desert him and go to Prior. To her lover she gives all the affection which the loss of her child and the destruction of her hopes have turned back into her nature.

Prior, on the other hand, has loved her in the past, but now, after thirteen years of deferred happiness, his passion is burned out. He is tired of her. Alice, his daughter, is growing up, and he realizes the indiscretion of the entanglement; furthermore his business demands his time; it is less and less convenient to come to Old Chester; and he is no longer young. He is a selfish, sensual being, with the typical masculine distaste for everything that renders him uncomfortable either in mind or body. While he is willing, in an indolent sort of way, to continue his relation with Mrs. Richie; is even honorable enough to marry her if he must, it is obvious that he would gladly be rid of the whole affair.

But to Helena Richie this incident is not an "affair." It is her life. She loves Prior with a devotion engendered by her lonely, heart-starved existence, and she looks forward to the moment when Frederic's death shall release her from her present precarious position, and allow her to confront the world with a clear name. That an ultimate marriage between them will wipe out the blot on their past she does not question. In the meantime she can only possess her soul of patience, and make the best of her enforced seclusion. No one knows her secret. No one can know it. Therefore she feels quite secure—that is, as secure as is possible in the face of the ever-present danger of exposure.

Into this fevered life of hers three important characters project themselves: Doctor Lavendar, the minister of Old Chester; Dr. William King, the village physician; and David, an orphan child whom the rector has befriended, and for whom he is desirous of finding a home. Of all Mrs. Deland's creations none, perhaps, is more beloved than is Doctor Lavendar. Wise, benign, humorous; yet just at all times—a man who is never to be turned aside from a principle by idle sentimentality. Doctor King is not unlike him in this unflinching fealty to duty and to honor.

These two persons put their heads together to decide that since Mrs. Richie leads such a solitary life and is abundantly able, she is the one to take the homeless David. The conspirators proceed with extreme caution. The child is brought to Doctor Lavendar's house, and Mrs. Richie is given the opportunity to see him.

He is a quaint, winsome, appealing little fellow—a decided personality, and one of the most delightful and consistent child portraits in modern fiction. His greatest attraction lies in the fact that one can never be sure what he will say next. Once, when Doctor Lavendar is telling him a story he keeps his eyes fixed so intently on the man's face that the old gentleman is much flattered.

"Well, well, you are a great boy for stories, aren't you?" remarks the delighted minister.

"You've talked seven minutes," said David thoughtfully, "and you haven't moved your upper jaw once."

As can be imagined the child makes instant conquest of Mrs. Richie, who insists on fitting him out with tiny garments, and brings him in triumph to the "Stuffed Animal House."

Day by day the tie that binds her to David strengthens until we see this affection the dominant motif of her life. It even overshadows her love for Prior, although it is some time before she is conscious that it does so.

In the meanwhile, quite by chance, the security of her miniature world is shaken to its foundations. There lives in Old Chester a youth much Mrs. Richie's junior, Sam Wright, who has drifted into the habit of calling on her, and who falls in love with her. It is the blind worship of one who has never known passion, and in an attempt to break up the boy's infatuation his doting grandfather comes to Mrs. Richie, and half in irritation accuses her of not being a good woman. The shot is a random one, but the instant the charge is made the speaker realizes he has hit upon the truth Helena's anger at his gibes and sarcasm is like the whirlwind.

But the Lord was not in the wind.

It is Sam Wright's suicide that first brings home to her the gravity of defying social responsibility. What she has hitherto regarded as a scorn for convention she now sees to be a crime against humanity. All her being is rocked with self-reproach.

But the Lord was not in the earthquake.

It is not until Doctor King forces her to confess her guilt, and tells her she must give up David, that we reach the climax of the drama. Then all the wild mother instinct of the woman leaps into being. She is a lioness fighting for her young. She will give up Prior; in fact she does give him up. But she will not part with David. She begs, bribes, prays; but Willy King's conscience will not permit him to listen to her entreaties. She must send the child back to Doctor Lavendar, or he must acquaint the good minister with the entire story.

In an effort to forestall this action Mrs. Richie herself goes to the rectory and before she leaves it she looks into the face of her own soul and pronounces her doom.

"The whirlwind of anger had died out; the shock of responsibility had subsided; the hiss of those flames of shame had ceased. She was in the centre of all the tumults, where lies the quiet mind of God."

When Dr. Lavendar asks her if she thinks herself worthy to keep the child she humbly whispers: "No."

And after the fire, the still Small Voice.

At last the woman's conscience is aroused, her repentance is sincere, and we have the true "Awakening of Helena Richie."

How wisely Dr. Lavendar meets this crisis in the shattered life, allowing her to taste to the full the dregs of remorse and suffering; and yet how mercifully and gently he leads her upward toward hope and a desire for restitution constitute the remainder of the story.

The kind old man suggests that she make her future home in a distant city where her past will not follow her and where she may start anew, and he asks that on the morning of her departure she come to him for a package which he wishes her to take with her on her journey. The reader shares her shock of joyous surprise when David emerges from the corner of the stage-coach crying:

"I'm the package!"

"Dr. Lavendar took both her hands. . . . 'Helena,' he said, 'your Master came into the world as a little child. Receive him in your heart by faith, with thanksgiving.'"

So ends the novel.

To tear the skeleton of the plot from its exquisite setting is almost a sacrilege. It is like dragging the perfume from a flower. One must read the book to gain a true sense of its exceptional beauty and fineness.

It has been successfully dramatized and the title role ably and artistically portrayed by Margaret Anglin; there is also an "Anglin Edition" of the story attractively illustrated by pictures taken from the play.

Workers Meet at Auburn.

Auburn.—Many prominent people attended the annual conference of Alabama extension workers, which met at Auburn Aug. 2-7, inclusive. The meeting was in the nature of a round table conference. Representatives from the Washington office and others were introduced to the conference from time to time. Reduction in the high cost of living was the central theme of the meeting.

$18,000 Income Refund.

Montgomery.—Warrants for the refund of income taxes paid the state prior to the decision of the Alabama supreme court declared the income tax law unconstitutional, are being prepared in the state auditor's office. It is esttimated that the amount to be refunded will be close to $18,000, although it is impossible to arrive at exact figures in this connection at the present time owing to the fact that all applications for refunds are not yet in. Attention is again called to the provision that those wishing a refund must make application to the state tax commission, which passes upon all such reimbursements before the auditor is authorized to issue warrants for them.

Montgomery.—Alabama coal mining has caught its stride again, and output is equal to the heaviest of any period of the year. The production during the week ending July 24 was 327,989 tons compared with 283,000 in the week ending July 17 and 242,000 in the week ending July 10. Last week's production was an increase of 34,000 tons over the preceding week and an increase of 75,000 tons over the next preceding week. The production in the week ending January 31 was 320,000 tons and that of the week ending February 14 was 320,000 tons. That of the week ending March 6 was 308,000 tons. It appears that the production has gotten back to the maximum of output that preceded the domestic mine strikes. They began early in May. The increase in output is credited to three causes: (1) More cars at the mines; (2) Diminution of the strike owing to the reopening of domestic mines where there were, or are, strikes, and their increasing production; (3) Longer hours put in by the miners at large mines, where there are, and have been, no strikes. The mine situation is altogether better than it has been in several weeks and the trend appears to be upward.

Col. Esteban Cantu, governor of Lower California, Mexico, is reported to be in open rebellion, following reports that troops are being sent to Ensenada on the west coast and to an unnamed point on the gulf coast. The governor says he will use every resource at his command to repel the invaders if they come without authority from Provisional President de la Huerta.

The German reichstag by an overwhelming vote approved the agreement recently made by the government at Spa with the representatives of the entente.

Francisco Vila has telegraphed to President de la Huerta offering to surrender unconditionally. The government reply instructed him to place himself at the disposition of Gen. Eugenio Martinez, chief of operations, and to repair the railway line. Villa replied that he had repaired the railway line and signed himself "Affectionately Francisco Villa."

The allies' demands upon Holland to guard the former German emperor closely have made it impossible for William to mingle with the Dutch country gentry who have estates about Doorn and the house where he is said to expect to spend his remaining days is just like "a little bit of Germany."

The suggestion that Germany has been tempted to join forces with Soviet Russia in order to escape her obligation is repudiated by Dr. Walter Simons, foreign secretary, in a recent speech to the reichstag. He reasserted Germany's neutrality in the Russo-Polish situation.

The former German emperor, William, while professing a desire to lead at Doorn, Holland, the quiet life of a country gentleman, has nevertheless created a little court around him—somewhat larger than he had at Amerongen, and Dutch newspapers have already begun calling Doorn "The Little Potsdam."

Washington—

The American government is understood to be giving close attention to Japanese relations and Japan's general policy in the far east because of the effect on the questions involved of the recent withdrawal of the American troops from Siberia the signing of the consortium relative to Chinese financial aid, the assumption of control of the Chinese eastern railroad by the Japanese and the Japanese occupation of northern Saghalien and the greater portion of the maritime province of Siberia.

As indicating that the United States has maintained a neutral attitude between Poland and Soviet Russia since the opening of the hostilities between those countries, Secretary Baker has made public the record of the sales by the war department to Poland with the explanation that nothing had been sold since the hostilities began.

Prior to the war between Poland and Russia, the wart department disposed of approximately $72,000,000 worth of materials to the Polish republic. Her total obligations to this government amount to at least one hundred million dollars.

A statement of railway earnings and expenses for the month of April, compiled by the interstate commerce commission, shows that the government lost because of railroad operation for service and not for profit for that month aproximately one hundred million dollars. Only the South showed an operations credit.

The league of nations will continue to be the principal campaign issue as far as President Wilson is concerned, no matter what course is pursued by Governor Cox. Whatever utterances the president makes will be based on the league of nations idea.

"THE LITTLE PEOPLE."

Synopsis.—Spalding Nelson receives an invitation to dinner from his great-uncle, Rufus Gaston. On the way he meets Barbara Bradford and renders her a service. She lives in the same apartment building as the Gastons. They go there together. Gaston and his wife are going to Maine for a trip and ask Nelson to live in their apartments. He accepts. The Gastons tell him of mysterious noises about the apartment—"whispers" and noises that have scared them. Going to the apartment a few days later Nelson again meets Barbara, his accidental acquaintance. Nelson meets the building superintendent, Wick, and instinctively dislikes him. In a wall safe he finds a necklace of magnificent pearls. Next day Nelson finds the pearls have disappeared from the wall safe. His first idea of informing the police is not acted upon because of peculiar circumstances. He has been discharged from his position without adequate explanation or reason, and feels himself involved in something of a mystery. He decides to conduct an investigation himself. That night Barbara signals from the window of her apartment, which is opposite his, and they arrange a meeting for next day. In the morning he finds a note in his room, asking him why he had not informed the police of the loss of the jewels. Barbara tells Nelson her sister Claire had some years before made a run-away marriage with an adventurer, from whom she was soon parted, and the marriage had been annulled. Claire is engaged to be married and someone knowing of her escapade has stolen documents concerning the affair from the Bradford apartment and is attempting to blackmail the Bradfords. Nelson and Barbara exchange confidences about the "whispers," mysterious notes and other queer doings, which are much alike in both apartments.

I wondered which had been his bedroom. It was hardly likely that he had occupied the room in which I slept. As I debated the matter I heard someone moving about my room and went to investigate. It was Mrs. Burke, making up my bed. She would know which room my great-uncle had been accustomed to occupy.

As I entered the bedroom for the purpose of cross-questioning her, my first impression—and philosopers tell us that the first is most likely to be the correct one—was of a simple-minded, kindly old Irish woman of the utmost honesty. I was certain just by looking at her that there wasn't a crooked hair in her head, even if she had had the intelligence necessary for crimes beyond the ordinary.

"It's Mr. Nelson I'm seeing at last," she exclaimed with satisfaction. "I was wondering when I would be laying eyes on ye."

"Yes," said I," "I am Mr. Nelson, Mr. Gaston's great-nephew."

"Sure and I'd have knowed ye anywhere. It's as like ye are as two peas, barring the old gentleman's white hairs."

Her statement rather startled me, for while I never had regarded myself as an Adonis, on the other hand I never had supposed I looked anything like old Rufus.

"Was this my great-uncle's bedroom when he was here?" I asked, trying to make my inquiry seem casual.

"It was and it wasn't," Mrs. Burke replied. "He gets queer notions, the ould gentleman does. In the last few weeks he's slept in every room in the house."

"What made him do that?"

"It's not for me to be saying." Devoutly she crossed herself. "Sometimes I do be thinking the house is haunted. The old man was all the time mumbling about—"

She hesitated and looked furtively about.

"About whispers," I suggested. Instead of replying to my question she shot another one at me.

"And have ye been hearing them, too?"

I laughed, trying to put a note of merriment into my tones.

"I don't believe in things like that."

The old woman nodded her head sagely.

"It ain't believing in them things that makes you hear them. Either you hear them or you don't. The old man heard them."

"How do you know?"

"Didn't I hear him asking meself about it? He heard them, many times."

"How about the others—the servants—did they hear them, too?"

"They may have that. Niggers is always hearing things anyhow. It's what the white folk hear that counts."

"How about the other apartments in the house? Do the people in them hear whispers?"

"Never that I've heard tell of, but how should I know? This is the only place in the house that I work."

"Did Mrs. Gaston ever speak to you about it?"

"She did and she did not. She never in so many words asked me if I heard them. All she says to me was, 'Nora, if ever you see or hear anything strange or unusual here, you're to let me know at once.' And I says, 'Yis, Mrs. Gaston, I will.'"

"And have you ever seen or heard anything?"

The old woman busied herself with making up the bed for a moment before she answered me.

"I'm not saying I've seen anything," she began, "but there's thiugs I could be telling if I was minded to open my lips."

"If you know anything," I said, "you must tell me. Mr. Gaston put me here to find out what was wrong."

"There's no doubt there's wrong here."

"What makes you say that? What have you seen? What do you know?"

"It's neither what I've seen nor what I know." She nodded mysteriously. "It's what I've been hearing myself."

"For heaven's sake, woman," I cried, losing patience, "what is it you've heard?"

"I've heard them walking," she announced with an air of triumph.

"You've heard who walking?"

"The little people, of course. Who else would it be doing it?"

"Oh, bosh!" I exclaimed. I was well enough acquainted with the superstitions of the Irish to understand who she meant by "the little people." It's the habit of the old crones from the Emerald isle to attribute anything they cannot understand to fairies.

"You may laugh," she retorted indignantly, "but I heard them, I tell ye."

"Where did you hear them, these footsteps?"

"Coming right out of the wall, here in this room, and in the kitchen, beyond."

"It was probably somebody in another apartment you heard."

"It was not. The floors do be deadened like, and it's nothing at all you can hear. It was somebody walking soft-like right there in the wall at me back."

"Well," I announced, "if there is anything like that going on, I am going to stay here until I hear it. I want to make sure no one can come into the apartment but myself, so I am going to ask you to give me your key. I'll be home here all the morning, so I can let you in when you ring."

"It's me key you're wanting, is it?"

She produced it from a pocket of her gown and handed it over, first unknotting it from a corner of her kerchief where she had tied it for safe keeping.

"And indeed if it's meself you're not trusting with a key after Mrs. Gaston letting me have it for these ten years back, it's your own bed you can be making. I'll not be coming near the place again."

In fine indignation she flounced out of the place. To tell the truth I was not sorry that she had announced her decision not to return. While my impression of her was that she was a simple-minded old woman of uttermost honesty, I was just as well satisfied that no one but myself should have entry to the apartment until I had finished my investigations and had made further progress in solving the mysteries that were so rapidly developing.

Left once more to myself, I sat down at my great-uncle's desk and made out a list of questions that must be answered:

1. Where was Rufus Gaston? Had the old gentleman really gone away or was he in hiding in the building?

2. Who had removed the Gaston pearls from the wall safe? It must be someone who knew the combination.

3. Who had written the note I found on the floor of my bedroom? How and when had it been placed on the floor there?

4. Who were the persons who were trying to blackmail the family next door?

5. How had the anonymous notes been delivered on the floor of Barbara Bradford's room? (Evidently the writer was the same as in my case.)

6. Was there anything in the past relations of Mr. Bradford and my great-uncle that would cause my great-uncle to plot against the Bradford family?

7. How were the mysterious sounds heard both by my great-uncle, by Barbara Bradford, and by myself to be accounted for?

8. How were the mysterious footsteps heard by Mrs. Burke to be explained? Were they merely the imaginings of a superstitious old woman?

The relations between Mr. Bradford and Rufus Gaston puzzled me. Miss Bradford's recollection of her father's remark about my great-uncle certainly indicated that he held no high opinion of him. My great-uncle's actions throughout had been peculiar. His suddenly sending for me and insisting on my coming here to live, his insistence on leaving his wife's jewels in my care, and on entrusting me with the combination of the safe, all now took on a sinister aspect. It certainly was peculiar that he had gone off without leaving me any address where he could be reached.

Then, too, there was my own unexpected and unwarranted discharge at my place of business. I was positive in some way it was connected with my having come to this place to live. Had my great-uncle himself brought it about for the purpose of discrediting me? Was it the work of the blackmailers to get square with me for having accidentally butted in on the meeting they had arranged with Miss Bradford?

The scar-faced man! Who was he? I was certain that he was in some way involved. It might have been he who had caused me to lose my job. Certainly the malevolent glance he had given me in the restaurant that night showed that he would have wrought me harm if he could. The next time I laid eyes on him I was determined to trail him with bulldog tenacity until I ascertained his identity and where he lived. I felt sure that the trail of the mystery would lead to his door.

I decided not to leave the apartment all day. I had laid in a plentiful supply of food the day before so there was no necessity for my going out. There was plenty of work for me to do. I must try to devise some way of examining the safe door and the jewel box that remained for evidence of fingerprints, and I must inspect the building both from within and without to see if I could learn how the notes were delivered.

From one of the toilet tables I obtained some fine powder and opening the wall safe again I took out the jewel box and carefully dusted it over with the powder. I hoped that the powder would reveal markings of hands on the box, but either I was too inexperienced or my method was wrong, for I succeeded in obtaining no sort of result, beyond finding out what my own fingerprints looked like on a sheet of paper prepared with some home-made lampblack. After an hour or two of experimentation I gave it up as a bad job, and turned to the study of methods by which the notes might have been delivered.

The Gaston apartment was on the sixth floor of the building, which was surrounded by ordinary three and four-story dwelling houses. It must have been someone in the building, if not in the apartment itself. It would be quite possible for someone on the floor above to have projected the notes through my window and that of Miss Bradford by attaching them to the end of a long stick. I made up my mind to ascertain who occupied the apartments above.

The mystery of the whispers did not seem to be of such easy solution. While I had been inclined at first to regard my own experience as a dream, the coincidence of Miss Bradford and my great-uncle having had the same illusion convinced me that it was some claptrap devised by the plotters for preying on the fears of their intended victims.

Eagerly I waited for the coming of evening and from half-past seven on I sat by my window waiting for Barbara's signal. It was nearly nine o'clock before I heard the three taps that had so startled me the evening before. Quickly I thrust my head out of the window and was rewarded by seeing hers appear at the same moment.

"We must not talk long," she warned me. "Someone might see us. Have you learned anything new?"

"Yes," I whispered. "In my uncle's diary I found several entries about the whispers."

"How strange!" she exclaimed. "Where is Mr. Gaston?"

"I don't know."

"That's funny."

"It's more than that. It is decidedly odd that he left no word where he could be reached."

"I don't blame him," she almost sobbed. "I wish we could all get away off somewhere, away from it all."

"Don't worry. Everything we find out will help discover the plotters. Tell me from what part of your room did the sounds come."

"Always from the same place, up in the corner, near the ceiling."

"I thought so," I answered. "That's where they came from in my room. That shows it is just some mechanical trick they are using in the hope of terrifying us. Do you know who lives on the floor above?"

"I haven't the slightest idea. Do you suspect them?"

"I suspect everybody until this mystery is solved," I replied almost savagely.

"Not so loud, they may hear you. Have you learned anything else?"

"No, nothing. I questioned old Mrs. Burke, Mrs. Gaston's laundress. She knew nothing, although she insisted that she had often heard footsteps when there was no one in the apartment. Of course it is only her imagination."

"I'm not so sure," Miss Bradford whispered. "I've heard them, too. They seemed to come right out of the wall."

"Why," I exclaimed in amazement, "that's just how she described them."

"Often, too, when I get up in the morning I have a strange feeling that there must have been someone in my room while I was asleep."

"How strange!" I muttered, more to myself than to her. "I wonder if it could be anyone walking in their sleep."

"You mean"—she hesitated—"my sister?"

"I don't mean anyone," I hastened to say. "I was only thinking aloud, wondering if it could be a possible explanation. I have heard of innocent persons doing all sorts of things under hypnotic influence."

"I've read of that, too," she said soberly, "I wonder—"

She left the sentence unfinished, but I felt that the same thought had flashed into her mind as into mine. Was it possible that the unscrupulous Frenchman who had wronged her sister years ago had in some way recently gained an interview with her and had gotten her once more into his power? Could it be that under the spell of another's mind Claire Bradford herself had taken away the papers concerning the annulment of her marriage and was placing the notes in the blackmail plot?

I Gazed at It Horror-Stricken.

"Look here," I said determinedly, "we've got to see each other somewhere tomorrow and talk this over. Where can we meet?"

"I'm afraid I can't manage it tomorrow. I'm busy with my mother and sister all day long. Tuesday, perhaps. But we mustn't talk here longer. Good night."

"Good night," I called softly but her head had been already withdrawn, so quickly that I hardly knew whether she heard me. As I was about ready for bed I recalled that I had spent most of the money I had in my pockets, so I visited the bookcase where I had secreted my hoard and taking out a twenty-dollar bill, wrapped it about the three one-dollar bills I had left and put the roll in my trousers pocket.

The next morning, as I was dressing, I happened to draw forth my money. I gazed at it horror-stricken.

I distinctly recalled having wrapped the twenty-dollar bill about the three smaller bills. Now one of the dollar bills was on the outside.

There before me was indisputable evidence that someone had been in my room while I slept, someone had gone through my pockets and had examined my money. Someone had put the dollar bill on the outside of the roll.

Who had done it? How had they got into the room?

Date With a Party.

My partner in business was called out of town and was not expected to return for a few days, so when I met his wife on the street she remarked that she was lonesome and I asked her to meet me late and have dinner with me. It was all arranged and I went to the office to fix up for the occasion when in came hubby and wanted to know why the dolling up, so I said that I had a date with a party. When I met my friend's wife I told her hubby had returned and she said: "Why I know it; I told him you and I were going out to dine."—Exchange.

Find Value of Various Woods.

Investigations by the agricultural department show that one standard cord of well-seasoned hickory, oak, beech, birch, hard maple, ash, elm, locust or cherry wood is approximately equal to one ton of anthracite coal. A cord and a half of soft maple or two cords of cedar, poplar or bass wood are required to give the same amount of heat. One cord of well-seasoned mixed wood equals at least one ton of average grade bituminous coal.

Quite True.

Will Not be One Day Without PE-RU-NA

This Lady TELLS Her FRIENDS

MRS. MARY FRICKE

Mrs. Mary Fricke, 507 Bornman St., Belleville, Ill., is just one of the many thousands of ladies throughout the country who, after an agony of years, have at last found health, strength and vigor in PE-RU-NA.

Her own words tell of her suffering and recovery better than we can do it: "I suffered with my stomach, had awful cramps and headaches so I often could not lay on a pillow. Saw your book, tried PE-RU-NA and got good results from the first bottle. To be sure of a cure I took twelve bottles. I have recommended PE-RU-NA to my friends and all are well pleased with results. I will not be one day without PE-RU-NA. Have not had a doctor since I started with PE-RU-NA, which was about fifteen years ago. I am now sixty-three years old, hale, hearty and well. Can do as much work as my daughters. I feel strong and healthy and weigh near two hundred pounds. Before, I weighed as little as one hundred. I hope lots of people use PE-RU-NA and get the results I did." An experience like that of Mrs. Fricke is an inspiration to every sick and suffering woman.

If you have catarrh, whether it be of the nose, throat, stomach, bowels, or other organs, PE-RU-NA is the remedy. It is not new; it is not an experiment. PE-RU-NA has been tried. PE-RU-NA has been used by thousands who once were sick and are now well. To prevent coughs, colds, grip and Influenza and to hasten recovery there is nothing better.

PE-RU-NA will improve the appetite and digestion, purify the blood, sooth the irritated mucous linings, eradicate the waste material and corruption from the system. It will tone up the nerves, give you health, strength, vigor and the joy of living. Do what Mrs. Mary Fricke and thousands more have done—try PE-RU-NA. You will be glad, happy, thankful.

Stomach Troubles Made Him Feel Sick at Meal Times, But Now Always Enjoys His Meals.

DO YOU enjoy your meals? Eat without the dread of the after-effects?

Lack of appetite and a disagreeable, sick-at-the-stomach feeling after meals, usually indicate that your digestive organs are not working properly. As a result, you will feel weak, lose weight and lack the energy that is to be derived from well-digested food.

A valuable help in correcting such conditions is mentioned by the Rev. E. K. McKenzie, Route 1, Section, Ala., who writes: "I had stomach troubles. When I would go to eat, I would turn sick. I took one bottle of Ziron, and it cured me. Am always ready for my meals and enjoy them. I think it is a fine medicine."

If your food hurts you, if your appetite is poor, if you are pale, weak and run-down, and have other symptoms that indicate your system needs help, try Ziron. It will put iron into your blood and help build you up. Take it according to directions, and if not benefited by the first bottle, the money-back guarantee will protect you.

Chickens and Chickens.

"Do your neighbor's chickens bother you any?" asked an East side gentleman of his neighbor, who lived near a large family.

"No," replied the other, thinking that reference was made to the neighbor's three comely daughters. "They go down town every day, so we don't see much of them."—Columbus Dispatch.

Acts on the Liver, Regulates Kidneys, Purifies the Blood

The liver is the largest and most important organ in the body, and when the liver refuses to act, it causes constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, gas, sour stomach, bad breath, dysentery, diarrhoea, pains in the back and under shoulder blades and under ribs on right side. These symptoms lead to colds, influenza or other serious troubles unless corrected immediately.

An inactive liver places an extra burden on the kidneys, which overtaxes them and causes the blood to absorb and carry into the system the impurities that the liver and kidneys have failed to eliminate.

When you treat the liver alone, you treat only a third of your trouble, and that is why you have to take purgatives every few nights. Calomel or other ordinary laxatives do not go far enough. If you would treat your kidneys and blood while treating the liver, you would put your entire system in order and frequent purgatives would then be unnecessary.

Dr. W. L. Hitchcock many years ago recognized these important facts, and after much study and research, compounded what is now known as Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney and Blood Powders, three medicines combined in one. This was the Doctor's favorite prescription for many years, being used by his patients with marked success. It is a harmless vegetable remedy that will not make you sick, and you may eat anything you like while taking it.

Get a large tin box from your druggist or dealer for 25c, under his personal guarantee that it will give relief, tone up the liver, stimulate the kidneys to healthy action and thereby purify the blood. If your dealer will not supply you, it will be mailed direct by the Hitchcock Medicine Co., Atlanta, Ga., upon receipt of price.—Adv.

Bamboo for Paper Making.

According to Sir Harry Johnston, the famous African explorer, the inexhaustible supply of grasses, reeds and rushes of tropical Africa can be utilized in making paper. William Raitt, the cellulose expert of the British government, points out many serious difficulties in making paper from these grasses, but says that these are not found in bamboo, which renews itself annually.

After Ten Years— Eatonic Proves the Best

"I say, God bless eatonic," writes Mrs. Delia M. Doyen. "I can truthfully say, after suffering with stomach trouble for ten long years, that I have never had anything do me so much good as this one box of eatonic."

We print these grateful words from this dear lady, so that sufferers everywhere may have hope and a little faith—just enough to give eatonic a trial. Why, folks, last year over half a million people used eatonic and found relief.

This is the secret: Eatonic simply takes up the excess acids, poisons and gases, and carries them right out of the body. Of course, when the cause is removed, the sufferer gets well. Stomach trouble causes about seventy non-organic diseases, so, if you are suffering any kind of misery, not feeling well, go right to your druggist today and obtain a big box of eatonic; cost is a trifle. Use it and find quick, sure relief.

Make this test—you will see, and then, if you are not satisfied, your druggist will hand your money back. He does not want one penny unless eatonic pleases you. Adv.

A LARGE ORDER

It is difficult to imagine how even a partisan Democrat can longer picture Governor Cox as a man of presidential caliber. Immediately upon the close of his conference with President Wilson relative to the League of Nations question the President announced that he and Governor Cox were "absolutely at one." Governor Cox announced that whatever President Wilson had promised he would exert his utmost to give.

Every observing and thoughtful man must know that on a subject of such importance and involving so many intricate problems it is practically impossible that any two men exercising independent minds could be "absolutely at one." It is not at all probable that there were any two of the ninety-six members of the United States Senate who were absolutely at one relative to the various phases of the League Covenant. Men of varying viewpoints, and of different lines of reasoning, would naturally find in a question of such large and complicated character, features of more or less importance upon which they both would differ. When, therefore, it is announced that two mindss are "absolutely at one" the conclusion is inevitable that one of the minds has absolutely surrendered to the other. It is also a necessary conclusion that the mind that surrendered itself is not of sufficient caliber to guide the destinies of the United States so far as they are affected by the administration of the executive powers of the government.

An even more astounding declaration following the Wilson conference is the statement by Governor Cox that Whatever Woodrow Wilson has promised he will do his utmost to give. Every man who has followed the Wilson career not only in domestic affairs but particularly at the Peace Conference must realize that no man except Woodrow Wilson himself knows what all he has promised; nor is there any reason to believe that President Wilson has taken the American people into his confidence to the extent of revealing to them even the essential features of the promises he has made. It must be remembered that at the Peace Conference two treaties were negotiated, one of them a treaty of peace with Germany and the other a treaty of alliance between the United States, Great Britain, and France—an alliance of defense—which latter treaty President Wilson promised would be submitted to the United States Senate at the same time as the Treaty of Versailles. Notwithstanding that promise, which President Wilson carefully concealed from the American people, the treaty was not presented at the same time as the Treaty of Versailles nor was it made known to the American people until knowledge of its existence became public through other channels and the Senate forced the President to disclose the promises he had made.

This one instance of duplicity, to use no stronger term, justifies the assertion that President Wilson may very likely have made other promises which he still conceals and which may be embarassing to the American people if they shall bestow upon Governor Cox the power and authority to carry ont the Wilson pledges. By his declaration, Governor Cox has signed a contract in blank to carry out pledges yet to be disclosed. He has given to Woodrow Wilson carte blanche to fill in the blank spaces of that contract in any way that may appeal to the mysterious workings of the Wilson mind Will any sound business man, any careful manager of his own busines affirs, accept as a wise executive a man who thus binds himself to carry out promises the nature and extent of which he can not possibly know?

There are two incontrovertible evidences of weakness on the part of Cox—first, his being "absolutely at one" with Woodrow Wilson, and second, his unqualified pledge to carry out any promises Wilson may have made.

HARDING AND AMERICA UNAFRAID

Washington, July 3. — The keynote of Warren G. Harding's acceptance speech is to be found in the candidate's consciousnesss of his responsibility, declares the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., in the following statement:

"If Senator Harding's speech of acceptance had been the utterance of a President instead ot a candidate for the Presidency it would rank as one of the greatest state papers that ever emanated from the White House. In its lucid discussion of the great principles upon which this government is founded, of the dangers that now beset it, and of the precautions that must be taken if disaster is to be avoided, Senator Harding's address is on a plane with the farewell address of President Washington; indeed, in its profound treatment of the complexities of American government it bears a marked resemblance to that famous document.

"In discussing in turn the problems that he will be called upo nto solve if he should be elected, Senator Harding adheres to that close attention to fundamentals that has characterized his record in the Senate. He sees clearly through the mass of unessential details that in others might becloud the issues of the hour, and emphasizes only those points that contain elements of danger to the basic structure of our government. It becomes apparent to the reader of the address that should its author become the nation's Chief Executive his every act would be performed with a view of preserving and strengthening the institutions created by the Constitution, which brought the country to the pinnacle of wealth and prosperity inherited by Wilsonism in 1913.

" 'If elected I mean to be a constitutional President,' declares Senator Harding, and he might well have begun his address by that pledge. That statement is all-embracing, and adherence to it insures the prosperity and contentment that have been so sadly lacking in the past seven years, and for the return of which every citizen yearns. As his first amplification under that declaration, Mr. Harding promises an end of autocracy and 'the restoration of representative popular government under the constitution.'

"The candidate's handling of our international relations and the covenant of the league is a model of American patriotism, combined with a profound realization of the duties and responsibilities of the United States as a member of the family of nations. 'Our party,' says the Senator, 'means to hold the heritage of American nationality unimpaired and unsurrendered.' But while he stands for America first and all rights preserved, Mr. Harding reminds us that the might of America must set an example of peace before the world. His position is epitomized when he says, 'It is better to be the free and disinterested agent of international justice and advancing civilization, with the covenant of conscience, than be shackled by a written compact which surrenders our freedom of action and gives to a military alliance the right to proclaim America's duty to the world.'

"In his treatment of the problems of industry, of transportation, of the high cost of living, and of the score of other questions of less importance with which he deals, Senator Harding exhibits a breadth of vision, a sympathy with both sides to every controversy, and a desire to reach solutions acceptable to every element, that insure the country of a President of all the people should he be elected. Throughout the entire address runs a consciousness on the part of the author of the tremendous responsibilities that will be his once he assumes office. A feeling of humility finds expression at the close. 'Mindful,' Senator Harding concludes, 'of the vast responsibilities, I must be frankly humble, but I have that confidence in the consideration and support of all true Americans which makes me wholly unafraid.'

"And America, too, is unafraid."

COX'S ARMY.

Washington, July 28—The Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following as a statement from Washington:

"Here are the camp-followers of the Democratic host; the internationalists who would surrender the sacred sovereignty of the American people to the dictation of a coterie of foreigners styling themselves as the 'league of nations'; Gompers and his fellow-members of an executive council in Washington who seek to dictate the hours and conditions of work of every laboring man in the country, and to elect a Congress subservient to their own bidding; members of the boodle-bund, known as Tammany Hall who have for years exploited the city of New York for their own private gain; those marlpots of society who seek to lower production and to increase wages to points utterly beyond reason, and destructive to themselves as well as others if successful; those former policemen of Boston and their sympathizers who did not hesitate to turn the city over to the elements of disorder in order to compel compliance with their demands; the Plumb planners who seek to buy the railroads with the money of all the people and turn them over to the rail employees to be operated for their own profit; radical agitators who resent the punishment of convicted murderers such as Mooney and Hillstrom, and who believe that state executives should be coerced by the President into mitigating the penalties imposed upon such offenders; beneficiaries of the notorious spoils system under which the government offices at Washington and elsewhere are encumbered with a host of incompetents whose sole reason for receiving their appointments was that they rendered a service to the Democratic party; the pork-hunters seeking extravagant appropriations for the development of swamps and bayous into navigable waterways, the allotment of millions for nitrate plants and similar projects, and the construction of ornate government buildings at every hamlet in the country; destroyers of private initiative by means of government ownership and operation of every public utility; those patriots who have fattened from the orgy of federal extravagance that has marked the Democratic administration for a period of seven years; those gentlemen who conceived the cost-plus plan of performing work for the government, and succeeded in extracting hundreds of millions of dollars from the public treasury through its application; those pale-blooded people who on one pretext or another, dodged the draft and after a few weeks confinement were released by order of a Democratic Secretary of War, outfitted with new raiment, an honorable discharge from the military service, and their army pay in full to date; the hundreds of individual beneficiaries in his home state whose good will Gov. Cox, then a representive in Congress, sought to purchase at the expense of the people by means of special bills introduced in the House to pay them higher rates of pension than they were entitled to under the general law; those people of mature years who believe the rest of the public should support them thru bounties from the Federal treasury as contemplated in a measure introduced by Congressman Cox.

"This is the left wing of Cox's Army which will carry the banner of their leader in the coming campaign and marshal their forces at the polls in November in the vain attempt to put him in the White House. How many are the points of similarity between them and the personnell of Coxey's Army of 1893. That band of nondescripts directed their march toward Washington precisely as the political and economical heretics of to-day are wending their way. But when they reached the national capital they found the gates of government closed against them. They discovered that it was not so easy to stampede the people's government into a compliance with their views. Let the Cox's Army of 1910 take a page from the history of Coxey's Army of 1893."

YES, HE HAS A HEART

Mr. C. Fenn Jones, the bachelor hardware merchant of Clanton, was going the rounds of the offices and business houses in Clanton Tuesday afteroon with a batch of the Town School Bonds under his arm, in an effort to sell them and thereby secure the money for the erection of the additional story of the Clanton Grammar School building, which work of construction is now in progress.

In this connection we wish to call to your attention the fact that Mr. Jones is a bachelor; he is not what we might term a very wealthy man, but he has money and things of value sufficient to see him to the end of his earthly journey in comfort and ease. Personally it matters not to him whether we have better schools or not.

In the face of all these things, he was out openly at work for the interests of the children of our town and community, making an effort to help them have better educational facilities.

Verily, we say again: The X-Ray was right. C. Fenn Jones surely has a heart !

HOW GAMALIEL SAVED HIS PEOPLE

Washington, July 3.—Drawing a paraphrase from the 4th Chapter of Luke for its text, the Republican Publicity Association, through its president, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., sets forth the recent Wlson-Cox conference as follows:

"And the despot, taking Kox up into an high mountain, shewed unto him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time, and the throne and the sceptre of Geneva.

"And the despot said unto Kox, All this power will I give thee, and the glory of them; for that is delivered unto me; and to whomsoever I will I give it.

"If thou, therefore, wilt worship me, all shall be thine.

"And Kox, lusting for power, fell on his knees before the despot, who was seated before the altar of internationalism, saying unto him, Get thee behind me Master, and push; thee and thy legion of officeholders, and thy sycophants and thy censer-swingers; and we will betray a nation that I may sit in thy place and listen to thy voice and thy voices, and behold thy visions. Thy league shall be my league, and thy views my views; and whilst it is given unto thee to make known thy comandments; by numbled word of mouth, or through thy high-priest Tumul Tee, my mind shall run along with thine. Then a sinister smile illumed the countenance of the despot and the compact to delver over to Europe the splendor and manhood of America was signed. Yea, her charter was to be as the garments of Joseph divided among his brethren; even as Joseph was America to be sold to the Ishmeelites.

"Now there came from the land of the Buckeye a man of the tribe of Harding, called Gamaliel, which is to say in Hebrew 'Recompense of God.' And he was a champion strong of sinew and of excellent repute. Verily, his strength was as the strength of ten because his heart was pure. And when Gamaliel had seen this thing he turned to the henchman of the despot and asked, What meanest thou by this engagement to barter away the heritage of thy kinsmen? Accept my challenge for a test of strength upon the mat, for I would fain perpetuate unto my people the prize of freedom, and succor them from bondage.

"Then Kox, gazing upon the mighty stature of Gamaliel, grew sick at his heart, and all his blood turned water in his veins. And he answered, It is not meet that I should cope with thee. Is it not written that I am of the caste too proud to fight? Far better is it that I duck. And duck he did, and truned and fled.

"Thereat, Gamaliel flung off his coat, unsheathed his sword, and hastened in pursuit. Through bog and fen, o'er moor and mountain-top he chased the despot's votary. And in the valley of despond on an autumnal day he fell upon him hip and thigh and ballot-box and slew him with one stroke; then locked the despot in a padded cell.

"Thus did Gamaliel preserve unto his people the heritage which was theirs and which had been handed down to them through generations, but which was like to have been hypothecated by the despot and his money-changers.

"And all this befell in the year 1920. And the year thereafter was known as the Year of the Great Restoration, that being the year in which the ark of the people's covenant, for eight years withheld from them, was placed again into their keeping. For Gamaliel sought not to rule, but was chosen administrator, and unto his people delivered he their charter.

"And Gamaliel abode eight years as sage and counsellor of the nation and leader of men. And the people, who had grievously atoned under the rod of the despot, kept green the memory of the days when they rejoiced under the fair sway of the Recompense of God."

Get Rid of Constipation, Sluggish Liver, Weak Kidneys, Dizzy Spells, by Taking Dreco, the new root and Herb Remedy.

"It is a positive fact. I feel ten years younger since I have taken two bottles of Dreco," said Mr. Tom Gosha, who resides at 617 Pollard St., Montgomery, Ala.

"I had a sluggish liver which gave me dizzy spells and headaches... My kidneys also bothered me and I had pains in my back and limbs... My bowels were constipated and I had to be taking medicine all the time. No matter how careful I was about my eating, I always had indigestion afterwards.

"I've always believed in the good old time medicine made from roots and herbs, so I started on Dreco and it helped me at once. My bowels began to act regularly; pains left my back; dizzy spells quit bothering me and my food digested well. I now go about my work feeling fine and it comes easy to me. Dreco is great medicine."

Are You an Endorser On Mr. Cox's Note?

Washington, Aug. 3.—Listing some of the items included in the promissory note of the Democratic party, the Republican Publicity Association, through its president, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., issues the following:

"The platform of the Democratic party is a promissory note," says Gov. Cox. "I shall see that it is paid in full, every dollar and every cent." Which means that if elected president Mr. Cox will exact from the American people payment in full for all the excesses of Democratic misrule included in that platform. Before the public is called upon to write an endorsement of that note in November, it is well that the full extent of the proposed obligation be made known. Here are some of the items included in the total:

1. Acceptance of all the obligations of the league of nations covenant, which, if adhered to means the immediate raising of billions of dollars and the sacrifice of American soldiers and sailors to restore peace at approxmately twenty-two points, on the earth's surface where wars are now raging.

2. Acceptance of a mandate over Armenia costing hundreds of millions of dollars and necessitating the maintenance of a huge army thousands of miles from our shores.

3. A continuation of the orgy of extravagance in which the Democratic administration already has wasted billions of the people's money.

4. The appointment of Federal office holders, from Cabinet members down, solely from political considerations involving untold cost to the taxpayers in loss of efficiency.

5. A continuation of the supine attitude of the law-enforcing branches of the government toward profiteers, as a result of which billions of dollars have been mercilessly forced from the hopeless consuming public.

6. The divergence of hundreds of millions of the people's money for the exploitation of the Southern States, exemplified in the past few years by the fixing of special sugar prices for southern sugar growers, the expenditure of $70,000,000 for an all-but-useless nitrate plant in Alabama, and the waste of other mililons in the development of insignificant waterways throughout that section of the country.

7. A continuance of the factors that contribute to the high cost of living, such as currency inflation under the Federal Reserve system, gross governmental extravagance, and tax laws that discourage industry and stifle production.

8. A continuation of a postal inefficiancy that puts an indirect tax of millions upon the people annually.

9. The possible cancelaltion of the $10,000,000,000 debt owed to us by foreign governments, under the 8 to 1 hostile influence of the league of nations council, which sum then would have to be raised by taxation of our own people.

10. The encouragement of Bolshevism by extreme leniency toward alien radicals in our own country, and the removal of trade restrictions with Russia—policies that may well cost us untold lives and treasuse in the future in the defense of our civilization.

The list might be continued showing the hopeless outlook for American finance and morale if the "promissory note" of the Democratic platform and the Cox declarations receive the endorsement of the voters in November.

Demand Fair Play from Mr. Wilson for America

Caling on President Wlison to accord fair treatment to America in the closing days of his administration the Republican Publicity Association, issues the following statement:

In a recent editorial entitled "Fair Play for Mr. Wilson," the New York Times asked "Is it too much to hope that President Wilson may now get fairer treatment from his political opponents? He will have but eight months more in office. During that period would it not be decent to let up in the ferocity of the attacks upon him?" Thus does the Times display its usual craftiness in political sophistry. The question carries a false assumption and is designed to distract attention from the real issues before the country.

A more pertinent and appropriate question for the Times to ask—and one that the whole country is asking—is whether it is too much to hope that the President will now give the country fair treatment. Will the president dicontinue his efforts to surrender American sovereignty to a league of nations? Will the president terminate his cordial relations with the extreme radicals—the friends of Mooney and Hillstrom, the Minors, the Kate O'Hares, the Trotskys and a long list of other troublemakers who have never had a particle of sympathy for American institutions? Will the president abandon that extreme partisanship which has dominated his entire administration, even in the conduct of the war? Will the president discourage extravagance and waste in management of the public business, and insist upon restoration of efficiency, particularly in the postal service? Will the president yield his idea that this is a one-man government, to be ruled in all its branches by him alone?

As the Times truthfully says, there are only eight more months of the Wilson administration—scarcely more than seven now in fact. Why then, should President Wilson insist upon imposing upon the American people a continuance of the follies which have been repudiated by the electorate? In 1918 he appealed for an endorsement of his administration by the election of a Democratic Congress. His request was met with a decisive rebuff, and a vote of lack of confidence was recorded. Notwithstanding that expression of public opinion Mr. Wilson went to Europe claiming to speak for the American people and tried to fasten upon them obligations which they had never expressed a willingness to assume. He told Europe that America demanded the establishment of the league and came back to tell America that it must accept the league or break the heart of the whole world.

President Wilson's political opponents have not been unfair. No president was ever given greater powers than those bestowed upon the present occupant of the White House with the aproving votes of political opponents. But Mr. Wilson' political opponents have been consistently for America first. They have had due regard for their oath to uphold the Constitution and law of the United States. They have felt the burden of responsibility as members of a coordinate branch of the government. Wherever possible, they resolved doubts in favor of the executive in the conduct of the war, but they could not, in fulfillment of their official duties surrender the legislative branch of the government to Mr. Wilson. The records will show that during the war Mr. Wilson had as generous support from his political friends, in return from his politican friends, in return for which he endeavored to use the power of his office to turn an election to his partisan advantage.

The pertinent question is "Is it too much to hope that America may now get fairer treatment from President Wilson?"

FRIENDSHIP BAPTIST CHURCH

The most successful revival ever held in this community closed last Friday at the Friendship Baptist Church, just north of Clanton.

Rev. J. L. Hand of Newton, Ala., assisted the pastor, Rev. W. P. Lowery in the preaching, and the music and singing was under the direction of Mr. Spurgeon Hand, also of Newton.

The church was really and truly revived by these services, and new life was taken on by the membership.

Rev. Hand is a wonderful preacher and he did his very best in every sermon that he presented. Friendship Church was very fortunate to have this noted preacher and singer with them during the meeting.

A total of eight members were added to the church roll, two being by baptism and six by letter. The ordinance of baptism was administered to these two on Friday morning, in the church pool.

The church organized a prayer meeting, which will be held every Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock. We cordially invite all who can to come out and be with us in these prayer meetings. You will always be welcome there.

PLEASANT GROVE—JEMISON

I have not reported our Singing Society in some time, so I will send a few lines about our progress.

We met Sunday p.m. and had the best singing since we organized our society. We sang many beautiful hymns that were soul-inspiring, as it has been said that "music washes away from the soul the dust of every day life."

Music is the only qualification mankind may indulge in to excess without injury to their moral or religious feelings. Music is to the mnid as air is to the body. Were it not for music we might in these days say the beautiful is dead:

We had with us this afternoon part of the choir from Pates Chapel. We thank them so much for their co-operation for co-operation among each other will make the world better.

The leaders were Mr. Geo. Spivey, who is chairman of our society, Prof. James Franklin, Mr. J. S. Wright and Mr. Robinson of Pates Chapel. The organists were Misses Delene Wright, Nora Franklin, Bevie Childress and Mr. Cleckler of Pates Chapel.

We gave the visitors a very cordial invitation to meet with us next third Sunday p.m.

A party of our society went to Clanton to the singing convention, and were greatly revived in a musical sense.

Last week was spent here in a religious revival. The preaching was by the Revs. Deason, Champion, Thomas and Lawrence. The sermons were very beautifully rendered and also very effective.

It is glorious indeed for people to meet together to serve their creator. There are so many beautiful ways to serve Him that no one can have an excuse for not serving and praising every day.

TO OUR CORRESPONDENTS

We wish to call the attention of some of our correspondents to the fact that their correspondence is no good unless we know where it is written from. We have received some good news matter from over the county, and there was no community name anywhere mentioned in it; and for that reason it could not be used.

So please don't forget to state the name of your community at the head of your letter, and sign your name at the last.

EXPRESSION OF THANKS

Please allow us to thank our many friends for their kindness shown us during the sickness and death of our husband and father. May God's most sacred love be shown each of you for your kindness in this sad hour of our bereavement, is our most earnest prayer.

Mrs. W.H. Parrish and Children.

LIBERTY HILL

The Liberty Hill Singing Society met Sunday afternoon with a small crowd and very good singing.

Singing was opened with song by the chairman.

Directors for the afternoon were Profs. G. C. Weldon, Glover Smith, J. W. Lowery and Zack Lowery. Organists were Misses Zelma Lowery and Lillian Smith.

The society will meet again on the third Sunday p.m., August 15th. We invite the singers to come and take a part with us in the singing.

NOTICE—I have a "Loring-Blake" Palace organ for sale, in A1 condition; cost $500 when new, will sell cheap for cash. If you want an organ you can't beat it. For particulars see H. W. LOWERY, Clanton, Ala. 7-22-4t.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. FARMERS' COLLECTIVE BARGAINING

Farmers have been given the right of collective bargaining by an enactment of the recent session of the Republican Congress. According to the statement of Representative Halvor Steenerson, of Minnesota, the new law will encourage food production and lower prices to the public. The only real opposition to the bill, he asserts, came from the large trusts and combines who desired to continue to enjoy a monopoly in the purchase of farm products. Through the co-operative associations, authorized under the provisions of the law, the farmer will be able to reach the consumer with his goods at low expense by eliminating the middle man, says Representative Steenerson.

Gained Ten Pounds

Before Taking ZIRON, Alabama Man Was Weak, Nervous, Had No Appetite, But is Now Strong.

EVERY man and woman, who is in a run-down, weak condition, with bad complexion and poor appetite, due to lack of iron in their blood, should find Ziron helpful and strength-building.

It is a scientific, reconstructive tonic, composed of ingredients recommended by leading medical authorities.

Describing his experience with Ziron, Mr. George W. S. Lanier writes from Jones, Ala.: "Sometime back, I was in a terrible condition. I was weak and nervous, and had a tired feeling all the time. My skin was muddy. I had no appetite, and at morning I didn't feel like getting up. I was reading of Ziron and decided I would try it . . .

"Will say that Ziron is a good medicine. I have gained ten pounds in four months. Am strong and have a good appetite."

Ziron is a mild iron tonic, good for young and old. It helps to restore the system, when run-down by overwork, under-nourishment, caused by stomach or bowel disorders, or as a result of some weakening illness.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

It is charged by Democratic journalists and party leaders that the Republican platform adopted at the natoinal convention in Chicago is weak and equivocal. They claim that it cuts and covers; that it says what it doesn't mean—and means what it doesn't say. Is all this true? No! Is any of it true? No! It is a typical Republican platform; therefore it is a truly American platform. The candidate for President and Vice-President are tried-and-true Americans; and they stand with both feet firmly and sturdily planted upon the platform as framed, approved and adopted.

Let's examine a few declarations and provisions of the Republican platform—and see how "equivocal" they are.

"We recognize the justice of collective bargaining as a means of promoting good will, establishing closer and more harmonious relation between employer and employes, and realizing the true end of industrial justice."

Anything "equivocal" about that?

"The strike or the lock-out, as a means of settling industrial disputes, inflicts such loss and suffering on the community as to justify government initiative to reduce its frequency and limit it consequences."

Anything weak or tricky in that?

"We deny the right to strike against the government; but the rights and interests of all government employees must be safeguarded by impartial laws and tribunity."

Anything vacillating about that?

"We condemn the Democratic administration for failure impartially to enforce the anti-profiteering laws enacted by the Republican Congress."

Any dodging of the issue there? A Republican legislative body placed anti-profiteering laws upon our national statute books; but a Democratis executive adminitsration failed to enforce these laws.

"There is urgent need of improvement in our naturalization law. No alien should become a citizen until he has become genuinely American, and tests for determining the alien's fitness for American citizenship should be provided for by law."

Anything evasive about that?

"The equality of all citizens under the law has always been a policy of the Republican party. Without obedience to law and maintenance of order, our American institutions must perish. Our laws must be impartially enforced and speedy justice should be secured."

Anything ungertain in the sound of that?

I might go on—and on—indefinitely.

It is an American platform.

American candidates stand upon it.

Its speaks for equal rights for all and special privileges for none.

It is frank.

It is firm.

But it doesn't suit our friends, the Democrats.

Why?

Because it spells defeat for them.

EX-SERVICE MEN CAN GET HELP FROM Y. M. C. A.

We note with interest a news dispatch that says President Wilson will go to the Philipine Islands as President of the University of the Philipines when his term at the White House is ended. As for us we don't object to him going.

Attention of ex-service men is called to the fact that if they desire assistance of the Y. M. C. A. educational fund, they should file application at once with the local chairman, Jno. A. Thomas, or F. B. Collier, the Secretary.

Chilton County has available about $500 to be awarded to ex-service men. This fund is not available for collegiate courses, but is available for public school, high school or business courses. The local committee believes a business course of the Chilton Co. High School or the Thorsby Institute at Thorsby would prove beneficial to a larger number of ex-service men and hence recommends such courses.

Those who desire to avail themselves of any part of the fund should make application at once. All applications must be filed with the local secretary, F. B. Collier, not later than August 15, 1920, at which time the committee will make the awards. No applicant may be allowed more than $200, and the committee would like to limit the awards to between $50 and $100, so that the fund may be used in assisting as large a number of ex-service men as possible.

F. B. COLLIER, Secretary.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Prine, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child...I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time...

I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. ———about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble', so he got me 5 bottles...After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved...before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it. E 74

HOT WEATHER DISHES.

There is nothing one may prepare which takes the place of salads of various kinds, especially on hot days.

Simple Onion Salad.—Take the small green-topped onions, slice very thin and serve with a dressing of sour cream, salt and paprika. Served with bread and butter it is a meal with a glass of good cold milk.

Tomato Jelly Salad.—To one can of stewed tomato, well strained, add one teaspoonful each of salt and powdered sugar and two-thirds of a box of gelatin softened in one-half cupful of cold water. Pour into small cups and chill. When ready to serve unmold on head lettuce and serve covered with mayonnaise dressing.

Tomatoes Stuffed With Asparagus Tips.—Prepare tomato shell; invert to drain. Cut cold cooked and seasoned asparagus tips in bits and fill the shells after salting them. Season with grated onion, cover with mayonnaise and serve well chilled.

Sweetbreads and Cucumber Salad.—Mix cooked sweetbreads cut in dice with half the amount of cubed cucumbers and a half cupful of diced celery. Mix with mayonnaise and serve on lettuce.

Cottage Cheese and Chives Salad.—Mix two cupfuls of well-seasoned cottage cheese which has been enriched with thick cream with one-half cupful of finely minced chives. Mold and serve with a simple boiled dressing.

Cucumbers in Sour Cream.—Peel and slice cucumbers as usual, cover with cold water to which a teaspoonful of salt has been added. Let them stand until well wilted, drain and plunge into ice water. Let stand for a half hour, drain and dry on a cloth, then cover with a thick, sour cream which has been seasoned with salt, cayenne pepper, a dash of mustard and a teaspoonful of sugar. If the cream is not sour enough add a dash of vinegar. Serve well chilled.

Summer Dessert.—Fill a baked pastry shell with fresh fruit, top with ice cream or whipped cream and serve from the table.

Today is mine—one royal, golden day,
Filled full of restfulness and sweet content.
I will forget tomorrow and its care;
I have today. What more has anyone?
—F. A. Jones.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

Frozen dishes of all kinds, punches, frappes and sherbets are most welcome during the sultry hot days of midsummer.

Caramel Ice Cream. — Measure one and one-third cupfuls of sugar. Take half of it and caramelize it by melting it in a smooth iron frying pan, stirring constantly until a rich brown in color. Add this very slowly to a hot custard made with two cupfuls of milk, one tablespoonful of flour, one egg and a bit of salt. Cook until smooth and flour is cooked, flavor with vanilla and when the caramel is dissolved freeze as usual.

Fruit Ice Cream.—Take the juice of two oranges, the rind finely grated of one, the juice of two lemons, two cupfuls of sugar, and a quart of rich milk or thin cream. Freeze as usual.

Macaroon Ice Cream.—Take one quart of cream, add three-fourths of a cupful of sugar and one cupful of dry pounded macaroons. Add a tablespoonful of vanilla and freeze.

Banana Ice Cream.—Rub four ripe bananas through a sieve, add one and one-half tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and one cupful of sugar. Stir and mix well, then add one quart of cream. Freeze as usual.

Strawberry Ice Cream.—Wash and hull three pints of berries. Add one and three-fourths cupfuls of sugar and a quart of thin cream. Put the berries through a sieve after mashing them. Strain to remove seeds if desired and freeze after mixing the ingredients.

Lemon Sponge.—Whip the whites of six eggs to a stiff froth. Soak half a package of gelatin in a little cold water and dissolve over hot water. Add to the gelatin the grated rind and juice of half a lemon and sugar to sweeten to taste. Stir until cool and beginning to thicken, then fold in the egg, pour into a wet mold and chill. Any fruit may be used for this mixture in place of the lemon.

"Oh, the world is full of countries,
but here's one that is my own;
It's the land that stood for freedom
when it had to stand alone;
It's the land that gave a welcome to all men who would be free.
Of all the lands around the earth it is the land for me."

FOOD VALUES.

The banana pound for pound is more nutritious than the potato and it constitutes the chief carbohydrate food of millions of people in the tropics, where it takes the place of cereals such as wheat, rye and barley and tubers of all kinds, such as potatoes.

Our government experts at Washington tell us that the banana is not only one of the most nutritious fruits but is one of the most easily digested, which explodes some popular theories regarding this fruit.

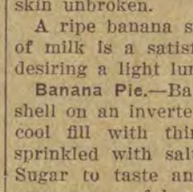
The banana has still another quality which should highly recommend it. The thick skin which covers it is a protection against all contamination and makes it one of the most sanitary articles of diet.

As to the digestibility of the banana, ripe ones are classed with the easily digested foods, but it is important to see that the fruit is ripe. The skin of the fruit should be dark yellow or covered with brown spots; often the best fruit if firm is found in the skins which are dark brown.

Care should be taken to have the fruit cut from the stalk leaving the skin unbroken.

A ripe banana served with a glass of milk is a satisfying meal for one desiring a light luncheon.

Banana Pie.—Bake a tender pastry shell on an inverted pie tin and when cool fill with thinly sliced banana, sprinkled with salt and lemon juice. Sugar to taste and over all pour a generous cupful of whipped cream sweetened and flavored with almond. Serve well chilled.



Bananas With Steak.—Slice in half a few rather firm bananas; lay in a granite pan with butter, sugar, lemon juice and a sprinkling of salt. Cook in the oven until well done, then serve as a garnish for the steak.

Lamb Chops With Peas.—Broil the chops, having them trimmed uniformly. Arrange on a platter garnished with green peas served in a thick drawn butter sauce.

When I behold what pleasure is pursuit,
What life, what glorious eagerness it is;
Then mark how full possession falls from this,
How fairer seems the blossom than the fruit—
I am perplexed.
—T. B. Aldrich.

EASY LUNCHEON DESSERTS.

During the warm weather a dish of fruit with a small cake or a cooky is an ideal dessert. However, for variety the following may prove helpful:

Almond Blanc Mange.—Make a paste of four tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, wet with a little cold milk, add a quart of milk, four tablespoonfuls of sugar and boil until thick. Flavor with almond and stir in one cupful of shredded almonds or a few tablespoonfuls of almond paste. Mold, chill and serve with cream and sugar.

Baked Pears.—Use the large hard pears; core but do not peel. Fill with brown sugar, add a tablespoonful each of butter and lemon juice and baste during the baking. When tender serve cold with cream or the sauce in which they were cooked.

Banana Puffs.—Take one cupful each of sugar and flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, three eggs well beaten and one-fourth of a cupful o milk. Mix well and stir into this mixture three thinly sliced bananas. Half fill buttered custard cups and steam one hour. Serve with a lemon sauce.

Lemon Sauce.—Stir one tablespoonful of flour into one cupful of sugar, add one cupful of boiling water, the yolk of an egg, one tablespoonful of butter, tow tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and a bit of the rind. Cook until smooth and slightly thickened.

Gingerade.—Take two tablespoonfuls of ginger, half a cupful of sugar, a tablespoonful of lemon juice; stir and mix with iced water.

Lemonade.—Make a sirup by using two cupfuls of sugar, a quart of water and two-thirds of a cupful of lemon juice. Dilute with water to suit the individual taste. Lemon sirup, using a cupful of lemon juice to two cupfuls of sugar and one of water, cooked for five minutes, may be bottled and kept indefinitely. A tablespoonful of the sirup to a glass of water will furnish a glass of lemonade. Orangeade may be prepared in the same way, using a half cupful or less of orange juice in making the sirup.

CLASS BY THEMSELVES.

Stanley is one of a large family. Besides numerous sisters and brothers, there are aunts and uncles galore and many cousins. The only young people, however, are those in his immediate neighborhood. At Thanksgiving dinner Stanley gazed solemnly around the table for a while and then announced oracularly: "My mother and the cat seem to be the only people in this whole family that have any children."

TORTOISE SHELL.

The best of tortoise shell will get dull in time, but a good jeweler always knows how to bring back the pristine luster. Combs, barettes and pins that have become clouded and dingy— real tortoise shell, of course—will come back from a jeweler who understands his business looking as good as new. To brighten the imitation shell hair fixings wash them first with a little tepid water and then polish with a bit of chamois dipped in olive oil.

IN COUNTRY DUDS

Grand Array Offered in the Gayest of Wearables.

Newest Coats Are Made of Basket Weave Silk Ratine; Smart Over-Plaited Skirt.

We women would be utterly devoid of vanity if we did not want to revel in a variety of pretty country clothes these sunny summer days, asserts a fashion correspondent. Now is the time above all others when we have an opportunity to bring together an assortment of beautiful colors in our dress. In town we are limited to certain styles and shades, except in our evening dresses and our negligees. For the country the gayest of things are offered, and there is so much to choose from that we need to exercise taste and judgment in our selections.

The sweater or coat must not be chosen because it appeals to you as a color that you have always liked, but bought with a picture of the entire costume in mind. For instance, one of the new open mesh silk sweaters of a tawny gold hue is charming with a rough silk skirt of blending shade and a wide-brimmed old blue straw hat with yellow trimming.

The plain type of sport clothes made of dark colored tweeds and similar cloths may be infinitely practical, but why be practical at the expense of beauty? A woman should make a picture in her sport clothes. Coats and sweaters alone offer unlimited opportunities. It is well to be constantly on the lookout for something new in the way of these jackets that take the place of the stereotyped sweater, which is gradually being replaced by models quite as useful and infinitely pretty.

The newest coats to wear over light dresses or with a pretty white blouse and skirt are made of a basket weave silk ratine. These come in the gayest of colors, such as hunter green, rose and bright scarlet. What could be prettier in effect than a white silk frock worn with such a coat in bright red, the whole costume topped by a vivid scarlet hat? These coats are smart, too, when worn over a plaited white sport skirt or the plain white skirts made of very heavy gaberdines and serges, or with the white flannel skirts which are so much in evidence this year. Full length as well as the sweater length coats may be had. Of course, the sweater length is the most popular because it can be worn all day long if one wishes.

A coat of this material in rose color has long set-in sleeves and is trimmed with hand-drawn work down the front, the trimming continuing all the way around the bottom and also ornamenting the collarless neck and the pockets and cuffs.

To Make a Placket.

The placket of a skirt may be placed either at the side or the back. The opening should only be as long as is necessary for the skirt to be slipped on and off easily. Leave the placket seam open for about ten inches from the waist, according to the size around the hips, but in all cases the shorter the placket the better. Two strips of material, each half an inch longer than the placket opening, should be cut. One strip must be about four inches and the other strip about two inches wide. The wider strip is doubled over and sewn to the left side of the skirt to form an underflap, whilst the other strip is faced to the right side.

Dotted Swiss Is Liked.

For midsummer dotted swiss is apparently to be a great favorite as a dress fabric. Colored swiss with white dots leads. The widest possible range of colors is in evidence, but there seems to be a pronounced fancy for brown. Frequently a sash of satin or faille ribbon matching the frock in color will girdle it at the waistline. Organdie and voile dresses are also in great demand and it is said that dark flowered cotton voile frocks will be active rivals this season of the more costly silk voiles and chiffons.

CAPE-LIKE COAT FOR FALL

The simple lines of this cape-like coat are particularly interesting on this advance season wrap which Parisian modistes have decreed milady to wear this fall.. The high collar is another noteworthy feature.

SMALL HAT ALWAYS WELCOME

Small hats are always welcome for motoring and general outdoor wear. Here is one, olive green in color, with brown Paradise feathers, affording a most pleasing combination.

Collar Now Receives Attention

Neckwear Regarded as Most Important Accessory; Organdie Laces or Tulle Are Summery.

There is, perhaps, no accessory of women's apparel so important at the present moment as the frills and falals we call her neckwear.

With the ardent beams of summer sun, woman puts away regretfully the too heavy fur she snuggled her throat in during the last few days of spring, when there was still a nip in the air o' nights.

Nothing can be more summery than the dainty garnitures of organdie laces or tulle fashioned for just this purpose and giving a touch of lightness and grace to the most sober attire.

To brighten a well-known dress they are invaluable. Last year's taffeta, for instance, can readily be transformed into a charming creation by the addition of a collar, cuffs, belt and side puffs over the hips, all made of organdie, cream or light ecru, edged with a narrow Valenciennes lace. The effect of newness and freshness is enhanced if the organdie is skillfully employed. A wide surplice crossing in front and fastening in the back with a large bow is suggested. The sleeves must be cut exceedingly short and edged with the same banding of organdie and lace.

To wear in the morning with the gingham dress, a real novelty that will meet with approval from the younger set is the large Buster Brown collar of very stiff linen. A ribbon of black moire, or some color contrasting with that of the dress, passes under the collar, ties in a coquettish little bow in front and falls in long ends, loosely.

Some fashionable women like the natural colored pongee collar and cuffs with their tailored suits, but with the novel and original embroideries of real raffia, which comes in every color. These are considered more "elegant" than those of organdie.

Bright Red for Summer.

A very bright red is considerably featured in summer fabric frocks at present. Both plain organdie and dotted swiss appear in the vivid color and frequently hat and parasol match the dress. Fall styles continue to occupy the time and attention of style designers now to the exclusion of summer apparel:

Shantung Suits.

Summer suits of shantung are made with plain two-piece slim skirts and semi-fitted jackets, some on regular tailored lines; others with three-quarter length sleeves, the cuffs, collar and pocket flaps trimmed with knife plaitings of the shantung. A summer stole is of gray caracul edged with a plaiting of gray georgette.

Half-and-Half Ribbon.

What is called half-and-half ribbon is a new ribbon novelty soon to be seen. The effect is obtained by strips or blocks of half-velvet and half-faille or by satin in two colors.

END OF EIGHT YEARS MISERY

Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Recovered.

Newark, N. J.—"The doctor said I had an organic trouble and treated me for several weeks. At times I could not walk at all and I suffered with my back and limbs so I often had to stay in bed. I suffered off and on for eight years. Finally I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was a good medicine and tried it with splendid effect. I can now do my housework and my washing. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound and your Blood Medicine and three of my friends are taking them to advantage. You can use my name for a testimonial."—Mrs. Theresa Coventry, 75 Burnett St., Newark, N. J.

INVENTIVE GENIUS ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Doctors' Favorite Medicine Now Purified and Refined from All Objectionable Effects. "Calotabs"—the New Name.

What will human ingenuity do next? Smokeless powder, wireless telegraphy, horseless carriages, colorless iodine, tasteless quinine,—now comes nauseless calomel. The new improvement called "Calotabs" is now on sale at drugstores.

For biliousness, constipation and indigestion the new calomel tablet is a practically perfect remedy, as evidenced by the fact that the manufacturers have authorized all druggists to refund the price if the customer is not "perfectly delighted" with Calotabs. One tablet at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no nausea, no griping, no salts. By morning your liver is thoroughly cleansed and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite. Eat what you please—no danger—go about your business.

Calotabs are not sold in bulk. Get an original package, sealed. Price, thirty-five cents.—(adv.)

DODSON STOPS SALE OF CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" is Taking Place of Dangerous, Sickening Chemical, Say Druggists

Every druggist in town has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it." Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle doesn't cost very much but if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, just ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day.—Adv.

NO MERCY FOR THE FLIRT

According to Cream, Modern Girl Met With Deserved Condemnation at St. Peter's Hands.

Cortlandt Bleeker was talking at Piping Rock about the modern girl.

"I had a dream last night," he said. "I dreamed that a modern girl died and appeared before St. Peter.

"She wore a gown of filmy, almost transparent tissue. She was very beautiful, and she had a conquering air.

"'Let me in, please,' she said. 'My sweethearts were numberless, but my virtue remained unspotted. Though I skated over miles of thin ice, I never once fell through. I am a modern girl.'

"But St. Peter frowned and said, pointing downwards with his forefinger:

"'I condemn you to the same flames to which you condemned your foolish lovers.'"

Harmonious Episode.

"Did you notice any unanimity of sentiment during the earlier sessions of the convention?"

"On one point only," answered Senator Sorghum. "Everybody stood up when the band played 'The Star-Spangled Banner.'"

A low hedge is easily leaped over.

Nickel No Good.

A little girl walked into a confectionery one morning, placed a nickel on the counter and called for an ice cream cone.

"Ice cream cones are 7 cents, little girl," the fizz clerk announced.

"Well, then, gimme a soda pop."

"Six cents."

"Got any root beer?"

"Yep, 6 cents, too."

The little girl sighed disappointedly and started out, leaving her nickel on the counter.

"Here, little girl, you're leaving your nickel," the clerk called to her.

"Oh, that's all right," the child shouted back. "It's no good to me—it won't buy anything!"

The Handy Airplane.

Just as we have reached the era of national prohibition, a way has been found for reaching Europe in a great hurry. Under the newest development of inventive genius, a thirsty man can hop to the other side, discuss matters of importance with a friend till his words begin to run together and his hat settles permanently over one eye, and then he can get back in ample time to have the headache right in his own home. This is indeed a remarkable age.—Thrift Magazine.

POULTRY

FOWLS FOR BACKYARD FLOCK

Not Necessary to Have Hens of Extra Good Standard Quality for Egg Production.

For the backyard flock, kept to produce eggs only, it is not necessary to have hens of extra good standard quality. What breeders of standard poultry call choice utility hens are as good as any for egg production, and cost but little more than ordinary mongrels. Hens of this grade in the medium-sized breeds are usually a little under standard weights, and have superficial faults—as unsoundness of color, or irregularity of markings or of the shape of the comb—which in no way affect their laying capacity, but make them unfit for exhibition and undesirable for breeding purposes.

When buying hens in person, particular attention should be given to the general condition—whether the bird seems vigorous and lively—and to the appearance of the comb and the condition of the feet. Healthy hens have bright red combs and bright eyes, assert poultry specialists of the United States department of agriculture. A slight paleness of the comb is simply an indication that the hen is not laying at the time; but a bird whose comb has either a yellowish or a bluish cast should be rejected, for these are symptoms of internal disorders. The skin and scales of legs and toes should be smooth, and the soles of the feet soft and free from corns.

DUST BATH VERY ESSENTIAL

Best Results Cannot Be Expected If Hens Are Permitted to Become Overrun With Vermin.

If the best results are to be expected from the flock, the hens must not be allowed to become overrun with lice or the house with mites. Usually, there will be a place in the yard where the hens can dust themselves in the dry dirt. In the absence of such a place, a box about 2 feet square and containing ordinary road dust or fine dirt should be placed in the house.

A dust bath aids the hens in keeping lice in check and therefore adds to their comfort. If they are not able to keep them in check by dusting themselves, other measures can be taken.—United States Department of Agriculture.

SELECTING GOOD LAYERS

Keep as good layers:

1. Hens which have been the best layers during the past year should be kept over for breeders for next year.
2. Hens which have not started to molt.
3. Hens that have bright red combs and wattles and bright eyes.
4. Well spread pelvic bones, good depth from lay bones to keel bone and vent soft and pliable.
5. Pale shanks, beak and vent on all breeds which have yellow shanks and skin. Use all of the test to be sure you get the good layers.

SEXES SHOULD BE SEPARATED

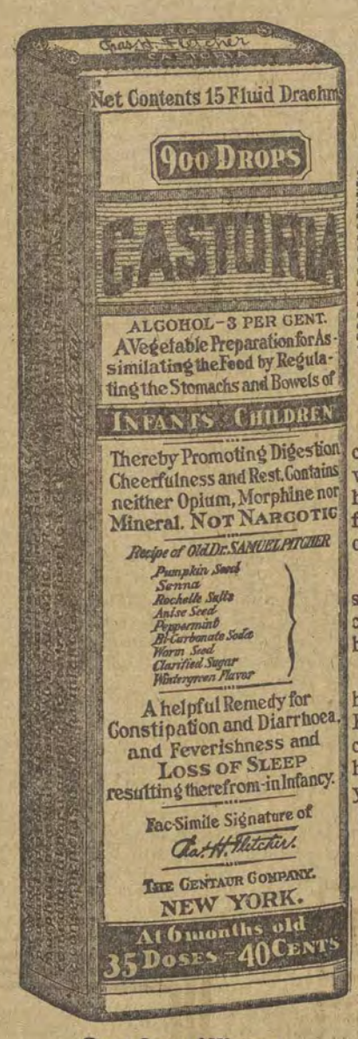
As Soon as Young Males Begin to Crow They Should Be Fattened for Market.

The young stock should not be reared among a flock of old birds. They should be kept separate. As soon as the young males nag and worry the females (which is about the time they start to crow) the sexes should be separated, and the males fed an extra allowance of food. The cockerels can be mated to the hens without fear of bad effects from inbreeding.

FURNISH SHADE IN SUMMER

Chicks, Poults, Ducklings and Goslings Must Have Ample Shade During Hot Weather.

If the ground that the chicks, poults, ducklings and goslings range over during the summer is grass land browned by the heat of the sun and affording no tender green food, be sure that the youngsters have ample shade and one good feed of fresh, tender green food every day.



Some More Truths.

WOULD you use a steam shovel to move a pebble? Certainly not. Implements are built according to the work they have to do.

Would you use a grown-up's remedy for your baby's ills? Certainly not. Remedies are prepared according to the work THEY have to do.

All this is preliminary to reminding you that Fletcher's Castoria was sought out, found and is prepared solely as a remedy for Infants and Children. And let this be a warning against Substitutes, Counterfeits and the Just-as-good stuff that may be all right for you in all your strength, but dangerous for the little babe.

All the mother-love that lies within your heart cries out to you: Be true to Baby. And being true to Baby you will keep in the house remedies specially prepared for babies as you would a baby's food, hairbrush, tootbrush or sponge.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Are You Prepared?

A doctor in the house all the time would be a good idea. Yet you can't afford to keep a doctor in the family to keep baby well or prevent sickness. But you can do almost the same thing by having at hand a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria, because it is a wonderful remedy for indigestion, colic, feverishness, fretfulness and all the other disorders that result from common ailments that babies have.

Fletcher's Castoria is perfectly safe to use. It is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. Children cry for Fletcher's Castoria, and mothers recommend it because they have found it a comfort to children and a mother's friend.

If you love your baby, you know how sweet it is to be able to help baby when trouble comes. You cannot always call upon a doctor. But doctors have nothing but good to say of Fletcher's Castoria, because they know that it can only do good—that it can't do any harm—and they wouldn't want you to use for baby a remedy that you would use for yourself.

SOCIETY AND PERSONALS

MRS. R. E. LUCKIE, Editor.

MRS. ROY COMPLIMENTED

One of the most enjoyable of the many courtesies shown Mrs. Roy was the noon breakfast, at which Mrs. Hugh Jones complimented her sister on Saturday. Dainty little baskets marked the places of the guests. The color scheme of blue and gold was beautifully carried out in the menu, which consisted of five courses.

A huge basket of nasturtiums graced the center of the table. This was over hung with blue morning glories running to the places of each guest, where little baskets holding golden rod stood. At the conclusion of the breakfast bridge was played at two tables.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Julia Ruth Hester celebrated her sixth birthday at the home of her parents at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. As the little friends arrived they were served delicious punch by Miss Margaret Hester. Afterwards games were played on the lawn, then cream and cake were served to the guests.

MRS. ROY HONORED

Mrs. Louis Roy, of Montgomery, was the honor-guest at the pretty brigde party given by Mrs. Victor Heard on Tuesday afternoon. The rooms were very attractive with baskets of garden flowers.

A series of games of bridge were enjoyed, the highest score falling to Mrs. Hugh Jones, and the honoree, Mrs. Roy, was presented with a dainty hand-made embroidered handkerchief.

At the conclusion of the games dainty refreshments were served.

MRS. GRADY BROADHEAD

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Grady Broadhead entertained the Sewing Club, complimenting Mrs. Roy, the charming house guest of Mrs. Hugh Jones. The house was made most attractive on this occasion, with pink hydrangers and garden flowers. A delicious salad plate and ice course was served late in the afternoon.

DINNER FOR MRS. ROY

Mrs. Hugh Simpson entertained a few friends at dinner on Friday in honor of Mrs. Louis Roy. The table was centered with beautiful garden flowers.

Covers were laid for eight and a sumptuous course menu was served.

Mrs. R. E. Luckie and children have gone to Pineapple for a stay of two weeks with Mrs. Luckie's parents. Mr. Luckie will join them before they return home.

JOINT BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Mary McSwain, age 9, and Louise, age 7, delightfully entertained quite a number of their little friends at a joint birthday party, on Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock at their home. Games were enjoyed for a while, after which cream and cake were served to the guests.

MRS. CHANDLER ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Harvey Chandler gave one of the pleasantest events of the week when she was hostes to the young matron's club. Her home was prettily decorated in bright garden flowers and ferns.

The score prize, a dainty handerchief, was won by Mrs. Victor Heard, and Mrs. Victor Roy, an out-of-town guest, was presented a bottle of toilet water as a memento of the evening's pleasure.

Mrs. Chandler, assisted by Master George Allen, served a delicious ice course.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Bridges of Richmond, Va., arrived Sunday to be the guest of the former's parents for two weeks.

Miss Mary Upchurch has returned home after a visit of two weeks to Dothan.

Mrs. Robert Powe and children of Birmingham arrived Thursday and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. VanDerveer.

Mr. and Mrs. Macy Jones had as their guest for the week-end Mrs. Jones' mother, Mrs. Adeline Giddens of Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanfield and Miss Alice Stanfield are visiting friends in Montgomery.

Mrs. Reese Mullins entertained her Sunday School Class, the seniors of the Methodist Church, Friday night, at a watermelon cutting at 7 o'clock.

Mr. Alonza A. Poole of Montgomery was in Clanton on business Monday of this week.

W. H. PARRISH DIED SATURDAY

Mr. W. H. Parrish, better known as "Uncle Bill," died at his home near Maple Springs last Saturday. He was 56 years of age, a member of the Missionary Baptist Church, the Red Men and Maccabees. He leaves a wife and 8 children.

Burial services were held Sunday at Providence in Beat 16.

The deceased was the son of old Uncle Monroe Parrish, and was born and reared in the eastern part of the county near the Cove on Coosa River. Several years ago he removed to Maple Springs community, where he lived until his death. "Uncle Bill" was a good man, who held the love and confidence of his fellow-men, and now that he is gone from the walks of life, those who loved him while he was among us will mourn at his departure.

JEMISON NEWS ITEMS

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please be so kind as to allow us space in your valuable paper to say a few words in regard to the social affairs of this community?

Everyone seems to be enjoying life to the fullest extent. A greater number of the young people of our little town enjoyed a "spend-the-day" party Sunday at the home of Miss Retha Robinson. Those attending the party were Misses Payron and Bettie Mae Mae Reynolds, Florie and Inez Harris, Sybil Langston, Rubye Collum, Hattie Smitherman, Messrs Herbert Wright, Leo Langston, and Albert Duffee, also Rev. Buford Lawrence, pastor of the Baptist Church.

After a bountiful luncheon was served we all loaded up on Mr. Wright's truck and motored over to Yellow Leaf Creek, where we attended Baptising services which were conducted by Rev. Lawrence.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the day very much, especially did they enjoy the delicious refreshments which were served throughout the day.

We will close for this time by inviting everyone to atend the box supper at the Jemison school building on Saturday night, August 7 8:00 o'clock. All the girls of the community are requested to be present with a well filled box and the boys with a well filled pocket book, as the proceeds are for the church piano.

Rheumatism Comes From Tiny Pain Demons

Disease Caused by Germs in the Blood.

Medical scientists differ as to the causes of every form of rheumatism, but agree that when caused by a tiny disease germ, the only effective method of treatment, is to attack the disease at its source, and cleanses the blood of its cause.

This is why S. S. S., the greatest known blood purifier is so successful in the treatment of Rheumatism. It is a powerful cleanser of the blood, and will remove the disease germs that cause your Rheumatism, affording relief that is genuine.

S. S. S. is sold by all druggists. Free literature and medical advice can be had by writing to Chief Medical Adviser, Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. W. W. Kicker and family of Palos spent Saturday night and Sunday with relatives and friends in our county.

Mr. T. M. Dennis and sisters, Bertha and Nettie, spent last Saturday in Elmore County.

Miss Melba Wilson of Palos spent Saturday night with Mrs. Ida Popwell and Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Cora Mims.

Miss Sallie Johnson has returned from Birmingham after spending some time with relatives there.

Mr. Evan Burkhalter appears to be our champion water melon grower. He brought a load to Clanton Saturday that brought him one dollar each, as fast as he could hand them out. This shows that it pays to grow the best .

Lee Maddox and Robert Jones, together with their families, motored from Sheffield to Clanton, arriving here on Tuesday evening. Lee asks us to tell his friends howdy for him thru the columns of "the dear old Banner."

Mr. Jake Bailey, Jr., of Elmore County was in Clanton Monday.

McGill's Autopower Attachment for Ford Cars.

Citizens of Chilton County:—Each and everyone of you that owns a Ford Car needs to see me as quick as possible and let me make you a power plant out of your Ford. It is something you have never seen before. This attachment is fastened on in front of your car and takes the power direct from your crank shaft, therefore you are guaranteed 5 to 12 horsepower from you 22½ H. P. engine.

If anyone who has any kind of belt-driven machinery, such as a wood saw, any kind of feed grinder, thresher, pump, grist mill, corn sheller, or any other form of machinery that you want pulled, I will show you at any time you will call me that my Ford will pull them successfully, and I can make yours do the same thing.

I am also in my Blacksmith shop ready to do any kind of wheel work or horse shoeing. I guarantee to give satisfaction. I am located in front of the county jail. I will say to my patrons that I will be in my shop every day of the week except Tuesday. On Tuesdays I will travel over the county to places out of reach of Clanton. So if you want your Ford Cars to work for you just call me and I will put a set of harness on them and put them to work for you.

Yours for more power,

JESSE C. JONES

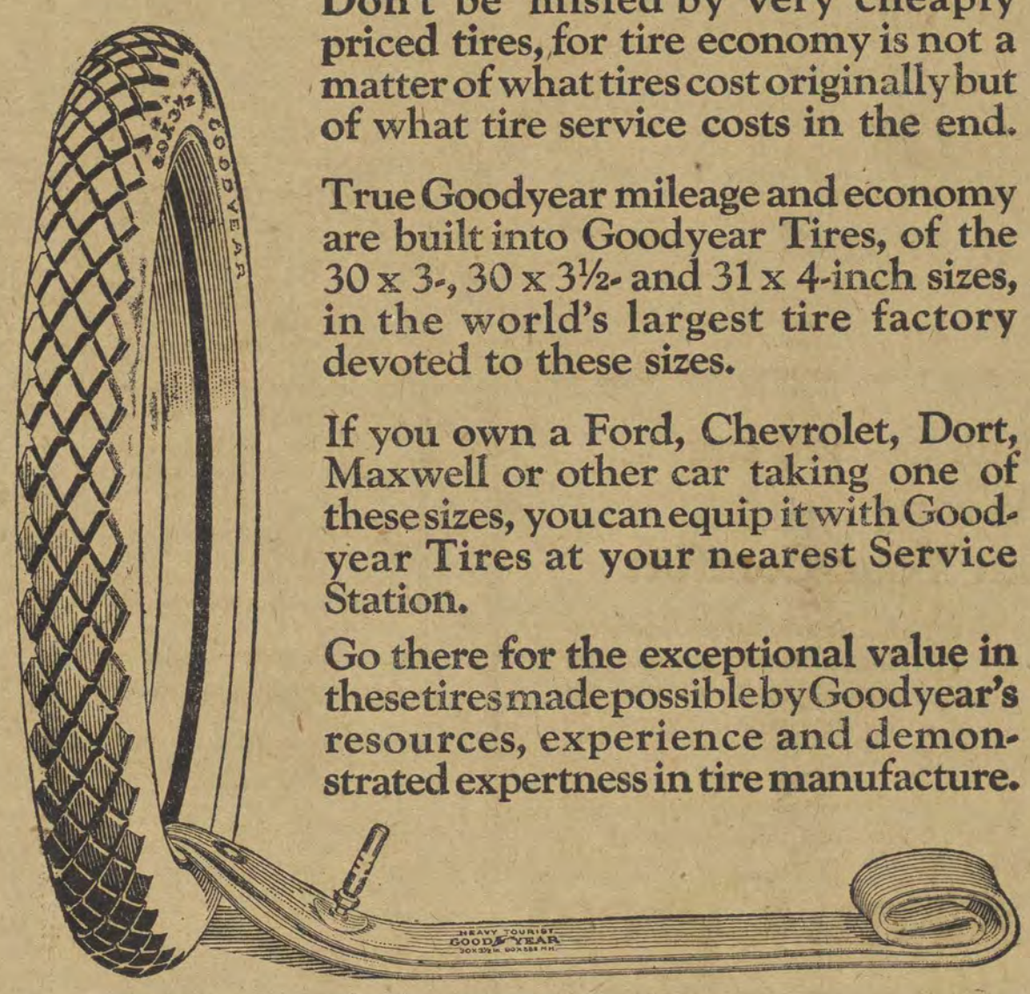
Before Prices go up

Come in for the details of our Budget Plan



If you are thinking about purchasing a New Edison, mark this. The New Edison today costs less than 15% over what it did in 1914. Mr. Edison has personally, held prices down by absorbing more than one-half of the increased costs of manufacturing. He may not be able to do this much longer.

The NEW EDISON
"The Phonograph with a Soul"

Our Budget Plan will take care of the payments.

Get Goodyear Value In Tires for Small Cars

Don't be misled by very cheaply priced tires, for tire economy is not a matter of what tires cost originally but of what tire service costs in the end.

True Goodyear mileage and economy are built into Goodyear Tires, of the 30 x 3-, 30 x 3½- and 31 x 4-inch sizes, in the world's largest tire factory devoted to these sizes.

If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell or other car taking one of these sizes, you can equip it with Goodyear Tires at your nearest Service Station.

Go there for the exceptional value in these tires made possible by Goodyear's resources, experience and demonstrated expertness in tire manufacture.

Notice to Masons of Chilton County

County Conference Will Be Held At Cooper With Amande Lodge for Three Days, Aug. 18, 19, 20.

The Masonic Conference of Chilton County will be held at Coopers with Amande Lodge No. 250, beginning the third Wednesday in August, the 18th, and continue three days. All lodges in Chilton County are urgently requested to be present, as we want to make this one of the best conferences that we have ever had since the conference was organized. Bro. Pearson will be with us for three days.

Let me call your attention again and urge every Mason that can possibly be here to come. We will take care of all visiting brothers.

SKELT WILLIAMS BOILS OVER

That irascible individual, John Skelton Williams, Comptroller of the Currency, in his annual report goes out of his way to take a fling at Senate Republicans and add his little boost to the campaign for the league of nations. In the report he refers to "the disturbed and alarming state of affairs in parts of the old world, for which I am convinced this country's refusal to ratify the peace treaty is largely responsible." It is Mr. William's business to look after his own office, and not inflict his opinions of our foreign relations on to the readers of his reports. But now that he has made the statement it would be interesting if he would amplify it.

In what way would America's ratification of the treaty a year ago have brought calm to the old world? Granting for the sake of argument that it would have done so, what would have been the effect in the United States of sending to Europe large sums of money, even huger quantities of food stuffs than have actually been sent, and armies to keep the peace? Would not the price of bringing content to the old world have been the fomenting of a discontent in this country amounting possibly to revolution, and is Mr. Williams willing to pay that price? Did not the delay of eight months after the armistice before the league-treaty was finally negotiated have something to do with postponing the return to normal conditions in Europe? Has Mr. Williams read the recent comment of Col. House on the peace conference wherein he said that peace could have been consumated within a month of the armistice had it not been for Mr. Wilson's insistence that his league covenant should take precedence? These are some of the thoughts that are running through the minds of the American people today, and they are having no difficulty in determining the stand they want theiy country to take in its relations to affairs of the old world.

MRS. PRICE KILLED

The wife of Dutch Price of Lomax was killed by a freight train at the Lomax crossing early last Thursday morning. She had been in a deranged state of mind for some time and it is said that this condition of her mind is responsible for the accident. Her head and both arms were cut off and both legs broken.

CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL FALL TERM BEGINS SEPT. 1ST

The fall term of the Chilton County High School will begin Wednesday, September 1st, 1920. Students are urged to be in attendance the first day. Those entering late will find it difficult to catch up with the work they shall have missed. Make your plans to be there on the first day. This is important.

All indications are pointing to one of the best years in the history of the school. Three coursese of study will be offered next year, namely, Science, Latin, and Vocational Home Economics. The latter is new and is adapted to the needs and environment of a great number of girls of our school. The course is not compulsory but elective.

The Union-Banner will publish next week a description of the courses of study as prescribed by the State Board of Education for use in County High Schools. And further announcements to those anticipating entrance will also be published. In the meantime Principal S. E. Alverson shall be glad to talk with parents relative to the course of study and welfare of their boys and girls.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS BRIGHTEN

As the end of Wilsonism approaches, with a return once more of national affairs to Republican control, encouraging reports from business are heard in all parts of the country. Except in textiles, leather, shoes and some luxury lines, there is an increasing prosperity, and in many instances the capacity of plants has been sold for months in advance. The labor situation too, in spite of some bad features, shows an improvement on the whole. There is no doubt that the period from now until March 4th next, when the Republicans will assume the reins of government, will witness a rapid return to normal in the economic life of the nation, and thereafter the prosperity of the country will resume the progress that distinguished it prior to the advent of the Wilson heresies.

THE CHILTON COUNTY S. S. CONVENTION

The Chilton County Sunday School Association will confer special distinction upon every district in the county, which will be represented at the county conventon to be held at Clanton, Ala., on August 23rd, by as many as twenty-five officers and teachers. Such a district will win for itself the honor of being designated as a "Blue Ribbon District."

Delegates of a Blue Ribbon District will be presented with a special badge, which they will wear throughout the convention as a mark attainment.

This Blue Ribbon District contest is statewide. At the annual state convention of the Alabama Sunday School Association to be held at Sheffield in April, an honor roll of the Blue Ribbon winners of every district in each county in the state will be made public.

As a pleasing feature of the annual Sunday School convention of Chilton County, all districts are urged to participate in the effort to identify themselves with the "blue ribbon crowd."

T. J. Dorminey of Stumps Hills was in Clanton Monday at Commissioners Court. He says his community will not make any cotton owing to the destructive hail storm that visited them a few months ago.

MONEY TO LOAN

$50,000.00

I have succeeded in arranging with one of the largest Fire Insurance Companies in America, with millions and millions of capital and surplus, for the above amount —and more if needed, to be loaned to farmers of this section, with which to insure their property, including Jemison, Thorsby, Clanton, Coopers, Verbena, and surrounding territory.

The loans will be made in this way: We inspect and estimate your property, including dwelling and contents, barn and contents, smoke house, feed stuff, mules and cattle, and insure you for three fourths value against fire, lightning and wind storms, figuring you up for five years for only four and one-half years premiums, you paying one-fifth cash and the other four-fifths in four annual installments, without interest.

This strictly applies to farmers and good risk. If you will insure your home, we will also carry your tenant houses for you.

If interested, please write, phone or call on me, and I will be glad to consider your application. I also write old line Life Insurance and sell Singer Sewing Machines.

Now listen, people! You do not owe me one cent, neither do you owe my company anything, but you do owe yourself and your wife and children protection against Fires, Lightning, Wind Storms and Death.

THE "HEART OF THE LEAGUE"

Washington, August 9. — Calling upon the people to commit Article Ten of the League of Nations covenant to memory, the Republican Publicity Association issues the following statement:

"It is probable that many of our citizens entertain a more or less vague notion of the influence the league of nations covenant would have upon the welfare of the United States in case it should be accepted by this nation. Some have a visionary idea that world peace somehow would be established and made permanent if America should lend its power to the league. They have made no real attempt to estimate the cost to them or to their country of such a proceeding, and permit their minds to dwell only upon the blessings that would come if war should be no more. Others have a more or less well defined notion that the independence of the United Itates would be compromised in some way if the covenant were adopted, but, they too, would have difficulty in explaining their misgivings were they called upon for a reason.

"Now, it requires no profound study of the 26 sections of the covenant, nor of the many wordy treatises that have been written upon it, to bring home to everyone of our citizens a vivid realization of just what would happen if the United States were bound by its terms today, and what the future would hold for America were its restrictions to be applied to our progress. It is true that every one of those sections contains provisions more or less directly affecting our welfare, but there is one short sentence of the covenant that contains more potential evil for America than all the rest of the document together. That sentence is contained in the famous Article X, and reads as follows: "The members of the league undertake to respect and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league."

Every man and every woman who desires to cast an intelligent vote at the polls this fall should commit that passage to memory and ponder over it in the weeks that follow before the election. That sentence is the "heart of the league," to use Mr. Wilson's own characterization. Therein lies the pith and substance of the whole contract and a proper understanding of what it means is sufficient education on the much-discussed league to give everyone a comprehension of its dangers. Were the United States a member of the league it would be bound under that provision to go immediately to the assistance of any one of the 45 other member nations, more or less, the moment it was threatened with attack by another country. America would be solemnly bound to "preserve the territorial integrity" of each separate one of that multitude of countries, great and small. That obligation would be distinct from the undertaking entered into by any other member. It would matter not to us whether the other signatures under took to carry out their contracts or not. Whether they or any of them took steps to preserve one of their number from attack, it would be up to the United States to do so individually. The only alternative would be a disgraceful repudiation by Congress and the people of a most sacred covenant.

Now, Poland is one of those 45 member nations. Some of the others are India, China, Czechoslovakia, Haiti, Greece , Hedjaz, Japan, Portugal, Roumania, Serbia, Siam, Switzerland and Persia. Poland at this moment is attacked along hundreds of miles of her frontier. Were we in the league our armies even now would be engaged in bitter warfare on the Polish-Russian front, and billions of supplies and hundreds of thousands of American soldiers would be hurrying across the Atlantic. War against many of the other countries is likely to break out at any time, whereupon the United States would be compelled to duplicate its program in Poland. How long would it be before our own fair land would be reduced to the level of many of the nations of Europe—bankrupt in men, money and morale?

SHOULTS

Sunday School seems to be going backward. We wonder why so many have quit; hope next Sunday everybody will be there.

Prof. James Franklin is doing some good work with his singing school here. He had on roll last week 43 pupils. If everyone would do their best this could be one of the finest singing classes in this country. But a few do not seem interested enough to get down to hard work. Prof. Franklin is doing his part and we should do ours.

Mr. Hart Walker entertained a number of his friends last Saturday night, at the home of his sister, Mrs. Willie Hicks. Everyone seemed to greatly enjoy the evening. Many games were played, then watermelons were cut; all seemed to enjoy the melons.

Miss Mae Hamrick of this community was married last Monday to Mr. Ruben Bearden from Maplesville. They will make their future home in Birmingham. Miss Mae was a teacher in our Sunday School, and she will be missed by all. We extend to this couple our best wishes and congratulations.

At this time Mr. Eugene McGee and several in his family are sick with typhoid fever. We are sorry indeed to hear this, and hope they will soon recover.

Mrs. Buford Lawrence from Birmingham is visiting mother and father in law, Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence.

Mrs. Oscar Shoults from Selma moved back to this community last Friday. Her friends are glad to have her back again.

Mr. Jeff Ellie and family from Holt, Ala., are visiting relatives and friends here.

THE SACRED HARP MUSICAL ASSOCIATION OF ALABAMA

The B. F. White Sacred Harp Musical Association of Alabama, will convene in Birmingham August 20, 21, and 22. Friday and Saturday sessions will be held in the county court house, and Sunday session will be held in the Fraternal Hall, one block east of the court house. All of the old time singers are cordially invited to attend. Come and be with us and enjoy this grand gathering of singers of the various counties of the state. Don't miss the largest class of singers you were ever in.

CROPS OF ALABAMA STILL SHOW RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN YIELD

A summary of conditions for the past week, issued by F. W. Gist, agricultural statistican for Alabama of the Crop Estimates, shows a continuation of crop development, with slight changes in weather over most of the State. General rain fell on only one day, with temperatures rather cool. Farm work has been about completed even in the northern counties, where apparently crops have been "laid by" at a rather early stage. Corn has continued its growth and still looks well, the only danger coming from its lateness. Cotton is fruiting rapidly and where not receiving too much rain is maturing a goodly volume of bolls. Haying is progressing in the grass lands. No harvesting has begun with either cotton or corn. The weevil situation is threatening; while damage so far is light except in local sections, too much rain will bring heavy loss. Other insects are reported only in local sections. Pastures are beginning to fail in some counties, but livestock are in good condition. Hogs are not up to the standard in numbers, and the markets are quite dull. A summary of reports by districts follows:

North Alabama.

Weather conditions changed from too wet to too dry in most counties reporting. Work nearly completed in all sections. Cotton fruiting rapidly, but some reports of loss by shedding; corn good, but beginning to need rain; haying in fair progress. Some worm damage reported to corn and grass; weevils numerous and doing damage in the northeast and some hill counties; a few reports of red spider and boll worms. Livestock in good shape, but too cheap to sell.

Blackbelt.

Weather generally dry and favorable. Work practically finished. Corn needing rain, but looks good; cotton growth and fruiting fair; hay cutting progressing. Weevil doing material damage in most counties, but retarded in some by dry weather. Worms in only a few places. Pastures beginning to fail, but stock in good condition; market dull.

East Central.

Local rains beneficial in most sections. Work generally completed. All crops look well; early corn made; some shedding in the cotton. Weevil damage not uniform, but noticeable in places. Livestock in good shape.

South Alabama.

Weather generally favorable, but not uniformly so; too much rain in some sections too little in others. Work of cultivation complete. All the crops look good, but harvest will be late. Weevil is now doing heavy damage in some sections, and rain would result in serious loss if too frequent. Cattle in good condition; hogs short in numbers.

FRAZIER-JELKS REVIVAL

The Frazier-Jelks revival services at the court house will continue the rest of this week. We urge the people of the country communities to come to these services and hear this truly wonderful preacher expound the truths of God's Word. The services are held every day at eleven o'clock and every night at eight. With all due respects to those who have held revival meetings in Clanton before (and there have been some mighty good ones, such as Reese and Ray) we are bound to say that Frazier takes the cake. And a fellow who does not enjoy hearing Jelks sing —well he needs something but we don't know what to prescribe.

Rufus C. Calloway Died in France 1918

Body Will Be Returned to Home At Maplesville, and then Brought to Samaria for Final Burial.

Mr. Ralph Calloway of Maplesville was in Clanton Monday and showed us a telegram he had from the Graves Registration Service of the United States Army in New Iork City, stating that the body of his son, 2nd Lieut. Rufus C. Calloway, would arrive in New York City from France about the 15th of this month. Young Calloway died of the flu and pneumonia in France on November 1st, 1918.

Mr. Calloway stated that upon the arrival of the body at his home in Maplesville, it will be brought to Samaria Cemetery near Clanton for final burial. There are many interested friends and relatives of the family throughout the county, who will want to attend the funeral, and Mr. Calloway promised to let us know when he could tell definitely the date of the burial, in order that we might publish the information through the paper and give everybody who desires an opportunity to attend.

This will be, so far as we know, the first and only body of a Chilton County boy yet returned from France.

VOTERS WILL HAVE A CHANCE TO REGISTER

We call the attention of the people of the county to the notice of Registration of voters which is now being published in the paper by the County Registrar, J. R. Parnell. He will be at the court house in Clanton on the 27th and 28th of August, at which time all persons who are entitled to register under the laws of Alabama can register and get ready to vote in the election this fall. This does not apply alone to those who have just reached the voting age, but to every one who may be due and entitled to register in this county to vote.

All concerned should take due notice of this opportunity as it will be the last chance to get right before the November election.

C. M. Foshee of Maplesville was in Clanton Monday on business at the court house in connection with the T. U. Crumpton estate.

SIXTH UNIT NOW AUTHORIZED AT LOCK 12 ON COOSA RIVER

The Alabama Power Company has decided to put in a sixth unit at the large power plant at Lock 12 on the Coosa River, near here. It will take nearly a year to complete the building of the new unit and when complete will give the immense plant an increase in its capacity of 19,500 horsepower and a total capacity of 105,000 horsepower. While the water flow of the Coosa will not permit the operation of the six units at one time, it will be the means of conserving a large amount of coal.

A meeting of the Board of Directors was held at the company offices in Birmingham late Friday, when it was voted to make the addition of the sixth unit. It was decided that it was best to begin the work at once on account of the limited time in the year that such improvements can be made without intereference from high water.

Curt Ingram from Coosa County was in Clanton a few days this week for treatment at the Clanton Infirmary.

Candidate Cox cannot repudiate the Wilson adminstration. Hemust defend it.

Europe managed to get off with the world' supply of sugar; but it did not get enough to preserve peace.

Candidate Harding captured the Elks last week. This week he captured the Knights of Pythias. Some winner.

America has a whole lot of sympathy for Poland; but is it not about time for America to have a little sympathy for herself?

California is safe for the Republicans this year. Senator Johnson has spoken and taken his coat off for Harding and Coolidge.

Governor Cox tells the country that his mind "runs along" in perfect accord with the mind of the President. That is sufficient.—Huntington (W. Va.) Herald-Dispatch.

If Candidate Cox puts the soft pedal on the Convenant of the League of Nations there will be a loud crescendo and basso profundo from the White House.

Uncle Wash asked us Wednesday morning if we thought it had rained enough to plant turnip seed. Seems to us that it rained enough to drown the darn things.

Henceforth Historians will be obliged to discriminate between several armistices—all resulting from the many wars under the League of Nations to "maintain peace."

Senator Knox of Pennsylvania commends Mr. Harding's speech of acceptance because it is a "strong and stirring utterance by an earnest and patriotic man."

Senator Harding refuses to give his assistance to the release of those so-called "citizens" who are imprisoned for obstructing the draft, and giving aid to the enemy. Real patriots will applaud.

Congress did a good job when it cut down the appropriations for State Department cables from Europe over $800,000 since June 30. Too much Europe is nauseating. Give us a large dose of America and note the result.

The new French tariff law has increased import duties materially, "to provide for the same protection as before the war." The nations of Europe are adopting the protection policy. The United States will soon restore protection.

Pierrepont B. Noyes, member of the Interallied Rhineland Commission reports that "France is making no progress." This is contrary to the reports of the agents of the United States Department of Commerce, and the Associated Press reports.

Already France is exercised over the large salaries paid the leading officers of the League of Nations, and the big number of employes in the many departments. It is reported that over one hundred employes already are on the pay-roll. At least 100 persons favor the League.

Having been a country newspaper publisher, the presidency should have no terrors for Senator Harding. He became used to being damned if he does and damned if he don't, and will accept as a matter of course the multitude of people who know better what he should do than he does himself.—Hillsboro (Ore.) Republican.

We are getting alarmed over the declaration by the Alabama Democratic daily papers that Cox smashed all hopes of Harding's success when he turned loose the first of his campaign thunder last Saturday. We know the Republicans are doomed to oblivion when such authorities as the Birmingham News and Age-Herald and the Montgomery Advertiser and Journal say so.

A CORRECTION.

In the report of the July marriages in last week's paper there appeared the names of Mr. B. E. Collom and Miss Lena Watts. We have been informed that this is a mistake, and the names should have been Mr. B. E. Oldham and Miss Lena Watts.

Judge Reynolds and family motored to Birmingham Wednesday. The folks will visit Mrs. J. O. Newell for a few days and the Judge will go from Birmingham to Anniston where he is to make a speech before the State Farmers Union meeting Thursday.

It pays to be a preacher sometimes anyhow. Rev. W. P. Lowery of Thorsby went with the bunch to Orrville last week, and when Mr. Lambert, one of the owners of the West Dallas Farms, became acquainted with him and found that he was a preacher, he made him a present of a very fine young Plymouth Rock rooster. He didn't think enough of any of the other fellows to even give them a "bantam."

Circuit Clerk M. D. Foshee is getting his arrangements all made for the regular jury term of the Court, which will convene here on Sept. 24.

The Masons of Chilton county are urged to make arrangements to attend the county Masonic Conference which is to be held with Amand Lodge at Coopers for three days, beginning on Wednesday, the 18th of August.

FOR SALE—2-horse power International Gasoline Engine, fine shape, ready to run; will sell reasonable—W. E. MADDOX, Route 1. 8-12-2tpd.

Prof. H. C. McDonald and Mr. J. D. Martin of Wetumpka were in Clanton a short while last Thursday evening. Their many friends here were glad to see them.

Tax Assessor J. N. Dennis will have the continued assistance of his former efficient clerk during the coming season of assessing taxes; the only difference is that from now on it is Mrs. Sessions instead of Miss Mollie Murrah as heretofore.

Dr. Gragg went on the trip to Orrville last week, and he says he had a most enjoyable time. The doctor is interested in farming as a side issue to "pill-rolling." He owns a big farm out on Mulberry.

When Cox went to see Wilson three weeks ago, he came away with the promise to the country that "Whatever Mr. Wilson has promised you, I shall endeavor to fulfill if elected to the Presidency." But now he assures the country, in his acceptance speech, that he is absolutely unfettered by promises or obligations to anybody. Looks like he is trying to present two faces in his appeal for votes.

Judge and Mrs. Reynolds and W. A. Reynolds went up to Jemison on Sunday to see their father, Rev. Job Reynolds. Judge Reynolds is a very busy man, looking after the duties of the Probate office and various other items of business and keeping his appointments; and W. A. goes up and down the state from one end to the other keeping track of his farms and saw mills. But they never get too busy to neglect their regular visits every week or two to the home of their good old father.

Mr. H. B. Glenn of Beat 16 was in Clanton Tuesday looking for a location in reach of our good schools.

The country newspaper office with its odor of printer's ink and the constant call of cold type, where the editor is required to be reporter, editor, publisher, business manager, to look after subscriptions and see to ads and collections, not to mention giving attention as a leading citizen to the affairs of the community, is one of the greatest universities in America. Out of this university have come many of America's greatest men. Senator Harding has gone through the ordeal of this great school with conspicuous success.—The Snyder Co. (Beaver Springs) Pa., News.

Homer Cummings says President Wilson is immortal, and that's going some for a campaign starter.—Indianapolis News.

Cox and Roosevelt received a demonstrative reception at Washington. The bulk of the population of that town would be glad to remain there for the next four years.—Montgomery Advertiser.

What a farce is made of popular government when one man, sitting in the White House at the end of a long distance telephone, and controlling a vast list of federal jobs is able to dictate to the abject and cowering delegates to his party's national convention what they shall say in the platform, who shall make up th ecommittee to frame the platform, who shall preside over the convention, and who shall be nominated.—Vincenes (Ind.) Commercial.

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION TO MEET NEXT TUESDAY.

The Chilton County Board of Education will meet at Clanton on next Tuesday, Aug. 17th. Any school district in the county that may want to vote a district 3-mill tax this year must present their petition to the Board on or before that date. Any other school matters that the people may want to bring before the Board will be considered at this meeting.

"The Stars are for Harding," says a headline. And the moonshine is for Cox, whether he wants it or not. —Fairmont, (Nebr.) Telegram.

HOUSE - SULLIVAN

Uncle Bill House of Jumbo came into the Banner office Wednesday morning and as he entered the door we perceived he was all dolled up like a young sixteen year old boy, and there was a bashful smile on his happy face that completely betrayed his motives. We knew there was something up and when we had pried around and hemmed him up so close that there was no escape he reached down in the pocket of his new alpaca jacket and produced a paper. Without unfolding it he handed it to the editor saying "If you must know all about it, here it is." Now, what do you reckon it was? Guess. You couldn't guess it in a thousand years. It was a marriage license. The document bore the names of Mr. W. L. House and Miss Mattie Sullivan.

They were married in Clanton on Wednesday.

Now, Uncle Bill don't need any introduction to the people around here. He is a young man of the finest character and most honorable reputation. He has been a citizen of the Jumbo neighborhood for many years.

His bride is a nice young lady of Calera who numbers her friends by the hundreds.

The many friends of the young couple extend congratulations and best wishes. They will live at Calera till Mr. House can get possession of his farm which he has rented out this year.

SHOALS CREEK CHURCH.

A splendid meeting of five days duration was conducted in this church during the fourth week of July by Rev. P. G. Carter of Clanton. The church was well filled at every service and on Thursday the last night of the meeting large numbers could not get into the building. Four were baptized on Friday morning in the beautiful Creek nearby with an impressisve ceremony conducted by Bro. Carter and one was received by letter Considering the brevity of the meeting it was thought to be quite a successful one. The Rev. P. G. Carter will be open for meetings from now until the close of the season.

Miss Bertha Dennis is home from a visit to relatives and friends in Autauga and Elmore Counties.

Mr. Jonas Culp of Autauga County is in our county looking for a good farm.

Mr. L. G. Posey from Freeman School District was in Clanton Tuesday. Mr. Posey has the reputation of being one of the best farmers in our county.

CENTER HILL

The farmers here are through with their work and all were glad to see the rain this week.

Last Sunday was our regular meeting day. Rev. Robert Sturdivant preached in Rev. Deason's place. He preached a very fine sermon.

Save Money—Put Goodyear Tires on Your Small Car

Avoid disappointment with tires made to be sold at sensationally cheap prices by using Goodyear Tires built to deliver maximum mileage at minimum cost.

The high relative value built into Goodyear Tires, of the 30 x 3-, 30 x 3½-, and 31 x 4-inch sizes, results from the application of Goodyear experience and care to their manufacture in the world's largest tire factory devoted to these sizes.

Such facts explain why more cars, using these sizes, were factory-equipped last year with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

If you drive a Ford, Chevrolet, Maxwell or Dort, take advantage of the opportunity to enjoy true Goodyear mileage and economy; equip your car with Goodyear Tires and Heavy Tourist Tubes at our nearest Service Station.

30 x 3½ Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread $23.50

30 x 3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost no more than the price you are asked to pay for tubes of less merit—why risk costly casings when such sure protection is available? 30 x 3½ size in waterproof bag $4.50

WILL PRAISE DRECO AS LONG AS I LIVE

The Lord Knows Dreco has done me More good than anything I ever took," says Phoenix City Lady.

"As long as I live I'll praise this grand medicine Dreco and the Lord knows it has done me mor egood than any medicine I ever took" are the words of Mrs. Carrie Parrish of 13th Street, Phoenix City, Ala.

"I used to have to get up during the night every half hour, sometimes every fifteen minutes, to relieve my bladder and kidneys... One bottle of Dreco helped me so that I only get up twice during the whole night. My bowels also move regularly, and my liver acts well. Words fail to express my gratitude to this grand medicine... I'll praise it as long as I live, and will keep it in my house as long as I have the money to buy it. Any one wanting to know more about it can call on me at my home and I'll tell them more."

Dreco is a vegetable remedy which acts on the kidneys and aids these important organs to perform their duty of straining the poisons from the blood. If the kidneys fail in their work we may have rhumatism, catarrh, eczema, boils, pimples, sallow complexion, or a dozen other troubles. Dreco aids kidneys to keep on doing their work as aNture intends.

All druggists now sell Dreco, and it is being especially introduced in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co.

Miss Myrtle Popwell, Mrs. Horace Popwell and young son left Sunday for an extended visit to friends and relatives in Montgomery and Prattville.

A FAMILY REUNION.

A very happy week has just been spent by the entire Holley family consisting of four brothers and three sisters and their famillies, namely: Mr. D. M. Holley and daughter, Alice, of Hico, La., Mrs. J. W. Cook, and her daughter, Jessie, of Stanton, Mrs. M. B. Williams and son Lloyd, and three daughters, Marguerite and Elaine of Riderwood, and Mrs. Ruby Bell of Tuscaloosa, Mr. W. E. Holley of Alabama City, Mr. L. F. Hester and family, including Mr. L. D. Hester and wife, and Mr. Jim Collins and wife of Lomax, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Holley and family of Clanton, and Mr. J. L. Holley and son Steve, of Clanton. Other relatives of the family were Mrs. T. M. Dunlap and son Thomas, of Saginaw,Mr. and Mrs. Ephriam Popwell and family, including Mr. and Mrs. Perry Littlejohn of Thorsby, Mr. Bob Wilkins and daughter and mother of Billingsley.

And now thinking of all these having been together, we hardly know how to tell of the good times we have had. The entire family of brothers and sisters met at Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Holley's residence on Monday and spent the day laughing and talking and having a big time, and then on Wednesday they all spent the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Holley, which was another great event of the week. On Thursday they all spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Hester. This was a day to be remembered by all because it was spent so joyfully. The afternoon was spent in making snapshots. On Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock a fine sermon was preached by Rev. W. E. Holley, which was so much enjoyed by all present.

Now last but not least of all days of the week spent together was Sunday, Aug. 8, when each and everyone assembled back at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Holley, and on this day a bountiful dinner was served out in the grove. This big dinner was enjoyed by the forty present, but about the time everyody was in a big way of eating a shower of rain came along and disturbed us. It caused all the more excitement and fun to see everyone grabbing plates of eats and scrambling for a shelter. The dinner was finished just the same, and some said they wished they could have the pleasure of enjoying such a dinner every day.

Then in the afternoon about half a dozen very fine watermelons were cut and enjoyed to the full capacity of all. The rest of the afternoon was spent in singing, laughing, talking, and making snapshoots.

At a late hour each departed for their respective homes. This was an hour of sadness; sad because they all knew the time had come for those to part who were held so dear to each other. Glad because if they never have the pleasure of another reunion they will always remember the happy hour spent together at this one and be as bright to them as the shining star in the heavens.

"Felt Like Eating"

Man and Wife, All Run-Down from Farm Work, Were Greatly Helped by Ziron.

"MY WIFE and I, after a hard spring on the farm, were tired and run-down," says Mr. E. B. Mulkey, of Route 1, Acworth, Ga. "We neither felt well. I knew my blood was bad, as I had little boils on the back of my neck.

"We felt we needed a builder. We had heard of Ziron and thought it must be what we needed. It certainly was. We took it faithfully, and after a week or such a matter we began to feel better. My wife felt like cooking, and I sure felt like eating.

"Ziron sure did us good. It made us both feel stronger and better for the fall work, which everyone knows is 'some work' on a farm. My boils began to dry up, though just at first they seemed worse.

"We are much better and can highly recommend Ziron, and gladly do so for it sure did us good."

Ziron is a safe, reliable, tonic medicine, good for men, women and children, when an iron tonic is indicated. It is easy to take and contains no habit-forming drugs.

Study Club Meets.

Mrs. F. B. Collier was the charming hostess to the Study Club on Friday afternoon at the attractive home of Mrs. Wade. Quantities of summer flowers and ferns added to the attractiveness of the rooms. A very interesting program on Shakespearian study was furnished. Paper, "Psychological Study ofPetruchio," by Mrs. Hester. Reading, Act I, "Taming of the Shrew," by Club Members. Discussion led by Mrs. Heard. Paper, "The Tale of Arcadia," Mrs. Broadhead. Current Events, Leader, Mrs. Collier. At the conclusion of the program the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Page, served a delicious salad plate, and afterwards the guests were invited into the dining room where ice-cold watermelon was served.

Mrs. W. I. Mullins, Miss Kathleen Frank, Mrs. Amzi Gowan and children of Brewton, Mrs. Watts Moore and children leave for St. Clair Springs on Thursday for a stay of three weeks. They will be joined later by Dr. Gowan and Mr. Moore.

Miss Roberta Curry left Tuesday for Asheville, N. C., to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clint Jones.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH.

The revival services now being conducted at the Court House are gaining in interest and power. Large crowds have attended nearly all of the services and twenty-one have been added to the membership of the church up to the time of going to press. Ten to be baptized and eleven by letter. The service for men only on last Sunday afternoon, when in spite of the rain the Court House was more than two-thirds full, will be remembered for a long time to come, as the evangelist with pathos and eloquence appealed to the men for more consecrated lives, a greater spirit of brotherhood, and a stronger stand for Christianity in the community. Almost every man in the building came to join hands with the evangelist expressing their willingness and desires for these things.

The services will continue throughout the rest of this week, closing on next Sunday night. Services will be held each day, morning and night at 11 and 8 o'clock. The ordinance of Baptism will be observed at Mims' Pond on next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

"Sunshine Jelks" is doing some fine work with the young people who enjoy his stories, fun and sunshine. The people of the community are urged to send their children to the meeting held for them at 7 P. M. conducted by Mr. Jelks, as they may learn something that will be of benefit to them throughout the rest of their life.

If you are a Baptist living in this town, we invite you to place your letter in this church, and thus help to make it the great central church as it should be of the entire county. While living in Clanton it is your duty to unite with this church.

We heartly and cordially invite everybody to these services, and other services of the church from time to time.

P. G. CARTER, Pastor.

LOMAX NEWS.

Mr. and Mrs. King, Mr. and Mrs. Walker, all visited at Mr. W. T. Wells's Sunday afternoon.

Misses Lillie Walker and Miss Carrie Osborne attended preaching at Jackson's Chapel Sunday.

Mr. Tommie Hand and wife spent last Wednesday night with Mr. W. T. Wells family.

Mrs. Rufus Littlejohn visited Mrs. Walker Saturday evening.

Miss Essie Lee Wells is spending a few days with her sister this week, Mrs. Hand of Clanton.

The people in this community were badly shocked when the news was spread that Mrs. Anner Price was killed by a train. It was one of the worst accidents that has happened in Lomax in a long time.

Rev. A. C. Wells filled his regular appointment at Jacksons Chapel on Sunday. Uncle Dock is getting old, but he can deliver some very good sermons yet.

Mr. Clyde Henley visited homefolks Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Bennie Wells and family attended the singing at Cane Creek Sunday and reported some very good singing.

Well, we have had a good rain and I think the people here are feeling better and are all in smiles one more time.

Embroidery Club Entertained.

Mrs. F. B. Collier was hostess to the Embroidery Club on last Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. J. Q. Wade. The rooms were made very attractive with potted plants and garden flowers. Dainty refreshments were served late in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fox have returned from Huntsville.

Mrs. Stanfield and daughrter, Miss Alice, have returned home ofter a delightful visit to Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Pitts of Shorters are here visiting the family of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds.

Mrs. Earl Gowan and children have returned home after an extended visit to Hot Springs, Ark. They were accompanied by Dr. Gowan's mother. She will spend some time in Kosciusco Miss., before returning to Clanton.

Mrs. Arthur Johnson and children are visiting her parents in Owensville, Indiana.

Mr. Willis Lowe has returned from a cruise around Cuba with the American Bluejackets, in which the following ports were made: Havana, Santiago de Cuba, and Guantanamo Bay.

EX-SERVICE MEN CAN GET HELP FROM Y. M. C. A.

Attention of ex-service men is called to the fact that if they desire assistance of the Y. M. C. A. educational fund, they should file application at once with the local chairman, Jno. A. Thomas, or F. B. Collier, the Secretary.

Chilton County has available about $500 to be awarded to ex-service men. This fund is not available for collegiate courses, but is available for public school, high school or business courses. The local committee believes a business course of the Chilton Co. High School or the Thorsby Institute at Thorsby would prove beneficial to a larger number of ex-service men and hence recommends such courses.

Those who desire to avail themselves of any part of the fund should make application at once. All applications must be filed with the local secretary, F. B. Collier, not later than August 15, 1920, at which time the committee will make the awards. No applicant may be allowed more than $200, and the committee would like to limit the awards to between $50 and $100, so that the fund may be used in assisting as large a number of ex-service men as possible.

F. B. COLLIER, Secretary.

CHILTON COUNTY ABSTRACT CO.

M. D. FOSHEE, MANAGER.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

Abstracts of Title Promptly Prepared at Reasonable Charges.

CLANTON, - ALABAMA.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. CHILTON COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Featuring the convention program of the Chilton County Sunday School Association to be held at Clanton on Monday, August 23, will be a number of very ecellent addresses, relative to the modern Sunday School. Among these are: "The Challenge of the Times to the American Sunday School," "The Sunday School of Today," and "Organized Sunday School Work in Alabama." In addition a number of inspirational talks will be given.

The Convention will open at nine A. M., with song service followed by devotional exercises and will continue until 12:30, at which time all will adjourn for lunch. The afternoon session will begin at 2 o'clock and end at 4 o'clock.

Business details will occupy an alloted time on the convention program such as reports of officers, appointment of committees, reports of committees, and election of officers will be considered.

Two field secretaries of the Alabama Sunday School Association will aid the local association in presenting the program, which has been arranged as published heretofore in this paper.

REV. E. A. NORRIS ON THE SINGING RESOLUTION

Verbena, Ala., August 16, 1920.

Dear Mr. Editor:

I have read the resolution that was passed at the singing convention in Clanton, and as I have taken the stand for music that I have will be glad to express my feelings in regard to the matter.

For the past year I have made a great many talks and preached on music and the relations it bears to other forms of worship, and I have been heartily enthused. If those resolutions are correct and the proper way to do, then all these years I have had the wrong conception of praising God in song service. My book teachces me that from a corrupt heart cannot come praises to God, James 3:11. From the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh, Matt. 12:34.

Then if the churches set apart a day for the purpose of praising God in song service. My book teaches me able to ask Gods blessing and direction and if they cannot do that then the churches have surrendered their rights to the world and lost the victory. If God be God serve him, if mammon serve him, Matt 6:24. The kingdom of heaven suffereth violence and violence taketh it by force, Matt. 11:12.

Then if the church set apart a day for praising God in song, then the leadership should be kept in the hands of the church , for if the blind lead the blind both will fall into the ditch, Matt 15:14. In the prophet's days when the leaders followed God they won, when they followed sin they fell. When our forefathers spilt their blood for liberty, when they were going into a battle they wanted the men to ask God's guiding hand—men whom they thought had power with God, Genisis 32:28. So if song service is for a display of talent, voice culture or theory, then it does not matter who leads, the unconverted will do as well as the converted. If these days are set apart for praising God in song as commanded in Collosians 3:16, let the words of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom and admonishing one another in poems and hymns and spiritual songs singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord; then an ungodly man cannot do this and any that have risen to maturity and have not been regenerated are ungodly. If we say that we will give a day to praise God in song and then surrender it to ungodly men as leaders we have betrayed the trust which He committed to us. Render to Caesar the things that be Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's, Luke 20:25. Then if the teaching and leading forces belong to the church keep it in the church and if it belongs to the ungodly surrender it to whom it belongs.

I feel that we are more than glad to have their co-operation as singers but not as leaders.

Hoping that this may be read as a defense to the sacred causes for which Christ gave His life.

E. A. NORRIS.

EX-SERVICE MEN MAY RECEIVE VICTORY MEDAL FROM THE U.S.

The majority of ex-service men and relatives of deceased soldiers in the late world war are unaware of the special work of the war department to help them obtain the Victory Medal, due them, so we are asked to publish this information to them.

Alabama men should apply to the Army Recruiting Station, Birmingham, Ala., by writing to Victory Medal Officer, care of Army Recruiting Station, or better still to apply in person with their discharge.

Mr. Albert Grant and wife of Birmingham spent last week in Clanton visiting his brother, Mr. J. M. Grant. Mr. Grant is a very congenial fellow, as would be expected by those who know his famous brother, Jim. He holds a responsible position in the Safety Department of the T. C. I. Co., at their steel plant.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The revival services at this church proved to be quite successful in every way. Large audiences attended every service, the courthouse being well filled at night. Evangelist W. F. Frazier did some of the finest preaching ever given or delivered in Clanton by visiting evangelists. The singing by Bro. James W. Jelks was superb and much appreciated by those who heard it. He knows how to sing, and how to smile. Sixteen were added to the church by baptism and fourteen by letter, making a total of thirty additions to the membership for the meeting, and a total of thirty-four during the present year.

Nearly $600 was contributed for the meeting to cover the cost of the meeting, and to purchase the much needed song books of the church. The Methodist and other people of the town cooperated in a fine spirit, for which we express our sincere thanks, and trust it will be the beginning of a better friendship and cooperation for the great cause of Christianity to exist between the different denominations.

We were very fortunate in having Miss Beverly Hester, the talented musician of Clanton, to play, who thus added much to the success of the song service and the meeting. The use of the courthouse was greatly appreciated, without which we could not have accommodated the large crowds that came to hear the preaching and singing.

With the growing interest of the people, the outlook for the new church building, the future prospects of the church are very bright. As soon as bids are received and agreed upon the contract will be let for the building, and work begun as soon thereafter as possible.

The regular services will be held next Sunday: Sunday School at 10 a.m.; Preaching at 11 a.m.; Junior B.Y.P.U. at 4 p.m.; Preaching at 7 p.m. All services will be held in the courthouse next Sunday.

If you are a Baptist living in this community come and join our fellowship and help to make this the great central church of the county.

Everyone cordially invited to these services. P. G. CARTER, Pastor.

NOTICE—ODD FELLOWS MEET

There will be an Odd Fellows Celebration and Picnic of the Energy Lodge No. 587, at Enterprise, five miles west of Cooper, on Thursday, August 26th. Sermon by Rev. C.A. Taylor and speaking by other well known speakers. Everybody is cordially invited to come, especially Odd Fellows. Dinner will be served, but all are requested to bring dinner in order that we will have plenty. Come out and be with us. We feel sure you will enjoy yourselves.

REV. A. C. WELLS TO PREACH AT MT. PLEASANT SUNDAY

Uncle Dock Wells asks us to announce that he will preach at Mt. Pleasant next Sunday, the Fourth Sunday in August. He said he wanted everybody to come out and hear him. He said for all married men to bring their wives and for all others to bring someone else with them.

CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL ANTICIPATES A SPLENDID YEAR

The largest first day attendance in the history of the school is anticipated when the Chilton County High School opens Wednesday, September 1st. All new students and students from other high schools are expected to present their certificates of graduation and promotion from the school they last attended.

On Thursday and Friday, August 26th and 27th a special examination will be held at the County High School Building in Clanton, for those who have completed seventh grade this summer, and for those who were unable to take the regular seventh grade examination last spring, and those who failed on the examination in not more than two subjects.

This examination will begin promptly at nine o'clock, August 26th.

Parents, your attention is called to the fact that the State Board of Education has this year added a new course of study to the county high school curriculum, namely Vocational Home Economics. This course is offered in addition to the Latin and Science courses already offered. The first year of the new Home Economics course will be begun this fall. Girls taking this course will devote about one-third of their time to this subject through their high school training period. For further particulars and details see Principal S. E. Alverson before the opening.

The first day's work will be devoted entirely to the classification of students and the assignment of lessons. All fees are due the day of entrance.

The Instructors of the Chilton County High School for next year are all college graduates and have had previous teaching experience. The service of these has been secured through liberal increase in the funds by the County Board of Education and the public spirited people of Clanton.

Boys and girls, enter the first day if possible and thus be able to pursue your course of study with ease and pleasure.

REESE AT JEMISON

Dr. E. G. Hyman calls our attention to the fact that the Rev. T. O. Reese will begin his revival services at Jemison on next Sunday, August 22. Many people in Clanton and Chilton County will remember this famous preacher who conducted a revival here last year and will no doubt many of them welcome the opportunity of hearing him this time at Jemison.

Dr. Hyman says that the Jemison church especially invites the people of other towns and communities to attend the meetings.

DRASTIC ACTION NECESSARY

Says Some Publishers Have Made No Effort to Fulfill Contract With the State.

Montgomery.—Legal proceedings will be brought against the bondsmen of all publishers under contract to furnish school books to the state of Alabama, who have not by September 1, 1920, delivered an adequate supply of their publications to the state depository at Birmingham. In making this announcement State Superintendent of Education John W.Abercrombie stated "it is my purpose to request the governor to direct the attorney general to institute such proceedings." Mr. Abercrombie stated he regrets the necessity of being compelled to make such an announcement, but the need of school books with the 1920-21 school session about to begin is so pressing, that in his opinion, extraordinary action is necessary in order to conserve the interest of the children of the state. He states that he is receiving almost daily complaints from local school book depositories and appeals from county superintendents of schools that there are not enough text books to meet the needs of the coming session, and asking him for assistance. It is also stated by Mr. Abercrombie that orders for an adequate supply of books were placed with publishers in April of the present year, but that some of the publishers have made no effort whatever to fulfill the obligations of their contract with the state.

Census of Roanoke Schools.

Roanoke.—The taking of the school census for the Roanoke school district has just been completed, showing 1,333 children of school age. Of this number 462 are colored. In connection with the school census the population of the town was recorded at the same time. It totals 4,394. This shows an increase over the federal census of ten years ago of 116.53 per cent. The count made by the federal census for this year has not yet been announced.

Charge Tombstone Theft.

Dothan.—Rev. J. E. Wells, a holiness preacher, was given a hearing in justice court on a charge of stealing a tombstone, the charge being brought by Charlie Hall, Sr., who lives south of Dothan. He was put under a $300 bond to await the action of the grand jury. This is the second case of tombstone stealing reported in this county this year, and itis claimed that the stones are reworked and afterwards sold.

Begin Work On "Rooster" Bridge.

Montgomery.—A surveying party will be ready to begin work on the projected "Rooster" bridge over the Tombigbee river, at Moscow, near Demopolis, according to Captain L. C. Smith, State Highway Bridge Engineer. Captain Smith, with A. L. Smith of Selma, division engineer, returned to Montgomery from Mobile, where they secured data on the proposed bridge.

* * * *

Birmingham to Have By-Product Gas.

Birmingham.—Coke oven gas will be furnished to the people of Birmingham in approximately 90 days by the Birmingham Railway, Light & Power Company. Gas rates in Birmingham immediately will be reduced 7 cents on the thousand cubic feet and in approximately 18 months there will be a further reduction of 8 cents, giving Birmingham one of the lowest gas rates in the entire South.

Demopolis Builds Roads.

Demopolis.—Under the auspices of the citizens good roads committee of Demopolis splendid work is being done on the roads leading out from here. These roads lead to Moscow Ferry, Spring Hill and Linden, and the pike leading into Hale County. Practically 18 miles of new road was constructed in July, besides about the same number of miles on which holes were filled and road dragged.

Mayors Aid Ingram Fund.

Birmingham.—Mayors of various Alabama communities are sending word that they have appointed committees to engage in the canvass for contributions for the monument to be erected in Ingram Park, Birmingham, in honor of Osmond Kelly Ingram, of Pratt City, first gunners' mate on the United States ship "Cassin," and first of the American Expeditionary force to lose his life in the great war. Landersville's mayor was first to send word that the committee to solicit funds had been appointed.

Agricultural Commissioners to Meet.

Montgomery.—Based on information he has received to the effect that prices far below the cost of production will be offered farmers of the South this season for cotton seed and peanuts, Miles C. Allgood, commissioner of agriculture for Alabama, has wired commissioners of all Southern states, urging a conference at Memphis, Tenn., August 30, to discuss the situation. Commissioner Allgood stated that he had been reliably informed that cotton seed and peanut dealers throughout the South are planning to offer $30 per ton for cottonseed, which was quoted at $60 to $80 a year ago and four cents per pound for peanuts against 12 cents in 1919.

Denied Parole Promised Sanders.

Montgomery.—In a statement issued H. T. Ragland, sheriff of Russell, denies the assertion of Sam Sanders, convicted as an accomplice in the Girard bank robbery, in which Sanders declared Sheriff Ragland promised that if he would make a confession he would be allowed to go free. Sheriff Ragland declares he made Sanders no such promise and that Sanders knew when he voluntarily confessed to his part in the bank robbery and implicated others he would be tried before a jury and sentenced by the court. Sheriff Ragland states that he did tell Sanders that after the latter had voluntarily made a confession that he would assist him to get a parole.

Output of Coal Increases.

Birmingham.—Statistics being sent in as to coal production for the week ending August 7 show material increase in comparison with the previous week, the total to be around 318,000 to 320,000 tons. The increase in the production is accounted for in the fact that iron and steel concerns of the district have been increasing their production right along. The domestic coal production is picking up some every day but the normal output has not yet been reached. For the week ending August 5, 1919, the coal production was 218,300 tons, when general conditions in the district were more favorable than at present.

Will Women Seek Registration?

Montgomery.—Whether or not women are to be permitted to register in Jefferson county prior to the November general election, was the interesting question presented to the attorney general by M. E. Morris, Jefferson county registrar. The fact that his books will not be closed until 60 days prior to the holding of the general election, Mr. Morris states warrants his belief that a large number of women will demand that he allow them to register in the event that the woman suffrage constitutional amendment is ratified, an eventually which he believes is likely.

Russian Soviet forces which are attacking the Polish lines north and northeast of Warsaw, have reached a point twenty-five miles from Warsaw. A state of siege has been declared by the military governor of Warsaw. Civilians are not permitted on the streets after ten o'clock at night and cafes must close at nine o'clock.

The determination of the Bolshevists to press onward to Warsaw has shown itself at various points along the battle line, there being hand-to-hand fighting in many instances. The Poles savagely defended their positions, and contested every foot of ground given up to the invaders.

The French government is sending a note to the United States expressing pleasure that the French and American views on the Russo-Polish situation are "in complete accord," it is learned in Paris.

Poland in an official proclamation to the world solemnly warns the world that if she is overthrown by the Russian Bolsheviki her fall will be due not only to overbearing might, but to the indiference of a world which calls itself democratic.

Plans for the establishment of three lines of steamers for United States ports from Brazilian ports have been approved by the directors of the Brazilian Lloyds. Ten of the largest and best vessels owned by the company will be employed and will be withdrawn from the Brazilian - European trade. Monthly sailings will be maintained and the first ship will leave Rio Janeiro for New York soon.

Francisco Villa has surrendered. After years of banditry and defiance of oth the Mexican and the United States government, the famous outlaw has delivered himself into the power of the federals and drowned his sorrows in a bottle of cognac.

News by way of London says the outer forts of Warsaw have been under bombardment since August 6, and the Poles are returning the Bolshevik fire.

The Moscow government has notified the British government that it has been arranged for the Polish delegates to cross the Russian front on the evening of August 9, and for armistice and peace negotiations to begin at Minsk August 11.

Poland, its back to the wall in its fight against Soviet Russia, will ask immediate material aid of the United States, it is announced by Prince Ludormirski, the Polish minister. More than that, it will seek to develop precisely what the United States meant by the announcement in its note to the Italian government that it would employ "all available means" to maintain a free Poland.

Accusing members of the Tennessee legislature of repudiating their promises to vote for the woman suffrage amendment, the headquarters of the National Woman's party in Washington admitted recently that "the majority for ratification of the suffrage amendment in Tennessee has disappeared."

There appears to be no likelihood of any change in the war department's order for the salvaging of Camp Gordon and the removal of troops stationed there to Camp Jackson, S. C. The secretary says that, although he is perfectly willing to hear arguments from Atlanta pepole, he sees little prospect of retaining Camp Gordon because congress provided for only eight camps out of sixteen, and Camp Gordon will have to go.

Government offcials in Washington are awaiting with keen interest the outcome of the Lloyd-George-Millerand conference at Hythe and confirmation of the report made public by the Polish legation to the effect that General Haller's army, to the north of Warsaw, had taken the offensive against the Bolshevists, and is making satisfactory headway.

Representatives of Southern cotton exchanges conferred with the shipping board in an effort to obtain a higher valuation for cotton shipments on government vessels in the event of loss and injury. At present, it is stated that $100 is the highest valuation permitted and shippers are seeking to value bales of cotton as high as $250.

Building throughout the country has practically stopped. It will take the country five years to catch up. This means rents will continue to soar this winter, it is believed in Washington.

Stated briefly, the position of the United States government anent the Polish situation stands as favoring the preservation of the political independence and territorial integrity of Poland and as opposing any dismemberment of Russia. The outlines of this policy were set forth in a note dispatched by Secretary Colby to the Italian ambassador.

In discussing the Russo-Polish situation resulting from the sweep of the Soviet armies into Poland, Secretary Colby takes occasion to reiterate the previously expressed sympathy of the United States government for the Russian people as well as the government's previously announced decision not to recognize the Soviet regime which is characterized as a non-representative government whose only sanction is brutal force.

Diplomats generally regard the note anent Poland as having a three-fold purpose, to-wit: First, the extension of moral support to the Polish government and people; second, an appeal to the masses in Russia to throw off the Bolsheviki yoke and establish a constitutional government; third, the influence of other nations to refrain from recognition of the Soviet regime.

HARDING SHOWS GOOD QUALITIES

Has Already Demonstrated Fitness for High Position He Is to Occupy.

TRYING DAYS WELL PASSED

Period Between Nomination and Notification Has Made It Plain the Republicans Have Wisely Chosen Their Standard Bearer.

In the weeks between his nomination and notification a candidate for president passes through one of the most trying periods of his campaign. He is bombarded with questions whose authors demand hair-trigger answers, notwithstanding the fact that intelligent response may require thorough investigation and the most careful consideration.

He is pestered by self-discovered original boomers, who seek to cash in without delay at their own valuation of their services.

He is compelled to school himself in a new attitude toward enthusiastic strangers, who intend their attentions kindly but whose understanding of the calls made on a candidate are somewhat vague.

All the time he must confer with party leaders, keep up his correspondence and give serious thought to the discussion of political problems in which for three and a half months he must engage.

The man who can preserve his poise while he is adapting himself to the requirements of such a situation, who can do the hard work necessitated by the unending calls made on him, who can maintain his good nature and courtesy unimpaired and not slop over, shows good judgment, tact and capacity for the easy transaction of large affairs. He demonstrates that he can meet emergencies as they arise and surmount difficulties as they present themselves. He shows his ability to get on with other men.

The exhibition of desirable personal qualities given by Senator Harding since his nomination confirms and strengthens the admirable impression his record of achievement has made on men of understanding who demand that the government of the United States shall be a government of laws and not a dictatorship.

A Winning Ticket.

By the selection of Warren G. Harding as the candidate of the Republican convention for the presidency and Calvin Coolidge for vice president, the convention at Chicago reached a happy solution of the difficulties that confronted it. The essence of statesmanship is compromise. It became obvious as the balloting went on that of the leading candidates none could secure a majority. Senator Harding proved acceptable to many who had originally preferred another. He will prove equally acceptable to the party as a whole and to the country. He will rally Republicans of all shades of opinion to devotion to a common cause. Governor Coolidge has amply proved his political courage and his ability.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

On a Dangerous Platform.

On a weak and dangerous platform the Democrats have nominated an essentially unsafe man. In passing Mr. Davis by, the Democrats threw away the chance to nominate their most available candidate. History thus repeated itself. Mr. Cox is far inferior in ability and in reputation either to Mr. McAdoo or to Mr. Davis. What comparison does he bear with the Republican candidate? As against a man of so unexceptionable a record and of such high standing as Senator Harding, there cannot be a moment's hesitation in the choice. The worst of it for the Democratic party is no doubt that on the whole it is the kind of nomination that was to be expected from a demoralized Democratic party.—Boston Evening Transcript.

Harding Representative American.

Time will prove the wisdom of the Republican national convention in selecting Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio as the nominee for president of the United States. He is a representative American and as such is a candidate of whom his party may be proud. The victor in a clean fight for the highest honor conferred by political parties, he is entitled to the earnest support of all factions represented in that great convention.—Salt Lake Herald.

In His Own Estimation.

The Louisville Courier-Journal says the Republicans have not learned anything since 1913. It forgets that the school teacher in the White House has been "learnin'" the whole world.

Tammany Is Democratic Party.

The Tammany tiger of Croker or Kelly or Tweed never succeeded in crossing even the Brooklyn bridge to stay.

But in 1920 the Tammany tiger of Charles F. Murphy stalks clear across the country to San Francisco and there in the convention behind the Golden Gate swallows the Democratic party whole!

IMPROVED HIGHWAYS

ADAMANT HIGHWAY IS NEED

Present Roads Won't Withstand Truck Traffic and Builders Must Plan Heavier Roads.

The time is near at hand when main line highways must be built more substantially than in the past, according to William A. Brush, chairman of the good roads committee of the Detroit Automobile club.

Because of the tremendous growth in commercial traffic on the highways the road builders must soon look ahead and plan for heavier roads.

The railroad strike, which caused industries and commercial houses throughout the country to resort to motor transport to move materials and finished products, helped to prove that our highways are inadequate as now constructed, said Mr. Brush. Even our most substantial roads showed the effects of this additional traffic and the more cheaply built thoroughfares began to deteriorate rapidly, in fact so fast that it was necessary for highway officials to exercise their rights under the state laws and limit the weight of loads.

The highways we have been building in recent years, even the permanent types, are not heavy enough to carry the ever increasing commercial traffic. Engineers realize now that the roads must be considerably thicker than at present and that they must be wider to give room for the additional vehicles being placed in service.

Another phase of the commercial traffic problem is that of tire equipment. It is going to be necessary to equip all trucks with pneumatics eventually in order that the highways may be protected as much as possible. The pneumatic tire gets away from the constant pounding that is evident with solid tires. They absorb the shock, no matter how minute, and thereby save the pavement from the pounding of the heavy load and give longer life to the mechanism of the vehicle.

Experience is the only teacher and experience has shown to all the big road engineers of the country the folly of building a good road too light. The surfaces must be thicker in order to stand the shock of the heavy loads passing over them.

MUCH CRUSHED ROCK NEEDED

Program for Road Building in Minnesota Calls for 667,000 Tons of Material.

The proposed road-building program in Minnesota this year will require about 667,000 tons of crushed rock or gravel, or nearly 26,000 carloads of aggregate, according to information secured by the bureau of public roads, United States department of agriculture. The figures give some idea of the magnitude of the road-building program now being carried on in many states. Largely on account of a shortage of crushed stone or gravel 58 miles of road which were to have been built in 1919 were not completed. These roads are to be completed this year, while about 180 miles of new construction requiring crushed rock or gravel have been authorized. This makes a mileage of 250 scheduled for 1920.

EQUALIZING COST OF ROADS

States Which Have Constructed Highways Should Be Given Credit for Improvements.

In some of the states where highway construction has been a part of the state policy for a period of years, much work has been done on highways which would naturally become a part of the national system. It is proposed that in these cases states or counties should be allowed compensation which will give other highway mileage equal in value to that constructed. Such highways would not be maintained by the government, but would be turned over to the state while the government undertook the cost of maintenance of the national system.

Register Wear on Material.

Machines in the road testing laboratory of the engineering experiment station, Manhattan, register as much wear on road material in a few hours as would be registered by actual use in from 50 to 100 years.

Represent Liabilities.

Roads that will not be of any service when the bonds that pay for them have matured represent liabilities instead of assets. Such costly waste should be, and in many places is being stopped.

WOMAN POWER IS WASTED ON FARM

One of Greatest Menaces to Rural Life of Nation, According to Specialists.

MODERN EQUIPMENT IS NEED

Instead of Using Increased Incomes for Purchase of More Land Farmers Should Spend Some of It in Raising Standards.

The waste of woman power is one of the greatest menaces to the rural life of the nation, according to deductions that specialists of the United States department of agriculture draw from a farm survey conducted in the 33 northern and western states. The survey was made under the direction of Miss Florence E. Ward, in charge of extension work with women, office of extension work, north and west, states relations service. The records cover 10,015 farm homes, averaged by taking typical communities of the counties in which the survey was made. Much of the information was gathered personally by home demonstration agents, who are the field representatives of the United States department of agriculture and the state agricultural colleges.

Miss Ward points out, from the facts shown by the survey, that a reasonable amount of planning and well-directed investment in modern equipment for farm homes would prevent a large part of this wastage of the energy of the nation's rural homemakers. "This is a serious matter," she continues, "because we have a live national problem now in working out the economics of country living in such way as to make them satisfied to stay on the land and help build it up. Perhaps the greatest factor in bringing this about will be the healthy, alert, and expert home-maker who will see to it that part of the increased income from the farm goes into improvement of the home. At a time like this, when the dearth of farm labor is a limiting factor in production, it is very doubtful business policy for farmers to use increased income to buy more land instead of using a part of it in raising standards of living so that women and young people will not want to go to the cities in search of attractive living conditions and amusement."

Ninety-Six Per Cent of Farm Women Interviewed in Recent Survey Do the Family Washing, About Half of Them Doing the Work With Tub, Washboard and Boiler, a Back-Breaking Task.

Picture of Farm Woman's Work Day.

The survey discloses a number of the reasons why many women do not find farm life attractive. The working day of the average farm woman, as shown by the survey, is 11.3 hours, the year round. In summer, it is 13.12 hours. And 87 out of each 100 women have no regular vacation during the year. On the average, the farm woman can find only 1.6 hours of leisure during the summer and only 2.4 hours in winter. Half of the farm women are up and at work at 5 o'clock in the morning.

Forty per cent have water in the kitchen, but the other 60 per cent must go to the spring or the pump to bring the water for cooking breakfast. Thirty-six per cent help with the milking. On the average, the farm woman has a 7-room house to keep in order. Seventy-nine per cent have kerosene lamps to trim and fill. Ninety-six per cent do the family washing, about half of them having washing machines and the other half doing the work with tub, wash-board and boiler. Twenty-six per cent have gas or electric irons to make more comfortable the task of ironing. Ninety-two per cent do some or all of the family sewing. Garden work is done by 56 per cent, 94 per cent make all or part of the family bread and 60 per cent have churning to do. Eighty-one per cent of all poultry flocks are cared for by women. One fourth of the farm women help to feed and bed the live stock, and 24 per cent of them spend over six weeks in the year assisting with some part of the field work. All of this is in addition to cooking the family meals and caring for the children.

This, of course, is the dark side of the shield. It does not take into consideration the many compensations that come with the woman's daily round of work for the comfort of her family, and anyone who has experienced the satisfaction of living in the open country knows that the average farm woman is more fortunately placed than her average city sister. But the task is sufficiently grinding, as Miss Ward says, to send the farm woman to bed "breathing a prayer that her strength may be equal to tomorrow's duties."

Labor-Saving Equipment Important.

What is to be done about it? The department suggests some very definite things. "The interest of the department of agriculture in the returns from these studies as to labor, working equipment, and compensations of the farm women are as practical," says Miss Ward, "as its interest in farm studies regarding labor, machinery and crop returns, and for the same general reason." The farm woman's working hours might be shortened, she continues, if the principles of modern business were applied to the farm home. Running water for the 60 per cent who now must carry water, and bathrooms for the 80 per cent, who now have none are other things that would lighten the woman's labor and add to her comfort and contentment. Labor could be lessened if the farm house were as well equipped as the up-to-date barn, which the farmer looks upon as so much currency with which to buy efficiency. The installation of modern lighting systems would release some of the time of the women in the 79 per cent of homes where kerosene lamps are used. The initial cost would be small when weighed against convenience and comfort. The installation of heating systems would release some of the time of the 54 per cent of women who care for two coal or wood stoves.

"As power on the farm is the greatest of time and labor savers for the farmer," Miss Ward's report says, "so power in the home is the greatest boon to the housewife." Forty-eight per cent of the farms covered by the survey reported power for operating farm machinery but only 22 per cent have this advantage for the home. "That," says Miss Ward, "is a singular fact when we consider that frequently it is a simple matter to connect the engine used at the barn with the household equipment." The washing machine is another labor-saver. Selling the cream to a creamery wherever possible instead of churning it at home is still another. In short, the same sort of intelligence and a fraction of the money applied to making field and barn work convenient would, if applied to the home, save untold drudgery to the women of the farms and would add both to the profit and the comfort of farm life.

RECIPES WHICH WILL SERVE FIFTY PEOPLE

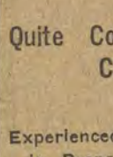
Quite Convenient for School, Club or Grange.

Experienced Cooks Are Often Troubled in Preparing Food for a Large Number—Formulas for Cocoa and Cream Soup.

Cooking in large amounts often troubles even the experienced cooks, for most women are accustomed to plan for only small numbers. When a hot dish is to be served in school, club, or grange a recipe for a large number is convenient to have, say home economic experts of the United States department of agriculture. The following recipes for cocoa and cream soup will serve fifty.

Cocoa.

Cocoa, 1½ cups.	Boiling water, 1 quart.
Sugar, 2 cups.
Milk, 8 quarts.	Water, 1 pint.



Mix cocoa with pint of cold water until smooth; add boiling water and boil twenty to thirty minutes, stirring occasionally. Add sugar to hot milk in double boiler, and pour cocoa mixture into this. Beat with egg beater until froth forms on surface.

Cream Soup—Potato.

Potatoes, 8 pounds, or 24 of medium size.	Scalded milk, 10 quarts.
Onions, 4 medium-sized ones.	Vegetable fat, 2 cups.
Boiling water, 2 quarts.	Flour, 1½ cups.
Parsley, 4 tablespoons, chopped.	Salt, 6 tablespoons.
	Cayenne, ⅛ teaspoon.

Make a white sauce of scalded milk, fat, flour, and salt; add to this the cooked, diced, or mashed potatoes and onion. Season; serve hot.

This recipe may be used for any cream soup by substituting any other vegetables for the potato and onion or by using fish for flavoring.

English Women in Wit.

One of the best-known women in London's newspaper world, returning from Birmingham by train and endeavoring to make shorthand notes en route, was hopelessly interrupted by a man on the opposite seat who persisted in shouting his political opinions to an acquaintance in the farthest corner, says a writer in the London Evening News. At last he used a phrase containing the word "damn" and turned to apologize to the lady for using such a word.

"Don't mention it," she replied, sweetly. "I have been mentally using the word for the last hour."

And the newspapers of the other passengers rustled through the laughter of their owners.

INVENTIVE GENIUS ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Doctors' Favorite Medicine Now Purified and Refined from All Objectionable Effects. "Calotabs"—the New Name.

What will human ingenuity do next? Smokeless powder, wireless telegraphy, horseless carriages, colorless iodine, tasteless quinine,—now comes nauseless calomel. The new improvement called "Calotabs" is now on sale at drugstores.

For biliousness, constipation and indigestion the new calomel tablet is a practically perfect remedy, as evidenced by the fact that the manufacturers have authorized all druggists to refund the price if the customer is not "perfectly delighted" with Calotabs. One tablet at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no nausea, no griping, no salts. By morning your liver is thoroughly cleansed and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite. Eat what you please—no danger—go about your business.

Calotabs are not sold in bulk. Get an original package, sealed. Price, thirty-five cents.—(adv.)

The air turbine of I. T. Nedland, a North Dakota artisan, is less than one-twentieth of an inch in diameter and weighs only one-fifth of a grain troy. It has eight parts, the casing being of gold and the motor of steel. The motor, which has six slots, has a diameter of 0.032 inch; the shaft, 0.007 inch. Mounted on a hollow pedestal the turbine is driven at a high rate of speed by a jet of compressed air entering at the bottom. This seems to be the tiniest of all motors, being smaller than the same maker's electric motor and steam engine, each of which is reputed to be the smallest machine of the kind in the world.

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

AS WORN IN PARIS

New Frocks, Hats and Shoes Are Most Attractive.

Costumes Featured by Simplicity; Defy Reproach; Represent Best Kind of Dressing.

The old gaieties are gradually coming back to Paris, and every day some renewal of the social season, as we formerly knew it, is announced, writes a Paris correspondent in the London Times.

In the Bois for tea and tennis most attractive frocks and hats are worn. Navy blue allied to white, to cherry color, and to copper color, is more than popular. Occasionally it is worn with vivid emerald. Numbers of smart women keep rigorously to tailor-mades for all ordinary occasions. These costumes are simplicity itself, and defy the reproach of finance ministers and moralists, but they represent the best and most expensive kind of dressing. They exact the most perfect details, and a hat, which is the last thing in smartness, as well as a dress. Fine navy blue serge, embroidered lightly in jet or dull silver, in white, or in some color, is much seen. Open to the waist, where it fastens with one button, the coat discloses some striking color note in the blouse of the jumper, or short tunic pattern, low at the throat or quite high, with draped collar band. The hats vary greatly, from the ribbon toque, with a chin strap, to the wide-brimmed lace-covered frame trimmed with flowers or feathers.

Black and white are as popular as blue. Foulard, plisse silks and crepons, offer a wide choice. Lace plays an important part in gowns, and embroidery has lost none of its charm; but striped and checked black and white taffetas look well, and may be counted among the less expensive luxuries; for it represents less handwork, and consequently saves time and labor. It is noticeable that skirts are most moderately draped, and are decidedly longer. A woman dressed in black and white foulard, gracefully draped on the hips and softened round the shoulders by a fine organdie fichu, looks extremely well. Her hat is in fine organdie, also embroidered in black silk, and she carries a sunshade to match. Her shoes are strapped patent leather, and the heels are not high. The sleeves of her dress are short, and she wears long white suede gloves.

Of quite a different aspect is the toilette of a vivid brunette. She wears navy taffetas, with a full tunic-skirt of tartan muslin in brighter colors than any Highland chieftain could imagine. Her hat is in black lace, and the tartan is repeated in her sunshade, which shows a navy blue foundation, with a deep plisse tartan hem.

CHARMING SILVER FOX SCARF

A silver fox neckpiece like this beautiful model gives the needed finish to the early fall costume.

STRIPES IN SUMMER MODES

Dresses and Millinery With Lines of Various Widths Among the Popular Styles.

Stripes are one of the features in this summer's fashions, says a writer in the London Times. Whole dresses are to be seen in silk with colored stripes varying in width. The material is used in both ways. The skirt may have two deep plisse flounces with the stripes perpendicular, and the bodice may show them horizontally. A skirt in cloth may be plain and have a striped coat, or the other way round, and, again, there are some smart little dresses all in striped material, silk or voile, with which plain cloth coats, handsomely braided, may be worn. Striped ribbon is much used in millinery, and when ribbons of two colors and widths are used together they are made to look as if they were striped. Black and white and black and royal blue are the most favored.

Foulard Frocks Favorites.

Foulard dresses are favorites this summer. Graceful trailing draperies are features of the newest foulard frocks. Many sashes are used, their long ends more often than not trailing below the edge of the skirt. Touches of red on foulards that are navy or black in their major tones are featured by some of the best designers and the effect is decidedly pleasing.

Roses on Most Summer Frocks

Miniature Blossoms Enhance the Loveliness of Dresses Appropriate for the Warm Days.

Roses bloom on most every summer frock and enhance its loveliness. All those little organdies, for instance, would lose half their charm if you took away the organdie roses that are scattered over the skirt. Those same roses can add a good many dollars to the frock, too, and so it might be a good plan to learn how to make them at home.

One of the prettiest frocks of the season had its roses made from accordion plaited organdie, in strips a little over an inch wide, says a writer in the Philadelphia Record. The edges had first been picoted, and the material was then plaited and wound round and round from the center out, the center being filled with knotted ends of yellow soutache braid to look like stamens.

A button mold covered with organdie and beaded with crystal beads made the center of some lovely little wild roses from deep pink organdie which framed the girdle of a paler pink organdie frock. These were five-petaled roses, the petals made in the simplest way in the world from a bias strip of organdie doubled and shirred in zigzag fashion so that when the shirring was pulled up, it shaped the band into little puffed and rounded petals.

On a very stunning frock of dotted Swiss large white organdie roses were appliqued. The bias material had been folded again so as to leave no rough edges, pulled into petal shape, puffed up realistically in the center and held to the material with long uneven stitches of black silk.

Even the gingham dress cannot escape the rose trimming. The cutest gingham rose can be made from plain chambray to match the gingham coloring, using the bias band again folded and the folded edge whipped over and over with a coarse white mercerized cotton. This rose is rolled cabbage fashion, rather tight in the center and looser toward the outside.

To Clean Gloves.

White kid gloves merely soiled at the finger tips can be nicely cleaned for the first time before resorting to gasoline, if the fingers are rubbed against a moistened cake of castile soap. Remove the soap by rubbing off with a bit of clean white flannel. Another first cleaning recipe is to rub the gloves thoroughly while on the hands with French chalk. Lay the gloves away for a few days and then shake the white powder off, with which will come all soil. Dark gloves can be cleaned with gasoline, but great care must be taken to wet the gloves evenly all at once and not to rub off any dye—particularly with an inexpensive pair.

Leather Belts.

The narrow belts of leather, in colors and patent leather are used to a considerable degree on washable frocks of gingham, linen, organdie, voile and novelty printed cottons.

How to Treat A Torpid Liver

The liver is the largest and most important organ in the body, and when the liver refuses to act, it causes constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, gas, sour stomach, bad breath, dysentery, diarrhoea, pains in back and under shoulder blades and under ribs on right side. These symptoms lead to colds, influenza or other serious troubles unless corrected immediately.

An inactive liver places an extra burden on the kidneys, which overtaxes them and causes the blood to absorb and carry into the system the impurities that the liver and kidneys have failed to eliminate.

When you treat the liver alone, you treat only a third of your trouble, and that is why you have to take purgatives every few nights. Calomel or other ordinary laxatives do not go far enough. If you would treat your kidneys and blood while treating the liver you would put your entire system in order and frequent purgatives would then be unnecessary.

Dr. W. L. Hitchcock many years ago recognized these important facts, and after much study and research, compounded what is now known as Dr. Hitchcock's Liver, Kidney and Blood Powders, three medicines combined in one. This was the Doctor's favorite prescription for many years, being used by his patients with marked success. It is a harmless vegetable remedy that will not make you sick, and you may eat anything you like while taking it.

GONE ROPUBLICAN

The State Farmers Union was in session at Anniston. The Chamber of Commerce and other business mens organizations had their committees at the depots and hotels looking out for the comfort and convenience of the visiting farmers. One vigilant member of the committee who had about run his legs off and talked his tongue dry directing the visitors here and there and answering their various questions, flopped down in an easy chair in the lobby of "The Alabama" for a minute of rest. While he was reposing there another business man of the city wno was not so actively engaged in the work of entertaining come along and said to his tired friend: "Well Pete, how is the Farmers Convention getting along?" and this is the answer he got: "Well everything is moving along nicely, but from what I can learn from hearing these old sagers talk, it seems that all the farmers in Alabama have gone Republican."

We want to add right here that anyone who was there and heard them discuss general conditions on the side could very easily tell that there is something rotten in Denmark. The farmers of Alabama are no fools, and you bet they are ready to resent the utter disregard they have been getting from a Democratic administration which they voted for and by their votes put into office.

JUDGE REYNOLDS AT ANNISTON

In accordance with the program previously arranged Judge Reynolds went before the State Convention of the Farmers Union at Anniston last Thurday to address that body of farmers representing among their number some thirty or more counties of Alabama.

Judge Reynolds' speech was primarily a response to the several welcome addresses that had been extended the Farmers Union on behalf of the City of Anniston and Calhoun County. But he did not stop at the mere acceptance of the welcome for the farmers. In his simple and able way he went into the discussion of the problems of the farmers of the future and made a most powerful appeal to them for organization and cooperation to secure full realization of their opportunities.

The address was filled with facts and figures and citations from recent and current events that made his address very impressive to his hearers. The Judge received the heartiest applause from the many farmers who found great pleasure in listening to him.

One of the most impressive things he said was that ignorance and disorganization was the costliest thing the farmers have to deal with, and that education and co-operation are the cheapest and most helpful agencies at the farmers' command.

Everyone who knows Judge Reynolds is aware that he is a farmer both in theory and practice, and his ability to touch the farmers and get close to them on subjects that touch them in heir every day business made his speech one of the most effective things that was heard at the State Convention.

While Judge Reynolds is a candidate for United States Senator from Alabama on the Republican ticket, he did not devote his address to politics. But he so favorably impressed the farmers with his facile manner and thorough reason of things vital to their interests that a great number of them gave him their personal assurance of support in November.

Judge Reynolds will poll the largest Republican vote that has ever been registered in an Alabama election. He ought by all means to be elected our next Senator.

One good Democratic farmer from Tallapoosa County over at Anniston last week said:

"They told us that if we would put the Democrats back in charge of the things at Washington we could get anything we asked for. I suppose nobody has asked for anything."

HARDING AND COX AND OHIO

Washington, August 16.—"It is common knowledge and frequent comment among political workers that the nomination of the two candidates on the Democratic ticket was determined by expediency—the playing of a forlorn hope," declares the Republican Publicity Association, in a statement issued today:

"Cox was chosen because he comes from the same state is Harding, and Roosevelt was named as his runningmate because he bears the name of a distinguished American. It was hoped that Cox could carry Ohio for the Democratic ticket and Roosevelt swing New York. There is no likelihood, however, that the voters of New York will be misled by the use of the name of the greatest American of recent years, now is there anything to justify the hope that Cox may be able to carry Ohio against Harding.

"Study of election returns show Harding to be stronger in Ohio than is Cox. And, moreover, under ordinary circumstances, Ohio is a pretty dependable Republican state. Beginning with the election which placed Abraham Lincoln in the White House and recorded the first victory for the Republican party, there have been fifteen national elections, and Ohio has gone Republican in 13 of these. The only occasions on which Ohio went Democratic were in 1912 when the Republican party was divided and in 1916 when the country was deceived by the "kept us out of war" propaganda. In 1912, although the Democrats led, the combined vote of the Republicans and the Progressives exceeded that of the Democrats, showing that the defeat of the Republicans was due to division and no tto preference for Democratic policies. Out of 22 members of Congress from Ohio 14 are Republicans.

"In 1912, when Cox was first elected there was a progressive candidate in the field, Cox received 50,000 less votes than the Republican and Progressive candidates combined. In 1914, although there was still a progressive candidate for the governorship, Willis defeated Cox by 31,000. If he had received the Progressive vote also, his majority would have been more than 90,000. In 1916 Cox was carried through by the Wilson deception and in 1918 he won through a local issue which turned to the Democratic column a county normally Republican. His majority in 1918 was only 12,000.

"Contrasted with his record, the Harding vote makes an exceedingly good showing. Harding was elected Senator in 191b, with a Progressive candidate in the field to divide his vote. Nevertheless, Harding was elected by a plurality of more than 100,000 at the same time that Cox was defeated by 29,000 in his race for the governorship. Harding received a total of 526,115 votes for the senatorship. The vote for Cox in the same year was 493,367, or about 33,000 less than the Harding vote. That was the highest vote Cox ever received, his vote in 1918 being only 486,000 or 46,000 less than the Harding vote in 1914.

"Cox has never won election that could be called a personal victory. Harding won the Senatorship even with the disadvantage of a divided party. Cox has been known as a cunning politician who could take advantage of special conditions. Harding has been a statesman who brought strength to his party ticket and received more than his normal party vote. When Cox won by the narrow margin of 5,199 in 1916, he polled nearly 40,000 fewer votes than did Wilson, who dragged Cox through. When Cox won by a little more than 5,000 Pomerene carried the senatorship by 35,000 and Wilson carried Ohio by nearly 90,000.

"It was manifest from the figures, that the effort to play up Cox as a great vote-getter is pure fake. Cox has been clever at getting in at the right time to profit politically by favorable circumstances not of his creation."

Farmers and newspaper editors can get along all right after all, or that is some of them can. Last week the editor of The Union-Banner attended the state meeting of the Farmers Union in Anniston and we came out of it without losing our scalp. And, there was Harry Ayers of the Anniston Star, P. B. Haralson of the Union Advocate of Oxford and Phil Painter of the Birmingham Advance also there, and they seemed to stand a good hand with the farmers. But the way they talked about some of the big newspaper editors in Alabama made us shiver in our boots for fear our time was coming next.

TRAINED NURSE ADVISES DRECO

Says she has no more dizzy spells; constipation relieved; sleeqs sound and feels fine... Advises every one to try Dreco, which is doing so much good around here.

"I am simply getting along fine these days, and feel so much better than before I toop Dreco, then ew tonic," states Miss Mattie Johnson, who is a nurse residing in Huntsville, Alabama.

"Dizzys pells used to annoy me very much, which I knew came from a sluggish liver. I was bilious oll the time, and got so nervous that I did not know what a night's sound sleep was, for I'd roll from one side of the bed to the other, and get up next morning all worn out, with no energy to go to my work. I had to take a pill or some such medicine every night,t o keep my bowels moving, and if I'd forget to take it, I would bec onstipated... I frequently had backache, and my food digested porly, formed gas and kept me bloated up.

"But it is quite different now. This Dreco has done a lot for me, for I sleep well each noght, and get up with a refreshed feling, and full of energy for a bi day's work. My appetite is fine and the food digests without forming gas; never have a backache, and my bowel action is reular every day, without ever taking a pill. Dreco is positively the best remedy I ever took."

All drugists now sell Dreco and it is being especially introduced in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Company.

IMPROVEMENT OF ALABAMA'S SEAPORT WILL BENEFIT ALL OF THE PEOPLE

The seaport is the bridge that connects river and rail traffic with gulf and ocean traffic. A port is something more than a mere harbor and anchorage for ships. Without modern freight handling devices, warehouses and adequate wharves, for the rapid handling of large cargoes, a seaport cannot meet competition with other ports and get the business. Present port facilities at Mobile are inadequate for the seaport's growing business.

Section 93 of the constitution of Alabama provides that the state shall not engage in works of internal improvement nor lend money or its credit in aid of such. This section of the constitution already has been twice amended; to permit the use of convicts and convict funds for road improvement and permitting a $25,000,000 bond issue to match federal funds for the same purpose.

Now another amendment is needed which will remove the bar to a work of internal improvement by the state, the pressing necessity of which could not have been foreseen when the present constitution was framed. The proposed amendment to be voted on at the time of the general election, November 2, provides:

"The foregoing prohibition shall not apply to the promotion, development or operation of harbors or seaports within the state or its jurisdiction; provided, further, that any such work or improvements shall always be and remain under the management and control of the state harbor commission or other governing agency."

The federal government is as ready to help in the development of water transportation as in highway construction, but insists that the state or municipalities own and control the port terminals. Already more than $12,000,000 has been expended by the government for the building of locks and dams, the deepening and improvement of the Warrior-Alabama system, reaching from the seaport to the heart of the mineral and agricultural sections of Alabama. More than $20,000,000 has also been expended in obtaining a channel 30 feet deep from Mobile to the open gulf. In addition to this, the government has built and now operates a line of barges, capable of moving a million tons of freight per year from the interior to the port. These barges are prepared to carry all classes of freight, by means of steel containers, also furnished by the government.

This water transportation system already has resulted in a decrease in freight rates for both river and interior points over a large area, which will be extended practically to cover the entire state of Alabama. All that is needed to effect this is the further development of the seaport so that water transportation for incoming and outgoing freights will be generally used by merchants, manufacturers, farmers and others who ship or receive goods or raw materials.

The development and use of water transportation will relieve the car shortage, as one barge load is equivalent to twenty car loads. It will cheapen freight on phosphates from the Florida fields and other fertilizers for the farmers, whether they live on or near the rivers or not, and it will prevent the congestion of traffic through any possible deficiency or tie-up of other means of transportation. The rivers and the roads belong to the people, and they have the right to improve and use them.

The improvement of the rivers and harbors is not a local question, and will benefit the rest of the state as much or more than it will benefit Mobile. The city of Mobile cannot finance this great enterprise if it would, and private interests could not do so without the danger of creating a dangerous monopoly; for the control of the port means control of water navigation in Alabama.

SHOULTS NOTES

The singing school at Pleasant Grove will close next Saturday, August 21. There will be all day singing. Everybody is invited to come and bring a well filled basket. Rev. J. D. Martin will preach in the afternoon. We hope this will be a day of pleasure to all who attend.

The sick of this community are gradually improving, which we are glad to know.

Mr. Oscar Shoults from Selma is spending a few days at home.

Miss Elzia Hall returned to her home last week, from Centerville, where she spent several weeks with her niece, Mrs. T. C. Snead.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Walker spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. Hall.

Mrs. Jahn Mitchell spent Saturday with relatives at Lawley.

Miss Pearl Johnson from Lawley is spending a few days with her cousin, Miss Drucila Lawrence.

Mr. C. T. Walker relates the following incident to us, which happened at his home on Sunday night. In the night he heard a distressing noise among his chickens and on going to find out the trouble, what do you suppose he found? A large snake hanging to a pole in the chicken house with his body wrapped around a chicken trying to swallow it.

Mrs. J. M. Bearden spent the week end last week with her sister, Mrs. Millard Ratliff near Pletcher.

Rev. Buford Lawrence from Birmingham was at home with relatives a few days last week.

Mr. Clyde Bearden's wife and baby from Montgomery are visiting relatives here.

The House of Whispers

A BEAUTIFUL GHOST.

Synopsis.—Spalding Nelson is occupying the apartments of his great-uncle, Rufus Gaston. The Gastons, leaving on a trip, tell him about mysterious noises and "whispers" that have scared them. He becomes acquainted with Barbara Bradford, who lives in the same big building. He instinctively dislikes and distrusts the superintendent, Wick. The mysteries in his apartments begin with the disappearance of the Gaston pearls from the wall safe. He decides not to call in the police, but to do his own investigating. It is soon evident that someone has access to his rooms. Becoming friendly with Barbara, he learns that her apartments are equally mysterious. She tells him that several years before her sister Claire, who lives with her, had made a run-away marriage with an adventurer, from whom she was soon parted, and the marriage had been annulled. Claire is engaged to be married and someone has stolen documents concerning the affair from the Bradford apartment and is attempting to blackmail the Bradfords. Nelson takes Miss Kelly, the telephone girl, to dinner with the idea of pumping her. Gorman, a hotel detective, recognizes her as the wife of Lefty Moore, a noted burglar. Nelson partly confides in the detective and arranges to meet him.

"You're right about that," I replied, "and say, look here. Why can't you meet me somewhere tomorrow afternoon. There are a lot of mysterious things happening in the Granddeck. Maybe you can help me in trying to clear them up."

"It's a date. I'll be in the back room of John Connor's place over on Third avenue at three o'clock waiting for you."

"I'll be there," I said, as I bade him good night.

"Hold on a minute," he said. "Do you know where Lefty Moore's wife lives now?"

I recalled the number she had told me to give the taxi man and repeated it to him, an address way over on East Sixty-second street near the river.

"I like to know them sort of things," he explained. "In our business you never know when you'll be needing them."

On my way home, after I left him, I congratulated myself on having made James Gorman's acquaintance. In him I had found a man with police and detective experience. The fact that he held a responsible position with a big hotel ought to be sufficient voucher for his honesty. Of course Miss Bradford must be consulted before I met Gorman the next afternoon. I could hardly tell him my own almost unbelievable experiences without bringing in the attempts to blackmail her sister. Surely Miss Bradford would not object to my plan. We were making such poor headway in solving the mystery ourselves that I was certain she would welcome Gorman's advice.

And would it not be a surprise to Barbara Bradford to learn that a criminal—or at least the wife of a criminal—was employed as a telephone girl in the apartment house? I was hoping that she would be at home and in her room when I arrived at the house so that I might signal her and tell her my great news at once.

I let myself into the apartment and without bothering to turn on the lights made my way back toward my own room. As I reached the end of the hall my ears detected a scuffling noise that seemed to come from my quarters. I stopped stock-still and listened breathlessly. Unquestionably there was someone in my room.

As the Light Flooded the Room There Was a Suppressed Scream Followed by a Frightened Gasp.

I tiptoed softly forward. As I crept along in the darkness, making no sound, I found myself devoutly wishing for some weapon. Of course it might be Barbara, who had entered by means of the ledge to leave some message for me, but if it were not she, I felt certain that I would discover who was at the bottom of the plots against us.

I gained the door without my presence having been discovered. In the dim half-light that came from the open window I could detect a figure standing on a chair apparently feeling along the wall near the ceiling. I recalled with curiosity that it was from that spot that the whispers I had heard had seemed to come.

Inch by inch I edged noiselessly forward, my eyes on the intruder until at last my fingers found the electric light button. As the light flooded the room there was a suppressed scream, followed by a frightened gasp. The figure on the chair turned quickly and faced me. I saw that it was a woman, a badly frightened woman, with her hands clutching at her heart. Almost instantly I recognized her. It was not Barbara Bradford, but her sister, Claire. She was clad in some sort of a dark house gown thrown over her nightgown. Her slippered feet were bare of stockings, and her hair hung in a great braid down her back.

As I stared at her she sprang from the chair and made a rush for the open window. I grabbed for her and though she fought desperately I managed to hold her fast and to drag her away from the window. After a moment's futile resistance she suddenly collapsed in my arms, moaning in a tense whisper:

"Let me go, please let me go."

I placed her in a chair, and still keeping a tight hold on one of her arms, studied her, debating what to do. What desperate motive could have driven this girl to the daring journey across the narrow ledge by which she had gained access to my quarters? Was she, I wondered, once more in the power of that evil ex-husband of hers, driven by fear of him to such desperate deeds.

"Let me go," she moaned again.

"Not until you tell me what you were doing in my rooms," I answered firmly.

"I did not know there was any one here. I thought the apartment was vacant. I thought the Gastons were away"

"But why did you come?"

"I can't tell that," she moaned. "I can't! I can't!"

"You must," I repeated. "I am going to keep you here until you do tell me."

"You must not keep me here," she said. "I don't want my people to know about my having been here. You look like a gentleman. Please let me go."

"Doesn't Barbara—doesn't your sister know you are here?"

At my mention of her sister's name an expression of amazement escaped her.

"Who are you?" she asked excitedly. "How did you know who I was?"

"I am a friend of your sister," I answered. "She will tell you who I am. You must trust me. I feel I have a right to know what you are doing here. Won't you tell me?"

A strange look came into her eyes and she shook her head.

"You wouldn't understand. I was trying to trace the whispers."

"The whispers!" I cried excitedly. "You have heard them, too?"

"Often," she said. "I heard them tonight. Mother and Barbara were out to the theater. They seemed to come from near the ceiling in my sister's room. They seemed to vanish in the direction of this room. I thought there was no one here. I decided to creep along the ledge and see if I could trace them."

"And did you succeed?"

She shook her head.

"When I first came in this room I could still hear them. They seemed to be coming from up near the ceiling. I got up on a chair and put my ear to the wall to listen. Then they stopped altogether and then—you came in. May I go now—before my mother comes home?"

"On one condition," I answered, "that you tell your sister about your having been here."

"I'll tell her if you wish me to," she replied, "and now, please may I go? Could you let me out of your door? See, I brought a key to our apartment with me. I don't think I dare make that trip across the ledge tonight."

As I escorted her to the door, my mind in a whirl over the events of the evening, I suddenly remembered how important it was that I should see her sister for a long talk before I kept my appointment with Gorman.

"Tell your sister," I said to Claire Bradford as she departed, "that it is imperative that she meet me at luncheon tomorrow. I have news of the utmost importance—news that concerns all of us. Tell her to meet me at the Astor at one. She must come."

"I'll tell her," she replied.

CHAPTER VII.

It was the next evening that I made my astounding discovery, when pure chance led me plump into what both Barbara Bradford and I recognized at once as our first real clue to the mysteries surrounding us.

My find came unexpectedly at the end of an exciting day. As may be imagined I slept little in the hours following my unexpected meeting with Claire Bradford in my rooms, coming as it did right on top of Detective Gorman's revelations as to the identity of the telephone girl. Coupled with these circumstances was the fact that if my hopes were realized, Barbara would be within a very few hours lunching with me for the first time.

I just had to see her before I met Gorman. The tale I was to unfold to him was so improbable, so almost unbelievable, that I wanted to go over it with her step by step, in order to be able to convince the detective that it was the absolute truth.
